DOMESTIC LIFE OF AUTHORS.

From a Lecture by E. P. Whipple

We now come to a delicate part of the subject, which every prudent man would wish to avoid,—the relation of authors to domestic life, their glory or shame as lovers and husbands. One great fact here stares us in the face,—that the majority of those men who, from Homer downwards, have done most to exalt women into a divinity, have either been bachelors or unfortunate husbands. Prudence forbids I should presume to give the philosophy of this singular, and, doubtless, accidental occurrence, or find any preestablished harmony between heaven-sealing imaginations and vixenish wives. Still it must be said, not only with regard to poets, but authors generally, a great many who have been unhappily married; and a great many more, perhaps you would say, unhappily unmarried. The best treatise on divorce was written by the laureate of Eve and the creator of the lady in Comus. The biography of scholars and philosophers sometimes hints at voices neither soft nor low piercing the ears of men meditating on Greek roots, or framing theories of the moral sentiment. You all know the sinful sympathy that Socrates received from Xantippe, in his great task of confuting the lying ingenuities of the Greek sophists, and bringing down philosophy from heaven to earth. The face of one of England's earliest and best linguists is reported to have often exhibited crimson marks, traced by no loving fingers; and Greek, Hebrew, Latin and English, must often have met and run together in his brain, as it reeled beneath the confused ring of a fair hand knocking at his ears. The helpmates of Whitelocke and Bishop Cooper were tempestuous viragos, endowed with a genius for scolding, who burnt their husbands' manuscripts, and broke in upon their studies and meditations with reproaches and threats. Hooker, the saint and sage of English divinity, was married to an acute vixen, with a temper compounded of vinegar and saltpetre, and a tongue as explosive as gun-cotton. Addison espoused a countess; and spent the rest of his life in taverns, clubs, and repentance.

Some men of genius, Moliere and Rousseau, for example, have had unsympathizing wives. Sir Walter Scott, walking once with his wife in the fields, called her attention to some lambs, remarking that they were beautiful. "Yes," echoed she, "lambs are beautiful,—boiled!" That incompatible essayist and chirping philosopher, Montaigne, married but once. When his good wife left him, he shed the tears usual on such occasions, and said he would not marry again, though it were to Wisdom herself. A young painter of great promise once told Sir Joshua Reynolds that he had taken a wife. "Married!" ejaculated the horrified Sir Joshua; "then you are ruined as an artist." Michael Angelo, when asked why he never married, replied, "I have espoused my art, and that occasions me sufficient domestic cares; for my works shall be my children." The wives of Dante, Milton, Dryden, Addison, Steele, shed no glory on the sex, and brought no peace to their firesides. The bitterest satires and noblest eulogies on married life have come from poets. Love, indeed, has ever been the inspiration of poetry. From Theocritus all the way down to the young gentleman that drizzled in yesterday's newspaper, it has provoked millions on millions of good and bad verses, most of which have been kindly gathered by Oblivion under her dusky wing. Among these mountains of amatory poetry, there are doubtless some of the finest imaginations and truest and noblest sentiments ever breathed from the lips of genius; but the greater portion only prove, that if love softens the heart, it does not always decline performing a similar service to the head. I know a very sensible man who preserves in an iron box some of these metrical indiscretions of his youth, in order, if he is ever accused of a capital crime, that he may produce them as furnishing indubitable proofs of insanity. The most notable instance of inconstancy related in the "loves of the poets," is that of Lucy Sacheverell, to whom Col. Lovelace, the Philip Sidney of Charles I.'s court, was warmly attached. He celebrated her accomplishments in some exquisite poetry; but, on his being taken prisoner in one of the wars of the time, and reported to be dead, she hastily married another. He soon returned to his native land, imprecated divers anathemas on the sex, and declined into a vagabond,—dying perhaps of a malady, common enough in dark ages, but now happily banished from genteel society, a broken heart.

Perhaps the sweetest pictures in the poetry of human life are those which represent the domestic felicity of those authors who married happily. The wives of Wieland, Buffon, Gesner, Herder, Priestley, Wordsworth, not to mention others, are especially honored among women. Who has not sometimes seen, in the wife of scholar or artist, that elusive and unutterable charm, which has made his heart echo the praise of Fletcher's ideal Panthea?—

> "She is not fair
> Nor beautiful; these words express her not:
> They say her looks have something excellent,
> That wants a name yet."

Wordsworth, with that pensive spiritualism which characterizes all his poetry relating to the affections, has in three lines fitly immortalized his own noble wife, as

> "She who dwells with me, whom I have loved
> With such communion, that no place on earth
> Can ever be a solitude to me."

Wherever, in fact, a noble spirit has been fortunate in his domestic relations, he has left testimonials in his writings that those human affections, which are the monopoly of none, are more productive of solid happiness than wealth, or power, or fame; than learning that comprehends all knowledge; than understanding which sweeps over the whole domain of thought; than imaginations which rise and run over regions to which the "heaven of heavens is but a veil."

AUSTRIAN BREAD. Mr. Weed, of the Albany Evening Journal, in one of his interesting letters from Europe, says:

"We could learn one lesson from Austria with great advantage to our people. This is the art of making good bread, which, being as it is here, universal, is really a great national blessing. We were struck first at Trieste with the fine quality of bread at our hotel. At all the eating houses between Trieste and Vienna, we remarked the excellence of the bread. Here we enjoy the same luxury. Nor is it a luxury for the rich alone. The same light, sweet bread is in all the bake shops, at prices which enable all classes to purchase. England has contrived, humanely, to give "cheap bread" to her people; but Austria affords it still cheaper and of an excellent quality.

I do not know that this secret for making good bread can be communicated. Perhaps it is owing to some peculiarity in the flour, or in the water; but I do know that the art of making for the American people such bread as is eaten throughout Austria, would be an acquisition of incalculable value. A Vienna baker who should go to the city of New York and vend such bread as we get here, would be able to reside on the 5th Avenue, in two years. That is, provided the Yankee bakers did not find out his secret."

LIBERTY OF SPEECH.—This has not always been understood or prized aright. In Clarendon's papers is the following:

"At Henley, upon the Thames, a woman speaking against taxation imposed by Parliament, was ordered by the committee to have her tongue fastened by a nail to the body of a tree by the wayside, on a market day, which was accordingly done, and a paper in great letters, setting forth the heinousness of her crime, fixed to her back."

An American, an officer of an American vessel at Calcutta, has been astonishing the natives by walking 1000 miles in 1000 hours. They called him the American stag.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, AUGUST 2, 1852.

EDITORIAL ADDRESS.

If it were as easy to make a good paper as it is to promise it, there would be too many, and daily literature would absolutely go a begging. But it is not so. And therefore when one man finds out by many trials that he can, like the spider, spin out thoughts from his own mind, and of them weave a web that other minds are willing to be caught in, then that is his vocation. And when he finds out that the more of this he does the more he can do, he had better do it every day to keep his hand in.

But though thoughts may breathe and words may burn, yet they will not print themselves. Hands and eyes, muscle and machinery also must work as well as brain and nerves. For this purpose young and active men seem fit and needful. And not merely the thought of one man is needed for the good and readable paper, but many thoughts of many men. Selections must be made, and contributions gathered; and the facts and principles out of which thoughts grow, need to be stated. Thought begets thought; and in these days the conception of a thought is speedily followed by its utterance, and that by its action and re-action.

Daily papers, especially the little dailies, (and the Chronicle is one of them,) are formed on this idea. We are to catch facts as they rush by us at railway speed, and arrest rumor as she flashes along the electric wire. The material thus furnished is to be condensed, fused and formed while men sleep, daguerreotyped by the early rays of the rising sun, and when the citizen comes down from his couch he must find it all in the shape of a newspaper on his breakfast table. The trader finds it on his counter, the merchant on his desk, and the artisan on his work-bench; each wishes to find there something to suit his taste and give him pleasure; and he will find it. But can we please all, or please always? By no means. It is impossible. If we had no opinions and no prejudices at all, the barest statement of facts would please and displease at the same time; for the same events which fill one man's heart with joy, overwhelm another's with sorrow.

We intend as our first purpose to chronicle facts, old and new—especially new: to give them as fairly and as fully as our brief limits and rapid motions will permit. Opinions and prejudices we have, and it is not in human nature to prevent their exhibition sometimes; but they shall not warp our statement of facts, though they may sometimes tinge the medium through which we receive and transmit them.

With our editor who will cut up the newspapers and pick up the scraps, and our correspondents who will give us letters and "telegraphs" from abroad; with our contributors, who will dig up old stories and sketch remarkable characters, and our printers who will keep an eye on all new things that are worth seeing, we mean to make a paper that every body will read and almost every body will buy.

We mean to be fair, impartial, open. Liable to errors, errors in matters of fact shall be promptly corrected when discovered. Error of opinion, as Jefferson truly said, may be freely tolerated, if reason is left free to combat it. In the words of our prospectus, "The Chronicle will owe no allegiance to any party in politics, nor to any sect or faction on other subjects, but be entirely independent of all—ever ready to express its own untrammelled opinion on any and every topic, and to give all current news without coloring to suit circumstances."

The new and beautiful type on which the paper is printed, speaks for itself, and so must the matter of the paper hereafter. A good bright reading paper with fresh items and new advertisements every day, will recommend itself better than ever so many puffs in advance.

Elections This Day.—Alabama, Iowa, Missouri and North Carolina, are the only States which vote in August, this year,—Kentucky and Tennessee have no elections in August, 1852.

The Pennsylvania Inquirer says, Illinois has postponed her elections from August to the first Tuesday in November, when Presidential Electors and State Officers will be chosen on the same day; Indiana has likewise changed hers from August to the second Monday in October.

The four states first named have their elections to-day.

Liquor Law in Rhode Island.—The Providence Journal thinks the liquor law is generally observed throughout the State, except in Newport. Liquor is sold in Scituate or Cranston, where licenses have generally been granted, and where the popular feeling is against the law.

OUR HEAD.

We have spared neither pains nor expense to present a good specimen of typography in the first issue of the Chronicle—and as we have succeeded to our own satisfaction, we hope and expect (judging others by ourselves, according to the universal rule) to please our patrons and readers, at least in this respect.

And we must tender our acknowledgement of the material assistance given us by the artists who executed the beautiful design which adorns our first page. To Mr. C. M. Meinerth especially are we indebted—who kindly sketched for us the view presented from the boulder of granite at the right of Little Harbor road, a few rods from the junction of this road with that leading to Sagamore Bridge. The sketch was taken with striking accuracy and beautifully finished; but lines so delicate and shading so soft can hardly be brought out clearly in engraving for common printing purposes—and while our engraver has pretty exactly followed the design of Mr. Meinerth, it was impossible to do justice to the artistic finish of a picture on so small a scale.

Few persons have any correct idea of the labor or expense of getting up such an engraving as this. The sketch having been drawn, must be copied on wood—boxwood is generally used for this purpose — or "designed," as it is termed. Then the engraver must "fix" the lights and shades traced by the pencil of the designer—which can only be done successfully by the aid of a magnifying glass to guide the keen-edged "graver."

Until within a very few years, this was the whole process—the impression was taken direct from the wood-cut. But it is now extremely rare to print much from wood—all engravings except the smallest must pass through the mould of the stereotyper, or better yet, the electrotyper. The former process leaves the printer a leaden or type-metal surface to work from; electrotyping is a recent discovery, and the most beautiful of all methods, as it gives a literal copper-plate engraving at each impression.

Our heading is an electrotype, and was procured at an expense of about fifty dollars.

A HIGH BONFIRE.

An edifying dispute has been going on for some time in this city, about the fourth of July bonfires, and a celebrated legal decision thereon. Its settlement is in the unknown future. A case has just occurred in Massachusetts, which is somewhat clearer.

On the night of the 22d ult., about 11 o'clock, fire was discovered in the Unitarian Church, (Rev. Mr. Pope's) on Central Hill, in Somerville, and before sufficient aid could be summoned, the flames gained such headway that it was found impossible to save the structure, and in a very short time it was a mass of ruins.

The fire was evidently set by some villainous incendiary, upon the steps of the inner vestibule, in such a manner that the flames were drawn to a great extent up the belfry, before spreading over the building—thus affording an opportunity to get out most of the furniture, carpetings, &c., in a tolerably good condition. But a valuable organ, the bell, and the Sabbath School Library could not be secured, and were a total loss.

The conflagration made a magnificent spectacle and attracted a large number of spectators. The location is so elevated and conspicuous that the church has long been a noted landmark, and the fire must have been visible at a great distance in the surrounding country, as well as at sea. The illumination was so great at the northern part of Boston that a person could easily read.

The church was a large, fine appearing wooden edifice, with a remarkably tall spire, and was erected in 1845, at a cost of over $10,000. To travelers entering Boston over the Maine Railroad, this church loomed up like a grand daguerreotype picture fastened to the sky.

Now as this bonfire boy, whoever he was, did not fire up on the glorious fourth, nor fifth, there can be no question that he was a vile incendiary and no patriot. We mention this for the benefit of all sound lawyers and just judges.

Massacre.—Ship Robert Browne, Bryson, of NewHaven, Ct., was the scene of a dreadful mutiny and massacre, at sea, last April. She was bound from Amoy to San Francisco, with four hundred Coolies on board, going thither to work on wages. Eight days out, at noonday, the Coolies rose, killed the captain, first and second mates, man at the wheel and three seamen. The rest of the crew escaped into the foretop, and the vessel broached to. The mutineers finally called them down to work the vessel; and when they came to anchor near Ty-pin-san, the Coolies went ashore, and part of the crew escaped with the vessel to Quemoff. The U. S. Vice-Consul there has the matter in hand for investigation.

Brevet Lieut. Colonel Samuel Cooper has been appointed Adjutant General of the United States.

HISTORICAL SKETCHES.

PRINTERS AND PRINTING IN PORTSMOUTH.

Portsmouth was originally planted as a mercantile and not as a religious colony. And this peculiarity of her origin has impressed itself on every phase and period of her history. Accordingly we find her, and the colony or province of New Hampshire of which she was at once the head and the largest member, getting along without a printing press from 1623 to 1756; and when at length the press did come, it was first used to print an almanac and newspaper; and indeed this first press was never used in printing many books. The history of printing, here, then, is the history of newspapers and editors. And in this branch of literature our resources are abundant and reliable.

Daniel Fowle removed from Boston to this place and set up his press here in August, 1756. The first number of the New Hampshire Gazette was issued October 7. Of this number probably not one is now in existence—but the newspaper thus commenced still lives and is published not far from the same spot, and with the same name, as at the first. It is now by far the oldest paper in the Union which has been kept up without interruption of issue or change of name. It has often had a second title; but never lost the first.

The title of the paper read thus:

Friday, Oct. 7, 1756. [cut] Number 1.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
AND HISTORICAL CHRONICLE.
Containing the Freshest Advices, Foreign & Domestick.

Pictorial illustrations were as fashionable then as now, but engravings were scarce, and engravers scarcer. Mr. Fowle had been a printer in Boston, and among his effects brought thence, he had a set of wood or metal cuts belonging to Æsop's Fables. With one of these he adorned the head of his paper, viz. that of the Crow and Fox, in which, as the fable goes, the fox, crouching beneath the tree, complimented the crow on the beauty of her plumage, and suggested that her voice was doubtless as sweet as her form was graceful, but regretted that he had never heard it. Elated with the flattery the crow began to caw; but on the first essay, down dropped the piece of cheese from her open mouth into that of the fox. Whether the public was the crow and Fowle the fox—or how the emblem was to be taken, we cannot say; but however it might be, the cut was soon broken, and was replaced by that of Jupiter and the Peacock. Some time afterwards the Royal Arms took their place in the head, and kept it till they were displaced by the Revolution. Mr. Fowle did little else than print his paper, the province laws, and a few pamphlets. The Governor appointed him a Justice of the Peace, soon after his arrival here "He was a correct printer and industrious. In his disposition he was pacific, agreeable in his manners, liberal in his sentiments, and attached to the cause of his country." He published the paper, alone or with a partner, till the year 1785, when he transferred it to Melcher & Osborn. Mr. Fowle died in '87. His old negro pressman, Primus, an excellent workman at that part of the business, but who never knew how to read, outlived his old master, and reached the age of ninety.

A part of Fowle's old wooden printing office, which used to stand in Market street, is now part of a dwelling house in Russell street.

John Melcher and George Jerry Osborne were apprentices to Fowle, and succeeded him in business in 1785. Mr. Osborn left the firm, but Mr. Melcher continued the business till February 9, 1802, when he sold out to Nathaniel S. and Washington Peirce. Mr. Melcher was a very exact and accurate printer and business man, who made a snug property by his business, and lived in the best of health and spirits almost half a century after he retired from it. He has been dead but a year or two. He filled the high office of Coroner for many years.

N. S. & W. Peirce began to print the Gazette February 9, 1802, when they changed its politics from Federal to Republican. They, in connection with Benjamin Hill and Samuel Gardner, published it till May 21, 1805, when they sold it to William Weeks.

Up to this time little or no editorial writing had appeared in the paper, except a little political matter at certain seasons. The scissors did most of the work. The news and selected matter were all that was expected.

Mr. Weeks wrote more than his predecessors, and remained editor more than four years of a stormy period, and until December 14, 1813, when he was succeeded by Beck & Foster.

This firm continued the publication till it was dissolved by the death of Mr. David C. Foster, which occurred in 1823, on the 20th day of October. From that time to 1834, Mr. Gideon Beck was the publisher: he then admitted Albert Greenleaf as a partner, and published it with him till July 14, 1835, when Mr. Beck finally left the business.

The mention of Mr. Beck's name reminds us that we are now, as to the publishers of that paper, among living men, and therefore our sketches of them should be brief, as their history is yet to be acted in part as well as written. In passing, however, we may say, that in conducting their paper and managing their business, Beck & Foster were able, industrious and successful. Both of them were members of the Legislature of the State; and the decease of Mr. Foster was felt to be a public loss.

On the 14th of July, 1835, the imprint bore the names of Thomas B. Laighton & Abner Greenleaf, Jr. From 1836 to 1841 the name of A. Greenleaf, Jr. On the 15th of June, 1841, it was changed to Virgin & Moses, who published it to 1843, when Virgin left, and S. W. Moses appears as publisher. In 1844, Abner Greenleaf is named as editor; then A. Greenleaf and son, editors. The year closed without any imprint whatever, and the paper was published without any, during the year 1845—6. In 1847, the "N. H. Gazette and Republican Union" was published by Wm. P. Hill, who began in March, and remained here till August 13, 1850, when he was succeeded by Gideon Rundlett. The present publisher, Edward N. Fuller, commenced in March, 1852.

Several of these numerous editors were men of talent and energy; but the sudden and frequent changes of conductors and printers have operated against the profit of the proprietors. Mr. W. P. Hill published a Daily Gazette for two or three months.

(Concluded to-morrow.)

THE FISHERIES.

Much excitement, but so far as we can see, no alarm, has existed in New England within the last two weeks, on account of a British fleet of a dozen sail or more, sent to cruise on the eastern fishing grounds. The latest news from the British government via Washington, is decidedly in favor of peace.

The New York Courier of Friday says:

We learn by special telegraph from our Washington correspondent, that despatches were received on Wednesday night from Mr. Webster, containing assurances that the fishery difficulties would be promptly and satisfactorily settled. The British pretensions as generally understood, are disclaimed, and extend no farther than to that portion of the fishing grounds where the British jurisdiction is undisputed.

Several of our armed vessels are ordered to be ready for sea, and some of them are no doubt intended for the fishing grounds. We apprehend no evil whatever to come out of the occurrence—but rather a settlement, mutually advantageous, of many questions relating to trade between us and the colonies, and to the fisheries, which might be profitably thrown open.

Bad Boys.—The house of Mr. Jesse Lambert of Gardiner, Me., was entered one night about two weeks ago, while the family were all absent in the country, by two or three boys little more than a dozen years old, who took a quantity of butter, about thirty pounds, and threw it by handsful over walls, furniture, carpets and clothes, besmearing every thing.—They also scattered flour over the floors, broke crockery, and made a general wreck; doing damage in the whole, to the amount of $200. They also broke open some school-houses, and destroyed books, &c. They have been apprehended.

James T. Fields in England.—The Boston Transcript says, a correspondent in London writes us as follows respecting our townsman Fields, who has for the last few months been sojourning in Europe:

"James T. Fields distinguished himself yesterday (9th July) at a public dinner given by the corporation of London, on board their barge, off Richmond. Fields made one of the most appropriate dinner table speeches ever offered. He was received with thunders of applause, and sat down amidst the loudest possible cheering by both ladies and gentlemen."

Boston is a somewhat extensive town; and has not many better townsmen than James T. Fields, who like hundreds of others accounted the Jewels of Boston, happened to be born in Portsmouth.

An Appropriate Present.—Mr. Leavitt, Depot Master in Malden, has been presented with a valuable gold watch by a citizens of that place, as an appreciative testimonial of his exertions in saving the life of a lady who recently fell before an express train while it was in rapid motion.—Boston Trans.

Mr. Leavitt is an excellent attendant at his arduous post of depot master, gate keeper &c. and his reward is just: but the depot at Malden crossing ought to be built across the road, with passengers' rooms on both sides, after the manner of the Depot of the Eastern Rail Road in Salem.

We have often shuddered at the exposure of travellers in crossing the track at that place, as they always must, to go into Boston from the present depot.

Dartmouth College.—Commencement at Dartmouth College took place on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. Bond's Cornet Band, of Boston, were in attendance, and all the excercises were of a very able and happy character. The number of the graduating class is 61.

CONGRESS.

In the House on Friday, the Michigan Railroad bill was finally rejected.

The River and Harbor bill was taken up, and amended by adding $50,000 to improve the Hudson as far up as Troy. The second amendment was read, being for the improvement of the James and Appomattox rivers below the cities of Richmond and Petersburg, $40,000, and adopted, yeas 105, nays 62.

The House, by a vote of 90 yeas to 76 nays, concurred in the last amendment as an additional section, authorizing the commissioners of Wilmington, N. C., to levy and collect a tonnage duty, not exceeding four cents per ton on all vessels of not less than sixty tons, for the purpose of clearing out the obstructions in the mouth of Cape Fear river, and that to effect that purpose the said commissioners be authorized to pledge the receipts from the said tonnage duty, to pay the interest or principal on any loan that may be effected for that purpose, provided the legislature of North Carolina, at its next session, order and authorize such a tonnage duty.

Several verbal amendments in the appropriations for Texas and Alabama were adopted.

Mr. Johnson, of Georgia, moved that the bill be laid on the table, which was negatived, yeas 72, nays 104. The bill was then passed, yeas 103, nays 75.

Mr. Sacket asked, but did not obtain leave, to introduce a resolution instructing the Committee on the Judiciary to inquire into the propriety of reporting a bill, making it a capital offence for the officers and men employed upon any steamboat on any waters of the United States, on which passengers are carried for hire, to be in any way engaged in racing any such boat on which they may be so employed, or in any trial of speed or contest for rapidity of passage with any other steamboat or vessel.

In the Senate, the River and Harbor bill was received from the House and read once. A joint resolution to allow the Congressional Globe and Appendix to pass through the mail postage free, was passed 20 to 17.

Rail Road Accident.—The Hudson River Rail Road train which left East Albany at 4 o'clock, Saturday evening, was thrown from the track, with the exception of the rear passenger car, at Stockport, 4 miles this side of Hudson. The switchtender at that place had neglected to adjust the switch after the passage of a gravel train, and in consequence of which, the train, which was under full headway, was thrown from the track. The locomotive, tender and baggage car were precipitated down an abrupt embankment into the river. The first passenger car, filled with people, was dragged down after the baggage car, until one end fell into the water. The other two passenger cars were pulled from the track, and partly down the embankment.

The baggage-master, we learn, was badly, and some of the passengers slightly injured, but providentially none were killed. The locomotive, tender and baggage car were a perfect wreck. The passengers were detained until the 6 o'clock train overhauled them.—The accident caused the detention of all the other trains.

The name of the switch-tender was Slasher—a very appropriate one for so negligent a man as he has proved himself to be.—Albany State Register.

Singular and Fatal Accident.—As the night Express train of the Erie Rail Road was passing the Big Flats, Chemung county, on its way east between twelve and one o'clock on Wednesday morning, the bolt which is connected with the reverse lever broke, or got out of place, causing the rod which is connected with the lever to drop; and when the lever went back it struck the engineer, Mr. John Farnell, on his neck, severing his head from his body—killing him instantly.

Mr. Farnell was one of the best engineers on the road, and was highly esteemed by all his acquaintances. His age was about twenty-six. He leaves a wife and one child, to mourn his loss.—Ibid.

The Pittsburg Journal says: "A gentleman, by the name of Kirk, a resident of Butler county, procured lodging at the tavern of Mrs. Thomson, Alleghany city, in the Diamond, on Tuesday evening. At about twelve o'clock on the same night, he was found by a gentleman who was passing, lying upon the pavement in front of the house, with no other garments on than his night clothes, and apparently in great pain. His voice was very weak, so that he could hardly make himself understood; but he complained that his leg was broken. A light was procured, and it was then found that one of his thigh bones was broken. He had no recollection of the manner in which he came in such a position, but as the window was open, it was evident that he had walked from it, and had fractured his limb by the fall, while in a state of somnambulism.

Miss Caroline Whitney, of Nantucket, while walking through Purchase street, New Bedford, Mass., a few evenings since, was overtaken by an idiot known as "Rafe," who placed his hands upon her shoulders, and uttered some incoherent words, which alarmed Miss Whitney so much that she immediately fainted, and has since become insane.

Serious Accident in Cambridge.—On Friday morning as an old gentleman named Samuel F. Sawyer was gathering pears from a tree in his garden, the ladder gave way and he fell to the ground, a distance of fifteen feet, breaking his collar-bone and one rib, besides sustaining other injuries. He is seventy-eight years old, and his recovery is doubtful.

A Portsmouth Paper.—It will be noticed as a remarkable fact, that all the advertisements we insert to-day are from our own citizens. This is what we intend to make the Chronicle—a medium for Portsmouth advertising mainly, as well as a gleaner of all that interests, from the numerous sources open to us.

The proprietors, editors, compositors, and all thus far connected with its publication, are natives of Portsmouth—and although we shall not confine ourselves to our home borders for news, we shall give particular attention to this department.

BURNING OF THE HENRY CLAY.

Columns of detail have appeared in the newspapers, describing the burning of the steamer Henry Clay on Wednesday afternoon last, on the river between New York and Albany, seventeen miles above the former place.

Up to Friday morning fifty nine bodies had been found, and it is supposed that many more are lost.

The captain and the owners of the boat say she was not racing with the Armenia—but some of the published accounts by passengers say they were racing, in particular one who writes in the Evening Post:—

Almost immediately after leaving the wharf it was apparent that the boats were racing. At Hudson, the Armenia, by taking the west channel and not landing, succeeded in getting ahead of the Clay. About a half hour after passing Catskill, the Clay overtook the Armenia, and for the following three quarters of an hour the boats were running side by side, and it became necessary to use fenders constantly to prevent damage from collision.

When near Kingston, the Armenia had to stop and blow off steam—she was presumed to have become so heated as not to be able to run longer with safety. This gave the Clay again the start. At this time, a gentleman whose wife was excessively frightened, seized the captain by the arm, and insisted upon his slacking the speed of the boat. The captain assured him there was no danger, and by his confident manner, succeeded in calming the apprehensions of many who were before in a state of great alarm.

About 3 o'clock, the passengers on the upper deck remarked a smoke proceeding apparently from the engine room, in the middle of the boat, and simultaneously the cry of fire was heard.

The steamer was headed in for shore and run square on, with the stern in deep water; as she struck the land, three hired men who had left their work to help the distressed, promptly aided all they could, and saved a large number of persons. As the fire was in the middle of the boat, the greatest loss of lives was from the after part, where were most of the ladies.

A noble Newfoundland dog, named 'Neptune,' belonging in the neighborhood, rushed into the water and seized a young child that was drowning, by the the dress, near the shoulders, and bore it safely to the shore. He returned and approached a woman, to assist in the same way, but she was so frightened that the dog had to be called off, and he was thus deprived of the opportunity of extending that relief to sufferers, to which his instincts and his noble nature prompted him.

A lady found a child on deck deserted, which she said was unknown to her, which she seized and endeavored to save. She hung over the railings holding the child by her teeth, till she was forced to drop into the water. The child was finally lost.

M. Pierce, son of Prof. Pierce of Cambridge, was a passenger on board the ill-fated steamer Henry Clay at the time of the accident; he swam ashore and as soon as possible telegraphed the intelligence of the accident and of his own safe escape to his parents, more than twenty hours before the announcement of the affair in the papers.

A gentleman of Newark, who was an expert swimmer, managed to save his wife and nine children. He saved them singly, but became so exhausted by his task, that he was carried away senseless.

KATE VIRGINIA POOLE.—The Governor and Council of New Hampshire have granted a pardon to Kate Virginia Poole, to take effect August 26th. She was sentenced to the State Prison for life, for killing her infant child by throwing it from the cars. We are not favorable to a free use of the pardoning power; but in this instance the executive of this State seems to have acted with a wise discretion.

MAGIC AND NECROMANCY.—Professor T. E. Wood, the celebrated wizard and necromancer, gives one of his fashionable entertainments at the Temple this evening. He promises to manufacture from nothing and distribute among the audience, quantities of hot punch and ice cream—so he can hardly fail of suiting all tastes.

Madame Wood, the distinguished lady magician, who has often displayed her talent before our citizens, will aid the Professor.

CAPT. CLARK'S CANDY.—The taste of it is in our mouth, and its fragrance lingers round us as we write. We cannot get on with disturbed fisheries and burnt steamboats till we get the nuts and almonds out of the way. So having finished our repast with a glass of cool lemonade, we give:

Success to the Commissary General of Subsistence below, while we Chronicle his fame above and advertise his refreshments daily.

TO OUR ADVERTISERS.—We have been compelled to put a portion of our new advertisements on the outside of our paper to-day—but as every thing we publish in this number is entirely new, and the Chronicle is (intended to be) thoroughly read, we presume it will make no great difference to the very large number of our citizens who have so liberally patronised us in this line.

OUR CIRCULATION.—The Chronicle will circulate largely throughout this County, and on the lines of the different railroads for a much greater distance, as well as in this city and its immediate vicinity. Our mechanics and traders have given us to-day very satisfactory evidence of the estimation in which they hold the Chronicle as an advertising medium.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

We have made arrangements to receive news by telegraph from Boston and New York every night, and shall probably commence our despatches with to-morrow morning's paper.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

It is our intention to give full daily report of our lower harbor as well as port marine news. Our arrangements for this purpose are completed, and we expect a report for our paper to-morrow.

A PSALM OF LIFE.

BY LONGFELLOW.

What the Heart of the Young Man said to the Psalmist.

Tell me not in mournful numbers,
"Life is but an empty dream!"
For the soul is dead that slumbers,
And things are not what they seem.

Life is real! Life is earnest!
And the grave is not its goal;
"Dust thou art, to dust returnest,"
Was not spoken of the soul.

Not enjoyment, and not sorrow,
Is our destined end or way;
But to act that each to-morrow
Find us farther than to-day.

Art is long, and Time is fleeting,
And our hearts though stout and brave,
Still like muffled drums are beating
Funeral marches to the grave.

In the world's broad field of battle,
In the bivouac of Life,
Be not like dumb, driven cattle!
Be a hero in the strife!

Trust no Future, howe'er pleasant!
Let the dead Past bury its dead!
Act.—act in the living Present!
Heart within, and God o'erhead!

Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time;

Footprints, that perhaps another,
Sailing o'er life's solemn main,
A forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
Seeing, shall take heart again.

Let us then be up and doing,
With a heart for any fate;
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait.

THE POWER OF EXAMPLE.—"A boy once went to a Ragged School, and had his face washed; and when he went home his neighbors looked at him with astonishment. They said, 'That looks like Tom Rogers, and yet it can't be, for he is so clean.' Presently his mother looked at him, and finding his face so clean, she fancied her face was dirty, and forthwith washed it. The father soon came home, and seeing his wife and son clean, thought his face very dirty, and soon followed their example. Father, and mother and son, all being clean, the mother began to think the house looked dirty, and down she went upon her knees and scrubbed that clean. There was a female lodger in the house, who, seeing such a change in her neighbors, thought her face and her room looked very dirty, and she speedily betook to the cleansing operation likewise. And very soon the whole house was, as it were, transformed, and made tidy and comfortable, simply by the cleansing of one Ragged School boy."—Speech of J. Payne, Esq., London.

THE JEWS OF PRAGUE. Mr. Weed, of the Albany Evening Journal, in a letter from Prague, the Bohemian Capital, says:

"There is as usual in European cities, a "Jews' Quarter," but they are not as formerly shut up after a given hour in the evening. It is said that this colony of Jews established themselves here immediately after the destruction of Jerusalem. They preserve all their customs and peculiarities, and are Jews according to the manner "of the strictest of their sect." They wear long flowing gowns and hats without rims. They have five Synagogues, several schools, magistrates and a town hall of their own. Though living in the midst of others, they are wholly and entirely a distinct people. The statistics of Prague show that the Jewish inhabitants increase faster and are longer lived than their immediate neighbors."

KEEP TROUBLES OUT OF SIGHT.—Southey in his letters says:—"I have told you of the Spaniard, who always put on spectacles when he was about to eat cherries, that they might look bigger and more tempting. In like manner I make the most of my enjoyments; and though I do not cast my cares away, I pack them in as little compass as I can, and carry them as conveniently as I can for myself, and never let them annoy others. Don't forget that, reader.

The railways of Britain have cost twelve hundred millions of dollars, the canals thirteen hundred millions; and the docks one hundred and fifty millions. There are 35,000 merchant vessels; 385 war vessels; 520 yachts. Altogether represent a tonnage of 4,763,000 tons, and are are manned by 290,000 men. An average of one vessel is lost at every tide.

Francis I. asked, one day, of Duchatel, the learned Bishop of Orleans, if he was a gentleman? "Sire," was the prelate's reply, "in the ark of Noah there were three brothers; I cannot tell from which of them I am descended."

GOOD IDEA.—There is a rule in a debating society that we have heard of, which is "that any gentleman wishing to speak more than half an hour, shall have a room to himself."

No sagacious man will long retain his sagacity, if he live exclusively among reformers and progressive people, without periodically returning into the settled system of things, to correct himself by a new observation from that old stand-point.—Hawthorne.

There are fourteen hundred millions of acres in the United States to be disposed of; and to dispose of them by the existing system of sales, would require nine hundred years.

WOOL. About a ton of the pure Merino and Saxon wool, was recently purchased on the Jarvis farm at Claremont, in this State, for forty-five cents a pound.

Genuine politeness is the first-born offspring of generosity and modesty.

Despair is the offspring of fear, laziness and impatience.

Pride is as loud a beggar as want, and a great deal more saucy.

Business whets the appetite, and gives a relish to pleasure.

Crimes sometimes shock us too much; vice almost always too little.

SOUTHERN VIEWS.

These are very often mistaken by men at the North. And noisy demagogues from that section, who get into Washington, aided by kindred spirits from other quarters, keep up such a din that it is often difficult to hear what quiet men say far South.

De Bow's Southern Review tells us what they think, and in the last number gives us an article entitled "Something better for the South than the Fugitive Slave Law."

On this article, Prof. De Bow remarks:

Several years ago, when the new constitution of Kentucky was under discussion, and when the slavery agitations were at their height in Congress, a gentleman in Kentucky prepared an ingenious plan for the security of the institution of slavery, which he called the "Ohio River Plan," and which he now furnishes us for publication. Perhaps in some future day, when the "Compromise" shall cease to be a "finality," which God forefend, and we shall be driven to look about again for security, the Ohio River Plan may receive attention. It has this merit, at least, that Mr. Calhoun, in a letter which we have seen, and which has been left in our possession, speaks of it as "well calculated to test the sincerity of the adjacent non-slaveholding States. If they acquiesced, it would give them a population they utterly detest; and if not, it would expose their hypocrisy. It might thus put an end to the question about fugitive slaves, and is, perhaps, under the circumstances, the only way that an end could be put to it." He adds, however—"But I do not think it would reach the radical cause of abolition, nor stop its agitation. That lies deeper. It has its root partly in fanaticism and partly in the lust of power, which nothing but the united opposition and resolve of the South can successfully resist short of dissolving all political connection with them." This letter was written in 1849.

What the writer says about the plans, in the way of reasons for its adoption, is plausible enough, but too long for us. But the plan itself we give in his own words.

The plan is this: The first article in the constitution of Kentucky, on the subject of slavery, shall declare that negro slavery is perpetual in Kentucky, or until a new constitution is formed. The second article shall enact that every negro slave who escapes from this State across the Ohio river, shall be free to all intents and purposes, so far as the master in Kentucky has any right to him; provided he is not brought back by the people of Ohio, Indiana, or Illinois. In that case the negro so brought back, shall again become the property of his former master. The spirit of the law proposed, is this, that whenever a negro or mulatto enters Kentucky, he becomes ipso facto a slave; whenever he escapes out of Kentucky, by way of the Ohio river, he becomes ipso facto a free man.

The Convention did not adopt his recommendations in either of these particulars; nor is there any probability that any State will ever do it. But hear again what this southern writer in the Southern Review, says of an article in the constitution over which much ink and many tears have been shed, and over which in a few cases, blood has flowed.

That article in the Constitution of the United States which provides that the owner of a runaway slave shall have the right to pursue his slave into the territories of a free State, and there apprehend him and take him home, has been the vital mainspring of abolition from the time that the first slaveholder attempted to catch his runaway negro within the borders of a free State. The South has fought for this article as if her very existence depended on it. It has been the fruitful source of fierce contests in Congress. It has given rise to lengthy, windy and nonsensical State papers between the governors of slave and free States; and withal it has never secured the rights nor property of the South. It has been fruitful of evil, and of nothing but evil. Repeal it to-morrow, and you at once make the abolitionists powerless; you immediately change totally the former aspects of this question in Congress.

We offer no comment on these extracts—but give them as fair specimens of a long and able article in the same strain.

THE FORGERY CASE. Yesterday was assigned for the trial of Ebenezer Smith, Jr., and John L. Coe, at Concord, on a charge of making and passing a forged check upon the Shoe and Leather Dealers' Bank. Neither party appeared, and their bonds were defaulted. It is said that some important evidence has recently come to light, and is in the hands of the government, being a telegraphic despatch to Smith, signed with Coe's initials, announcing the arrest of Felt at the Cambridge Market Bank for offering the forged check.—Boston Daily Advertiser, July 21.

The above case smacks of what in New York is styled "straw bail." The crime of forgery is becoming too common among us, and the leniency which has been extended by sufferers, magistrates, juries, and by the community, to guilty parties, especially towards those who, by education and position, should have been among the last to commit the crime, has but encouraged the practice of it. A few years since it was a capital offence in England, and the learned Dr. Dodd was hanged for a simple forgery.—Transcript.

The facts in every case are important, especially if we mean to establish a principle. What is said of Dr. Dodd's case is true,—but if it is meant we shall infer from it, that capital punishment prevents forgery, the reference is quite unfortunate. Forgery was a capital offence in England for a long time; the case of the Rev. Dr. Dodd was by no means aggravated, except by the fact that he was an educated man; and there were so many extenuating circumstances, that the public sympathy was all on his side. He was regarded as a sort of sin-offering to appease the majesty of a law, whose penalty was out of all proportion to the crime of breaking it—and his execution aided in its repeal. Among the petitioners to parliament for the repeal were the most eminent bankers, merchants and men of fortune. Forgery did not increase after transportation took the place of death as a penalty—but a much larger number of convictions took place, because juries would convict when a man was to be sent away for fraud,—but would not convict when he was to lose his head for the same fault.

It is important to punish crime to prevent other or more crime—but when punishment is seen to be unduly severe, its aim is defeated and its object is lost.

Coe and Smith of course have forfeited and lost their $1000 bond. They forged a paper to make money—but now they have lost it and their reputation also—and public opinion pronounces the verdict, served them right!

RACING STEAMBOATS.

When two boats race, and all remains safe, the passengers of the victorious boat are pleased, and perhaps they cheer. But when the boiler bursts and the boat takes fire, then it is that the captain and owners are to blame. Truly they are—and so are the travelling public just so far as they encourage the practice. The proprietors and the captain of the Henry Clay have published a card in which they deny that there was any racing between that boat and the Armenia, on the day of the disaster, and ask a suspension of opinion. They say they shall prove that there was an agreement between the owners of the two boats previous to their starting, that there should be no trial of speed. But the Boston Advertiser remarks, "they will find, we believe, that the public opinion is already made up, so far as not to be shaken by proofs of this sort." In fact, there happens to be too much proof the other way.

J. H. Gibson, Postmaster of Clinton, N. Y., publishes a card in Monday morning's N. Y. Herald, in which he states that in company with one of the hands of the Henry Clay he examined the steam gauge at various times during the passage, and every time found the steam higher than was allowed by the certificate.

Over seventy dead bodies of persons who perished in the melancholy burning of this steamboat, had been discovered up to Saturday afternoon, at which time the wreck of the boat had not been raised or thoroughly exposed. It was apprehended that more losses would be disclosed on a farther investigation. Of those who perished about half were women, and nearly a quarter were children. Men were better able to save themselves, but many were doubtless lost through their efforts to save their friends.

PUBLIC PRINTING.—A look at the Congress news of Saturday will show that the House of Representatives intend to set up a government printing office; with a head printer, and a superintendent of printing besides. The members consider the contract system as run into the ground, or something worse, for if they keep on printing as they have done of late, it is not satisfactory, and if they stop, the contractors will insist on the contract.

If a printing office is set up by government, no doubt the work will be done quick and well, at a cost somewhat greater than present contracts, but not too high for good printing.

CHOLERA AT BUFFALO.—A private letter received at Albany on Monday morning, states that the cholera has suddenly broken out in Buffalo. A gentleman, his wife, two or three children, and his clerk died within a few hours of each other. The person writing to his friends says he is leaving for the country, as well as others. There is much excitement and alarm.

SOME DIFFERENCE.—Several papers towards the close of last week, had telegraphic roports of a colored convention at Baltimore, in which it was said that by these gentlemen of color "the Platform of Principles was amended and adopted with great unanimity."

Expectations was on tip-toe to see what the platform was, and we read on: "It takes decided ground in favor of emancipation, and without recommending, is in favor of liberty." This was absurd. But a day later another report read thus: "It takes decided ground in favor of emigration, and without recommending, is favorable to Liberia." This was plain enough—the convention recommended colonization, and it also proposed measures for the education and elevation of colored people, and the obtaining of proper information in relation to Liberia, the West Indies, and other points of emigration.

A TURK.—A real live Turk, born in Constantinople, is sojourning in Cincinnati, and expresses himself well pleased with that city. The one-wife system, however, he abhors as unworthy of so great a country and so excellent a Government.

This Turk is dissatisfied without a cause. The country is so great that he has not yet seen the whole of it yet. If he will but go to Utah, he may find Polygamy as firmly established among the Mormons as it is among the Turks.

PORTSMOUTH AND DOVER RAILROAD.—A meeting of subscribers is called to be held in Dover on the 18th inst. at 11 A. M.

THANKSGIVING.—The Governor and Council have appointed Thursday Nov. 11, as a day of public Thanksgiving.

DROWNED.—On Thursday last, a boy named French, aged about 10 years, fell from a wharf at Piscataqua bridge, on the Durham side, where he was fishing, and was drowned. His body has not yet been found.

A DONKEY CHAISE.—As we write this paragraph an odd equipage passes down Pleasant street. The horse is an ass, and the driver is a cripple. A comfortable seat in a little open chaise holds the latter, while a neat and beautiful harness holds the former. Both the animal and the man look fat and sleek; both appear to be very good natured and kind; and the whole affair showed the very sunniest side of begging; if begging it is. The man has little or no use of his legs—but the donkey has brought him in good style, from Ossipee or New Durham; and in a still day in August, a turn-out like this is as amusing to the bystanders as it is easy and profitable to the rider.

Mr. Samuel Fabyan, formerly of this city, has just started a semi-weekly paper in Salem, Mass. called the Union Democrat. It sustains Mr. Rantoul.

PHONOGRAPHY—Rode,—and Rowed.—I entered my friend's house the other day, warm and flushed.

"Good morning," said I.

"Good morning," answered he,—"how did you come down?"

"I rowed down."

"Where is your horse?"

"I have no horse—I rowed down, cross-handed, in a large wherry."

"Ah! I thought you rode down here on a horse."

"No: rowing is a very different operation from riding, although rode and rowed do sound alike."

Now Mr. Editor, and now Mr. Public, how would a phonographer write those two words, so as to make us know them apart.

THE FISHERIES AND FISHERMEN.

A correspondent at Boothbay, informs the Portland Advertiser that the schooner Northern Light, Matthews, which arrived at that port on the 28th, from the Bay of St. Lawrence, "was boarded by a British cutter and requested not to fish within three miles of land, head-land to head-land, which was marked out in their presence.

St. John papers to the 30th ult contain little on the subject of the fisheries, except a reverberation of the contents of the United States papers. The schooner Coral had been condemned in the Admiralty Court, and declared forfeited. Affidavits were put in stating that she was detected in fishing within half a mile or less of the Island of Grand Manan. No defence was made. No legal proceedings had been commenced against the Hyadas.

The steam frigate Mississippi, with Commodore Perry on board, as Commissioner by appointment of the Government, to visit the fishing grounds, for the purpose of inquiry, sailed from New York on Saturday afternoon. She will touch at Eastport.

The Gloucester Telegraph and News, of Saturday, gives the following account of another seizure:—

Schr. Ocean Wave, Capt. Davis, arrived at this port yesterday, from fishing. She reports that on Monday last, while lying at anchor near Sable Island, in company with schr. Helen Maria, Capt. Spinney, of this port, a British cutter boarded them, and on finding some fresh bait on board, seized the Helen Maria and took her into Pubnico. The crews of these vessels were not fishing, and had no intention of evading the treaty. They had put in for the purpose of obtaining supplies, and because this fresh bait was found on board, she was taken possession of by the cutter.

ENLISTMENT OF MINORS. Judge Thompson, on Saturday week, at Philadelphia, decided that minors may enlist in the marine service; and refused to restore a young man by the name of Harris to his parents, who claimed him on that ground. The act of Congress declaring the enlistment of minors unlawful, relates only to the army. The English common law governs the enlistments in the naval service; and it has been held in England that a minor may contract an obligation to serve the State, which cannot be set aside by the power of the parent.

If the English common law, or the English statute law, governs this matter in our Navy, Congress cannot amend it a day too soon. There is no reason why our marine enlistments should not be made in the same manner as those for the army.

The late Judge Woodbury, when Secretary of the Treasury, procured the discharge of a minor from the marine service. Perhaps it might be granted as a personal favor to him, or as an official courtesy to a past Secretary of the Navy; but he himself spoke of the mariner's minority as the ground of the discharge.

☞ The Monthly trial of Engines in this City took place on Market square last evening, when No. 4 was found to play the best stream. The Foreman of this engine appeared in a new and very neat uniform, of the pattern intended to be procured by the Company.

BLACKBERRY PIE.—Blackberries are now in full flavor. The following is a receipt for making them into pies:

"Ripe blackberries will not bear washing; pick them over nicely, dredge them with flour, mix with them (for one pie) four or five large table spoonsful of fine white sugar, four if you use white, five if you use brown; turn them into a deep dish (a soup dish) lined with paste; wet and pinch together the edge of the paste; cut a slit in the top crust, through which the steam can escape, and bake forty-five minutes.

HISTORICAL SKETCHES.

(Concluded.)

It must not be supposed that the printers of the Gazette enjoyed a monopoly of all the business in Portsmouth during all these years. Far from it. A second paper was set up here as early as 1764, by Thomas Furber, who had learned the business of Fowle. It was entitled the "New Hampshire Mercury and Weekly Advertiser." Furber was aided by some zealous Whigs, who thought the Gazette too timid in the cause of liberty, or too much under the influence of the officers of government. This paper endured about three years.

"Robert Gerrish commenced the publication of a weekly newspaper, entitled the New Hampshire Mercury, some time between 1780 and 90, which he continued to publish four or five years." This paper was published in King (now Congress) street, in the house owned and occupied by the late John Melcher, Esq.—where Gerrish also lived, Mr. Melcher boarding with him at one time. Gerrish's paper was of moderate size, with large type, and decently printed.

In 1797 George Jerry Osborne, Jr., commenced the publication of a semi-weekly paper called "Osborne's N. H. Spy. It was continued only about one year. His office was in Congress street, back of what is now N. K. Walker's hat store.

In the year 1799, August 29, George Jerry Osborne began to publish, once a week, the Republican Ledger. He died the next year, and was succeeded by Nutting & Whitelock, who published it about three or four years. This paper was set up by leading Republicans of this town, such as Gov. Langdon, Major Gardner, &c., who owned the printing materials. Daniel Humphreys and John Goddard were among the writers who contributed to its columns. It was set up because the owners who started it could not have such political matter as they wished, published in the Gazette, then a Federal paper. And it was discontinued in 1805, when the same Republican gentlemen bought out the N. H. Gazette, and placed it in the hands of Peirce & Gardner.

In 1793, on the 4th of June, Charles Peirce commenced a semi-weekly paper here called the United States Oracle of the Day. He was a son of Dr. Peirce of Kittery, and an apprentice to John Melcher, whose service he left and went to Philadelphia, from whence he sent on his prospectus to Deacon Drown of this place, who procured for him ninety subscribers. With this scanty list he began his publication, which he afterwards changed into a larger sheet once a week:—and soon joined with it book-printing and book-selling on a considerable scale for those days, and accumulated a handsome property. His printing and bookselling stand and dwelling were in Daniel street, where after the fire of 1802, he erected the brick building whose walls, once more burnt out and rebuilt, are now occupied by Stephen Walker.

Mr. Peirce published the Oracle till July 4, 1801, when he sold it to William Treadwell, but continued the bookselling business here several years afterwards; and then removed to Philadelphia, where he died only a few years ago. He was a pretty good writer, and as well skilled in compiling a readable paper as any man of his time.

William Treadwell, having his brother Daniel for a partner at one time, published the Portsmouth Oracle from July 4, 1801, to Sept. 25, 1813, and a part of the time did a heavy book business besides, printing, among other things, a large edition of Rollins' Ancient History. His files do not show him to have been an editor equal to Peirce; but the talent existing in the Federal party is sometimes visible in communications or political and other topics.

In 1813, Sept. 28, he was succeeded by Charles Turell, and removed to New York, where he died several years ago. Mr. Turell conducted the Oracle from that time to July, 1821. He was a writer of brief articles, pithy and pointed; and he had valuable aid from the pens of William Garland, Andrew Halliburton and others. He was a very neat printer, and a close, careful proof-reader.

On the 1st of July, 1821, the paper passed into the hands of Nathaniel A. Haven, Jr., who gave it a new name and a new character. He called it the Portsmouth Journal of Literature and Politics; and announced in his prospectus, that he intended to give it some features of a Magazine, as well as of a Newspaper. Mr. Haven was widely known and is well remembered, as a writer of great beauty, simplicity and interest, and as a most amiable man. He conducted the paper four years; but owned it only two; selling it July, 1823, to Harrison Gray. It was published by Gray & Childs, and printed by Mr. Turell, until July 1, 1825, when it was sold to T. H. Miller & C. W. Brewster, printers and proprietors, who employed C. W. Cutter as editor. After two or three years the proprietors became the editors also. In 1835, Mr. Miller retired, and Mr. Brewster has since been sole proprietor. He has twice enlarged his paper, and built up a very substantial business.

When Mr. Turell lost the printing of the Journal, in 1825, by its sale to Miller & Brewster, he began to publish the Commercial Advertiser, and continued it about four years; but though the paper was well conducted and neatly printed, yet it was not successful, and was stopped in 1829. Mr. Turell removed to New York.

About the same time, Cutts & Sparhawk published the Signs of the Times, for one year. Robert Foster was the printer. John Caldwell published the Courier three months, about 1830,—Chandler E. Potter published the News & Courier about a year,—and Nathaniel March & Co. published the State Herald for two or three years, ending June 1, 1833. The Herald was a good paper, neatly printed; but was not very profitable. It was sold to Miller & Brewster, and united with the Journal.

In 1800 or 1801, Maximilian J. de Rochemont published an "impartial paper" called the Political Star, admitting communications on opposite sides. It was published only one year.

Stephen Sewell in 1808 began to publish the Literary Mirror, and continued it about two years. It was neatly printed and was a pleasant paper.

Samuel Whidden commenced the Intelligencer, in Sept., 1806, and printed it once a week till Sept. 11, 1817. Its circulation and advertising were always small.

In 1815, a portion of the Republican party got up a paper called the People's Advocate, which was published one year. Wm. Weeks and Daniel P. Drown were the editors.

In 1822, Francis Davis and others published a paper called the Paraclete & Tickler.

In 1823, Tobias H. Miller published the Evening Visitant,—and in 1824, John T. Gibbs and T. H. Miller published the Weekly Magazine, which latter paper endured till July, 1825, when its list was turned over to the Journal.

The Mercantile Transcript was published by Wm. H. Foster, during the year 1847.

The Rockingham Messenger was commenced by M'Intire & Whittem, Oct. 7, 1847—and is now published by Thos. J. Whittem.

Besides this long list of political, literary and miscellaneous papers, there have been two religious papers published here, viz., the Herald of Gospel Liberty, and the N. H. Observer.

Elias Smith, a celebrated preacher of the Christian Society, set up the Herald in Sept., 1808: this paper, under various titles, has been ever since the organ of the Christian Society, and is now published in Newburyport.

It was the first religious newspaper of which we have any knowledge.

T. H. Miller published the N. H. Observer from July 12, 1827, to May 11, 1831, when it was removed to Concord, and sold to Gov. Morrill and E. S. Chadwick. It was the organ of the Orthodox Congregationalists.

The Piscataqua Evangelical Magazine began in January, 1805, and was published once in two months, for four or five years. It was edited by the ministers of the Piscataqua Association, and printed by Wm. Treadwell.

The Washingtonian was a temperance paper, got up by Wm. H. Foster, who was its printer, under the auspices of the Washington Total Abstinence Society, who appointed Samuel E. Coues, John L. Hayes, and T. H. Miller editors. It was commenced in 1841, and continued about four years.

This list is probably not complete, and it may not be in all respects accurate; yet it gives most of the items of interest, in newspaper history here.

Portsmouth has commonly had three weekly newspapers for about sixty years past.

LIQUOR "GRATIS."—A correspondent of the New York Herald, at Newport, has the following. He is speaking of Downing's oyster saloon, called the Yacht House:—

A rather funny incident occurred with a cottage-holder—a bishop—here yesterday. The Bishop, who is an invalid, called at the Yacht House, and said he felt quite debilitated from not being able to get wine on account of the Maine law. "Don't let that trouble you," said Downing, "I can let you have some." "Have you any claret?" asked the Bishop. "Yes," said George, "in bottles, but not on draught. I have very good Scotch ale; what would you think of that?" The Bishop said that was an excellent thing to give strength, and he would try some. So Downing served up an excellent lunch, consisting of the choicest titbits, and a bottle of the best Scotch ale. The Bishop said grace before and after meat, and felt himself vastly refreshed in the inner man. When he called for his bill, the Bishop observed that Downing was charging nothing for the ale. "That is all right," said Downing, "I don't sell ale or other strong drinks, I give them free; but I charge a decent profit upon the eatables." "Oh," says the Bishop, laughing, "I see how it is; then I will come here every day, and pay you for the use of your room, and seeing the scenery from your windows, and you can let me have a bottle of the Scotch ale for nothing." "Agreed, sir," replied Downing, "and anything else you require, from Heidsick to the best Otard."—This is one example from many.

CONGRESS.

SATURDAY, July 31.

The Senate was not in session.

The House passed the Senate bill establishing three additional land districts in Iowa, and the bill increasing the capital and jurisdiction of the Washington Gas Light Company.

The bill authorizing soldiers in the late war with Great Britain, to surrender their bounty sands which are not fit for cultivation, and to lelect others in their stead, was discussed during the morning hour.

The House took up the subject of the public printing.

Mr. Stanton, of Ky., said the committee on public printing, and the select committee on the subject, had several conferences, and agreed upon a plan for the execution of the public printing.

Mr. Marshall, of Ky., on the part of the select committee, then gave an outline of the plan, the principal features of which are:—First, to repeal the present contract system.—Secondly, the election of a public printer who is to execute the printing not only for Congress but for the executive Departments.—Thirdly, the appointment of a superintendent of printing to stand between the public printer and the government to see that the work is neatly and expeditiously done, and to exercise a general supervision over the subject.

The price to be paid for type setting, about 20 per cent below the prices of 1849, and the Government to furnish the white paper. Mr. Chandler was in favor of a Government printing office, but as this could not be established now, he thought the details of the bill were as fair as could be adopted at present. Mr. Clingman was of opinion that time enough had been wasted on this subject. He was willing to take any one of the three plans before the House rather than leave the printing in its present neglected condition, and he hoped the question would now be taken.

Mr. Orr said he was now satisfied the enforcement of the contract system was impracticable, and was, therefore, ready to vote for the substitute reported by Mr. Marshall.

Mr. Haven wished it to be understood, that the printing proposed to be paid by this substitute was higher than the contract entered in by the committee of printing, with Gideon & Co., and Donaldson & Armstrong, who have given bonds for the execution of the work, and who could claim for damages, should the bill be passed.

Mr. Clingman moved the previous question, which was seconded, and under its operation the House rejected the bill originally reported by the Printing Committee, and also a substitute heretofore offered by Mr. Jenkins, and then agreed to the proposition reported this morning by Mr. Marshall, of Kentucky.—Yeas 91, nays 56.

The House then adjourned.

A CLOCK THAT IS A CLOCK.—The great clock in the cathedral at Strasburg has been described by one who particularly examined it, as follows. The letter was written by a traveler who was in that country during their political difficulties a few years since.

"The priest and military have retired, and I am now sitting in a chair facing the gigantic clock—from the bottom to the top not less than 100 feet, and about 30 feet wide and 15 deep. Around me are many strangers waiting to see the working of this clock when it strikes the hour of noon. Every eye is upon the clock. It now wants five minutes to twelve. The clock has struck and the people are gone, except a few whom the sexton, or head man with a wand and sword is conducting around the building. The clock is struck in this way; the dial is some twenty feet from the floor, on each side of which is a cherub, or little boy with a mallet, and over the dial there is a small bell. The cherub on the left strikes the first quarter, and on the right the second quarter. Some fifty feet over the dial in a large niche, is a huge figure of time, a bell in his left, a scythe in his right hand. In front stands a figure of a young man with a mallet, which strikes the third quarter on the bell in the hand of time, and then glides with a slow step around behind time; out comes an old man with a mallet and places himself in front of him. As the hour of twelve comes, the old man raises his mallet, and deliberately strikes twelve times on the bell that echoes through the building, and is heard round the region of the church. Then the old man glides slowly behind father time, and the young comes on readily to perform his part as time comes round again. Soon as the old man has struck twelve and disappeared, another set of machinery is put in motion, some twenty feet higher still. It is thus: there is a high cross with an image of Christ on it. The instant twelve has struck, one of the apostles walks on from behind, comes in front, turns, facing the cross, bows, and walks round to his place. As he does so, another comes out in front, turns, bows, and passes in; so twelve apostles, figures as large as life, walk round, bow, and pass on. As the last appears, an enormous cock, perched on the pinnacle of the clock, slowly flaps its wings, stretches forth its neck, and crows three times, so loud as to be heard outside the church to some distance, and so naturally as to be mistaken for a real cock. Then all is as silent as death. No wonder this clock is the admiration of Europe. It was made in 1500, and has performed these mechanical wonders ever since, except about fifty years, when it was out of repair.

A POTENTIAL DODGE OF THE MAINE LIQUOR LAW.—Those who happen to live just this side of the line, which for miles divides Massachusetts from New Hampshire, escape the rigorous operation of the Liquor Law, by stepping over, and thus beyond its jurisdiction. By a similar process the Granite-ribbed Commonwealth has not unfrequently extended aid and comfort to the lineal outsiders of Maine. We have understood that a number of liquor dealers in this vicinity have recently taken up their abode in Pelham, and other places in New Hampshire, within half an hour's ride. One individual has bought a piece of land in that State, and put up on it a building, so contrived that his bar stands exactly up to the line in New Hampshire, while his customers, as they hold the glass to the mouth, drink in Massachusetts! This is a dodge potential, which the law cannot touch.—Lowell Courier.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.

The House to-day concurred in Senate resolution fixing 31st August for final adjournment. A resolution was introduced and referred to a committee proposing to reduce letter postage to two cents and newspapers to one-fourth cent under one hundred miles, and one cent for newspapers, one thousand miles and upwards. The House then took up the general appropriation bill, and a debate chiefly referring to the Presidential contest occupied the rest of the session.

AN OWNER OF THE HENRY CLAY ARRESTED, &c.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.

In New York, to-day, Thomas Collyer, one of the owners of the steamboat Henry Clay, was arrested and put under one thousand dollar bonds. He is charged with manslaughter. Warrants have also been issued for the apprehension of the officers attached to this ill-fated boat.

CAPT. MARCY AND COMMAND SAFE!—Later advices from Fort Smith contradict previous statements, that Capt. Marcy and eighty United States troops had been attacked and killed by Indians. Capt. Maccy and command are sound and in good health.

THE WOODWORTH PATENT BILL DEFEATED. Mr. Carter, of Ohio, Chairman of the Committee on Patents in the House, has made a report adverse to the extension of Woodworth's patent.

ARRIVAL OF THE OHIO WITH THE CALIFORNIA MAILS AND $300,000 IN GOLD.—New York, Aug. 2.—The steamship Ohio, from Aspinwall 21st, via Kingston 26th, arrived at 10 o'clock this morning. The Ohio, when only two days out, disabled her starboard engine and was compelled to put into Kingston with one engine. Off Port Royal she spoke steamship Illinois, 6 days from New York, all well. The Ohio brings the U. S. mails from San Francisco, of July first, $300,000 in specie, and about 150 passengers. Her news from California has been anticipated.

TAMPERING WITH A JURY.—Albany, Aug. 1.—A criminal trial has been in progress here for two weeks. An Irish girl named Jane O'Donnel, was charged with stealing from Congress Hall in this city, and other places. Yesterday afternoon a person took the stand as witness in her favor, but in the cross examination acknowledged that one of the jurors had been tampered with. The Judge immediately discharged the whole jury, sent the girl to prison to await another trial, committed half a dozen of her witnesses, who are suspected of having committed gross perjury, and suspended the last witness from further practice until further orders from the Court. He will be examined on Monday on a charge of misdemeanor.

A MONSTER OF THE DEEP.—The Norfolk Argus says, the other night one of the men on board the U. S. ship Pennsylvania attempted to make his escape from the service by plunging overboard, in expectation of reaching the shore in safety. The poor fellow had scarcely, however, touched the water, when he was seized by a large shark and speedily dispatched. His cries for help are represented as being piteous in the extreme, but before the boats could get to his assistance he was destroyed by the voracious monster of the deep. It is said that a number of these fish followed the Cyane when she came in from sea, with several men upon her sick list—their instinct, when there is disease on shipboard, prompting them to pursue in the wake in hopes of prey.

EXPORT OF SPECIE.—The exports of specie from New York last week amounted to $789,565, chiefly in the Asia to Liverpool, to the amount of $323,221 in gold, mostly American; and $348,700 in the Humboldt for Havre, of which $116,145 was in silver, and $194,200 in American gold. The exports of specie are short of the imports and new coinage, and there is consequently on accumulation, chiefly at the New York banks, accompanied with an increase of discounts. Foreign Exchange remains without material alteration.

BAD STRUCTURE OF A BOAT.—An old North River fireman has made a statement that the construction and arrangement of the engine and fire department of the Henry Clay were so defective that the greatest danger was anticipated every time the cinders were raked out of the fire, and he has known her to take fire before this on three or four occasions.

The negroes are prohibited from smoking cigars in the streets of Richmond.

LATER FROM THE SCENE OF THE RECENT DISASTER.—New York Aug. 2.—The Coroner's Jury in the case of the Henry Clay catastrophe are still holden inquests at Yonkers. Seventy-one bodies in all have been recovered, and it is known that six or eight are still missing. The derrick is still engaged in hoisting portions of the wreck, and it is thought that by this evening, sufficient of the machinery will be got out to allow the hull to float.—The exctiement attending this affair continues unabated.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.—Washington, Aug. 1.—The question of adjournment and the Civil and Diplomatic Bill it is thought will come up in the House to-morrow. Many of the members think that Congress will not be ready to adjourn before the middle of September.

PUBLIC PARKS.

Not knowing, we cannot say whether the Musical Times or Boston Transcript had any intention of aiding the project of a Common in the City of Portsmouth,—but it is pretty certain that their remarks which follow, have a bearing in its favor.

All travelers remark upon the contrast in the liberality of the public parks of American and European cities. Notwithstanding the comparative cheapness of land here, we stint ourselves deplorably in these appropriations for the health and recreation of the people. Why should not republicans take as good care of themselves in this respect as monarchists? Let us be warned by our past shortcomings, and take more provident care of the future. In a recent letter from Munich to the New York Musical Times, Mr. Lowell Mason writes:

Among the most interesting features of these German cities, are the parks, gardens, &c., in which they abound. We have but to step outside of the gate of Munich, for example, and we find ourselves at once in a park of four miles long; the whole being filled with trees, shrubbery and flowers; with roads, smooth as a floor, for carriages, and foot-paths winding in every possible direction. One may ride for hours in this park with ever-varying and ever-new prospects before him. The river Iser, a small but rapid stream, winds its way through these woods, adding much to the beauty of the place. It is a good ten days work to take a mere superficial look at the various works of art brought together in the Bavarian capital.

LEIGH HUNT'S DESCRIPTION OF TOM MOORE. "Moore's forehead," says Leigh Hunt, "was bony and full of character, with 'bumps' of wit large and radiant enough to transport a phrenologist. In this particular he strongly resembled Sterne. His eyes are as dark and as fine as you could wish to see under a set of vine leaves; his mouth generous and good humored, with dimples; and his manner as bright as his talk, full of the wish to please and be pleased. He sang and played with great force on the piano forte, as might be supposed from his musical composition. His voice, which was a little hoarse in speaking—at least I used to think so—softened into a breath like that of a flute, when singing. In speaking, he was emphatic in rolling about the letter r, perhaps out of despair of being able to get rid of the national peculiarity."

"THERE WERE GIANTS IN THOSE DAYS." Mr. Gideon Miles, of West Chester, is the father of seven sons and two daughters, all of whom were remarkable for fine muscle and weight. It is rare to meet a family of children so athletic and robust. The children are all living except one, who died within a year. The following is the weight of the survivors—352 lbs., 238, 190, 219, 190, 230, 190, 200, and 204. The father still lives at the good old age of 76, with his son Gideon, respected by the community and by his progeny. We may well say they have been weighed in the balance and not found wanting. The joint weight of the father and eight children is 2133 pounds. A WRIGHTIER family than nine Miles will not be found in fifty miles.

A WEST INDIA HURRICANE,

DESCRIBED BY AN EYEWITNESS.

In Carlyle's Life of John Sterling, recently published, we have the following vivid description, from the pen of Sterling himself:

To Mrs. Sterling, Southplace, Knightsbridge, London.

BRIGHTON, St. Vincent, Aug. 28, '13.

MY DEAR MOTHER,—From the day of our arrival in the West Indies until Thursday the 11th instant, which will long be a memorable day with us, I had been doing my best to get ourselves established comfortably; and I had at last bought the materials for making some additions to the house. But on the morning I have mentioned, all that I had exerted myself to do, nearly all the property both of Susan and myself, and the very house we lived in, were suddenly destroyed by a visitation of Providence far more terrible than any I have ever witnessed.

When Susan [his wife] came from her room to breakfast, at eight o'clock, I pointed out to her the extraordinary height and violence of the surf, and the singular appearance of the heavy clouds of rain sweeping down the valleys before us. At this time I had so little apprehension of what was coming, that I talked of riding down to the shore when the storm should abate, as I had never seen so fierce a sea. In about a quarter of an hour the House Negroes came in, to close the outside window shutters. They knew that the plantain-trees about the negro houses had been blown down in the night; and had told the maid-servant Tyrrell, but I had heard nothing of it. A few minutes after the closing of the windows, I found that the shutters of Tyrrell's room, at the south and commonly the most sheltered end of the House, were giving away. I tried to tie them; but the silk handkerchief which I used soon gave way; and as I had neither hammer, boards nor nails in the house, I could do nothing more to keep out the tempest. I found, in pushing at the leaf of the shutter, that the wind resisted, more as if it had been a stone wall or a mass of iron, than a mere current of air.—There were one or two persons outside trying to fasten the windows, and I went out to help them; but we had no tools at hand: one man was blown down the hill in front of the house, before my face; and the other and myself had great difficulty in getting inside the door. The rain on my face and hands felt like so much small shot from a gun. There was great exertion necessary to shut the door of the house.

The windows at the end of the large room were now giving way; and I suppose it was about nine o'clock, when the hurricane burst them in, as if it had been a discharge from a battery of heavy cannon. The shutters were first forced open, and the wind fastened them back to the wall; and then the panes of glass were smashed by the mere force of the gale, without any thing having touched them.—Even now I was not at all sure the house would go. My books, I saw, were lost; for the rain poured past the book-cases, as if it had been the Colonarie River. But we carried a good deal of furniture into the passage at the entrance; we set Susan there on a sofa, and the black house-keeper was even attempting to get her some breakfast. The house, however, began to shake so violently and the rain was so searching, that she could not stay there long. She went into her own room; and I staid to see what could be done.

Under the forepart of the house, there are cellars built of stone, but not arched. To these, however, there was no access except on the outside; and I knew from my own experience that Susan could not have gone a step beyond the door, without being carried away by the storm, and probably killed on the spot. The only chance seemed to be that of breaking through the floor. But when the old Cook and myself resolved on this, we found that we had no instrument with which it would be possible to do it. It was now clear that we had only God to trust in. The front windows were giving way with successive crashes, and the floor shoook as you may have seen a carpet on a gusty day in London. I went into our bed-room; where I found Susan, Tyrrell, and a little colored girl of seven or eight years old; and told them that we should probably not be alive in half an hour. I could have escaped, if I had chosen to go alone, by crawling on the ground either into the kitchen, a separate stone building at no great distance, or into the open fields away from trees or houses; but Susan could not have gone a yard. She became quite calm when she knew the worst; and she sat on my knee in what seemed the safest corner of the room, while every blast was bringing nearer and nearer the moment of our seemingly certain destruction.

I was sitting in an arm-chair, holding my Wife. and Tyrrell and the little Black child were close to us. We had given up all notion of surviving; and only waited for the fall of the roof to perish together.

Before long the roof went. Most of the materials, however, were carried away: one of the large couples was caught on the bed-post and held fast by the iron spike; while the end of it hung over our heads: had the beam fallen an inch on either side of the bed-post, it must necessarily have crushed us.—The walls did not go with the roof; and we remained for half an hour, alternately praying to God, and watching them as they bent, creaked, and shivered before the storm.

Tyrrell and the child, when the roof was off, made way through the remains of the partition, to the outer door; and with the assistance of the people who were looking for us, got into the kitchen. A good while after they were gone, and before we knew any thing of their fate, a Negro suddenly came upon us; and the sight of him gave us a hope of safety. When the people learned that we were in danger, and while their own huts were flying about their ears, they crowded to help us; and the old Cook urged them on to our rescue. He made five attempts, after saving Tyrrel, to get to us; and four times he was blown down. The fifth time he, and the negro we first saw, reached the house. The space they had to traverse was not above twenty yards of level ground, if so much. In another minute or two, the overseers, and a crowd of negroes, most of whom had come on their hands and knees, were surrounding us; and with their help, Susan was carried round to the end of the house; where they broke open the cellar window, and placed her in comparative safety. The force of the hurricane was, by this time, a good deal diminished, or it would have been impossible to stand before it.

But the wind was still terrific; and the rain poured into the cellars through the floor above. Susan, Tyrrell, and a crowd of Negroes remained under it, for more than two hours: and I was long afraid that the wet and cold would kill her, if she did not perish more violently. Happily we had wine and spirits at hand, and she was much nerved by a tumbler of claret. As soon as I saw her in comparative safety, I went off with one of the Overseers down to the Works, where the greater number of the Negroes were collected, that we might see what could be done for them. They were wretched enough, but no one was hurt; and I ordered them a dram apiece, which seemed to give them a good deal of consolation.

Before I could make my way back, the hurricane became as bad as at first: and I was obliged to take shelter for half an hour in a ruined Negro-house. This, however, was the last of its extreme violence. By one o'clock, even the rain had in a great degree ceased; and as only one room of the house, was standing, and that rickety,—I had Susan carried in a chair down the hill, to the Hospital; where, in a small paved unlighted room, she spent the next twenty-four hours. She was far less injured than might have been expected from such a catastrophe.

Next day, I had the passage at the entrance of the house repaired and roofed; and we returned to the ruins of our habitation, still encumbered as they were with the wreck of almost all we were possessed of. The walls of the part of the house next the sea were carried away, in less I think than half an hour after we reached the cellar; when I had leisure to examine the remains of the house, I found the floor strown with fragments of the building, and with broken furniture; and our books all soaked as completely as if they had been for several hours in the sea.

In the course of a few days I had the other room, which is under the same roof as the one saved, rebuilt; and Susan stayed in this temporary abode for a week,—when we left Colonarie, and came to Brighton. Mr. Munro's kindness exceeds all precedent. We shall certainly remain here till my Wife is recovered from her confinement. In the meanwhile we shall have a new house built, in which we hope to be well settled before Christmas.

The roof was half blown off the kitchen, but I have had it mended already; the other offices were all swept away. The gig is much injured; and my horse received a wound in the fall of the stable, from which he will not be recovered for some weeks; in the meantime I have no choice but to buy another, as I must go at least once or twice a week to Colonarie, besides business in Town. As to our own comforts, we can scarcely expect ever to recover from the blow that has now stricken us. No money would repay me for the loss of my books, of which a large proportion had been in my hands for so many years that they were like old and faithful friends, and of which many had been given me at different times by the persons in the world whom I most value.

But against all this I have to set the preservation of our lives, in a way the most awfully providential; and the safety of every one in the Estate. And I have also the great satisfaction of reflecting that all the Negroes from whom any assistance could reasonably be expected, behaved like so many Heroes of Antiquity; risking their lives and limbs for us and our property, while their own poor houses were flying like chaff before the hurricane. There are few White people here who can say as much for their Black dependents; and the force and value of the relation between Master and Slave has been tried by the late calamity on a large scale.

GAS LIGHTS.

Wending our way at an early hour yesterday morning along the crooked shore of the Piscataqua, we spied a brilliant light in Water street, apparently on the very spot where the Great House used to stand. Not the Bleak House, in Chancery, about which Dickens is writing a book which we all read piecemeal; —though the Great House must have been bleak enough in a north-easter; and as to lawsuits, the Great House was as badly off as the Bleak.

Capt. John Mason found the money to build the Great House, and Capt. Thomas Warnerton lived in it—but although much money was spent here by Mason, he never got any returns; and though he obtained a legal decision in his favor in England, it proved a mere brutum fulmen in New Hampshire.

But what of the gas lights? They did not have such things hereabouts in Capt. Warnerton's day—nor did Capt. Mason have any in his house in London. But the world has changed since that time, and though we change more slowly in this place than in some others, yet the old church bell of an hundred years seems to toll out "In-no-va-tion—In-novation," as it marks off the time of one change after another. And most of them are improvements too; costly though they may be.

State street, with its long row of plain brick houses, its ample breadth, spacious sidewalks, and umbrageous trees, deserved the gas lights; and the dwellers thereon were presumed to be able to pay for them. So with steel, charcoal and gunpowder the gas men beat holes through the ledges, and the light shines in house and store. But who looked to see it turn the corner and shine down Water street like a star of the first magnitude? Here it is however, at the corner of old Pitt street, (doubtless named for the celebrated British statesman,) now Court street. No rocks happen to be in the way just here, but, (a strange thing in this part of the city,) sandy and gravelly loam to dig in. The trench has pipe laid in it, and on a perpendicular pipe rising from the end, a small gas light in a lantern at once warns off the traveler from the ditch, and advertises the gas.

Every one of these beacon lights seems to say, how handy we are (or should be) in a dark, rainy night, if we shone in every street. Above all we should shine, could the city afford it, in the dark, and crooked and rough old streets. We commend the enterprise of gas lighting—and can do no less than commend the spirit of improvement in the denizens of Water street, who mean to make an evening walk by their stores so attractive as to draw in much custom.

Gas lights are bound to go ahead here, and the company must ultimately be prosperous —unless Professor Paine, or somebody else, gets up a new and better light.

The Carpet Bag in its humorous way, (or somebody who ought to write for it,) speaks of Humbugism Gas—but this kind does not light the streets; it only lightens the people's pockets. That which shines in Water street is no humbug—but is better than a lamp to the path. It costs money; but it is worth it.

CHOLERA AT ROCHESTER. — The telegraphic report of yesterday states that there is considerable excitement there in reference to the cholera, and some alarming rumors are in circulation. The deaths from five o'clock P. M. Monday up to nine o'clock A. M. yesterday, are reported to be 20. The number of cases is not reported.

A WEAK MAN.—Major Howe, of Bethlehem, Conn., hitherto a respectable young man, 21 years of age, was desirous to marry Miss Marilla Butts, a school-mistress, of Milford, Conn., but being rejected, in his suit, he tried to kill her on Friday last by stabbing her in presence of her scholars with a knife. She beat him off however: he then threw himself face downwards into a shallow stream, and would have drowned himself, but was taken out and lodged in jail.

Jesse Ballard, of San Augustine, Texas, on the 12th of July, apparently in a fit of derangement, shot and killed his sister in law, a negro boy, and then himself.

REAPING MACHINE.—The London Times gives an account of a reaping machine invented by Hussey, and made by Garrett & Son, which will reap an acre and a half in a single hour. Fifteen hundred of these machines have been made to order in England during the last year.

POTATO DIGGER.—A patent machine for this purpose has been invented lately. This would have been a fine thing several years ago —but the desideratum now is, something that will make them grow!

COURTS OF LAW.—Every one who has read the Bleak House, is familiar with "Jarndyce and Jarndyce." And every one who has been conversant with English Law, knows that their courts are full of technicalities, not only in words but in action.

We are glad now, therefore, to see the broom of reform raised to sweep away the legal cobwebs of centuries in accumulation.

Our Courts will follow: the sooner the better.

In Parliamen, two acts were passed on the 30th ult. by virtue of which some extensive alterations will be made in the common law courts. Both acts were framed in accordance with the recommendations of the Common Law Commissioners. the first act (15 and 16 Victoria, cap. 73) relates to the Nisi Prius officers and to the payment of judges' clerks by salaries. Several offices are abolished, and the present fees reduced. Some fees and gratuities are abolished, and the parties are to be paid by saleries. The Treasury will, with the sanction of the chiefs of the three courts, fix the salaries to be paid, and a new table of fees for the superior courts and the judges' chambers is to be framed. Among the fees abolished is one of 6s. 8d. paid on circuit "for the use of the judge." The other act is called the Common Law Procedure Act (cap. 76). This act contains as many as 236 clauses, and its object is to render more simple and speedy the process, practice and mode of pleading in the common law courts. A great many technicalities are got rid of by this act, and actions will be less expensive and more expeditious than they have been in the superior courts. Both acts will take effect from the 24th of October, the end of the long vacation.

From the 24th of October next the signature of consul will not be required to any pleading in the superior common law courts.

Among the other reforms, the old fictitious names in real actions are to give place to true ones, per the following paragraph.

DEATH OF JOHN DOE AND RICHARD ROE. —By the London papers we learn that these distinguished persons who have lived so long (some 700 or 800 years)as to be considered immortal, and who were apparently the largest owners of real estate in Great Britain, will cease to exist on the 24th of October next; an act of the recent session of Parliament providing that instead of the present proceedings in actions of ejectments (in which these worthies always took a conspicuous part) the writ shall be directed to the person in possession of the demanded property, and in which the property shall be described with reasonable certainty.

LIGHTNING RODS.

Electricity, like all other great powers in nature, while potent for good, in its place, is yet powerful for evil, or what we call evil.—It clears the air by explosion; brings the news by a flash; and alas, paralyzes and kills man and beast by a shock. Yet it is manageable and pliable, when we understand it, and take pains and incur expenee to make it serve without hurting us. Man was to subdue the earth—aye, and to tame the lightning too, though this latter revelation remained a mystery till Franklin solved it. He chained the lightning and dashed it harmless to the ground: later inventors have educated it to do our bidding,—and yet its power for mischief is undiminished.

"The price of liberty" in government, "is eternal vigilance."—The price of safety from lightning, is constant preparation. A patent isolated lightning rod is said to be the best preservative against injury by lightning, that modern science has as yet devised.—Owners of houses would do well to look at the subject, and consult Mr. R. Reed, whose card appears in our columns to-day. His orders are left at the City Hotel.

SUNDAY LAWS. Mayor Brush, of New York City, is making a vigorous effort to enforce the Sunday laws, which forbid selling liquors on the Sabbath, &c., &c. The broom of reform might be used there to some purpose; but a European city as that is fast becoming, is a kind of Augean stable. Great efforts are necessary to keep vice within certain limits.

ROCKINGHAM HOUSE, EPPING.—It has been our fortune to find a warm welcome here in a cold wintry day—and every traveller who stops there will find an attentive landlord, who though he may not be able to blow hot and cold in one breath, will make the atmosphere about him to suit the season and his guests, if the thing is possible. See advertisement.

The Montreal Courier complains of "Yankee bluster," but remarks of the Colonial vessels:

"The only mistake which the Colonial Governments have made is in the fitting out such vessels as that commanded by Fortin, which having no national character, and not carrying the flag acknowledged by foreign powers as that of British cruisers, cannot be expected to be recognized or respected; we are at a loss to know under what law such vessels have been fitted out, or how the Governors General of the Colonies can have sanctioned the outfit and despatch."

The Governor of Newfoundland has refused to allow any vessel to be despatched from that Island for this purpose.

Mr. John Morrison of Leicester Mass., who was bitten by a spider, as he supposed, died on Wednesday. The disease went regularly on, till it ended in death.

TEHUANTEPEC.

This unpronounceable word is the name of an isthmus, of a proposed railroad, and a proposed treaty. Some proceedings designed to forward the railroad, have been set in motion by our government, in regard to which the Boston Courier says:

Our readers will not have forgotten that a project for a railroad across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec was started nearly three years ago, and that the United States government, with a view of facilitating the intercourse between the Atlantic States and California, took an early opportunity to negotiate with the Mexican government for a treaty to forward this undertaking. This attempt, however, has thus far been unsuccessful. A mass of documents in relation to this matter has recently been laid before Congress, a portion only of which has been published. From what has been made public, it appears that the failure has been owing to the obstacles which have been thrown in the way of the undertaking by individuals interested in rival projects. Whether a renewal of the negotiations would result in a more favorable termination, we have no means of conjecturing at present.

We subjoin an extract of the correspondence with the Mexican government, on this subject, for the purpose of showing the view taken of the matter by our own executive. It is a portion of the note addressed by Mr. Webster to Mr. Larainzar, the Mexican Minister at Washington:—

The government of the United States, in seeking to open the communication across the Isthmus of the Tehuantepec, has not wished to obtain any exclusive advantage for itself. Its desire has been to leave the communication free to all nations; but it has not concealed, and does not wish to conceal, its sense of the importance of that communication to the government and to the citizens of the United States. The United States possess a vast territory on the shores of the Pacific, adjoining the Republic of Mexico. This territory is fast filling up by an active and enterprising population. One state formed out of it, is a component part of the American Union, and other states will doubtless soon be created and admitted. One of the most practicable communications between those parts of the same country and government, is supposed to be, by a railroad across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. This Isthmus is a possession of Mexico, but as a medium of intercourse and communication, the proposed road across it, is highly important to her, to all the rest of the world, and especially to the United States; and that, Larainzar, of course, well understands that, according to the acknowledged principles of public law, and the usages of nations, ancient and modern, the obligations of good neighborhood and national friendship, make it the study of a state to allow reasonable transit over its own territories, to the citizens and subjects of other governments, for the purpose of commerce and other peaceable communications.

The second observation which the undersigned has the honor to submit to Mr. Larainzar is, that the government of the United States cannot but entertain serious doubts whether Mexico herself, or her citizens will be able, within any reasonable time, to effect so desirable an object by their own resources.

And the third is, that the government of Mexico must distinctly understand that the government of the United States will not consent that a communication between the oceans, at this point, shall be placed under the exclusive supervision or control of a third power!!

LIGHTNING.—During the heaviest thunder shower on Friday evening last, the lightning struck a large tree on Parker's Hill, Roxbury, shattering it to peices, and killing two or three cows that were reposing beneath its branches. The cows belonged to the widow of the late John Parker.

THE FISHERIES.—On Friday, Mr. Rantoul presented to the House of Representatives a memorial from a large number of citizens of Massachusetts, praying for prompt and efficient action in behalf of our fishing vessels. It sets forth that thirty thousand of our people are exposed to the guns of the British. It was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.—Boston Courier.

Diarrhœa continues to prevail in Fairfax county, Va., to an alarming extent. In some instances whole families are stricken down with it.

The Boston Mail states that H. Marion Stephens lately won a gold watch at the races. By her attendance on the races, and other places of a like character, she has won an unenviable notoriety which her somewhat exalted reputation as poetess can hardly counterbalance.

A LARGE SNAKE AND A LARGER STORY. We are informed (says the Springfield Republican,) that Mr. Thomas, conductor of a freight train on the Western Railroad, while running his train between Russell and Chester Village, one day last week, saw a large black snake near the track. Being a great enemy to such reptiles, he jumped from his train while it was going at its accustomed speed, caught the snake, killed it, and got again upon the train with the snake in his hand, without any interruption or slackening of speed!!! On arriving at Chester Factories, his snakeship was duly measured, and found to be 5 feet 10 1-2 inches in length. If any one can beat the above in activity and skill, let him get upon a train of cars when in motion, and try it.

The venerable Professor Silliman, at the Alumni meeting at Yale College, last week, said, among other things, that he had been lately amused by an enlargement of the signification of the old M. A. to "Mistress of Arts." A prefix of two letters to the last word, he thought would make all right, viz., "Mistress of Hearts;" "for," added the Professor, "though not troubled for diplomas, which are very harmless things, I think the noblest diploma of a charming woman, is a lovely family of children and a respected and honored husband;" a sentiment which seemed to meet with a cheerful and hearty response.

CONGRESS.

Our telegraphic news in yesterday's paper, gave the most important items of Monday's proceedings. Besides what was there contained, we add, that in the Senate the river and harbor bill was taken up, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. Douglas submitted an amendment to the bill, which was ordered to be printed. This amendment allows States, cities, and counties to levy the tonnage duties for improvement of rivers and harbors.

Mr. Adams offered a resolution, which was agreed to, directing inquiry as to the suppression of small notes in Washington city.

The House bill to provide for the execution of the printing, was referred to the Committee on Printing.

The bill, amending the act relating to the settlement of private land claims in California, was taken up.

Mr. Gwin read a speech in favor of it. Mr. Weller replied in opposition. The bill was laid on the table for the present.

The Indian appropriation bill was then taken up. The amendment pending was in striking out the appropriation of $66,000 to pay the Shawnees for certain lands of theirs sold in Ohio. Messrs. Hunter and Atchison spoke in favor of striking it out. The bill was postponed.

The bill ordering a reconnoisance of the China seas, Behring straits, Java seas, &c., was taken up. Mr. Hunter offered a substitute for the bill. Mr. Borland asked the object of the bill.

Mr. Hunter explained that it was to explore these seas now so much traveled by American vessels. It was to afford facilities to commerce.

Mr. Borland asked the Senator how he, who had been a leader in the opposition to all bills extending facilities to commerce on the lakes and western waters, on the ground of their unconstitutionality, could support this proposition, which was to appropriate hundreds, for the House to build and equip vessels to explore these seas, and afford facilities to commerce?

The House concurred in the Senate amendments to the bill, granting pre-emption to actual settlers on the line of the Illinois Central Railroad.

The new postage bill proposes, among other things, to reduce the postage on letters when prepaid, to two cents, and on newspapers to 1-4 cent, on distances not exceeding 100 miles, and 1-2 cent for any distances not exceeding 500 miles, and 3-4 cent for any distance over 500, and not exceeding 1000 miles. Newspapers to circulate free within 50 miles of the place of publication. It also abolishes the franking privilege. The bill was referred to the Committee on the Post Office.

The House took up the bill authorizing the soldiers in the late war with Great Britain to surrender their bounty lands unfit for cultivation, and select others instead. A motion to lay the bill on the table was voted down. Pending the subject the morning hour expired.

The public generally were glad to hear, as per telegraph, yesterday morning, that Congress agrees to adjourn August 31;—but much of the public business will be left in a state of chaos.

EXECUTIONS.

Ann Hoag and Jonas Williams were hung at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. last Friday.

Ann Hoag was born in Milan, Dutchess county, in 1821. She was deserted by her parents, and left a foundling in the public streets. The infant was taken into the family of Henry Taylor, Esq., a wealthy gentleman residing at Red Hook, in the same county, and adopted as their daughter. At the age of twelve she was sent to a boarding school. She mingled among friends and relatives of her adopted parents, and was respected and esteemed. Towards her eighteenth year, a resident, Nelson Hoag, became her suitor, and they were married. Her husband owned a small farm in Dutchess county, where they lived happily several years. They removed to Dover, reduced in circumstances, owing to speculation. Ann became the mother of five children, and in her adversity proved herself a faithful wife until the beginning of 1851, when she contracted a passion for a young man named William Summers, whose paramour she subsequently became, and thus rapidly travelled the road of crime, which has ended in an ignominious death. She renounced virtue, reputation, husband and children.

In July, 1851, she resolved to take the life of her husband, which she accomplished by mingling arsenic with his food until he died. In March following, she was tried and convicted, and the sentence of death pronounced by Hon. Judge Barculo, who fixed the day of execution on the 7th of May, 1852. A respite was granted until the 30th of July, as the unfortunate woman was about again to become a mother.

Her companion upon the gallows, Jonas Williams, was a negro, born in Horseneck, Dutchess county, in 1825. He was reared on a farm in that vicinity. Three years ago he married a widowed colored woman, with two daughters, on one of whom he committed a fatal outrage, for which he was put to death.

A spring, whose waters possess fine medical qualities, has been discovered in the neighborhood of Columminsville, Ohio They are pronounced by an eminent chemist, who has analysed the waters, equal to the Saratoga Springs.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Noah Winship, employed on the local freight train was killed Saturday afternoon, at West Acton. He was jumping from one car to another after they had been unshackled, and fell between them. The brake rod made a large gash in his throat, and the wheels of the car passed over his left arm, mangling it in a shocking manner. He was 25 years old, unmarried, and belonged in Mason, New Hampshire.

VESSEL BURNT.—New Orleans, Aug. 1.—British bark Charlotte, hence for Liverpool, was burned on Saturday at the Southwest Pass. Her cargo consisted of 1900 bales of cotton. Officers and crew saved.

To the Proprietors of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad.

THE grantees, members and associates of the above named Corporation are notified and requested to meet at the NEW HAMPSHIRE HOTEL in DOVER, in the County of Strafford, on SATURDAY, the 14th day of August, inst., at ELEVEN o'clock in the forenoon, for the following purposes, viz:—

1. To choose a Chairman, Clerk, five Directors and such other officers as may be necessary.
2. To adopt an Act of the Legislature entitled an Act to amend and continue the Acts to incorporate the Proprietors of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad, passed July 2, 1851.
3. To adopt rules and regulations, and take measures for subscribing the Stock, more fully organizing the Corporation, surveying and locating the Road, purchasing the lands therefor and preparing for the construction of the same.

SULPHUR FUME BATHS.

NOTICE.—Dr. P. still continues to administer the Sulphur Fume Baths, and is curing generally the most malignant cases of the various kinds of Cutaneous and other chronic Diseases, viz: Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Gout, Erysipelas, Diseased Eyes, Sore Throat, Liver Affections, Ring Worms, Neuralgia, Nervous Irritability, Obstinate Glandular Affections, Dropsy, Consumption, Leprosy, Gravel, &c., &c., on reasonable terms.

For particulars, inquire of the subscriber.

a2 A. PERRY, M. D.

NOTICE TO BUILDES AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of our finest buildings are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and narrow contracted, leaden goose-necks, or what is still worse a skewangle continuation of the upright conductor with which the cornice is adorned—all of which may be remedied by application to

J. E. CHAPMAN,

PRACTICAL TIN PLATE WORKER,

who will give his personal attention to the adjustment of all such defects. Specimens of Ornamental Goose-necks and Conductor Caps, on the most approved plan of modern architecture may be seen at his Tin Ware Factory, where he manufactures to order

CONDUCTORS, GOOSE NECKS & GUTTERS of all sizes, in the most thorough and substantial manner. All orders left with him will receive immediate attention.

LATEST NEWS!

TELEGRAPHIC

DESPATCHES

TO THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE.

KENNEBEC WHIG CONVENTION.

GARDINER, ME., Aug. 3.

In the Kennebec Whig Convention, held to-day, Samuel P. Benson, of Winthrop, was nominated for Congress.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, August 3.

SENATE.—A message was received from the President in answer to Mr. Mason's resolution calling for information regarding the fisheries—transmitting a report of the acting Secretary of State, and stating that Commodore Perry with the steam frigate Mississippi, had been despatched there to protect American rights.

Mr. Cass moved its reference to the Committee on Foreign relations, and made a lengthy speech in support of his motion.

HOUSE.—The House went into committee of the whole and took up the general Appropriation Bill. Mr. John W. Howe of Pa. made a political speech, attacking Platforms of both Whig and Democratic parties. He said he was ready to vote either for the modification or repeal of the Fugitive Slave Law, which he denounced as abominable.

An amendment appropriating $75,000 to purchase books for the Congressional Library was adopted, when the House adjourned.

THREE DAYS

LATER FROM EUROPE.

Arrival of the Hermann.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The steamer Hermann, with three days later news from Europe, arrived at an early hour this morning. She left Bremen on the 16th, and Southampton the 21st ult. She brings 95 passengers, and 600 tons freight.

The Niagara arrived at Liverpool on the 18th, and the Pacific on the 21st ult.

The West India steamer Parana arrived at Southampton on the 17th with 805,000 dollars specie on freight.

The cotton market at Liverpool is firmly maintained, with moderate demand. Sales on the 19th 5000, and the 20th 4000 bales.

Flour dull, prices unchanged.

Wheat remained nominally the same.

Indian corn was scarce and in demand at full prices.

Beans and peas were firmly held.

Provisions without change.

Markets generally without much change.

The reports of the growing crops were generally favorable, and the weather was magnificent. In some instances blight and mildew has appeared in the wheat. There were renewed reports of the potato disease in Ireland.

There was no change in the money market. Capital continued to be abundant. Other arrivals of gold from Australia had taken place. English funds were pretty firm. Railway shares had slightly declined.

Accounts from the Provinces show greater activity. At Birmingham increased orders had been received, while the iron trade manifested continued firmness. The state of the woolen districts was satisfactory.

CONFESSING TOO MUCH.—Philadelphia, Aug. 2.—The confession made by the elder of the two Skupenskis, now under sentence of death for the murder of the pedlar boy Lehmann, states that he had committed eighty murders, and set fire to thirty houses, and which confession the murderer afterwards denied, turns out to be true. Both the murderers acknowledge it to be so. Mathias, the elder, also confesses murdering Lehmann, but exculpates his brother. The Skupenskis will be hung on Friday.

The story may possibly be true—but it is most unlikely.

SALE OF LIQUORS, &C., ON SUNDAYS TO BE PROHIBITED.—The Chief of Police has been directed by the Mayor, to cause the ordinance adopted July 30, 1850, prohibiting the sale of ale, porter, or spiritous liquors, as well as merchandize, fruit and other commodities, on Sundays, to be strictly enforced. The order takes effect immediately.—N. Y. Tribune.

CURIOUS.—Philosopher, according to the Knickerbocker, say that the motion of the earth is equal to seventeen miles a second; so that if you take off your hat in the street to bow to a friend, you go seventeen miles bare-headed, without taking cold.

COLOR.—A jury at Cenosha, Wisconsin, has given a mulatto woman a verdict of one hundred dollars against Capt. Lundy of the steamboat Baltic, for turning her out of the common cabin on account of her color.

MARINE NEWS.

Whaling Bark Geo. Washington, of New Bedford, at Fayal, July 15th, reports on the 15th June in lat 38, long 38, fell in with a wreck bottom up, which was supposed to be a clipper ship. Went alongside and found her bottom was of hard yellow pine, not coppered—her timbers were live oak and the vessel was lumber laden; took from her two composition spikes about five inches long.—She had a round stern with gilded mouldings, which were much defaced. Her name was painted but so obliterated that the captain could only make out the first and last letters which appeared to be C or G. About a week previous, and up to the time of seeing the wreck, fell in with wreck stuff, and picked up a topsail yard with patent reefing blocks; also saw adrift lumber, barrels, &c.

Fishing schr. Petrel, at Beverly, reports, 7th ult. lat 44 48, long 59 at 7 P.M. got in contact with schr Flying Arrow, of Vinehalhaven, carried away her mainsail and bulwarks from fore to main rigging down to her decks; the wind at the time SW and a thick fog. The Petrel lost fib-boom, fore-foot, gammon knee and sprung bowsprit. Saw the Flying Arrow fifteen minutes after they got clear, and laid too till morning; at 4 A.M. saw no vessel in sight; the wind being SE, suppose he kept away to the westward.

Ar at Charleston, S.C. Aug. 1, fm Havana, 29th ult. and Key West 30th. From Key West we learn that the bark Margaretta sailed on the 26th for New York with bxs Sugar saved from the bark Martha Von Bree. The bark Platform, from York, bound to Mobile, ran ashore on Sand Key, on the 23d but got off unassisted; she took a pilot and proceeded on her voyage. Bark Yumari still leaks. Br brig Charlotte, of St John from Cienfuegos, ran ashore 24th on Grecian Shoal, Florida coast; she was got off by the wreckers who threw overboard the ballast, and she arrived at Key West.

Ar at Liverpool, July 19, International, New Orleans; Norma, Apalachicola; Enterprise, Wilmington, N.C.; 20th, Free Trader, Hemesphere and Kate Hunter, Mobile; Charlemange and Falcon, St. John, N.B.; Lady Sale, New Orleans.

Off the port, Silas Greenman, Spencer, fm New Orleans.

THE LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Passed June Session, 1853.

AN ADDRESS in favor of the removal of certain officers therein named.

To His Excellency, Noah Martin, Captain General and Commander-in-Chief of the Militia of New Hampshire:

The Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, Represent, to your Excellency that Leonard Ricker, captain of the fourth company of Infantry, in the thirty-ninth regiment, and Charles H. Dutton, captain of the third company of Infantry in Dutton, captain of the fifth regiment, having been duly commissioned, the fifth regiment, having been duly commissioned, have neglected to do their duty as prescribed by law. Also that A. H. Holmes, captain of the fifth company of Infantry, in the thirty-ninth regiment, and Solon W. Dickinson, captain of the third Infantry in the thirty-fourth regiment, having been also duly commissioned, have severally removed without the limits of said regiments, and have severally removed without the limits of their respective commands. For which causes the Senate and House of Representatives respectfully request Your Excellency to remove the aforesaid officers from their respective commands, in conformity with the provisions of the Constitution.

The before named officers for the reasons assigned are hereby removed from their respective offices.

NOAH MARTIN, Governor.

June 18, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the sum of eighteen hundred dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated, to defray the expense of building a new building in the State Prison Yard, for covering with slate the north and south end of the cabinet and smith shop, for conveying water into the State Prison Yard, and for the repair of the fence on the Prison wall; that the same be expended by the Warden, with advice from the Governor and Council; and that the Governor be authorized to draw a sum not less than thirteen hundred dollars of the money now in the hands of said Warden belonging to the State, and a sum, not exceeding five hundred dollars, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the above purpose.

Approved June 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the Treasurer of this State be and hereby is, authorized to borrow on the credit and for the use of the State, at such times and in such portions as he may consider necessary and proper, a sum not exceeding thirty-six thousand dollars, at the lowest rate of interest at which the sum can be procured, not exceeding six per cent. per annum. And the Treasurer for the time being is authorized to pay the sum or sums so borrowed, and the interest thereon, when the same shall become due, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Approved June 18, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the sum of twenty-four hundred dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated for the education of indigent deaf and dumb persons, of this State, at the Asylum at Hartford; and the sum of six hundred dollars for the purpose of educating indigent blind and partial blind persons, of this State, at the Institution for the blind at Boston; that said sums be respectively expended and applied for the benefit of each and so many of those persons as His Excellency the Governor shall elect and approve; and the Governor is hereby authorized to draw said sums from the treasury by warrant.

Approved June 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the sum of three hundred dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, two hundred of said sums to be appropriated for the use of the library of the State Prison the ensuing political year, and the remaining one hundred dollars thereof to be appropriated for books, newspapers and the moral and religious instruction of the convicts in the State Prison; and His Excellency, the Governor, is hereby authorized to draw his warrant on the Treasurer for the same, from time to time, as he may deem expedient.

Approved, June 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the Governor, with advice of Council, is hereby authorized to appoint three suitable persons to compile, arrange and put into chapters, under appropriate heads, the public acts and laws now in force, including the revised statutes and the public acts and laws passed since the revision of the statutes, including the public acts of the present session, with a suitable index to the same; and, in such compilation to omit such acts, or parts of acts, as have been repealed, and arrange such acts as have been altered by amendments, so far as can be done, and report to the Legislature on the first day of the next November session thereof.

Approved, July 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the State Librarian be directed to furnish to each of the commissioners appointed to codify and arrange the statute laws of this State, one copy of all such statutes as are or may be in force and such other books belonging to the State Library as may be deemed useful in said codification, said commissioners being held responsible, as in other cases, to account for and return said books at the completion of their commission.

Approved, June 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the Secretary of State cause two thousand copies of the reports of the superintendent, trustees, and board of visitors of the Asylum for the Insane to be printed and distributed, two copies each to the Governor, the members of the Council, of the Senate and House of Representatives, and their clerks, and the remaining copies to be placed for distribution in the hands of the board of visitors, as they shall order and direct.

Approved, July 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the sum of two thousand dollars be, and the same hereby is appropriated for the maintenance of indigent insane persons belonging to this State, at the Asylum for the Insane, to be expended and applied for the benefit of such of said class of those persons as His Excellency the Governor shall elect and approve; and the Governor is authorized to draw said sum from treasury by warrant.

Approved, June 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the report of the Board of Education be distributed as follows, viz: five copies to his Excellency the Governor; one copy to each of the members of the Honorable Council and Senate; one copy to each member of the House of Representatives, and to the clerks, chaplain, reporters and door-keepers of both houses, and one copy to each school district in the State, and that the remainder be placed in the hands of the Secretary of the Board of Education for use of said Board.

Approved, June 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the sum of five hundred dollars be, and the same hereby is, appropriated for the contingent expenses of the State, and that His Excellency the Governor be and hereby is authorized to draw from time to time from the treasury for such expenses, such sums as to him may appear necessary, not exceeding in the whole the above sum.

Approved, July 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of Council, is hereby authorized and requested to appoint "two delegates to a convention to assemble in Independence Hall, on the Fourth of July, 1853," in pursuance of the invitation of the municipal authorities of the city of Philadelphia, and for the purpose therein named.

Approved, June 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the Adjutant General be, and he hereby is, authorized to sell and convey, in the name of the State of New Hampshire, all gun houses and gun house lands which in his opinion will not hereafter be required for military purposes, and that he be required to account for the proceeds of such sales to the State.

Approved, June 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That His Excellency the Governor be requested to cause one of the Bank Commissioners forthwith to examine the charge made against the Cocheco Bank, and report to His Excellency as soon as may be.

Approved, July 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the Chaplain of the House of Representatives be allowed the same pay as members, for attendance and travel during the present session, and the same be paid out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Approved, June 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the Secretary and Treasurer be hereby authorized to make all the purchases of stationery and furniture that may be hereafter necessary for the use of the several departments of the State House.

Approved, June 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the sum of three hundred dollars be, and the same is, hereby appropriated for the purpose of building a road through Pinkham's Grant, to be paid out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, said sum to be expended under the direction of an agent appointed by the Governor and Council.

Approved, June 19, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That the Secretary of the Board of Education be authorized to procure, annually, the printing of an additional copy of the Reports of said Board, for the use of each school district in the State.

Approved, June 18, 1852.

Resolved, &c., That Joel Frazier be appointed keeper of the State House and State House Yard, for the ensuing political year.

Approved, June 19, 1852.

MENTAL HALLUCINATION—REMARKABLE INCIDENT.—A gentleman of high respectability, residing on Sixth street, in this city, whose name, as well as those of other parties below mentioned, we do not, agreeably to request, disclose, had on the 8th inst., an adventure we have never known equalled only in imagination of the novel-writer; thus showing that in real life the most fictitious pictures occasionally drawn may be realized.

Our friend was passing along the footwalk on Fourth street while the procession of the Clay funeral was moving, when his attention was arrested by the familiar appearance of the countenance of a fresh but melancholy looking girl, about fourteen years of age, who had a babe in her arms. The girl was standing in the burning sun, and averting its rays, as well as she could, from the face of her infant. The gentleman approached her and was at once recognized by the semi-lunatic, who, calling him by name, asked him to buy a parasol for her and a fan for the baby. In an instant he discovered, by the peculiarity of the eye, that the girl was affected with a wandering of the mind, and on asking her a few questions, discovered she was the daughter of a widow lady in Clermont county, with whom his own wife was temporarily boarding, and and on looking closely at the infant, discovered that it was his own child.

He was exceedingly agitated, and for a time was at a loss what course to pursue.—He thought of the distress his wife was necessarily in; he feared for the safety of the delicate little one, exposed as it had been to the scorching sun and the excessive heat, but his resolution was fixed; the infant was taken by a friend who was with him to a lady acquaintance in the vicinity, who gave it that nourishment which nature required, and in twenty minutes the whole party, consisting of the father, the lady acquaintance, who was the wife of his friend, the infant and the wandering girl, were in a light carriage, with a fleet pair of horses, on their way to Clermont.

In three hours they arrived at the farm house to which they were destined, and their appearance gave unspeakable joy and surprise. The country for miles around had been hunted for the missing ones, and many of the people were out then seeking for them. The mother had suffered the extreme agony and anguish, which, on the possession of her beloved, was suddenly changed to a nervous excitement. Yesterday morning when her husband left her to return to the city she was composed, but clinging to her infant as with hooks of steel.

Our friend gives the following interesting facts of this case, which seem almost incredible, yet they cannot be disputed. It was a most remarkable and providential circumstance that he discovered his child as he did, in the crowded city and in such a throng.

It appears this simple-hearted girl is what is termed "half-witted," and that hearing about the great Clay funeral, without probably knowing what she really did, she started to attend it, and took the child for company, as it lay in the cradle. It is believed that she left about eight o'clock in the morning, and was brought to town by some wagoner who overtook her on the road; but this is merely conjecture, as she says she walked all the distance. Yet it is doubtful that the distance can be performed in so short a period of time by one so delicate physically. This is one of the most remarkable cases of mental hallucination, we think, we ever heard of.—Cincinnati Commercial.

BORDEN'S MEAT BISCUIT.—Specimens of it were exhibited at the Great Industrial Fair, London, and after a most thorough examination by the distinguished Jury appointed on "Substances used as Food," assisted by Dr. Lyon Playfair, F. R. S., who made three several analaces of it, their appreciation of its merits was marked by the award of the "Council Medal" to the inventor.

The nature of this new discovery or invention consists in an improved process of preserving the nutritive properties of meat. Beef, fresh from the slaughter, after being finely cut up by a powerful cutting machine, is boiled in a large quantity of water, some sixteen hours. The fat is then removed, and the liquid, which by a simple process of filtering is separated from the meat, is evaporated to a uniform degree of density, ascertained by a syrup guage. This extract, resembling thick sugar house syrup, is then mixed and kneaded with the finest of flour, rolled and cut into biscuit by the usual machinery, and baked in an oven or kiln, so constructed as to give a uniform beat. The biscuit, resembling in color light sugar cake, is not, however, ready for making into soup, &c. until ground or pulverized, in which state it is principally sold—being more convenient and made less bulky for packing into casks or canisters.

This powder makes the foundation of an excellent soup, which can be made from it in the space of an hour, and seasoned to suit any taste, while soups prepared from the "raw material" take a long time to make them ready for use. It will be found a valuable addition to the stores of the "good householder," who would have the larder well filled. For voyages or journies it must be very convenient, since a great deal of nutriment is contained in a very small space. The inventor has certificates from persons who have made trial of it, and who testify that it keeps perfectly sweet for a great length of time. The most convenient and natural use of the article seems to be in the preparation of soups, but the certificates say that by changing the seasoning with sweets and spices it makes excellent custards and pnddings.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.

STILL ANOTHER VIEW OF THE FISHERY QUESTION.—The seizure of the sch. Union in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, if the vessel were three miles or more from the shore, will bring matters to an issue. Our right to fish in this great gulf, or inland sea, is as perfect as our right to independence. This gulf is expressly named in 1783 treaty as one of the places wherein we had a right to fish was acknowledged; and in 1815 the British secretary, Bathurst, admitted that our right to fish here was of a permanent character. Now if the Union has been seized fishing more than three miles from the shore,—the sooner the matter is attended to the better. So says the Boston Post, and so say we.

On the other hand the St. John Courier of July 31, says—

"It is generally asserted and believed by the press of the United States, that the claim now attempted to be enforced by the cruisers of Great Britain, is a doubtful or disputed one;—that the question is, as to the meaning of a treaty, whether three miles from the shore means three miles from the nearest land, or three miles from a line drawn from headland to headland along the coast.

Now, although the enforcement of this latter meaning has for some years past been insisted on by the colonies more interested in the fisheries, it is not known that the imperial government has given a decision upon the matter, and it certainly is not to enforce any such claim that the present fleet of small craft has been sent to cruise upon the fishing grounds."

A NEW CHANNEL OF TRADE.—On Tuesday, says the Boston Courier, sixteen cars, loaded with eight sticks of timber, for ship's masts, 84 feet in length and 3 feet diameter, loaded in Buffalo, N. Y., were brought over the Buffalo and Rochester Railroads, Rochester and Syracuse, Syracuse and Utica, Utica and Schenectady, Rensselaer and Saratoga, Saratoga and Washington, Washington and Rutland, Rutland and Burlington, Cheshire, Fitchburg, Grand Junction, to East Boston; and thence over the Eastern Railroad to Portsmouth, N. H., 628 miles, without change of cars. Four car loads of slates were also brought at the same time over the Rutland, Cheshire, and Fitchburg Railroads, to the Grand Junction depot at East Boston, from the slate quarry recently opened in Fairhaven, Vt.

CHOLERA AT ROCHESTER.

A letter received at New York from Rochester Monday evening, says there have been ten funerals pass our house this day, and one hundred cases of cholera within the last three days. The weather is now cool and still the cases are more fatal and increasing. M. D. Seward, Esq., an extensive and well known miller, has just died after a few hours' illness of cholera.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—The Mayor of the city states the commitments to the watch house, for three weeks before the operation of the liquor law, and one week afterwards, as follows, viz.: week ending July 4, 32; July 11, 78; July 18, 34; July 25, 6. The arrests for the second week named were increased by the number taken on the 5th, being 40 for that day. The average commitments have been about 30. The law went into operation on the 19th.

Three children of Daniel Rogers, living in the third story of a house 29 Friend street, Boston, were burned to death on Tuesday night, about eleven o'clock. The flames were supposed to be kindled by a light left near the bed. The house was but little injured. The father and mother were so terribly frightened as to lose all self-possession, or probably they might have saved their babes. The eldest of the three was five years old.

POLICE COURT.—Wm. Perry was brough before the Police Court yesterday morning by Assistant Marshal Manson, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct, and was sentenced to the House of Correction for 30 days.

LEWD FELLOWS OF THE BASER SORT.—Nine young Canadian Frenchmen were put into prison at Whitehall, N. Y., last week, for a gross outrage on a young countrywoman o theirs, a widow, who was burnt out of house and home, at Monteal, and who came to Whitehall for work.

PIRATES.—Accounts from England by th last steam packet, state that the barque Nel son, at Melbourne, New South Wales, fo London, with over half a million dollars i gold on board, was boarded by two boat's crews, and plundered by them of all the treas ure on board.

According to the French census, one French man in seventy, dies by his own hands, and one woman in one hundred and twenty five.

PRESIDENT CUTT.

The Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, as it runs through the city of Portsmouth, passes close by two burial grounds. The first, which is seen very plainly by the passenger from Boston, as he looks northerly from the train in crossing a pond to enter the city, is the North Burying Ground, and is public property. Here in close order, or rather in a compact body without order, repose the remains of those who like us have trod these streets, and owned this land, and lived in these houses for more than a century and a half. And with them, the landless and the houseless, the homeless and the disheartened, lie mingled in common dust. The rich and the poor here meet together—and not only are they on a level in the eye of God the maker of them all, but even man, apt as he is to draw distinctions where there is no difference, neither envies the dust of the rich, pressed down by a costly monument, nor despises that of the poor, barely covered with a sod, and only revealing by a hillock in the grass the fact that a fellow mortal has lived and died and now sleeps here. This was the common burying ground, on the puritan plan, essentially democratic. But there was another north-end burial ground before this, a private family ground, belonging to the ancient and eminent family of Cutt, or as it is now spelt, Cutts. And this the traveler by rail would hardly find without directions; and ten to one he would never find it without a guide, although the bodies in it lie within a car's length of the track.

Just before the train shoots over the bridge into Maine, it passes slowly round a curve, among woodpiles, houses and door yards, steam engines and ship yards. If the traveler looks sharp, he may see behind a pile of boards a substantial stone wall of only two or three rods in length, over which wave the green and pendent branches of half a dozen thrifty young elms. Beneath their shade repose the ashes of some families, which were among New England's best, two hundred years ago. And this their resting place is so quiet and so secluded, that not only the traveler by rail is unaware that the dead are near him, but the man of business and the man of leisure, who pass through what used to be Bachelor's Lane, but is now known as Green street, may go by the Cutts Burial Ground daily for years, without ever suspecting it to contain the memorials as well as the remains of greatness.

Without intending any disguise, the owners of the ground have had the place so hidden for more than half a century, that the famous antiquary Alden, though he was a settled minister here for several years, seems to have had no knowledge of its existence; for while he copies into his collection of Epitaphs and Elegies, the inscription on every monument of note in our other yards, he mentions no one contained in this. And yet here lie some men of mark, and some devout and honorable women of the olden time.

There is a monument, probably resting as the crown on an arched tomb below, and rising one foot above the present surface, surmounted by a plain freestone slab as long as a man, and two feet wide. On this stone, after scraping off the moss, and poring for a while over the antique and faded inscription, we read

Here Lyes Interred the Body of HANNAH CVTT late wife of Mr. JOHN CVTT aged 42 who died
the 19th Day of November
1674.

Of the lady thus mentioned, we know little more than this monument informs us,* but of her husband, who erected it, and whose dust, mingled with hers, slumbers beneath it, we know that he was the first President of the Council and Province of New Hampshire by the King's appointment in 1679. His commission was from Charles II., and dated on the 18th of September, but was not received here till New Year's Day 1680.

His office and his life were closed together on the fifth of April, 1681; and though he had been active, useful and popular in his life, highly honored in his office, and greatly lamented in his death, nobody took the trouble or incurred the expense of chiselling his name and age on his wife's tombstone.

His fortune in the tombstone line, resembles that of Sir William Pepperell in the next century after—when, having erected a most beautiful monument to his father, William Pepperell, Esq., with room enough left in blank for an inscription to his own memory, he died—but the blank remains a blank to this hour. Fortunately both the men left monuments in their acts, more lasting than tombstones, and more reliable than executors or heirs.

The historian chronicles their deeds; but the age of President Cutt is not given; it is merely said that he was considerably advanced in years, and very infirm.

John Cutt was a native of Wales, and with his two brothers, Robert and Richard, came to this country previous to 1646.

John, the subject of this memoir, planted himself here, became a merchant, and grew rich, as hundreds have since; and like a long line of our merchants, he did not lose nor deserve to lose the respect and love of men less fortunate than himself.

Mr. Cutt was also a farmer, and a millowner, as well as a merchant. Adams' Annals informs us that in 1659, the selectmen granted to Mr. John Cutt full liberty to set up a saw mill and corn mill on the creek leading up to the fresh marsh. He had the privilege of cutting timber on the common, for the saw mill, both pine and oak, or any other timber. He was to grind corn for the town at all times, when required; and he was allowed the term of five years for building of said mills. Mr. Cutt erected a saw mill and grist mill at the head of the creek within the limited time.—The saw mill stood below the bridge, west of the place where Mr. Ham's house now stands, and the water was brought to it across the road. Gondolas could come to the foot of the mill to take away the boards and lumber. The grist mill was built at the dam, which was made across the fresh stream just above the place to which the tide flows.

Richard settled at the Shoals, and carried on fishing; but removed to Portsmouth and lived in the Great House (built by Mason) at the bottom of Pitt street, now Court street.

Richard and John, with two other gentlemen, owned nearly all the northerly part of Portsmouth, then known as the Bank, or Strawberry Bank, while the people generally were huddled close together at the south end, near the Point of Graves.

President John Cutt, in his last will, just before his death, says, "I commit my body unto a decent burial in my orchard, where I buried my wife and children that are deceased." An orchard, doubtless the remains of President Cutt's planting, remained on the spot within a century; for an old gentleman now deceased told the writer of this some years ago, that he [the old gentleman] stole apples there when a little boy, and bought the land after he grew up to be a man; and said moreover that an old negro woman, who caught him, as he crawled through the fence a pilfering urchin, lived to hold up her hands twenty years afterward when he bought the orchard, and say, "Lor', dat's de little boy what stole our apples."

The burial ground reserved, is very small, not more than three or four rods square, and would not be suffered to remain such, if any clear title could be given to the land, by a sale from any heirs of the family. This cannot be, however, and so it remains a monument of the past, merely, and as no new burials take place there, it will remain as a breathing place when business crowds around.

The third brother, Robert Cutt, went first to Barbadoes, then came here to Great Island, now Newcastle, and finally settled in Kittery, where he was a great ship builder.

From these three brethren descended the Cutts families that have lived and still live on both sides the Piscataqua. President Cutt was eminent in the Church as well as the State; and he and his brother are enrolled as high up among Christians as among merchants. On the old church covenant of the First Church in Portsmouth, in 1671, the first three names subscribed are Joshua Moodey, [pastor] John Cutt, and Richard Cutt.

President John Cutt had another wife after the decease of the lady whose tombstone we have copied. This second wife, Mrs. Ursula Cutt, outlived him a number of years, and was killed by the Indians in 1694, on her farm, now owned by Hon. I. Bartlett, on the bank of the Piscataqua, in the northern part of the township. She was shot in her hayfield, superintending her laborers, of whom three were killed. All of them were scalped, and the scalps carried to Canada. Mrs. Cutt was fond of farming, and marks or remnants of her taste are visible to this day, in the beautiful arrangement of what is now two or three farms.

*She had a daughter Hannah, who was the wife of Richard Walden, and died about 1682, with her only son, who was 14 months old.

THE PORK TRADE.—The Louisville Courier gives a promising account of the coming pork harvest. Throughout Kentucky and Indiana there is a large increase in hogs this season, which are worth ten per cent more than they were last, owing, it is said to the fact that the farmers are feeding them on corn. The same account is given in Ohio. The Courier says: Already some operators in Louisville have purchased, for delivery early in the fall, some 20,000 hogs, which will be fattened in Indiana, and will be delivered in the Falls City at $3 to 3,25, gross. Some days ago, we stated that several large sized lots had been contracted for at Maddison, at $4,50, net. A provision dealer at Louisville has agreed to deliver next spring, a lot of new mess pork, to be manufactured from the coming crop, at $15, which is nearly $5 per bbl. less than present prices.

SWINDLERS.—A couple of fellows, who appeared in the character of distinguished foreigners, and of course were popular with the ladies of Bath, Me., have been arrested as part of a gang of burglars who have for months infested the towns of that vicinity.—The interesting bandits were caught at night while asleep in their boat, with loaded pistols beside them.

The Niagara left Liverpool on Saturday, about 12 1-4, P. M., 24th ult. She brings 62 passengers for Boston. The Pacific arrived at Liverpool, Wednesday morning 21st, at 2 o'clock. The City of Glasgow, for Philadelphia, sailed from Liverpool, 21st, with 104 passengers.

ENGLAND.

The English papers are extremely dull. The Parliamentary elections are now almost over, and according to the most careful computation, the new House of Commons stands thus: For the ministry 325; opposition 272; majority for the ministry 53. In the above are included as ministerial forty liberal conservatives.

Between thirty and forty places have still to be heard from. Of the above one hundred and sixty-seven are new members, who take the seats of one hundred and seventy-two members of the old House, who retired or were defeated. The above small majority it will be seen is hardly sufficient under the most favorable circumstances to carry on the business of the House.

Thomas Gisborne, Esq., who but for the state of his health would have been brought forward by the liberals interest at the late election, for Nottingham, has died this week from disease of the heart, having been for upwards of thirty years an active reformer.

At a yacht race at Cowes on Thursday, the America was distanced two minutes and three seconds by a yacht named the Arrow.

FRANCE.

The French papers are filled with accounts of the reception of Louis Napoleon at Strasburg, where he appears to have been received with every demonstration of respect. The most striking feature in the reception ceremony was a cavalcade of twelve hundred mounted peasants, accompanying as escort one hundred and twenty car loads of young girls—the prettiest in their villages, and dressed in their holiday costumes. Each car was decorated with flowers and inscriptions, testifying devotion to the President.

It is estimated that one hundred and twenty thousand strangers were attracted by the fete to Strasburgh. On Monday the President crossed the Rhine into Baden, where similar demonstrations awaited him, and where he passed the night of the 20th. It is rumored that the President's visit to Baden is connected with matrimonial projects, and that the lady is the Princess Caroline Stephane Devasa, born in 1831, grand-daughter of the Duchess of Baden, and related to the dethroned royal family of Sweden. The Princess was at Baden, and the President's visit is reported to have been arranged for the purpose of an interview. Marseilles papers state that the President will visit that city between the 15th and 20th of September. It is also stated that the President will embrace the opportunity of visiting Algiers. He will be accompanied by Gen. St. Arnaud, who will take command of the expedition. There is a contemplated modification of the Ministry. Political arrests have been made at Chalons snr Marne and Nantz, on Wednesday. Marshal Excelmans was killed by being thrown from his horse on the road from Levres. Petitions for the establishment of the empire are being got up in several places under the patronage of the local authorities. The "Debats" strongly advocates the establishment of a line of French Transatlantic Steamships. A mail semi-monthly line is projected to Martinique, terminating in a branch via Havana to Mexico, and another from Martinique to Chagres.

SPAIN.

From Madrid it is stated to be the intention of the government to convoke the Cortez toward the close of the year, for the purpose of submitting a proposition to prevent the chambers from discussing any bill not authorized by government. In the event of the proposition not being agreed to, the Cortez will be dissolved, and there will be a new election by royal decree.

The anniversary of Belgian independence was celebrated with mech pomp at Brussels on Wednesday.

AUSTRIA.

The Emperor continues his journey; at last date was near Orteva, whence he will proceed to Transylvania. Great preparations were making by the authorities. The nobility of the province were summoned together at Hermanstadt on the 23d.

ITALY.

Turin papers give particulars of the arrests in Milan and other cities. About sixty persons were arrested in the province of Mantua, among them the arch priest of Revera and six other clergymen. The "Opinion," of Turin, from Rome mentions the arrest on suspicion of liberalism, of Count Taucred Mosto, with six other young men of noble families.

A shock of an earthquake lasting five seconds, was felt at Spezzia at 9 o'clock, morning of 13th.

M. Arnice, noted for his ultra royalism, was found dead, pierced with sixty-two slugs.

MARKETS.

State of Trade in England.—In the manufacturing districts, trade has not been so active. Transactions made with great caution. As many old contracts are running out, buyers have sought to renew them on more advantageous terms, in which, however, they have been disappointed. Spinners, also, are desirous of entering on fresh engagements, but are unwilling to concede, consequently the business is limited. Freights continued nearly as last quoted.

Leverpool Cotton Mrrket.—The Cotton Market at the beginning of the week was very quiet and a slight giving way was perceptible. This continued to be the case with sales of about 5000 bales daily, until Wednesday, when the market assumed a decidedly firmer tone, and sales on that and the following day were made at an advance of 1-8d per lb. In quantities ranging from 4*d* 1*f* to 5 1-4*d*. The market has since continued firm. Total sales of the week, 64,190 bales, of which speculators took 17,250 bales, and exporters 7,610, and includes 32,750 American, of which 15,050 were to speculators, and 5,700 to exporters. The imports for the same time was 75,822 bales, of which 48,194 were American.—The quotations Friday were—fair Orleans, 6 3-8*d*; middling do. 5 7-16*d*; fair uplands 5 7-8*d*; middling do. 5 1-4 d; fair Mobile 5 7-8*d*; middling do. 5 5-16*d*.

Liverpool Corn Market.—The Grain Market continued depressed, and transactions in all articles are of the most limited character. Sellers are more eager to realize and to make sales. Lower rates must be accepted. Much of the recent import of flour has been landed out of condition, and this is freely offered from the quay at average rates.

A. Denniston & Co.'s Circular quotes Western Canal Flour at 16 to 19s, Balt. & Phila. 19 5 to 19 6d, Ohio 20s to 20s 6d.—Wheat at rates 6s to 6s 1d, red and mixed 5s 9d to 11d. Only one small lot of Indian Corn remaining in the market, sold at 31s 6d, and the market is now bare.

There has been a large clearance of Bacon, and most of the stock is now in second hands, and held at 50 to 52s. Beef and Pork market merely nominal, in absence of supplies. Lard is dull but no lower. Mess Beef 105 to 140s per tierce.

London Market, 23d.—Sugar rather lower. Native Ceylon Coffee 44s, plenty, in fair request. Common Congo Tea brisk, full terms. Tallow quiet.

VERDICT OF JURY ON THE LOSS OF THE HENRY CLAY.—Their verdict is, that the captain and officers of the boat, for the purpose of excelling in speed another steamboat called the Armenia, and for the purpose of increasing the speed of the steamer Henry Clay, did create an undue quantity of steam, and in so doing did make excessive fires, and in consequence thereof, and through their culpable negligence and criminal recklessness, the Henry Clay did, at about 15 minutes past 3 P. M., take fire, and was the cause of the deaths of the following persons: [Here follow the names, &c.]

And so the jurors say that the deaths of all the said persons, and of each of them; was the result of an act perpetrated by the said officers, [naming them;] which act was imminently dangerous to others, and evinced a depraved mind, regardless of human life, altho' it was perpetrated without premeditated design to effect the death of any particular individual.

There have been 80 bodies found thus far. There have been eight inquiries for persons whom the inquirers knew to have been on board, but whose bodies are still missing.

The number of passengers over the Newburyport Railroad in the month of June was 5229; in July, 8482. Number from 1st Jan. o 1st Aug. 32,477.—Herald.

THE LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Passed June Session, 1852.

AN ACT to alter the times of holding the Terms of the Court of Common Pleas in the county of Carroll.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That the term of the Court of Common Pleas in the county of Carroll, now holden on the third Tuesday of May, shall hereafter be holden on the fourth Tuesday of April, and that the term of the Court of Common Pleas in that county of Carroll, now holden on the fourth Tuesday of November, shall hereafter be holden on the third Tuesday of October.

Sec. 2. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

G. W. KITTREDGE,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
JOHN S. WELLS, President of the Senate.
Approved June 17, 1852.
NOAH MARTIN, Governor.

AN ACT to alter the times of holding the terms of the Court of Common Pleas in the County of Grafton.

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the term of the Court of Common Pleas within and for the county of Grafton, now required by law to be held on the third Tuesday of November, shall be held on the second Tuesday of November.

Sec. 2. This act shall take effect from and after its passage.

Sec. 3. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby repealed.
Approved, June 19, 1852.

AN ACT relating to the Police of Towns.

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c., That whenever, in the opinion of the Selectmen of any town, circumstances render it necessary, they may appoint a special board of Police officers, one of whom shall be the Superintendent thereof. Such special Police officers shall have all the powers of Police officers and constables in whatever relates to criminal proceedings, and shall constitute in office during the pleasure of the selectmen.

Sec. 2. The superintendent, under the direction of the selectmen, shall employ such special police officers in such mode as may be deemed expedient, for the detection and conviction of criminals and the prevention of crime within the town; and they shall receive a reasonable compensation for their services from the town, deducting therefrom whatever may be a proper charge against the county, and which may be paid thereby.

Sec. 3. This act shall take effect from and after its passage. Approved, June 18, 1852.

AN ACT to authorize the printing of the annual reports of the New Hampshire State Agricultural Society.

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c., It shall be the duty of the secretary and executive committee of the State Agricultural Society, during the continuance of this act, to prepare a concise and exact report of their doings, comprehending, as near as may be, the results arising from the encouragement offered by the society for the improvement in stock, in agricultural products and mechanical and domestic arts, and including the treasurer's annual report, showing the amount of receipts and expenditures each year.

Sec. 2. The State Printer is hereby ordered to print 500 copies of the said report each year for the use of the legislature, and 2000 copies for the use of the State Agricultural Society.

Sec. 3. This act shall take effect from and after its passage. Approved, June 19, 1852.

AN ACT in amendment of chapter Seventy-three of the Revised Statutes.

Sec. 1. Be it enacted, &c., Whenever it shall come to the knowledge of the superintending school committee of any town or city in this state, that any child attending any district school is destitute of the necessary text books, and is poor and unable to procure the same, it shall be the duty of said committee to furnish the same forthwith, at the expense of said town or city.

Sec. 2. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act shall be and the same are hereby repealed.

Sec. 3. This act shall take effect from and after its passage. Approved, June 17, 1852.

AN ACT to repeal an act entitled "An Act for the further protection of personal liberty," passed July 18, 1848.

Sec. 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the act entitled "an act for the further protection of personal liberty" be and the same is hereby repealed.
Approved, June 18, 1852.

AN ACT to repeal an act entitled "An Act to pay a bounty for killing crows."

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the act entitled "An act to pay a bounty for killing crows," passed July 5, 1849, be and the same is hereby repealed.
Approved, June 18, 1852.

AN ACT in amendment of chapter one thousand nine-ty-five of the laws of this state.

Sec. 1. Be it enacted, &c., If any person shall wilfully and maliciously commit any trespass by entering upon the garden, orchard or other improved land of another, with the intent wilfully to cut, take, carry away, destroy or injure, any trees, fruit or vegetables there growing and being, such person shall be punished by imprisonment in the common jail not more than ninety days, or by a fine not exceeding ten dollars, or by both at the discretion of the court, and shall further be sentenced to pay the owner thereof treble the value of the property so cut, taken, carried away, destroyed or injured.

Sec. 2. If the value of the property so cut, taken, carried away, injured and destroyed, shall exceed the sum of twenty dollars, the person so offending shall be punished by confinement to hard labor in the state prison for a term of time not less than one year nor more than five years.

Sec. 3. Section two of Chapter one thousand and ninety-five is hereby repealed.
Approved, June 19, 1852.

AN ACT in addition to an act passed July 3, 1845, entitled "An Act to authorize contiguous school districts to associate together to establish and maintain high schools."

Sec. 1. Be it enacted, &c., That it shall be lawful for any town in this state to adopt the provisions of the act approved July 3, 1845, entitled an act to authorize contiguous school districts to associate together to establish and maintain high schools, at any meeting duly notified and held for that purpose, any thing in said act to the contrary notwithstanding.
Approved, June 18, 1852.

AN ACT in addition to the 4th section of chapter 142 of the Revised Statutes.

Sec. 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the 4th section of chapter 142 of the Revised Statutes, and all acts in addition thereto, or amendment thereof, shall extend to and include passes made over railroads intersected by highways as well as to bridges. Approved, June 19, 1852.

AN ACT making appropriations for the militia of this state for the year 1852.

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the following sums be and the same are hereby appropriated for the purposes herein mentioned: for adjutants' returns 80 dollars; for repairs of gun houses 150 dollars; for repairs of ordnance carriages, &c., 200 dollars; for stationery 50 dollars; for contingencies 150 dollars; and the said sums shall be paid out of the treasury, and the Governor, with advice of the Council, is hereby authorized to issue his warrants on the treasury in favor of the Adjutant General for the sums aforesaid, who is hereby required to apply the same for the purposes aforesaid, so far as may be necessary, and to render an account to the Legislature.
Approved, June 19, 1852.

AN ACT concerning the fund left by Catharine Fiske for the benefit of the New Hampshire Asylum for the Insane.

Sec. 1. Be it enacted, &c., That it shall be the duty of the treasurer, in keeping an account of said fund, to credit the same from year to year, with the interest thereon, from the time of its payment into the treasury, and to charge the said fund with all payments made in pursuance to an act in relation to the same passed December 28, 1844. Approved, June 18, 1852.

AN ACT to establish the place for filing the list of the stockholders of the Boston, Concord and Montreal Railroad.

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c., That for the purpose of filing and recording the list, and recording the transfers and assignments required by law to be made, the principal place of business of the Boston, Concord and Montreal Railroad shall be taken to be in the town of Plymouth, in the county of Grafton.

Sec. 2. Chapter 158 of the Pamphlet Laws is hereby repealed.

Sec. 3. This act shall take effect from and after its passage. Approved, July 17, 1852.

THE STATE OF NEW HAMHSHIRE.

Senate, June 18, 1852.

Mr. Williamson introduced the folowing resolution, which was agreed to:

Resolved by the Senate of New Hampshire, That the original printed bill, now lying upon the table of the Senate, entitled "An act for the suppression of drinking houses and tipplings shops," including the amendment thereto respecting adulterated liquors, be postponed to the November session of the Legislature, and that the Clerk of the Senate cause the same to be published, together with this resolution, in all the newspapers authorized to publish the laws of this State; and that the selectmen of the several towns and places in this State are hereby requested to insert an article in the warrant calling the town meeting for the choice of electors of President and Vice President of the United States, on the first Tuesday of November next, to take the sense of the legal voters, by ballot, upon the following question, which shall be printed or written on said ballot, to wit: "Is it expedient that the bill entitled 'An act for the suppression of drinking houses and tippling shops,' be enacted into a law?" with the words "Yes" or "No" written or printed thereunder; and that the polls be opened and closed for that purpose at the same time they are opened and closed for receiving the votes for the electors; and that the votes for and against the enactment of such a law shall be received, sorted, counted, declared, certified and returned to the Secretary's office, in the same way and manner, and at the same time, as the votes for electors; and that the Secretary of State seasonably furnish suitable blanks for such returns to the clerks of the several towns and places in this state.

A true copy of record,

WILLIAM L. FOSTER.
Clerk of the Senate.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

In the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and fifty-two.

AN ACT for the suppression of drinking houses and tippling shops.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in the General Court convened:

SECTION 1. No person shall be allowed at any time to manufacture or sell, by himself, his clerk, servant or agent, directly or indirectly, any spirituous or intoxicating liquors, or any mixed liquors, a part of which is spirituous or intoxicating, except as hereafter provided.

SEC. 2. The selectmen of any town, and mayor and aldermen of any city, on the first Monday of April annually, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, may appoint some suitable person as the agent of said town or city, to sell at some central and convenient place within said town or city, spirits, wines or other intoxicating liquors, to be used for medicinal and mechanical purposes, and no other; and said agent shall receive such compensation as the board appointing may prescribe; and shall, in the sale of such liquors, conform to such rules and regulations as the selectmen or mayor and aldermen as aforesaid shall prescribe for that purpose. And such agent, appointed as aforesaid, shall hold his situation for one year, unless sooner removed by the board from whom he received his appointment, as he may be at any time at the pleasure of said board.

SEC. 3. Such agent shall receive a certificate from the mayor and aldermen or selectmen by whom he has been appointed, authorizing him, as the agent of such town or city, to sell intoxicating liquors for medicinal and mechanical purposes only; but such certificate shall not be delivered to the person so appointed, until he shall have executed and delivered to the said board a bond, with two good and sufficient sureties, in the sum of six hundred dollars, in substance as follows:

Know all men that we, _____ as principal, and _____ and _____ as sureties, are holden and stand firmly bound to to the inhabitants of the town of _____ (or city, as the case may be,) in the sum of six hundred dollars, to be paid to them; to which payment we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors and administrators, firmly by these presents. Sealed with our seals, and dated this _____ day of _____ A. D. _____.

The condition of this obligation is such, that whereas the above bounden _____ has been duly appointed an agent for the town (or city) of _____ to sell, within and for and on account of said town (or city,) intoxicating liquors for medicinal and mechanical purpose, and no other, until the _____ day of _____ A. D. _____ unless sooner removed from said agency—

Now if the said _____ shall in all respects conform to the provisions of the law relating to the business for which he is appointed, and to such rules and regulations as now are or shall be from time to time established by the board making the appointment, then this obligation is to be void; otherwise to remain in full force.

SEC. 4. If any person, by himself, clerk, or servant or agent, shall at any time sell any spirituous or intoxicating liquors, or any mixed liquors, part of which is intoxicating, in violation of the provisions of this act, he shall forfeit and pay on the first conviction, ten dollars and costs of prosecution, and stand committed until the same be paid; on the second conviction he shall pay a fine of twenty dollars and costs of prosecution, and shall be imprisoned in the common jail not less than thirty days nor more than sixty days; and for the third and every subsequent conviction he shall pay a fine of twenty dollars and costs of prosecution, and shall be imprisoned in the common jail not less than three months nor more than six months; and in the default of the payment of the fines and costs prescribed by this section for the first and second convictions, the convict shall not be entitled to the benefit of chapter two hundred of the Revised Statues, until he shall have been imprisoned two months; and in default of payment of fines and costs provided for the third and every subsequent conviction, he shall not be entitled to the benefit of said chapter two hundred of the Revised Statues, until he shall have been imprisoned four months. And if any clerk, servant, agent or other person in the employment or on the premises of another, shall violate the provisions of this section, he shall be held equally guilty with the principal, and on conviction shall suffer the same penalty. And two or more acts of violation of the provisions of this section may be alleged in the complaint in a separate count, and tried at the same time; and convictions thereon, or on any of them, shall have the same effect upon the convicts or convict as if the proceedings had been upon separate complaints, and the trials had at different times, and said convict shall be adjudged the second, third or other convictions, as the case may be, and judgment shall be rendered accordingly. And no appeal from the judgment of a justice of the peace or judge of a municipal or police court, for a violation of the provisions of this section, shall avoid of affect the allegation of said conviction in any subsequent complaint, but said conviction shall have a like effect, and in the same manner, as to the judgement in the subsequent case as if there had been no appeal therefrom.

SEC. 5. In case of the alleged violation of the provisions of the fourth section of this act, by any clerk, servant, agent or other person, in the employment or on the premises of another, the principal or principals, as well as the clerk, servant, agent or person employed, may be charged jointly in the same complaint, and tried at the same time, and the proof of the commission of the offence by the clerk, servant, agent or other person as aforesaid, shall be sufficient to convict the principal or principals, as well as said clerk, servant, agent or other person, and judgment shall be rendered against each of them, and each of them shall be subject to incur the same punishment and in the same manner as if the proceedings had been against each of them separately; and no person shall be surety, directly or indirectly, under the provisions of this act, in more than one case. And any justice of the peace in any city or town may have jurisdiction of all cases arising under this act, which a justice court is competent to try, in the city, town or county in which he resides, notwithstanding the provisions of any other act, either special or general. And the delivery of any spirituous or intoxicating liquors in any shop, store or other building or place whatever, except a private dwelling house, shall constitute a sale by the person delivering the same; and all forfeitures of fines, bonds and recognizances arising under this act shall go to the cities or towns where the offences were committed.

SEC. 6. Any forfeiture or penalty arising under the foregoing sections may be recovered by an action of debt, or by complaint before any justice of the peace or judge of any municipal or police court in the county where the offence was committed. And the forfeiture so recovered shall go to the town where the offence was committed, for the use of the poor; and the prosecutor or complainant may be admitted as a witness in the trial. And if any one of the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen shall approve of the commencement of any such suit, by endorsing his name upon the writ, the defendant shall in no event recover any costs; and in all actions of debt arising under this section, the fines and forfeitures suffered by the defendant shall be the same as if the action had been by complaint.—And it shall be the duty of the mayor and aldermen of any city, and selectmen of any town, to commence an action in behalf of said town or city, against any person guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of this act, on being informed of the same, and being furnished with proof of the fact.

SEC. 7. If any person shall claim an appeal from judgment rendered against him by any judge or justice, on the trial of such action or complaint, he shall, before the appeal shall be allowed, recognize in the sum of one hundred dollars, with two good and sufficient sureties, in every case so appealed, to prosecute his appeal and pay all costs, fines and penalties that may be awarded against him upon a final disposition of of such suit or complaint. And before his appeal shall be allowed, he shall also, in every case, give a bond, with two other good and sufficient sureties, running to the town or city where the offence was committed, in the sum of two hundred dollars, that he will not, during the pendency of such appeal, violate any of the provisions of this act. And no recognizance or bond shall be taken in cases arising under this act, except by the justice or judge before whom the trial was had; and the defendant shall be held to advance the jury fees in every case of appeal in an action of debt; and in the event of a final conviction before a jury, the defendant shall suffer and pay double the amount of fines, penalties and imprisonment awarded against him by the justice or judge from whose judgment the appeal was made. The forfeiture for all bonds and recognizances given in pursuance of this act, shall go to the town or city where the offence was committed, for the use of the poor; and if the recognizances and bonds mentioned in this section shall not be given within twenty-four hours after the judgment, the appeal shall not be allowed; the defendant in the meantime to stand committed.

SEC. 8. The mayor and aldermen of any city, and the selectmen of any town, whenever complaint shall be made to them that a breach of the conditions of the bond given by any person appointed under this act has been committed, shall notify the person complained of; and if upon the hearing of the parties it shall appear that any breach has been committed, they shall revoke and make void his appointment. And whenever a breach of any bond given to the inhabitants of any city or town, in pursuance of the provisions of this act, shall be made known to the mayor and aldermen or selectmen, or shall in any manner come to their knowledge, they, or some of them, shall, at the expense and for the use of said city or town, cause the bond to be put in suit in any court proper to try the same.

SEC. 9. No person shall be allowed to be a manufacturer of spirituous or intoxicating liquor, or common seller thereof, without being duly appointed as aforesaid, on pain of forfeiting on the first conviction the sum of one hundred dollars and costs of prosecution, and in default of the payment thereof, the person so convicted shall be imprisoned sixty days in the common jail; and on the second conviction, the person so convicted shall pay the sum of two hundred dollars and costs of prosecution, and shall be imprisoned two months in the common jail, and in default of payment shall be imprisonedtwo months more in the common jail; and on the third and every subsequent conviction shall pay the sum of two hundred dollars and shall be imprisoned four months in the common jail in the county where the offence was committed; said penalties to be recovered before any court of competent jurisdiction, by indictment or by action of debt in the name of the city or town where the offence was committed. And whenever a default shall be had of any recognizances arising under this act, scire facias shall be issued, returnable at his agent's term of the supreme court, and shall not be continued unless for good cause satisfactory to the court. And any person who shall manufacture or sell, or have in his possession with intent to sell, any adulterated wine or spirituous liquors, shall be subject to the same fine and punishment as is provided in this act for other violations thereof; and such adulterated wine or spirituous liquors shall be taken and disposed of in the same way and manner as spirituous or intoxicating liquors are required to be destroyed.

SEC. 10. No person engaged in the unlawful traffic in intoxicating liquors shall be competent to sit as a juryman in any case arising under this act; and when information shall be communicated to the court that any member of any panel is engaged in such traffic, or that he is believed to be so engaged, the court shall inquire of the juryman of whom such belief is entertained; and no answer which he shall make shall be used against him in any case arising under this act; but if he shall answer falsely, he shall be incapable of serving on any jury in this State, but he may decline to answer, in which case he shall be discharged by the court from all further attendance as a juryman.

SEC. 11. All cases arising under this act, whether by action, indictment or complaint, which shall come before the court of common pleas either by appeal or original entry, shall take precedence in said court of all other business except those criminal cases in which the parties are actually under arrest awaiting trial; and the court and prosecuting officer shall not have authority to enter a nolle prosequi, or to grant a continuance in any case arising under this act, either before or after the verdict, except where the purposes of justice require it.

SEC. 12. If any three persons, voters in the town or city where the complaint shall be made, shall before any justice of the peace or any judge of a municipal or police court, make a complaint under oath or affirmation that they have reason to believe that spirituous or intoxicating liquors are kept or deposited in any shop, store, warehouse or other building or place whatever, in said city or town and intended for sale by some person not authorized to sell the same in said city or town, under the provisions of this act, said justice or judge shall issue his warrant directed to any sheriff, city marshal or deputy, or to any constable who shall proceed to search the premises described in said warrant, and if any spirituous or intoxicating liquors are found therein, he shall seize the same and convey them to some proper place of security, where he shall keep them until final action is had thereon. But no private dwelling house in which, or in part of which a shop is not kept, shall be searched unless the three persons voters as aforesaid shall make oath or affirmation that they have reason to believe and do believe that spirituous or intoxicating liquors are kept or deposited therein and intended for sale unlawfully, and that they do believe that such liquors have been sold therein or therefrom within one month of the time of making the complaint; and the Justice or judge before whom the complaint shall be made, may refuse to grant a warrant, if in his opinion the reasons given by the complainant for entertaining the belief aforesaid, are not sufficient to justify said belief. And the owner or keeper of said liquors, seized as aforesaid, if he shall be known to the officer seizing the same, shall be summoned forthwith before the justice or judge by whose warrant the liquors were seized, and if he fails to appear, or unless he can show by positive proof that said liquors are of foreign production, that they have been imported under the laws of the United States, and in accordance therewith—that they are contained in the original packages in which they are imported, and in quantities not less than the laws of the United States prescribe, they shall be declared forfeited, and shall be destroyed by authority of the written order to that effect, of said justice or judge, and in his presence or in the presence of some person appointed by him to witness the destruction thereof, and who shall join with the officer by whom they shall have been destroyed, in attesting that fact upon the back of the order, by authority of which it was done; and the owner or keeper of such liquors shall pay a fine of twenty dollars and costs, or stand committed for two months in default of payment, if in the opinion of the court said liquors shall have been kept or deposited for the purpose of sale.—And on the second and every subsequent conviction for keeping liquors intended for sale contrary to the provisions of this act, the convict shall pay twenty dollars and costs of prosecution and shall be committed to the common jail two months, and in default of payment shall suffer an additional imprisonment of two months. And if the owner or possessor of any liquors, in pursuance of this section shall set up the claim that they have been regularly imported under the laws of the United States, and that they are contained in the original packages, the custom house certificates of importation and proof of marks on the casks or packages corresponding thereto, shall not be received as evidence that the liquors contained in said packages are actually imported therein.

SEC. 13. If the owner or possessor of any liquors seized under this act shall be unknown to the officers seizing the same they shall not be condemned and destroyed until they shall have been advertised, with the number and description of the packages as near as may be for two weeks, by posting up a description of the same in some public place, that if such liquors are actually the property of any city or town in the State, and were so at the time of seizure, purchased for sale by the agent of said city or town for medicinal or mechanical purposes only in pursuance of the provisions of this act, they may not be destroyed; but upon satisfactory proof of such ownership within said two weeks, before the justice or judge by whose authority said liquors were seized, said justice or judge shall deliver to the agent of said city or town, an order to the officer having said liquors in custody, whereupon said officer shall deliver them to said agent, taking his receipt therefor upon the back of said order, which shall be returned to said justice or judge.

SEC. 14. If any person claiming any liquors, seized as aforesaid, shall appeal from the judgment of any justice or judge by whose authority the seizure was made, to the court of common pleas, before his appeal shall be allowed, he shall give a bond in the sum of two hundred dollars, with two good and sufficient sureties to prosecute his appeal to effect, and pay all costs and fines that may be awarded against him; and in the case of any such appeal, where the quantity of liquors so seized shall exceed five gallons, if the final decision shall be against the appellant, that such liquors were intended by him for sale, he shall be adjudged by the court a common seller of intoxicating liquors, shall be subject to the penalties provided for in section ninth of this act; and said liquors shall be destroyed as provided for in section twelfth. But nothing contained in this act shall be construed to prevent any chemist, artist or manufacturer in whose art or trade they may be necessary, from keeping at his place of business such reasonable quantity of spirituous or intoxicating liquors as he may have occasion to use in his art or trade, but not for sale.

SEC. 15. It shall be the duty of any mayor, aldermen, selectmen, assessor, city marshal, or deputy or constable if he shall have information that any intoxicating liquors are kept or sold in any tent, shanty, hut or place of any kind for selling refreshments in any public place, on or near the ground during cattle-show, agricultural exhibition, military muster, or public occasion of any kind, to search such suspected places, and if such officers shall find upon the premises any intoxicating drinks he shall seize them and arrest the keeper or keepers of such place and take them forthwith or as soon as may be, before some justice or judge of municipal or police court, with the liquors so found or seized, and upon proof that said liquors are intoxicating, that they were found in possession of the accused in a tent, shanty, or other place as aforesaid, he or they shall be sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail for thirty days, and the liquors so seized shall be destroyed by order of said justice or judge.

SEC. 16. If any person arrested under the preceding section and sentenced as aforesaid shall claim an appeal, before his appeal shall be allowed he shall give a bond in the sum of one hundred dollars, with two good and sufficient sureties that he will prosecute his appeal and pay all fines, costs and penalties which may be awarded against him. And if on such appeal the verdict of the jury shall be against him, he shall in addition to the penalty awarded by the lower court, pay a fine of twenty dollars. In all cases of appeal under this act, from the judgment of a justice or judge of any municipal or police court to the court of common pleas, except where the proceeding is by action of debt, they shall be conducted in said court by the prosecuting officer of the government, and said officer shall be entitled to receive all costs taxable to the State in all criminal proceedings under this act, in addition to the salary allowed to such officer by law—but no costs in such cases shall be remitted or reduced by the prosecuting officer of the court. In any suit, complaint, indictment or other proceeding against any person for a violation of any of the provisions of this act other than for the first offence, it shall not be requisite to set forth particularly the record of a former conviction, but it shall be sufficient to allege briefly that such person has been convicted of a violation of this act, and such allegation in any civil or criminal process in any stage of the proceedings, before a final judgment may be amended without terms as a matter of right.

SEC. 17. All payments or compensations for liquors, sold in violation of law, whether in money, labor, or other property, either real or personal, shall be held and considered to have been received in violation of law and without consideration, and against law, equity and a good conscience; and all sales, transfers and conveyances, mortgages, liens, attachments, pledges and securities of every kind, which either in whole or in part, shall have been for or on account of spirituous or intoxicating liquors, shall be utterly null and void against all persons and in all cases, and no rights of any kind shall be acquired thereby; and in any action either at law or equity, touching such real or personal estate, the purchaser of such liquors may be a witness for either party. And no action of any kind shall be maintained in any court in this State either in whole or in part for intoxicating or spirituous liquors sold in any other state or county whatever, nor shall any action of any kind be had or maintained in any court in this state, for the recovery of possession of intoxicating or spirituous liquors, or the value thereof.

SEC. 18. All the provisions of this act, relating to towns shall be applicable to cities, plantations, grants and places; and those relating to selectmen shall also be applied to the mayor and aldermen of cities, and assessors of plantations, grants and places.

SEC. 19. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

The foregoing is a true copy of the original bill now before the Legislature, postponed to the November session 1852.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
FRIDAY, AUGUST 6, 1852.

CONGRESS, &c.

In the Senate on Wednesday, the joint resolution declaring that the census act does not authorize the superintendent of the census to receive an additional assistant secretary, was taken up, debated and passed.

Mr. Humphrey Marshall was confirmed by the Senate on Tuesday, in his appointment as Commissioner to China, and he resigned his seat in the House of Representatives next day. It is said that an amendment will be proposed to the general appropriation bill, affixing to this appointment the salary of a minister plenipotentiary.

It is said that Mr. Corwin visited Canada by desire of the President for the purpose of making himself acquainted with the views of the Canadian government.

On Wednesday when the House went into committee on the general appropriation bill, Mr. Evans offered an amendment to the light house clause, that the President is hereby authorized and required to levy the same light duties and charges on foreign vessels entering the ports and harbors of the United States, or passing the light houses thereof, as are charged by any corporation or by the foreign governments to the citizens or subjects of which such vessels may belong upon vessels of the United States. The said money when so collected, to be placed to the order of the Treasury, and the amount thereof annually reported to Congress. Adopted—ayes 64, nays 52.

The session is within four weeks of its close, and yet, remarks the Boston Daily Advertiser, it has not reached that period when the efforts of members are concentrated on expediting measures that are important, to the exclusion of those which are trivial, or which obviously can come to no useful practical result.

The House on Tuesday, having under consideration the general appropriation bill, resolved to close the general debate upon it in one hour, and then, by a proceeding characteristic of the session, devoted that hour to a Free Soil speech on the eighth article of the Whig platform. After this vote, the House proceeded to the discussion of amendments. The consideration of these was again resumed in the House yesterday. Five other appropriation bills are yet to be debated, and it is understood there are members prepared to occupy the time which may be devoted to the nominal consideration of those bills, to an explanation of their views on the Presidential election.

LIQUOR LAW.—The liquor bill which passed the House of Representatives last June, but did not pass the Senate, is published by order of the last named body, on our first page to-day.

The Senate request selectmen to put an article into the warrant for town meeting in November, to take the sense of the people in a particular way, on this bill. This voting can have no legal effect whatever. It does not enact it, or oblige the Senate to do so. It may have some moral effect however. If a bill of this kind were passed, and placed before the people for their approval, there would probably be a majority of votes in its favor. But in its present condition, there is reason to apprehend it will be voted down.

If the friends of the bill choose, however, they can roll up a great majority in its favor, —and if they do, the legislature will doubtless pass it. The mode of taking the question, by ballot, at the same time of voting for electors, is excellent.

☞ Our Telegraphic Despatches, yesterday morning gave the foreign news by the Niagara, several hours before the arrival of the Boston morning papers with the same intelligence. The telegraph equalizes the papers of great and small cities, in a great many respects, and while costly to the printer, is very convenient for the reading public. Our readers may depend upon the "freshest advices," as our old predecessors used to say.

☞ We understand there have been only six persons arraigned at the Police Court for twenty-nine days,—two of whom were dismissed.

This is a very favorable state of our beautiful city in dog days, and will exhibit it as a quiet and peaceable place. Its scenery and sea air, with this quiet, make it a desirable location for strangers to pass the summer in.

MECHANICS' ASSOCIATION.—The Associated Mechanics and Manufacturers of the State of New Hampshire, contemplate celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of their institution, the coming fall. An adjourned meeting will be held at the Court House, on Tuesday Evening, August 10th, to make suitable arrangements for the occasion.

PUBLIC HALLS.

Our citizens we presume, are not generally aware that we have not at present any large Hall for a dinner or a dance, except Jefferson Hall, which belongs to the city, and which is not fit for either of these purposes, as it has neither drawing-room nor kitchen attached to it.

This strange fact for a place of nine or ten thousand people, is brought to our view at the present time, by a projected feast of the Mechanic Association. There is no place here where the members and their ladies could dine together; and the Association would not think for a moment of dining without wives and daughters.

So they must put up with Jefferson Hall, go out of town, or go without the dinner. The last probably they will not do—the first they don't like—but the middle ground, of a ride to Epping, or some place where there is a large hall, now seems probable.

The truth is, our large halls did not pay—at least, not of late years. The old Assembly Room did, formerly,—but that is gone.—Congress Hall is now a billiard room, and Franklin Hall is partly cut up for bed-rooms. Nobody must be blamed for this. The public did not use the halls enough to make them pay—and the owners acted as most owners would, put them to other uses. The Temple and Cameneum are both large buildings, and both have drawing-rooms, but both are encumbered with permanent seats. The latter has been used for a festive purpose by being floored over—and if it were wanted as a level hall, could be made so at a small expense.

SAM PATCH-ISM AMONG DOGS AND PIGS.

Every body (that is every body that reads the papers) was electrified awhile ago by the story of a man who drifted to the falls of Niagara in his canoe one evening, but stuck fast among the rocks at the top of the fall, and was found there in the morning, safe and sound, but asleep in the bottom of his canoe, by a noble fellow who rowed out there and got him off by the help of a towline or somehow.

Another, and a wonderful story of a dog is told, where his master lately threw him over and he went down the abyss, but got home before his master.

These stories have their match in an older Sam Patch of a Pig who went over five years ago this Summer.

One fine day that season, the guide at the Falls was taken all aback, on entering the "Cave of the Winds," with a party, to find it tenanted by a full grown well conditioned porker, alive and kicking, though bearing evident marks of pretty hard treatment. Nearly 100 feet below the upper world, and fifty feet above the boiling flood in the abyss, beneath the pouring sheet of the centre fall was piggy, "monarch of all he surveyed." How long he had been there no one could tell, and where he came from was still more unaccountable, unless he had made the fearful plunge over the precipice, and climbed up the broken rocks to the cave, where he was found. This is probably the correct solution of the porker's transfer to the solitary recess of a cave where human feet only stray with the greatest timidy and care, after descending a spiral stairway of more than a hundred feet. Several citizens assisted in bringing his hog-ship to the top of the precipice alive.

NEW PATENTS.—Among the patents issued from the office in Washington, in the week ending July 20, is one for Rail-Road Car Brakes, by John Houston and Ebenezer Ross of Manchester, N. H., one for Parlor Stove Plate, by Amos Paul of New-Market, N. H., and one for Machines for dressing Stone, by Robert Eastman of Concord, N. H.

PORTSMOUTH STEAM FACTORY.—A dividend of 8 per cent, has been declared for August 10, payable August 16, at the office of Treasurer in Boston. This is from the earnings of the last year. No dividend has ever before been made on this stock. The mill has been in operation about six years.

A town meeting in New Bedford on Tuesday voted to request the authorities to publish monthly statements showing the number of arrests, and the number who receive assistance from the overseers of the poor—in order to a comparison before and after the liquor law.

Hon. Franklin Pierce has been made a life member of the American Seamen's Friend Society, by the Congregational Society of Concord, N. H., to which he belongs.

STEAMER HENRY CLAY.—Messrs. Jermain, Hubbard and Jessup, engineer, pilot and clerk, were arrested on Wednesday morning, and each required to give bail in the sum of $10,000.

An Engine Co. in Charlestwon, Mass. has received $104 in aid of Mr. Estee, a member who was wounded at the burning of the Tremont Temple, and who yet lingers in a sad condition.

APPLEDORE.

Portsmouth, and Gosport, and Concord, will soon be near neighbors. A writer in the Concord Patriot recommends a cheap and pleasant circuit for railroad and steamboat travel from Concord to the Shoals and back. In his article he speaks in the following terms of the Shoals in general, and Appledore in particular:

Appledore is the ancient name of the Island, and may have had its origin from a Welsh word, appeldoer, or appouldoer, meaning a marsh, there being a marsh or swamp of two or three acres on the western side. Mr. Laighton has rescued the name from some ancient records, still existing, I believe. He thinks that these islands were visited even before the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth—the first settlers, however, coming to the Shoals more for the purpose of securing good cod, haddock, mackerel, &c., than to escape religious persecution. Who they were, or whence they came, is not definitely known. They may have been from Wales, or the south-eastern coast of England, which would account for the name.

The Isles of Shoals are eight in number, and about an hour's sail from Portsmouth.—Their several acres vary from six to three hundred acres. Only four are inhabited. "Star Island," of about thirty acres, contains some twenty buildings, including a small church, and about 150 inhabitants, mostly fishermen. "Smutty Nose" has a tavern-house and two or three dwellings, and embraces an area of about ten acres. "White Island," of six acres, has upon it a light-house, and a single additional tenement, occupied by the keeper.—"Appledore," of three hundred acres, is owned by Mr. Laighton and his son-in-law, Mr. Thaxter. It contains Mr. L.'s public house —a large well arranged and furnished edifice of three stories—and a couple of additional dwellings. A day's residence at "Appledore" always enables the invalid to "breathe free'er and deeper." This island, "in olden time," contained a population of several hundreds, who went there, or sent their children there to school, while the Indians were troublesome on the main land. There are now only slight traces of the island having been so inhabited.

The sail from Portsmouth is three miles down the Piscataqua, to its mouth, and thence nine or ten to the Shoals. It is a delightful excursion, and the scenery is very fine. The Navy Yard and Dry Dock, the remains of old Forts Washington and Sullivan, and New Castle and Fort Constitution, with Kittery Point and Fort McClary, are successively passed, besides Fort Constitution and Whale's Back light-houses, and a number of islands and beaches. At this time, the cod, haddock, and mackerel and cunners are unusually abundant about the Shoals—owing, undoubtedly, to Mr. Bull's late demonstration against our fishermen on the Grand Banks; for it is said to be a fact that the fish are determined to be caught by Yankees, rather than by Blue-noses, (if caught they must be,) even if they have to swim all the way from "Canso Gut" to the Shoals after Yankee bait!

WHITE MOUNTAIN WEATHER.

A despatch from the White Mountain Station House dated, August 2d, says: "Thermometer here at six o'clock this morning, only forty degrees above zero—now sixty-five, with clear and beautiful weather. An hour ago we had a splendid view of Mt. Washington from the Glen House, seven miles from here."

Rather cool weather for midsummer, an hour after sunrise—only eight degrees above freezing point. During a pedestrian tour in that region four or five years since, we one night stopped at Bethlehem after a very hard day's tramp back of the mountains, from Littleton (we think it was) to Franconia Iron Works, near Franconia Notch. It was Saturday night, and the little crowd of farmer neighbors who gathered at the hospitable hotel kept by Mr. Oakes, next day, were glad to gather around the crackling fire in the huge fire-place. This was at ten o'clock in the forenoon, on the 16th of July. The day before, we had suffered from heat at above eighty degrees; that Sunday it was but ten above freezing in the valley at the Iron Works; and the next day, between the Old Man of the Mountain and Campton, we had the heat at about ninety-five. No wonder we wilted during our walk of thirty-six miles.

A VICTIM TO SCIENCE.—On Saturday last it was advertised that Mr. R. Sands, circus performer, would among other things walk across the ceiling with his feet upwards and his head downwards, by means of a scientific apparatus appended to his feet. The experiment was successfully made by Mr. Sands, and the audience went away perfectly satisfied, except one person, who said Mr. S. could not perform the feat out of the circus.

Mr. Sands offered to exhibit the same performance in any place where a ceiling having a smooth surface, of sufficient strength to sustain his weight, could be obtained. The large room in the town hall was selected, to which Mr. S. repaired, and commenced walking over the ceiling at an elevation of eighteen feet from the floor. He had proceeded several steps, and was in the act of returning, when a large portion of the plaster gave way, and he was precipitated to the floor and killed instantly, his neck being broken.—Wolcott (N. Y.) Standard.

ELECTIONS.—Reports from Iowa are that Mr. Henn in the 2d district and Mr. Clark in the 1st district are both re-elected—democrats.

From Missouri a St. Louis despatch reports the probable election of Gen. Price, the democratic candidate for governor, over James Winston, whig. For congress, in the 1st district the returns from St. Louis are favorable for Col. Benton. In the 3d district, the contest between Miller, whig, and Greene, dem., was close. The returns from the 5th district are favorable to John S. Phelps, dem.—Post.

DESTRUCTION OF THE NORTHUMBERLAND BRIDGE BY A TORNADO.—On Tuesday evening about half past 6 o'clock, a violent tornado suddenly passed over this place, and in its course, swept from its foundation that portion of the Northumberland bridge spanning the river from the island to the Sunbury shore. The bridge now lies crushed in a mass of ruins, above the piers. Mr. Krum, who resides on the Grant farm at the eastern end of the bridge, had just driven off with a four horse team, and by the time he reached his barn, about 20 yards distant, he saw the whole structure was raised up and hurled into the river. Mr. James Smith, who was hauling in grain on the island, was just preparing to drive over the bridge at this place. Fortunately no person was on at the time.

The Northumberland Bridge Company have been singularly unfortunate. The old bridges were erected in 1815, at a cost of $90,000. In the Spring of 1839, the bridge on the Northumberland side fell, and was rebuilt in about a year, at the expense of about $20,000. Several years after the Danville bridge was swept away by the flood, and in its course came in contact with the New Northumberland bridge, and carried off all but one span. The bridge was again rebuilt the year after. About four years since the old bridge on the Sudbury side was destroyed by the freshet, and rebuilt the year following, and now lies in the stream above the piers, a perfect wreck.—The bridge just destroyed was badly constructed, the arches being so much sprung the first year of its construction, that it required repairing. The telegraph wires passing through the bridge to this place being severed, has of course cut off our means of communication at present by telegraph.—Sudbury (Pa.) American, July 31.

AN EXPENSIVE CLEANING UP.—A gentleman a few days since, drew out from one of our banks, thirteen hundred dollars in large bills, and on returning home laid a portion away for safe keeping. A one hundred dollar bill and two fifties, however, he put in an envelope, and laid in a drawer in his desk at home. He then was called away, and in his absence a servant girl seeing a quantity of loose papers about his desk and in the drawers, took it into her head to clean up. At it she went, gathering all the loose and aparently useless papers which came in her way, and among others the envelope with the money within. When she had completed her cleaning, she threw the whole into the fire, destroying money and all. —Boston Traveller.

SWINDLING OPERATION.—On Saturday night last, a job machinist named Alexander, employed in one of the machine shops at South Boston, suddenly left for parts unknown. A short time before he left he took up quite a sum in advance on a job, for the alleged purpose of paying off his workman. They however never saw any of the proceeds, and are left each minus sums varying from $15 to $100. He leaves a wife and five children. The total amount of his obligations is supposed to be about $1000, and the loss principally falls on those who can ill afford to lose it.—Boston Traveller.

MARKETS.

CAMBRIDGE CATTLE MARKET

Wednesday, Aug. 4.

At Market 1042 Cattle—about 900 Beeves and 142 Stores, consisting of Working Oxen, Cows and Calves, Yearlings, two and three years old.

Prices—Market Beef—Extra, $6 per cwt.; 1st quality, $6 a 6.12½; 2d do. $5.25 a 5.75; 3d do. $4.50 a $5; ordinary $3 a 4.

Hides—$6 per cwt. Tallow 6.50 a 7.

Pelts—50c. Calf Skins 10c per lb.

Veal Calves—$4 a $10. 379 at Market.

Stores—Working Oxen—$74, 77, 78, 88, 96 a $124.

Cows and Calves—$14, 15, 19, 22, 24, 25 a $32.

Three years old—$17, 19, 22, 25, 28 a $38.

Sheep and Lambs—5011 at Market.

Prices—Extra, $2.75, 3, a 3.50. By lot, $1, 1½, 1¾, 1¾, 1¾, 2 a $3.38.

Swine. 429 fat corn-fed Hogs—3½ to 4½c per lb; 1 Lot Shoats, 5½c per lb; 1 Lot Pigs, 6c per lb; 1 Lot Sows and Pigs, $15.

Remarks—Beef sold at about the same prices as last week. Stores were dull, and but few sold. Hogs were dull, and prices rather lower.

NEW YORK MARKET.—Advance in Beef and Pork.—Prices in this market are higher than they have been for twenty years past. The stock on hand, just now, is said to be very light, but the advance is not attributable to this fact, so much as to an inadequate supply from the west. Since last spring, mess beef has gone up from $11 to $18.50, and mess pork from $14 to $20. The export to Europe, we believe, is not much greater at present than is ordinarily the case.—N. Y. Express.

Wilmington, N. C., August 2d.—We note a sale of 50,000 inch flooring boards at $14 per M. 15 rafts of timber have come in since Saturday; but few vessels in port, and freights are gradually accumulating. Small sales of Rio Coffee at 10 a 10½c; western shoulders at 10c per lb; mess pork, $21 a $22 per bbl, from store, in quantity to suit.

LATEST NEWS!

TELEGRAPHIC

DESPATCHES

TO THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.

On motion of Mr. Bright, business was suspended in order to take up the President's message on the subject of the fisheries. Mr. Hamlin resumed the speech commenced by him on Tuesday. He gave in detail the extensive interest engaged in the fishery, the tonnage of vessels, and the number of men employed; the quanty of fish caught and imported; and the localities of such catching and importation.

HOUSE.—The House was engaged in discussing the bill regulating the costs and fees of attorneys, marshals, and clerks of the circuit and district courts.

The question of reciprocity with the British Povinces is dead for the present.

Mr. Seymour, of Connecticut, Chairman of the Committee on Commerce, who had prepared a reciprocity measure with the British Provinces, embracing a settlement of the fishery dispute previous to the offensive attitude assumed by England, has determined to abandon his purpose of introducing that measure for the present, at least—feeling that Congress would not listen to it.

MAN SHOT IN NASHUA.

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 5.

Charles Carey was shot while gunning near this place to-day. He died in a few minutes.

INDIAN DEPREDATIONS IN MEXICO.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5.

Dates have been received from the City of Mexico to July 13th. The Indians were committing many depredations and the inhabitants of the City, even, were becoming greatly alarmed. It is said that the country is on the eve of another crisis.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

THURSDAY EVENING, August 5.—Both branches concurred in adopting a City Seal. The design represents a ship, factory, railroad cars, &c.

The Common Council passed an ordinance respecting the care and regulation of burying grounds by superintendent.

A report was received from the Committee on Burying Grounds, recommending the enlargement of the Cotton Burying Ground, by adding a part of city ground on the east of said Burying Ground.

A communication was received from the Mayor, recommending an alteration in the burying place at the town farm. Referred to the Committee on Burying Grounds.

☞ We learn that John Russell, Jr., formely Superintendent of the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Rail-Road, and late of the Kennebec and Portland Rail-Road, has again become connected with the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Rail-Road as Superintendent.

ITEMS OF LATEST NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The fishery difficulty has been temporarily settled. A despatch has been sent by Mr. Crampton to the British Government urging them to suspend their orders and to withdraw their naval force.

CHOLERA AT ROCHESTER.—The Board of Health are very busy in having the city properly cleansed. Within the last 24 hours there were 24 cases and 19 deaths.

MISSOURI ELECTION.—Sufficient returns have been received to place beyond doubt the election of the entire democratic ticket. Col. Benton has secured his election as member of Congress.

CHOLERA—Buffalo, Aug. 4.—Judge Devoux, of Niagara county, the richest man in that section, died at the Falls, of cholera morbus, yesterday. He was 63 years of age. The deaths in this city the last 24 hours only reach 13 or 14. The cholera is disappearing from the localities where it broke out. Accounts from Sandusky say that the cholera has broken out there, and several deaths have occurred.

A gentleman named Bull, from the west, on his way home, was knocked down in the vicinity of the dock and dragged into the yard where he was robbed of $17,000. It is said the robbers have not yet been caught.

FROST IN AUGUST.—A gentleman who passed through Ashfield, Mass., yesterday morning, informs us that frost was plainly visible for some distance along the valley in the vicinity of "Spruce Corners." Fences, bridges, planks, &c., were quite covered with it.—Journal of Commerce.

DEATH OF AN OLD PRINTER AND EDITOR. Charles Holt, Senr., died in this city on Friday last, at the residence of his son-in-law, P. C. Dummer, Esq., aged 81 years. Mr. Holt, according to the best of our knowledge, was the oldest printer and editor in the United States. He was an old Republican of the Whig school, and a warm admirer of Thomas Jefferson. The incidents of his political career, would furnish a very interesting narrative. Many years since, he conducted the Hudson (N. Y.) Bee and the New York Daily Columbian. He has also held several offices of trust under the Government.—Jersey City Sentinel.

Daguerreotype Gallery.

"Secure the Shadow ere the Substance Fades," by visiting

Gregory's Daguereotype Gallery,

NO. 33 CONGRESS STREET, opposite City Hotel, where you can obtain a picture of yourself taken in the very best manner, and BEAUTIFULLY COLORED, and what is of importance, at a VERY CHEAP PRICE.

Having withstood the tremendous opposition he has encountered during four years constant practice in Portsmouth, and of nearly eight years in the art, it will readily be seen that the fact of his having executed SUPERIOR WORK at reasonable prices has enabled him to withstand all the thumbugging competition he has been assailed with.

Children taken in the most perfect manner

PORTRAITS AND MINIATURES accurately and faithfully COPIED; also

Likenesses of Sick & Deceased Persons

taken at their residences.

In short, ALL KINDS OF DAGUERREOTYPING will receive unremitting attention and no pains spared to make a visit to his Room both profitable and worthy of being repeated.

A SPLENDID ASSORTMENT OF

of a great variety of styles; FRAMES, LOCKets, &c. kept constantly on hand into which Pictures will be set at VERY LOW PRICES.

Strangers visiting the city will find this to be decidedly THE PLACE to secure a beautiful memento of themselves or friends.

EARTH'S GREATEST BLESSINGS.

A young rose in the summer time
Is beautiful to me,
And glorious the many stars
That glimmer on the sea;
But gentle words and loving hearts,
And hands to clasp my own,
Are better than the fairest flowers
Or stars that ever shone.

The sun may warm the grass to life,
The dew the drooping flower,
And eyes grow bright and watch the light
Of autumn's opening hour;
But words that breathe of tenderness,
And smiles we know are true,
And warmer than the summer time,
And brighter than the dew.

It is not much the world can give,
With all its subtle art,
And gold and gems are not the things
To satisfy the heart.
But, oh! If those who cluster round
The altar and the hearth,
Have gentle words and loving smiles,
How beautiful is earth!

SALEM WITCHCRAFT—HOW IT WAS STOPPED.—At the late centennial celebration in Danvers, Rev. Mr. Thayer of Beverly made a good speech, in the course of which, alluding to the Salem Witchcraft, he said,

"When the awful tragedy was at its height, Mrs. Hale, wife of the first minister of Beverly, was cried out against as being in league with Satan. Such, however, was her remarkable excellence, that all who knew her felt at once that the accusation was false, the devil being the last person with whom she would be likely to cultivate any friendship or affinity. The eyes of her husband, who had previously yielded to the delusion, were opened to its real nature; and he forthwith composed a treatise, which was published in a small volume, and contributed much to stay the evil. I have in my possession a copy of it, and I know of but one other copy in existence. It is marked with the peculiarities in style and thought of the times in which it was written, but shows thorough investigation coupled with deep conviction and ardent love of truth. It will ever be honorable to his memory, and will reflect lasting honor on the scene of his labors and the spot whence it emanated."

This is well said, and we, as lovers of true history, are greatly obliged to Mr. Thayer for bringing it out. But it strikes us, after all, that the strongest and best point here developed in Mr. Hale is, that he loved his wife. His theories, his learning, his religion, his theology, all suffered him to believe that other women were witches and ought to be hung—but when it came to his own wife, whom he knew and loved, he dashed the delusion to the ground; and let common sense and natural affection make him a man again, instead of being the dupe of superstition and folly.

A FRENCH BEE STORY.—A curious circumstance occurred a few days back at Guilleville, Eure-et Loire. A farmer had in a geld 250 beehives containing a vast number of bees. He sent a man with a cart to remove some earth from the wall near which the hives were placed. The carter having occasion to go to the farm house, tied his horses to a tree. Almost immediately after, a multitude of bees, either irritated at the shaking of their hives by the removal of the earth from the wall, or excited by the electricity with which the atmosphere happened to be charged, issued from their hives, as if in obedience to a given signal, and with great fury attacked the horses. In an instant the poor animals were entirely covered with bees from head to foot—even their nostrils were filled with them.

When the carter returned he found one of the horses lying dead on the ground, and the other rolling about furiously. His cries attracted several persons; one of them attempted to drive away the bees, but they attacked him, and he had to plunge into a pond, and even to place his head under water for a few seconds, in order to escape from them. The cure of Guilliville also attempted to approach the horses; but he too was put to flight by the enraged insects. A few days before, bees from the same hive killed seventeen goslings.

WOMAN'S DRESS IN HAMBURG.—Communipaw, the lively correspondent of the Boston Post, thus describes the dress of the females at Hamburg:

I like the distinctive costumes of the people here. Every one, or nearly every one, dresses not so much according to rank—what our stiff republicans are so much afraid of—but according to business, or more yet according locality. The girls and women that come from Vierlanderin, an island a short distance out of Hamburg, to sell fruit and vegetables, dress entirely different from the city people.—It marks no inferiority or superiority, but their costume simply shows who they are. They wear a sort of ribbed petticoat, of green or brown color, and over this a strong blue apron, worked round the waist in plaits, and then they have a sort of vest of purple or some other color. The petticoat is quite short, and they wear long stockings and leather shoes.—The head dress is the queerest of all—a flat topped hat or bonnet of straw, shaped exactly like a common tin milk pan. A portion of this in the centre is so shaped as to fit the head. Under this are broad and stiff black bands, some like ribands, only much thicker, and these swing round like out-riggers. I've seen this hat varied so much in size as to appear little larger than a common table plate, but rarely so small. On the neck, is often worn a pink or other colored handkerchief.—These pretty nymphs—and many of them are very pretty—go into the squares and markets, and sell flowers, fruits and vegetables in little baskets.

PROSPECTS OF SPORT IN WISCONSIN.—The Potosi (Wis.) Signal of the 21st ult., gives the following account of the game of that region:

Game this season will be abundant. The grouse are more numerous than they have been for the last six years; the covies are larger, and the birds at this time are pretty well fledged. Friend Hull informs us that we shall have more sport than usual this fall, in shooting geese, ducks, and other wild fowl. The river, for the last two years, has been high, and the waters have drowned the wild rice in the lakes on the island and low grounds bordering on the Mississippi. Should it continue low (and there is a fair prospect of its doing so,) the quantity of rice will be great, and clouds of wild fowl will be found on all our old hunting grounds.

PROMISE TO SWALLOW A STEAM BOILER. Twenty-seven years ago, while an eminent engineer was speaking before a Parliamentary committee of the probability of steamships crossing the Atlantic, the present Earl of Derby rose from his seat and exclaimed,—"Good heavens! what do you say? If steamships cross the Atlantic, I will eat the boiler of the first boat!"

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
SATURDAY, AUGUST 7, 1852.

GOVERNOR BURDET—1634–38.

The reign of a peaceful and prosperous King makes but a short chapter in history, though his reign may have been forty years. But a great conqueror, who gilds himself all over with glory, or a great scoundrel, who glitters in bright brass, creates work for the historian, money for the bookseller, and interest for the reader.

Thus the early settlers of New Hampshire, under the Masonian auspices, were favored at the first, by the appointment of Francis Williams to be their Governor. He was appointed by Mason and Gorges, who took it for granted that they had the right of civil government, which it was afterwards clearly settled they had not. Nevertheless, Williams was popular—but he does not occupy much space in the books—and none at all in the story books. Belknap says, "He was a gentleman of good sense and discretion; and so very acceptable to the people, that when they combined in a body politic, they continued him at their head."

How different from this, is the character and history of Burdet, sometime Governor of Dover, at a time when that town and this city were separate though not exactly independent sovereignties. George Burdet, (as we learn on the same authority which we quote for Williams' good character,) had been a minister at Yarmouth in England; but either really or pretendedly taking offence at the extravagancies of the bishops and spiritual courts, came over to New England, and joined with the church in Salem, who employed him for a year or two as a preacher, being a good scholar and plausible in his behavior. But disgusted with the strictness of their discipline, he removed to Dover, and continued for sometime in good esteem with the people as a preacher; till by artful insinuations he raised such a jealousy in their minds against Wiggin their Governor, that they deprived him of his office, and elected Burdet in his place.

During his residence here, he carried on a correspondence with Archbishop Laud to the disadvantage of the Massachusetts colony, representing them as hypocritical and disaffected, and that under pretence of greater purity and discipline in matters of religion, they were aiming at independent sovereignty; it being accounted perjury and treason by their General Court, to speak of appeals to the king. The prelate thanked him for his zeal in the king's service, and assured him that care should be taken to redress those disorders when leisure from their other concerns would permit. This letter of the archbishop was intercepted, and shewn to the Governor of Massachusetts. Burdet's villainy was considered as the more atrocious, because he had been admitted a freeman of their corporation, and had taken the oath of fidelity. A copy of his own letter was afterward found in his closet.

This matter very naturally raised a dispute between Burdet and Gov. Winthrop of Massachusetts, who wrote a sharp letter to Burdet and others at Dover, threatening to survey the patents and push the limits.

To this Burdet returned a scornful answer, refusing to give the Governor his title. The Governor thought of citing him to court to answer for his contempt; but was dissuaded from it by Dudley, the Deputy-Governor, who judged it imprudent to exasperate him, lest he should avenge himself by farther accusing them to their enemies in England. The Governor contented himself with sending to Hilton an account of Burdet's behavior, inclosing a copy of his letter, and cautioning the people not to put themselves too far under his power. His true character did not long remain secret; for being detected in some lewd actions he made a precipitate removal to Agamenticus, now York, in the province of Maine, where he also assumed to rule, and continued a course of injustice and adultery till the arrival of Thomas Gorges, their Governor, in 1640, who laid a fine on him, and seized his cattle for the payment of it.* He appealed to the king, but his appeal not being admitted, he departed for England full of enmity against these plantations. When he arrived, he found all in confusion; and falling in with the royalists, was taken and imprisoned by the parliamentary party, which is the last account we have of him.

From all which it appears that in our early history there were demagogues, hypocrites, and rogues, as well as in modern days,—which fact raises the question whether the world, or this part of it, has degenerated so very much after all.

*The records of the Court mention him as "a man of ill name and fame, infamous for incontinency."

Benjamin Lake was brought before Justice Parker by Officer Adams, for an assault on watchman Tibbets on the night of July 4th, plead guilty, fined four dollars and costs.

ANTIOCH COLLEGE.

The Antioch here spoken of, is not Antioch in Pisidia, where the disciples were first called Christians; but it is the name of a College, (as Harvard or Dartmouth,) and is called in remembrance of that place and circumstance. Antioch College is, or rather is to be, the great literary seminary of the Christian Societies, whose organ is the Herald of Gospel Liberty, and whose founders in this region were Elders Smith and Jones, now gathered to their fathers.

In the Herald of August 5, the leading editorial article is on literary preparation for the ministry, and the best means of attaining it. The writer asserts that it is best for a candidate to take a collegiate course as his preparation; first because it is the safest way to literary attainment; and secondly because it is the quickest way. He recommends Antioch College, which is located in Ohio. And from the Chillicothe Gazette it seems the guardians of the College have called an eminent New-England educator to be its presiding officer. In that paper of the 16th ult. is this paragraph:

It is reported that the Hon. Horace Mann is about to become a citizen of our State, as the President of Antioch College, in Greene Co. and it is subject of gratulation that so accomplished a gentleman and scholar proposes to make Ohio his residence.

These things mark a strong current of upward progress in literary and scientific attainment.

The Herald says, the door is now opening among as where young men can have privileges, which are found perhaps in no other denomination in our land. I regard it a privilege, the like the sun never smiled upon before. Our educational arrangements are such, that if a man takes one share in Antioch College he is entitled to the privilege of keeping one scholar in the preparatory or collegiate course continually, free of farther tuition expense.

THE SEA-SERPENT,—A PORTSMOUTH-BUILT SHIP.

A letter from San Francisco to the Boston Traveller, dated July 2, says, that the clipper ship Sea-Serpent, which arrived there two days before, has made the best passage of the season, and added fresh laurels to her builder, George Raynes, of Portsmouth, who is well known and quoted here, as the builder of the Witch of the Wave.

It may be remembered perhaps, that the Sea Serpent was claimed as a Boston built vessel when new,—but she happened to be launched on the Piscataqua.

OUTRAGEOUS.—A few nights since, some miscreant cut and disfigured the ornamental fence in front of the splendid house just erected by Mr. Samuel M. Dockum, in Hanover street. It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, that he offers a large reward for their detection. Such things are of too frequent occurrence to be borne with patience. The destruction of property, to say nothing of the marring of the beautiful, is too little thought of by boys generally.

☞ We learn that, of about $41,000, voted to be raised by the city this year the collector of taxes has already received $30,222. The receipt of this large amount so early in the year is caused by discount of 6 per cent allowed to those who pay their tax in July. Those who pay between the 1st and 31st of August are entitled to 4 per cent discount.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody any good. Such are not railroad winds—for says the Newburyport Herald, it is stated that while every railroad in Vermont, has involved the stockholders in heavy losses, the stock not being worth more than 20 or 25 cents on the dollar, yet the real estate in the State has risen in value more than the whole cost of the railroads, because of the ready access to the city markets, and the stimuli to the enterprise of producers.

TARE.—The weighers of the New York custom House, under the recent treasury circular in relation to tares, have adopted the following tares on sugar, viz: in hhds. 12 per ct., unless proof is furnished by the importers that it is more; on boxes 13 per ct.; on bags 2 per cent. The same tare will be adopted uniformly by all the custom houses in the United States.

ELECTION—MAIL ROBBERY,—DUEL.—Louisville, August 5.—Mr. Lovejoy, Whig, is elected to the Legislature in Crittenden county, Arkansas. The regular Democratic candidate for Governor is ahead as far as heard from. The returns come in slowly.

The mail from Nashville to this city was robbed on the 23d ult. of $3000 in drafts. It is also reported to have been robbed on the 27th of a very large amount—near $30,000.

An affair of honor took place at Lancaster, Ky., on Friday last, between Joseph Murphy and S. F. McKee. Four shots were exchanged, and both parties were badly wounded. A negro woman was killed while looking on.

Hon. John J. Crittenden has consented to deliver a funeral oration on the late Henry Clay, on the 29th of December.

LATER FROM HALIFAX—THE FISHERY QUESTION.—By the arrival of the steamer Sir John Harvey, the Boston Courier has Halifax papers to August 3d. It appears that the Nova Scotians oppose granting to the American fishing vessels the right to fish within three miles of the shore, even if reciprocal free trade is granted.

The British North American of Aug. 2 says:—It will be seen by a memorial in our columns, that our merchants repudiate the idea of surrendering our fishing privileges for reciprocal free trade, justly deeming Free Trade a fair equivalent for Free Trade, and that our fisheries must be retained as the inalienable right of the people of this Colony—a right or possession NEVER TO BE GIVEN UP on any pretence whatever.

We are glad to know that for the effective protection of our mackerel fishery the controversy about a line drawn from headland to headland will not be one in dispute in any manner, whatever. If the Americans are strictly kept out of the limits of three miles from land, which they themselves recognize as the boundaries of the treaty, they cannot take a single mackerel, because this fine fish invariably skirts close to the shore, and cannot be "trolled" out with bait, while the Americans are kept three miles off.

The remonstrance above mentioned is against a treaty with the United States allowing them the right to fish if reciprocal free trade is adopted.

The whole subject appears to be regarded with considerable apprehension at Halifax.

PARTICULARS OF THE LOSS OF THE CUTTER TANEY.—New York, Aug. 4.—The Revenue Cutter Taney, Captain Martain, was struck by a squall at one o'clock yesterday, (Tuesday,) P. M., about a mile and a half below Governor's Island, thrown on her beam ends, and sunk.

The Capt. reports that at about 1 o'clock, after having proceeded a mile below Governor's Island, with a very light air, the vessel was struck by a white squall, which seemed to fall aboard almost vertically, causing the vessel to capsize and fill in an instant. So limited were the extent and duration of the squall, that pilot boats and other vessels in various directions within 150 yards of the spot, were becalmed, and cruising afterwards scarcely more than a breath of air could be perceived.

Capt. Martain also states that it was so sudden that not a ripple was observed to indicate its approach. From this circumstance he is convinced that it did not strike in a horizontal direction, and as a proof of its great force, a vessel when knocked down was simultaneously submerged.

Five persons were drowned; their names are as follows:—Thos. Jackson quartermaster; James F. Stiff, do.; Thomas Doron, seaman; Henry McGregor, boy; James McGlue, do. One man named James Hoyt is missed by the Captain, but it is said that he was picked up by one of the pilot boats. Thomas Doran, an old seaman, was jammed between one of the guns, a twelve pounder, and the sail, and was taken down in that position.

The Cutter was bound for Fire Island, where a site was to be selected for a house for a life-boat, to be built by government for the Humane Society.

EL DORADO.

A Minnesota paper asks:

"Why dont people come to Minnesota to live? They cant live—only exist, in other places. Green peas and lamb, with mint sauce, abundant, beautiful pickerel and bass, fresh from the river, at two and three cents a pound—the prairies are red with the largest, most luscious strawberries, and the cows give the richest and most delicious cream, to accompany the aforesaid berries, or convert into rolls of the sweetest, yellow butter that ever epicure spread on tender short-cake. Again we ssk, why don't people come to Minnesota to live?"

Again, speaking of Socialism, the editor remarks:

"Socialists are looking for plenty of labor and good pay. To the whole school of them we would say, come to Minnesota. Here you will find both. Farming is the best business in the world. Here is abundance of good land at any price, or for nothing. Here you will find enough to do, and raise enough to live comfortably, if you are not too lazy to work. Send out your idle, starving thousands from your cities, and let them make themselves useful and happy. A man who has not energy to get here, would be good for nothing when he got here, nor would an Association save such a man. In this way the ends of Socialism may be attained without the evils."

THE MONTREAL FIRE.—The result of the Executive Committee's investigation in regard to the loss by the recent fire in Montreal, fixes the sum at $2,000,000. It has been determined by the Committee, to ask government for a loan of $800,000, to enable the poor proprietors of lots to rebuild, for the repayment of which the city, in its corporate capacity, will become responsible, the buildings to be either of stone or brick. For the present use of those who have no home, the committee have issued proposals for the erection of three sheds, to be of wood, filled in with brick, each 240 feet long.

A DRY DOCK ON A LARGE SCALE IN BOSTON.—They are now erecting a Dry Dock upon a large scale at East Boston. The site is upon the deep waters nearly opposite the Charlestown Navy Yard, and is considered one of the finest for the purpose in this harbor. This Dock is being constructed after the plan and patent for the best works of the kind in New York and Philadelphia. It is to be finished without delay, and such is to be its extent, capacity and powers, that the largest steamers and merchant ships may be taken up, examined, coppered and repaired, within its walls.—Transcript.

A HOAX.—The New York Herald published a long telegraphic account of the proceedings of what purports to be a Union Convention in Philadelphia on Saturday, which nominated Mr. Webster unanimously for the Presidency. It turns out to be a HOAX—no such meeting having been held.

Washington, Aug. 5.—A delegation of Pueblo Indians under the direction of Capt. Love, who arrived here last Friday, had an interview to-day with President Fillmore, during which they narrated their grievances and complained bitterly of the conduct of the Mexicans. The President responded in suitable terms, promising them the protection of this government. The Secretary of the Interior was present and a number of other government officers. Col. Lee, commissioner of Indian affairs, having left for Virginia Springs with his family to recruit his health, was not present.

Mr. Evans's (of Maryland) amendment to the general appropriation bill, carried yesterday, proposing lighthouse duties on foreign vessels, it is believed, will settle the mackerel and codfish question.

A FISH STORY.—The Boston Traveller states that "the schooner Hope, of Dennis, arrived at this port on Wednesday, with three tons of bass, caught at the back side of Cape Cod on Tuesday night. One man with a hook and line caught seventy fish during the night, the smallest of which weighed 28 pounds, and the largest 81.

☞ Our Boston reporter had no news of importance worthy of forwarding by Telegraph, last evening.

A Book by our Consul at Paris.—The Paris correspondent of the National Intelligencer, in a letter dated the 12th July, says:

Our worthy Consul in Paris, Mr. S. G. Goodrich, has just added to his literary fame and to his reputation as a writer of useful books, by a new work in French, to which I believe allusion has not yet been made in my letters. It is entitled "The United States of America; a Statistical, Historical, Geographic, Industrial, and Social Compendium, for the use of those who seek precise information respecting this portion of the New World."

There are few men more competent than Mr. Goodrich to produce a useful standard work upon this subject. He has been indefatigable in the collection of his information, and in his numerous and well arranged tables he has amassed and placed within ready reach an immense amount of useful knowledge. The work cannot fail to supply a want which has been much felt in Europe, and will be of great use to the thousands of emigrants who are daily, and laboriously, and, till this work appeared, almost vainly, seeking information touching our country. It will, I presume, be translated into German for the use of German emigrants. Indeed, it would, I think, well bear translation into English for circulation in England and the United States. The work is brought out in very handsome style by one of the first publishers in Paris, Messrs. Guillaumin & Co., rue de Richelieu 14.

Old Buildings.—The little old shop, which has, for one hundred years and more, been an unsightly excrescence upon the fine old Curwen house, at the corner of North and Essex streets,—where the witchcraft examinations took place, in 1692,—was yesterday demolished, leaving room for a valuable improvement in the width of the street. There was formerly another excrescence, in front of the western end of the Curwen house, where a grocery store was kept by "Major Hayes," whom some of our readers remember to this day, to their cost.—Salem Gazette.

The Fort Wayne Sentinel says: "We regret to announce that the venerable old block house, the last relic of Fort Wayne, at that place, is being pulled down. The timbers are perfectly sound, and the building might have stood for another generation, to point out the spot rendered famous in the annals of the West by many a scene of heroic bravery and daring. Nothing will remain to show that it was once 'Mad Anthony's' stronghold in the very heart of the savage enemy's country."

Wax vs. Tallow.—A controversy is going on between the Catholic journals, as to whether tallow candles may be allowed instead of wax, in the church ritual. A writer in the last Freeman's Journal holds that the poverty of a church may justify it in using tallow candles, provided a few wax ones be used with them, though he doubts whether the tallow ones receive any part of the blessing bestowed on them all together.

The French papers call upon the government to double the tax on dogs, and make it 10 francs instead of 5. They say there are three million dogs in France, and the whole cost of their support reckoned at two cents a day for each, amounts to twenty-two millions dollars—a monstrous and useless item. A tax of 10 francs would, it is supposed, diminish their number two-thirds.

Anthracite Coal For the Reading Road.—The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, we have been informed, recently bought engines of a large class, for the use of anthracite coal, built by Ross Winans, of Baltimore. They are splendid machines, and use anthracite coal exclusively, effecting a saving of fuel of nearly one-half over the use of wood. All the new engines placed on the road will be constructed for the use of coal exclusively.

It is singular that the reports of coal burning locomotives are so favorable, and yet none of the railroads but those in Pennsylvania use them.—Scientific Ameaican.

Quicker than they Expected.—The Springfield (Ill.) Register relates the following:—

"In March last, three men in this city agreed to drink themselves to death. The first died in April, the second in May. The survivor, on the happening of the last event, showed signs of breaking the compact, and he kept sober two or three days afterwards; but honor revived, and he died in June. This is literally true."

Boston Mortality.—The deaths in Boston reported for the month of July the present year have been 365, or 45 more than in July last year, while the deaths in June were 46 less this year than last. Deaths from 1st of January to 31st of July, 1851, 2169; from 1st of January to 31st of July, 1852, 1959—or 210 less in 7 months in 1852 than in 1851. The present increased mortality is among children of foreign parentage—scarlet fever, diseases of the bowels and of infancy being prevalent as usual. The dyscntery prevails to an alarming extent at the house of correction, South Boston, and about forty of the inmates are quite ill with it. One of the officers is also dangerously sick, and little hopes are entertained of his recovery.—Traveller.

Fatal Accident on the New Haven Railroad.—The first accommodation train from New Haven for Hartford, Thursday morning, ran over an ox, throwing three cars from the track, and instantly killing Mr. Ephraim Dennis, a brother of the conductor. Owing to this disaster all the trains were delayed, and the New York mail did not reach Boston in its due season.—Boston Courier.

In Roxbury, a man named Joseph Fleming was examined before Justice Gaston on a charge of making an assault upon a child named William Blakely, while in the Sabbath school in the vestry of the Baptist church on Sunday last. He was fined $8 and costs, making $14.69 in all.

The Emperor Soloque, of Hayti, is said to have sent some special agents to Paris to observe the style of building in private and in the principal public edifices, and likewise the system of laying out the streets in that city. He intends to introduce great improvements, and to greatly embellish the capital of his empire. He has commanded that his palace be newly furnished, and he has further granted permission to import into Hayti certain articles of luxury free of duty. The Paris manufacturers are preparing to take advantage of this permission.

Whales at the Bathing Ground.—The Newark Advertiser states that six small whales are reported to have appeared within three or four hundred yards of the shore at Long Beach, on Friday last.

Wm. Bamber, recently burned to death in Albany, had a most singular presentiment of evil when he left his young wife on the fatal evening. It had been for some time his conviction that he should die a violent death, and an hour before his death he mentioned the violent fate of several relatives. Several times during the day of the accident, he expressed presentiments of immediate evil, and talked about making a will, looked over his accounts, &c. When he left his wife at first, he returned, and made her repeat some music, hesitated, then kissed her, and said he would be back immediately. He was soon after brought home a blackened, burned and dying man.

In the Boston Court of Common Pleas, the jury on a certain case had agreed upon a verdict on Saturday, and separated. Upon coming into Court on Monday, one of the jury refused to assent to the verdict. Judge Merrick asked him if he had agreed and assented to the verdict before the jury separated? He replied that he had done so, but had since changed his mind. The Judge said it was in his power to defeat the verdict, that it could not be recorded, and that it must be tried again. The Court then dismissed the dissenting juryman from further attendance.

Sad Death.—John H. Dickinson returned to his home in this city from California, on Monday night at 9 o'clock, and at 12 o'clock on Tuesday, he died. He leaves a wife and six children, and was formerly employed in the U. S. Armory. The cause of his death was disease contracted in the unusually severe hardships which he had undergone since he left home for that golden region, which has brought death to him, and despair to his family, under circumstances the most afflicting. Mr. Dickinson was 37 years old.—Springfield Republican.

Rev. E. G. Wood, in the opening prayer of services at Fairfield, Indiana, after praying for the general government, prayed for the Governor of the State, and thus for the Legislature: "And the Lord have mercy on our legislators. Spare their lives until they may return to their homes, and then put it into the heads of the people to keep them there, and return men of temperate habits and sentiments, who will do some good."

Slave Decision in Texas.—A case has been decided in the District Court for the county of Bexar, in Texas which, if confirmed in the Supreme Court, will operate, it is said, to declare several blacks free, who have been held heretofore as slaves. A slave woman was carried from the United States to Austin's Colony, in Texas, in 1826. Slavery was not recognized by the laws of Mexico at the time. The Constitution of Coahuila and Texas was proclaimed early in 1827, and the woman, the subject of suit, daughter of the original slave, was born on the Brazos about the middle of 1827. When the Constitution of 1836 was adopted by the republic of Texas, slavery was established, and the mother slave was of the class enumerated in that Constitution as slaves. The daughter, having been born in the country, was not included by the provisions of the Constitution.

In a suit involving the question of the freedom of this girl, it has been decided that the condition of blacks in the country, during the existence of the Mexican law was that of freedom, and that the act of sovereign power in remanding them to the original condition of slaves, which they held when imported into the United States, did not affect their offspring born in the country, before the adoption of the Constitution of the republic, who are consequently free.—N. O. Picayune.

ALLEN FREEMAN.

Daguerreotype Gallery.
"Secure the Shadow ere the Substance Fades," by visiting
Gregory's Daguereotype Gallery,
NO. 33 CONGRESS STREET, opposite City Hotel, where you can obtain a picture of yourself taken in the very best manner, and BEAUTIFULLY COLORED, and what is of importance, at a VERY CHEAP PRICE.
Having withstood the tremendous opposition he has encountered during four years constant practice in Portsmouth, and of nearly eight years in the art, it will readily be seen that the fact of his having executed SUPERIOR WORK at reasonable prices has enabled him to withstand all the Humbugging competition he has been assailed with.
Possessing the advantage of a GOOD LIGHT and constantly availing himself of all REAL DISCOVERIES & IMPROVEMENTS which are being made, he would assure those who place themselves in his hands for a likeness that they can rely on a picture at once creditable to the art, and perfectly pleasing.
Children taken in the most perfect manner
PORTRAITS AND MINIATURES accurately and faithfully COPIED; also Likenesses of Sick & Deceased Persons
taken at their residences.
In short, ALL KINDS OF DAGUERREOTYING will receive unremitting attention and no pains spared to make a visit to his Room both profitable and worthy of being repeated.
A SPLENDID ASSORTMENT OF CASES,
of a great variety of styles; FRAMES, LOCKets, &c. kept constantly on hand into which Pictures will be set at VERY LOW PRICES.
Strangers visiting the city will find this to be decidedly THE PLACE to secure a beautiful memento of themselves or friends.

THE FORGETFUL DOG.

Pat is just one of the greatest dogs out—strong as a lion, but gentle as a lamb. He leaves nothing alive upon which he is fairly set,* but he would not ruffle the feathers of the smallest chicken unbidden, for his right paw. He will draw the children in a cart, as long as he can drag himself, and never utter a word of complaint; but woe betide the being who comes within his reach when duty calls him to a sterner mood. He will carry and fetch anything entrusted to him, and make himself generally useful in the way of errand going. He divides his time between one of our neighbors and a farm not a mile off, and he saves many a journey back and forth to those who would make more fuss about it.

The other day he was sent to the farm for a basket of eggs; it was observed that he did not come home as promptly as usual, but the circumstance excited no special attention. He came in at last, looking as if nothing at all had happened. He was glad to see the folks, and appeared much at his ease, and perfectly satisfied with himself, with no goad of conscience to mar his happiness. In the midst of his apparent happiness, he was interrupted with the inquiry, "Pat, where are your eggs?" His tail fell sixty degrees instantly, and with a look perfectly intelligible, he turned away, and was off. Going to a pile of timber, not far from the place, he found his basket of eggs, and bringing them home, made the best apology a dog could make, and gave them into the hands of his mistress.

On inquiry, it was ascertained that on his way home he met some other dogs, and feeling a little social, he put his eggs in a safe place, and stopped for a social chat with his friends, and finally went home, forgetting his basket of eggs. We believe this is the first instance in which a dog has been known to have forgotten anything.

NOTICE TO BUILDES AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of the most beautiful lines are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and narrow contracted, leaden goose-necks, or what is still worse a skewangle or bastard one of the upright conductor with which the cornice is adorned—all of which may be remedied by application to
J. E. CHAPMAN,
PRACTICAL TIN PLATE WORKER,
who will give his personal attention to the adjustment of all such defects. Specimens of Ornamental Goose-necks and Conductor Caps, on the most approved plan of modern architecture may be seen at his Tin Ware Factory, where he manufactures to order of all sizes, in the most thorough and substantial manner. All orders left with him will receive immediate attention.
CONDUCTORS, GOOSE NECKS & GUTTERS

ORIGIN OF THE CAUDLE LECTURES.—Douglass Jerrold, in the preface to the new edition of the Caudle Lectures, gives the following singular account of their original conception:

It was, says Mr. Jerrold, a thick, bleak, wintry afternoon, when the writer stopped in front of the play-ground of a suburban school. The ground swarmed with boys full of the Saturday's holiday. The earth seemed roofed with the coldest lead; and the wind came sharp as Shylock's knife, from the Minories.—But these happy boys ran and jumped, and hopped and shonted, and—unconscious men in miniatures!—in their own world of frolic, had no thought of the full length men they would some day become; drawn out into grave citizenship; formal, respectable, responsible. To them the sky was of any or all colors; and for that keen east wind—cutting the shoulder blades of old, old men of forty—they in their immortality of boyhood had the redder faces, and the nimbler blood for it.—And the writer, looking dreamily into that play-ground, still mused on the robust jollity of those litile fellows, to whom the tax-gatherer was a rarer animal than a baby hippopotamus. Heroic boyhood, so ignorant of the future in the knowing enjoyment of the present!

And the writer, sitll dreaming and musing, and still fellowing no distinct line of thought there struck upon him, like notes of sudden household music, these words—Curtain Lectures. One moment there was no living object save those racing, shonting boys: and the next, as though a white dove had alighted on the pen-hand of the writer, there was—Mrs. Caudle. Ladies of the jury, are there not, then, some subjects of letters that mysteriously assert an effect without any discoverable cause? Otherwise, wherefore should the thought of curtain lectures grow from a school ground—wherefore, among a crowd of holiday school-boys should appear Mrs. Caudle.

For the lectures themselves, it is feared they must be given up as a farcical desecration of a solemn time-honored privilege; it may be exercised once in a lifetime—and that once having the effect of a hundred repetitions as Job lectured his wife. And Job's wife, a certain Mohammedan writer delivers, having committed a fault in her love for her husband, he swore that on his recovery he would deal her a hundred stripes. Job got well, and his heart was touched and taught by the tenderness to keep his vow and still to chastise his helpmate; for he smote her once with a palm branch having a hundred leaves.

TOMATOES.—Those who wish to hurry their tomatoes for market may do so by proper shortening in. All must have observed that 90 per cent. of the tomatoes grow about 18 inches from the ground, and that 90 per cent. of the vine, containing only 10 per cent. of the fruit, grows above this point; therefore cut it off and remove it, with the small tomatoes. The vines will not bleed, and the large tomatoes left will increase in size more than equal to the value of those removed, besides getting them to market while the price is sufficiently high to compensate for their culture.—Working Farmer.

Fanny Ellsler, a Vienna journal announces, has just married, at Hamburg, a Dr. Hahn.

SPIRITUAL CONVENTION.

A convention of believers in spiritual manifestations in their various forms, was commenced on Friday morning at Washingtonian Hall, Bromfield street, Boston. About one hundred and fifty persons were present, who are mostly mediums or those who are earnestly desirous of being convinced as to the truth of the doctrines promulgated. This gathering is held in answer to a call for a State Convention to establish an association of spiritualists for weekly conference and the development and extension of spiritual truths. The principal business accomplished this morning has been the organization of the meeting.

Rev. Adin Ballou was chosen President. A Committee to prepare business was appointed.

The male mediums were ranged on one side of the platform, and the female on the other. The spirits acted upon a large, brawny looking man, whose name we did not learn, and he being in a spiritual trance, or being operated upon by the spirits, took the platform, and with his eyes closed, his features distorted, and his arms swinging, commenced what was termed by the initiated to be bringing the male and female mediums into harmouy. After sawing the air with his arms for some time, he went to Mr. John M. Spear, who was seated on the platform, and taking him by the hand, led him to Andrew Jackson Davis, whom he also took by the hand, and led them both to the desk, and placing Mr. Spear's hand on the top of Mr. Davis' head, he left them in that position, and continued his operations for invoking the aid of the spirits.

Presently Mr. Spear opened his mouth and spoke, he appearing to be under some magnetic influence, and consecrated Mr. Davis to the harmonial work, by everything that is noble, glorious, and much to be desired. The two gentlemen then sat down.

The member who first took the floor, with his eyes still closed, spoke, and said that the spiritual and the natural world were now about to be brought together, and that everything was working harmoniously; that the spirits were present. He predicted in a general way that the "good time" was certainly "coming." The gentleman then took his seat, and shortly came out of the tranee.

A lady from Dedham then took the plat. form, and produced a large ledger-like volume, from which she proceeded to read several letters dictated by departed spirits and recorded by her in the volume. This lady is one of the most favored of mediums, and seems to possess a large circle of correspondents in the other world, and among them the Baron Swedenborg. She appears to be deeply affected by the communications she receives, and to order her life and conversations by the teachings of the spirits. The gist of the letters read by her, was that a judgment had been recorded, by which the spirits who were in the lower spheres—for it will be remembered that spirits in the other world, according to the mediums, are classified in seven spheres—had been raised, and that these lower, or as they are termed undeveloped spirits, will no more molest the believers. The letter from the spirit world went on to state that this had been done through the direct intercession of the spirits of the third, fourth and fifth spheres.

The lady stated that the good spirits had informed her that they were going to this prayer meeting, and that they should be absent three days. When they returned, they informed her that they had effected the object.

The lady also said that she had received evil or false communications from the lower or undeveloped spirits, and that they afterwards, to the number of 29 or 30, had implored her to pray God that they might be removed into higher spheres. She complied with the request, and was afterwards informed by them, and by other spirits, that through her prayers the lower spirits had been received into favor.

The letters from the spirit land also said that the Millenium was close at hand, when "nothing shall hurt or destroy in all the Lord's holy mountain." Whether this referred to the believers or to the "rest of mankind," was not distinctly stated.

This doctrine of the new judgment, which it was said went into effect on the 22d day of July, 1852, the prayer meeting in the seventh sphere, as well as other points mentioned above, were confirmed by other mediums present, as having been communicated to them by the spirits.

MONDAY, AUGUST 9, 1852.

SPIRITUAL CONVENTION.

The first page of to-day's paper contains a report of the opening of this Convention, prepared for the Boston Journal, and we intend to give daily reports of their proceedings till the session closes. Congress is but a drowsy body compared with this, though there is no question that many members of Congress commune with some kinds of spirits, and may even be in league with a certain prince not to be named in ears polite. But in the true Spiritual Convention in Boston, the Media sit or move as visible bodies, while the spirits are supposed to hover round and brood over the whole, inspiring them with both zeal and knowledge.

AFTERNOON SESSION, FRIDAY.—The report given of this session by the Boston Courier, is evidently done by an utter unbeliever. The first business was to adopt a constitution, which is quite prosaic and business like. Then the meeting adjourned.

After adjournment, about twenty of the "Spiritualists" proceeded to a rehearsal.—They arranged themselves on settees, and presently a young fellow commenced slapping his head in the wildest manner. The initiated smiled with delight. By and by, the "possessed" individual rose from his seat and proceeded to march up and down beside the company on the settee, occasionally embracing the brotherhood and the sisterhood, and ejaculating wild and incoherent language about religion. He continued in this trance for half an hour. All this time the other remained silent—some watching his motions, while others drooped their heads. Presently, the whole crowd was started by a woman. She screamed out—"oh," "oh," "dear" "dear," "dear," and now and then uttered "glory! glory!" "I see Jesus," etc.

In the evening, after some time spent in "telling experiences," a young man rose from among the auditors, and, with his eyes closed, walked to the platform. He was "possessed!" He proceeded to pray—pretending to use the language of the spirit who had possessed him. The spirit's name was afterwards ascertained to be "Deacon Gray." The prayer was an incoherent composition, and the "deacon," of course, was to blame for that; but he should not be held accountable for the awkward gesticulations of the "medium."

Then there was an order from the spirits for the mediums to assemble on the platform for communications—but they did not obey, and went on telling experiences. This was somewhat provoking to a portion of the audience, who had come to the meeting for the purpose of hearing spiritual conversation, and there was quite a "manifestation" of indignation. Finally, the President stated that it was too late to enter into a parley with the inhabitants of the other world, and that the meeting had better adjourn. Mr. Henry Kemp, the well known polemist, thought the suggestion of the President ill-timed. "The spirits," said he, "desire a conference with the mediums. It was of no use, however, the President, being a lover of law and order, would have the meeting adjourn, and so it did, to Friday evening next, when the Conference will be organized.

After the adjournment, several of the "mediums," at the solicitation of many curious persons present, attempted a consultation with the spirits. A table was procured, the mediums sat around it; but the spirits were dumb. This was afterwards explained by a young lady who became "possessed," who stated that the spirits were offended at the conduct of the unbelievers, who had wickedly scoffed at the proceedings of the Convention.

KAINE'S EXTRADITION.

This case, at New York, is becoming more complicated. The Chief Justice of that State, on the application of Thomas Kaine, who is held in the custody of the United States Marshal for the district of New York, under an order of the Circuit Court of the United States of that district, issued on a hearing of the case in that Court, in pursuance of the provisions of the Ashburton treaty for the reciprocal surrender of fugitives from justice from one country to the other, has issued a writ of habeas corpus returnable before himself at Coopers-town, for the purpose of enabling him to issue an order that the case be heard before all the Justices of the Supreme Court at Washington, for the purpose of enabling that court to determine the question of the legality of the commitment of the prisoner by the United States Commissioner.

On this the Boston Daily Advertiser remarks:

"We confess ourselves not lawyers enough to reconcile this apparent interference by a state court with the decision of the courts of the United States, in a matter arising exclusively under a treaty and the laws of the United States, with our ideas of the appropriate sphere of the two courts."

This point of law ought to be settled as soon as possible. For if the Chief Justice of New-York is right in this action, then every case of rendition of fugitive laborers or slaves may be delayed in the same way.

TOO YOUNG.—A paragraph of ours, the other day about the Mechanic Association, made that venerable body only fifteen years old. Its age really is fifty.

☞ Skupinski, the Pole, was hanged in New York on Friday, for the murder of Lehman. All the parties, criminals and victims, were foreigners.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

We have no idea of copying a column of commendatory notices, but only say that our publication has met with a friendly greeting generally. We here copy only one, from the Lowell Daily Journal:—

"The Chronicle is the name of a new daily paper just commenced at Portsmouth, which we trust will meet with sufficient encouragement to ensure its establishment on a permanent basis. It makes a very neat appearance —though the engraved "head" representing the city, is about three times too large for a paper of the size of the Chronicle."

That's the Journal's opinion. Grant it to be true—but then there's room enough for the paper to grow, and perhaps it will, while the "head" may remain the same size—only growing a little older. There may be some analogy between newspapers and human beings—some children's heads are apparently too large for their bodies, but by good feeding and care their bodies develop afterwards, all in good time.

The head of the Chronicle, containing its thinking organs, may therefore be fancied to be amply large, not only for the present little daily, but also for the same daily when it shall expand in length and breadth.

WOULDN'T DIE.—We have some odd calls. On Saturday a fellow walked up to the desk and held out his dexter paw for us to shake. Of course we did so. Then he began to whisper, Do you put in deaths?

Yes: who is dead?

Nobody—only I want to make the folks believe I'm dead.

Do you wish us to put in your death?

Yes: what do you ask?

Nothing! If you will only die we'll insert it gratis, and thank the man who brings it.

He looked round as if he meant to say No you don't! and slid off.

A RIDE TO KITTERY-POINT.—This ride, in a new and comfortable Coach, may be enjoyed either in the forenoon between eleven and twelve, or in the afternoon about five o'clock. In the first case, we may reach one of the most quiet and airy dining places half an hour or so before the dinner is served up. In the other, we may find excellent quarters for a night or for a summer.

The ride is over a romantic road, and the conveyance, under the new owner and the new coach, is equal to any of its kind.

☞ A Great Democratic Mass Meeting is to be held on Thursday, the 19th instant, at Hillsborough, in this State, the birth place and former residence of Gen. Pierce. The fares on all the railroads in this vicinity will be reduced to half price on the occasion. Distinguished speakers will be present, and a very large gathering is expected. A barbecue will be served free to all the visitors.

TRACT SOCIETIES.—The American Tract Society at New-York received in the month of June $26,719 47; and the American Tract Society in Boston 4,171 82. Of this latter sum $148 50 was from New-Hampshire, and $37 from Portsmouth.

CASS, JOHNSON AND TECUMSEH.—In a debate in the U. S. Senate, on Thursday, when the Indian Appropriatian was under consideration,

Mr. Cass digressed, and said he desired to vindicate the truth of history. He said it was often questioned who was the author of the movement which broke the British lines at Tippecanoe. He said he was there as a spectator, having no command. General Harrison issued his orders for the order of battle, Col. Johnson's regiment being behind to support the infantry. After the line was formed Gen. Harrison said to him (Cass) that he believed he would change the order of battle and place Johnson's horse in front. He suggested to Gen. Harrison the difficulty that Johnson's men and horses were but raw troops. Gen. Harrison replied that he had considered that, and that Johnson was willing to do it. The change was made, the horse were put in front, and charged the enemy, literally riding down the British, and breaking their lines.

The next point was who killed Tecumseh. He then detailed the circumstances which satisfied him, beyond doubt, that Colonel Johnson killed Tecumseh.

This important point may now be considered settled down to a finality—but we cannot see the application of the speech to the Appropriation bill.

DREADFUL ACCIDENT FROM CAMPHENE. At Baltimore, on Wednesday, two girls went to a bakery, and when standing near the counter, Mrs. Eckart commenced filling the lamp with camphene whilst it was burning, and not observing when it was full, having her attention drawn to something else, let a considerable quantity run over, which immediately ignited and spread over most of the counter, setting fire to the dresses of herself and both of the girls. Miss Ficke ran into the street with her clothes all in a blaze, and was shockingly burnt. Mrs. Eckart and the other girl are very much injured, but it is thought they will recover.

MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE.—Commencement occurs on Wednesday, the 18th of August, which is the beginning of the fall term. Addresses will be delivered before the several Societies by the Rev. John W. Chickering, of Portland, Me., the Rev. Thomas I. Sawyer, of Clinton, N. Y., and the Rev. Milo J. Hickok, of Rochester, N. Y.

Rev. Wm. Mountfort, author of Euthanasy, and other works, was installed pastor of the Unitarian Society in Gloucester, Mass., on the 3d inst.

British brig Adah, just arr. at Boston from Port au Prince, lost her captain and two seamen by yellow fever, while lying in the harbor of the latter place.

Yellow fever is not so much dreaded as formerly,—when the people of a whole town deserted it almost in a body, for fear of infection.

Roberts, ———, and Roberts, three merchants of New York, came near having a game of fisticuffs in the Merchants' Exchange of that city, on Thursday. ——— asked a loud question; Roberts answered more loudly; ——— "grabbed" his shoulder; Roberts the second collared ———, when Mr. De Forest parted them. The quarrel was about nothing, and nobody gained the victory.

This great affair broke up the business of the day.

The Hay crop in Connecticut is said to be about two thirds of the general average.

A subscription is on foot in New York for the purpose of enabling those who have lost friends or property by the destruction of the Henry Clay, to sue the proprietors for legal damages.

WHEAT.—Commodore Aulick, who is now in the East Indies, in command of the American squadron, has sent to the Commissioner of Patents a box of wheat (about half a bushel) of the Cape of Good Hope, said to possess very superior qualities, but which is not cultivated to any great extent. It comes from the latitude of 33 degrees south.

The favorite watering place at Bedford Springs has lately been purchased by a company of gentlemen, one whom is Ex-Governor Johnston of Pennsylvania, for $160,000. As soon as the season is over, the company intend to commence the erection of buildings, to be finished by them in time for next season, capable of accommodating several thousand persons.

ACTIVITY.—The Centreville (Md.) Times says that Matthew Graves, of that county, on Tuesday last, walked twenty-eight miles for the purpose of procuring a marriage license to marry his fifth wife. He is seventy years of age.

RATS vs. DOG.—The Louisville Journal says a terrier dog was actually killed by a number of rats in that city last week. They attacked him with fury, and though many were slain, others supplied their places. The dog fought his natural enemies valiantly, and died like Macbeth,"with harness on his back."

BEEF AND POLITICS.—We learn from the Louisville Courier that a well known butcher of that city, the other morning, bought a couple of fine beeves, weighing 1531 pounds net, at 5 3-4 cents per pound. This, in the aggregate amounted to $88,04. Soon after he made the purchase, a couple of Democrats, in a spirit of banter, offered to give him 15 cents per pound for the cattle, payable on the election of General Scott to the Presidency. He at once took the banter, transferred the cattle and received their notes as per contract.

The Lawrence Sentinel is an excellent paper for scraps,—not pork scraps, but scraps of "matter." Almost anybody can write or cut out a paragraph of three lines, but to make a good one, and to keep out the bad,—is quite a trade.

"Folks now sit, where Indians squat before." This is the first line of an address, delivered at the opening of a Western theatre. "Rather more strong than poetic," as the critic said of the "Sounet to a lost tow-boat."

Dentists say that singers' voices are injured by neglecting important Dental operations.—They think, probably, that second treble singers should have false-set-o' teeth.—Lynn News.

There should be clamor where there is an abuse. The alarm bell disturbs the inhabitants, but it also preserves them from being burnt in their beds.

Many who find the day too long think life too short.

THE TALLEST POLE IN OHIO.—The democrats of Perry Township, have raised a young Hicory one hundred and eighty feet high, as straight as an arrow.

GREAT RAIN.—Medina, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Yesterday, during a violent rain storm, a dwelling house situated on a stream about three miles from this place, was carried away, with the inmates, two of them children, drowned. The woman was rescued much bruised, but not seriously injured. A barn near here, filled with hay, was at the same time struck with lightning and consumed.

A BOY SAVED BY A DOG.—A boy ten years old, while playing on a wharf at Hoboken on Sunday last, stumbled and fell headforemost into the water. He could swim a little; but just as his strength was yielding, a Newfoundland dog plunged in and seized the boy by the collar. The tide was running strong at the time, and the dog was obliged to swim two miles before he could find a place to land his burthen. The feat was witnessed by a large number of people.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN SAVANNAH. A despatch from Savannah says that a destructive fire occured in that city on the afternoon of the 31st ult., by which from sixty to seventy houses were burned. The houses were of wood, and mostly old. A great quantity of furniture was burned. The loss estimated is $75,000. Great distress will be felt, it is feared, for want of houses.

CHOLERA.—Rochester, N. Y.—The board of health reports 11 cases of cholera and 8 deaths, for the 24 hours ending 4. P. M. Among them is J. J. Treat, a Physician of this city.

A North-east storm has prevailed the greater part of the day.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 6.—Sufficient returns have been received to show that the people of Alabama vote largely against a Convention to revise the Constitution.—Aug. 6th.

CONGRESS.

On Friday last, the Senate resolved to begin their day's work at 11 o'clock A. M., for the remainder of the session, instead of 12 M. as hitherto.

Mr. Felch reported back the House bill, known as the Homestead bill, with a recommendation that it do not pass. He also reported back the House bill, known as Bennett's Land Distribution bill, with a like recommendation. He also reported back, with the like recommendation, Walker's bill to cede public lands to the States in which they lie, to be sold to actual settlers at the cost of transfer only.

On Mr. Seward's motion a resolution was adopted, calling on the President to inform the Senate whether the king of the Sandwich Islands has proposed to commit his kingdom to our government and protection.

The Senate "resolved that a committee of five be appointed to inquire into the abuses, bribery, or fraud in the prosecution of claims before Congress, Commissioners, or the Departments, or in the passing through Congress of claims embracing the interest of private individuals or corporate bodies, or retaining and granting contracts; and that said committee be empowered to send for persons and papers, and to examine witnesses on oath," and Messrs. Houston, Borland, Underwood, Merriwether and Brooke, were chosen as the committee.

The Indian Appropriation bill was then discussed, and several amendments rejected.

In the House, after the morning business, the time was spent in Committee of the Whole, on the General Appropriation bill, and several amendments were debated and rejected.

FREAK OF LIGHTNING. A friend furnishes us the particulars of a freak of lightning, which rivals many of the chronicled eccentricities of the fluid. On Thursday afternoon last, during one of the thunder storms of that day, a canal boat stopped near the Fayetteville feeder, for the purpose of taking on board a passenger. The driver thought he would take the opportunity to water his team; started for the boat to get a pail. When nearly arrived at the boat a stroke of lightning knocked down his team, and felled him and the steersman (who was at his post) to the ground. The team—a pair of donkeys—were instantly killed, and the man and boy were considerately shocked, but soon recovered. There were no marks of violence upon the donkeys, but there was a mark, like that which might be made by a small red hot wire, through the centre of the boy's forehead and down his nose.—Syracuse Journal.

DEATH FROM DROWNING.—Mr. Charles Farley, of Hollis, N. H., was found on Friday in the Nashua river, below Rumnell's Mill, drowned. He had been missed since Monday. His clothes, with his watch and pocket-book, were found on Thursday on the bank of the river. It is supposed that he went in to bathe, as he had frequently done, and that he had a fit. He was about 63 years old, was a widower, and leaves five children.

DISASTERS, &c.

Ar at Boston, Aug. 6, brig Itasca, Warner, Messina, May 19. Reports May 24, lost main topsail yard, sprung fore topmast and fore yard. Arrived at Gibralter, June 16, and experienced heavy weather from the west—passed through the gut June 25, with the wind to the eastward, which continued six hours, and then changed to the west. For forty days previous the wind had been west.

Bark Reform, Mather, fm New York for Mobile, struck on tke reef near Sand Key Light Ship, on night of 23d ult, and remained ashore several hours, but got off without assistance, and despatched a boat to Key West for a pilot. She was taken out the next day and went to sea leaking a little. The current of the Gulf, however, drove the vessel to the eastward, and she again made her appearance off Key West on the 29th, and took a pilot. On the following morning she was out of sight, it being calm and the vessel drifting in the stream to the eastward. She was then in her 54th day from New York.

Ar at Halifax, 6th inst, steamship America, Shannon, and sld for Liverpool at 4 P.M. The A. got ashore on the coast of Nova Scotia, but got off speedily without material injury.

Brig Harriet, Crowell, before reported sprung a leak while ldg at Sagua, has been condemned.

Sch Denmark, McCobb, from Philadelphia, for Boston, put into Newport, 5th, with bowsprit badly sprung, having been run into night of 4th, off Block Island by an unknown schooner.

CITY ORDINANCE.

No. 29.

AN ORDINANCE FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE CITY BURYING-GROUNDS.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Portsmouth:—

SEC. 1. There shall be appointed annually by the Mayor and Aldermen, to the charge of each of the burying grounds belonging to this city, some suitable person, whose duty it shall be to see that all interments and burials in the ground under his charge are made in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. Each person appointed as aforesaid shall receive for each interment or burial a reasonable fee, to be determined by the Mayor and Aldermen, and which shall be paid by the person or persons making the same.

SEC. 3. No person shall bury or inter, or cause to be buried or interred, in any of the burying-grounds belonging to this city, the dead body of any stranger or foreigner, or other person not a resident of this city.

SEC. 4. All strangers or foreigners, or other persons not residents of this city, who may decease in this city, shall be buried or interred in the burying grounds assigned for that purpose on the City Farm, unless removed by their friends from the city for burial or interment, or unless some place is provided for them by their friends in some burying ground not belonging to the city.

SEC. 5. Every dead body placed in any of the burying grounds belonging to the city, in violation of the provisions and after the passage of this ordinance, shall be removed to the burying ground on the City Farm; and the expense of such removal shall be paid by the person or persons violating this ordinance.

SEC. 6. Every person offending against any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be liable to a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than twenty dollars for each offence.

SEC. 7. No burials shall be made in any other places than those acknowledged by the city as burying places, by being recorded on the city books as such—excepting grounds now in use and those out of the compact part of the city. And no new burial places shall be opened without the consent of the City Council; and for every interment which may be made in any ground not authorized by the city authority, the owners of such land shall be liable to a penalty of twenty dollars.

SEC. 8. This ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage.

MARINE DISASTER—PROBABLE LOSS OF SEVERAL LIVES.

The hull of the schooner Moro, of Bangor, loaded with lumber, was picked up on Friday afternoon last, about twenty miles south of Cape Elizabeth, by the brig Ocela, Capt Pierce, and the schooner D. K. Arcey, from Bangor, and towed into this port, where she arrived on Sunday. She was lying on her beam ends when boarded, and righted when her masts were cut away, full of water.

The Moro was commanded by Capt. Gilkey, and was owned in Bangor, from which port she sailed on the 30th ult. for Bridgeport, Conn., with a load of lumber.

The hull appears to be uninjured, but is filled with water. No one was found on board. It is the opinion of Capt. Pierce, of the Ocela, from whom we gather the facts in the case, that the Moro was knocked down in the squalls of Thursday night; and that all aboard must have perished, as the davits-falls had not been lowered.

The ill-fated vessal is now lying at Hale & Rollins' wharf, at the foot of Court street.

NORTH CAROLINA ELECTION.

North Carolina Election—Fayetteville, Aug. 6.—Cumberland county, complete, gives Kerr, whig candidate for Governor, 783 votes, Reid 388; being a whig gain of 103. New Hanover gives Reid 800 majority, being 100 gain for Kerr.

Elizabeth City, N. C., Aug. 7.—Returns from Pergaimos county give a small increase for Kerr, the Whig candidate for Governor, over the election of 1850. A Whig Senator is also elected from this county and one from Chowan county.

Whig Senators are also supposed elected from Camare and Carratuck counties. In Chowan county a Whig representative is elected to the House of Commons, and Kerr, for Governor, receives an increased vote.

Wilmington, Aug. 7.—The returns as far as received of the election held yesterday in this State, indicate the election of Mr. Kerr, Whig, for Governor. In New Hannove county, Reed, Democrat, for Governor, has a majority of 800, which shows a gain since the election of 1850 of 200.

Raleigh, Aug. 7.—John Kerr, Whig, for Governor, gains in Wake county 50 over the previous election. His election is almost certain. The present indications are that the Whigs will have the majority in the Legislature.

MISSOURI ELECTION.

St. Louis, Aug. 7.—The returns come in slowly. In the third district John G. Miller, Whig, has 900 majority in 9 counties, and 9 more are still to be heard from; he is doubtless elected. In the fourth district Mordecai Oliver, Whig, is reported elected.

Oriental Despotism.—A writer from the East says: "The king of Burmah, two or three years ago, employed a man to erect a monstery at Ava. When completed it suppassed any other edifice in the city. The successful architect was rewarded by being forthwith put to death, lest he should erect for himself a more splendid edifice than the king's.

Genius.—I know no such thing as genius, said Hogarth to Mr. Gilbert Cooper: Genius is nothing but labor and diligence. Sir Isaac Newton said of himself, "that if he had ever been able to do any thing, he had effected it by patient thinking only."

THE OLD PARISH IN GLOUCESTER.

This old society has passed through a variety of phases, of which we are reminded by a letter in the Traveller, which notices Mr. Mountfort's installation there.

The First Parish of Gloucester traces its origin from one of the ancient Puritan Churches, and dates back its existence more than two centuries. Until the close of the last century it was the sole church in the village, and at different times since then, successive societies have arisen by its side. Now instead of its tapering spire rising with its ancient and venerable weathercock at its summit, as at the time of the revolution, (when Capt. Lindsey, of the British sloop-of-war Falcon, hearing its bell pealing forth its alarm as he entered the harbor, gave orders to his gunners to "stop that ——— old Presbyterian tell-tale.") Seven spires of churches for nearly as many thousand people, rise by its side. Its history, like many of our New England churches, is very interesting, showing the early struggles and untiring devotion of our pious forefathers in their efforts to establish the public worship of God on these shores. This parish has enjoyed at different times the ministrations of some of the most eminent pastors in New England; among them might be named Rev. Dr. Eli Forbes, deceased I believe in 1801, after a long pastorate; Rev. Dr. Albert Barnes, of Philadelphia; Orville Dewey of New York, and Andrew Bigelow of Boston; also Rev. Hosea Hildreth, who was for a long time a teacher in Exeter Academy.

KITCHEN ALCHEMY.—Carter, the editor of the old New-York Statesman, (whose "Travels in Europe" were the first volumes of American travel abroad that we remember to have perused,) mentioned in one of his letters from Paris, that a French cook, whose skill he was praising, said to him:

"Ah! Monsieur, you have not de art de la cuisine in Amerique? You trow ways ze good t'ings dat we preserve. Vat you call de buckskin pantaloon, we make in Par' gra-and potage of him!"

It was not an easy thing to understand how a pair of buckskin breeches could be made to compose a "grand soup," until the French cook explained that the skin of "ven-e-zon," cut in small pieces and boiled, afforded an important "stock" in the process, which give an additional zest to the potage. Some of our American travellers seem to understand but indifferently the refinements of the French cuisine. This story, for example, is told of two Hoosier bloods, at a famous restaurant in Paris. They shocked the inflated chef, a very Napoleon of gastronomy, with:

"Why don't you bring in the dinner—and take away that broth, and your black bottle? Who wants your vinegar, and your dish-water, and your bits, too? Bring us, if you have got it, a whole chicken's leg at once, and not at seven different times! We've been all over Paris to get a beef-steak, and when we got it, it was a horse's rump!"

They should have tasted the "Icthyosaurus Jelly" and "Pate de Mastodonte," a melange or pot-pourri of Fossil remains, at one time so favorite dishes at VERY's.—N. Y. Times.

A lady, with a sigh, exclaimed: "Well, I have lost my law suit!" "Oh, mamma! how glad I am, said her child, "that you have lost it; for it tormented you awfully."

NOTICE TO BUILDES AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of our finest buildings are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and narrow contracted, leaden goose-necks, or what is still worse a skewangle continuation of the upright conductor with which the corners is deformed—all of which may be remedied by application to
J. E. CHAPMAN,
PRACTICAL TIN PLATE WORKER,
who will give his personal attention to the adjustment of all such defects. Specimens of Ornamental Goose-necks and Conductor Caps, on the most approved plan of modern architecture may be seen at his Tin Ware Factory, where he manufactures to order of all sizes, in the most thorough and substantial manner. All orders left with him will receive immediate attention.
CONDUCTORS, GOOSE NECKS & GUTTERS

AN AMERICAN ROMANCE.

Uncle Tom's Cabin is no longer a new book. To be sure thousands have not read it; but the ten thousands of literati and novel readers have done so, and what is more, every one who has read it cannot help remembering the characters and incidents therein described. "Uncle Tom's Cabin as it is," will be eagerly read, much more so because it comes as a reply to the other. In the mean time we have by way of interlude a scene or two as interesting as any that have been fancied, or that can be.

Last December, as readers of most daily papers are aware, much excitement was caused by the sudden and forcible abduction of a mulatto girl from West Chester County, Penn., and by the death of a quaker named Miller, who went to Baltimore to prove her freedom, but who was found dead and hung to a tree in Maryland shortly after. This girl's name is Rachel Parker, and she is now in jail at Baltimore, waiting the slow process of the law, to find out what her future lot shall be.

Previous to her abduction, another girl of like color, her sister, named Elizabeth Parker, had been more slily and secretly carried off to Baltimore by one Schoolfield, a notorious negro stealer, who pretended she was a runaway from some part of Maryland, and that her name was Henrietta Crocus. When he took her to Baltimore he deposited her in the slave jail of the Messrs. Campbell, for $600. She was transferred to the Messrs. Campbell's jail in New Orleans, and there sold to a gentleman fifty miles up the coast from that city.

When Rachel was brought to Baltimore, "headed off" and lodged in the county jail, (where she still remains) a number of philanthropic citizens, members of the Society of Friends, called on the Campbells, had a full interview with them with regard to Elizabeth alias "Henrietta Crocus," and so confident were they that she was the free born girl, Elizabeth Parker, that they immediately entered into a bond of $1500 for her return, and conditioned for the payment of that sum if she did not prove to be the said Elizabeth Parker. Months rolled on, and about the middle of July a vessel arrived from New Orleans, having on board the said girl, who was again safely ensconced in the jail of the Messrs. Campbell.

Despatches were at once sent to West Chester County, and promptly answered by the arrival of James Mullen, Esq., Robert Hughes and James W. Hutchinson, all of whom were well acquainted with both the Parker girls from their infancy. On proceeding to Campbell's they were shown into the yard where some twenty-five women were; they took a rapid survey of them and at once agreed, "Elizabeth is not here." "Not here!" said Campbell. "I have a few more," and another party was ordered down from the loft. These had scarcely reached the yard before they all recognized the indentical Elizabeth Parker, who seven months ago was torn from her free home—dragged to Baltimore—sold to New Orleans—returned to Baltimore, and now stood before them utterly unconscious of where she was, or for what purpose she was exposed.

In this matter the Messrs. Campbell have acted honorably, showing every disposition, from the first, to have the girl returned, and give her friends an opportunity of establishing her freedom, if she really was free, and of which it is believed, they now have no doubts. They will hold Schoolfield responsible for all damage and loss. In the meantime, she will be transferred to the County Jail to await her trial for freedom.

The West Chester Village Record, from which we derive most of these facts, truly remarks, "this is one of the most extraordinary cases that has ever come to our knowledge." Elizabeth, alias Henrietta, had for many months remained in a state of what must have appeared to her, hopeless bondage. No one knew where she was, except the person who abducted her. To the Campbells, slave dealers, at Baltimore, she was known only as Henrietta Crocus—the name of a girl who had run away from Maryland.

The Legislature of Pennsylvania having had the subject brought to their notice, authorized counsel in her behalf to be employed, and the payment of all expenses to regain her freedom—thus seconding the efforts of the citizens of Chester county and of the city of Baltimore. Little hope was entertained of ever seeing Elizebeth Parker again on her native soil. Now we have news that she has reached Baltimore—has been identified; and we entertain no doubt, that in the hands of the eminent counsel employed, both she and her sister Rachel Parker will be restored to their freedom and friends.

If any romance can be more romantic than this plain reality, please to show it up.

HUMBLE LIFE.—There is happiness in humble life—who can doubt it? The man owns but few acres of land, and raises abundance to supply the necessary wants of his family and can ask for no more. If he is satisfied with his condition—and there are thousands so situated who are—no man is more happy. No political movement disturbs his repose—no speculative mania chases the calm serenity from his mind—schisms in the church throw shadows beneath his golden sky. His family is all the world to him; his little lot is all his care. Who sighs not for such a life of calmness and serenity? Amid the cares and anxieties of business who would not exchange his prospects and his honors for the repose of him who is contented and happy on his spot of ground; far from the noise and squalid poverty of city life? If there is a situation congenial to the true spirit of man and the growth of virtue, it is amid the rejoicing of nature—in the calm and retirement of rural life.

This paragraph is like "Love in a Cottage." The contented man is happy whether he lives in city or country, and probably as large a proportion of those who live in cities are happy, as those who live elsewhere.

DARK AGES RETURNING.—A Paris letter says: Among the books condemned by the last decree of the congregation of the index at Rome is the "Universal Dictionary of History and Geography," of M. Bouillet. This is the book which was sometime since bitterly attacked by the Univers. The Archbishop of Paris ordered that journal to cease to write against a work published with the approbation of the diocesan authorities. The Univers, pursuant to its professed principle of hierarchical obedience, submitted. The decision come to at Rome is a significant fact, and has occasioned considerable sensation.

COPPER CHANGE.

In the scarcity of silver change, (whether that scarcity be natural or artificial,) every shop-keeper and market-man gets off as many coppers as he has on his customer;—and in this way an easy good natured buyer soon finds himself the happy owner of a pocket full of specie; and unless he have the strength of a porter he perceives half a dollar's worth to be a burden heavier than it is pleasant to carry.

A little experience in this line induces some remarks on our copper currency, cents and (we were going to say) half cents. But this latter coin is out of use as currency; and by the account of the mint which we gave a day or two since, it appears that no half-cents have been coined during the last year.

We can see no good reason why our copper cent should be so large, when a coin of half the size would answer every purpose quite as well, and most purposes a great deal better. The present cent is not worth the hundreth part of a dollar in consequence of its weight. Forty-two cents, as they come from a shop-keeper's till, weigh one pound, while sheet copper is worth 24 cents per pound; copper bolts 25, and yellow metal 19.

The government stamp gives the cent its currency; and the same time would give it the same currency if it weighed half as much.

Let us have a few millions of bright red cents of the small breed, lively and active, just fit to buy penny papers and apples.

WEBSTER'S GREAT DICTIONARY.

Larger volumes have been seen, and larger dictionaries also as to their bulk; but this is pre-eminently the great dictionary for its completeness in the enumeration of words, and in their definition.

Dictionary signifies a repository of language; and Diction is defined as the Expression of Ideas by Words. Taking this for a true definition, the work before us is one of the most valuable helps to a clever and happy expression. An old precept, in the copy books gave this advice to the scholar, "Think twice before you speak once." But it might now be amended so as to read, "Think once, then look in Webster's Dictionary, and then speak or write." You need not be at a loss for the right word to express your thoughts according to the most approved modern standard.

Early habits of accuracy in the use of terms, are highly desirable; and therefore the Legislature of New York acted wisely in passing an act for furnishing every school district with one copy at the State's expense. Under this arrangement, the publishers have furnished between eight and nine thousand copies to as many school districts in that State since January last.

New Hampshire is not as rich in money as New York; but there is no doubt she is as rich in mind; and we doubt not that the money would be well laid out for a similar purchase in this State; though our school districts are so unequal in population as to make them but poor landmarks in a regular distribution.

The reputation of Webster's Spelling Book and Dictionary rests on foundations at once too old and too strong to need introduction or insurance. It is the American Dictionary of the English Language.

PORTSMOUTH AND CONCORD RAILROAD.—This road is now near its completion, and will be opened in a few days. We understand that the Directors of the road have it in contemplation to dispense with the usual free ride at the opening of roads on a single day. But they think of issuing passes to all stock holders to go once over the whole road and back, which passes may be used on any day within certain limits of time. It is supposed this may be more agreeable to stock-holders than the old plan, and at the same time costs less to the company.

The members of the Pleasant street church and society are to have a pic-nic to-day at Stratham, going out in a special train on the Concord Railroad at 10 o'clock. Fare out and back 15 cents; children 12 1-2.

☞ The suit of the Portsmouth & Concord Rail Road vs. Wm. Jones et als. is now before the Superior Court at Concord. The arguments were commenced on Friday last and were to be continued and probably concluded yesterday. Hatch, Marston & Christie for plaintiff, Hackett, Bell & Parker for defendant.

☞ Gen. Frank. Pierce arrived at the Ocean House, Rye Beach, last evening, from Concord via Greenland. He will visit the Shoals in the course of the week.

Hon. Daniel Webster has returned to Washington.

CONGRESS.—On Monday, August 9, both Houses adjourned after a short session, on account of the death of Mr. Rantoul. Mr. Sumner announced the event in the Senate, and Mr. Mann in the House.

It is said that he had an insurance of ten thousand dollars on his life.

GENEROUS DONATION.—By Mr. Fettell's card in our columns to-day, it appears that the guests at the Ocean House on Rye Beach, have done the handsome thing like handsome men—and women—for their musician who broke his leg coming home from one of their entertainments. This act shows that while they seek their own pleasure, they are not unmindful of those who suffer pain.

☞ Dr. Andrew McFarland, Superintendent of the N. H. Asylum for the Insane, has expressed to the Board of Trustees his desire to be released from the care of that institution.

NEW CLUB.—Scott Clubs, Granite Clubs, &c., of a political nature, are now very common in New England, but by the papers we see the formation, in Roxbury, Mass., of a "Watchman Club," the duty of the members of which is to inform and make complaints under the new Liquor Law.

"MR. WEBSTER ON THE WAVE," is the title of an amusing illustration in the Carpet Bag, including a good likeness of Mr. W. and not a very bad portrait of a mammoth cod-fish, which the catcher bestowed on the Secretary, with a speech. The whole scene is capital.

THE YACHT AMERICA.—The N. Y. Tribune, speaking of the recent defeat of the yacht America at Cowes, England, says:

Possibly she was fairly beaten, but not in Yankee hands, and we shall not believe the America false to her first bright example, until we hear that she has had a trial under pure Yankee management. The French can beat us all to nothing in coup d' etats, in cooking of frogs, and a hundred other things; but they tried republicanism, and failed. So John Ball, beyond a doubt, would break down at first under a republic, borrowed or bought from us, just as he has done with the yacht America. The fault is not in the thing necessarily, but rather in the mismanagement of it."

FIRE.—A barn on State street, connected with the "Adams" House, was destroyed by fire between 2 and 3 o'clock, Sunday morning—doubtless the work of an incendiary.—Portland Adv.

A young son of Henry McCabe, of the age of about 12 years, one day last week fell from a tree in the country and broke his arm.—The little fellow coolly walked to Harrisburg, and before going home called upon Dr. Dock, who immediately set and splintered his arm, when he ventured into the presence of his mother. Such a lad will be likely to come to something.—Penn, paper.

A lunatic walked into one of the churches in Cincinnati, last Sunday, and placing his hat on the sacramental table, entered the pulpit. Soon the regular pastor made his appearance, and manifested some astonishment at finding his pulpit occupied. The crazy man insisted on making the opening prayer, but was finally compelled to abdicate, while the congregation were convulsed with laughter.

A PLEASURE EXCURSION.—On Sunday afternoon the steamer Clifton carried five or six hundred passengers from Boston down to Nahant, many of whom were considerably inconvenienced by an accident which happened to the boiler of the boat just as she arrived at Nahant. A rivet or two, as we learn from the passengers,—the officers being very uncommunative on the subject—gave way, and the consequent escape of water and steam flooded the grates and extinguished the fires. It required something over two hours work, and the application of pitch-pine wood and a quantity of fat bacon before sufficient steam could be raised to start the boat and bring her to the city. As it was, she arrived at a quarter past ten last evening. Fortunately no one was injured, but many passengers were so alarmed that they took land conveyance up, and the reports they brought of the disaster carried a good deal of excitement among the friends of those known to have been on board.—Courier.

STEAM NOT STONG ENOUGH.—A Paris papers says experiments have for some years past been made with ether combind with steam on board government vessels. The result has been that a great saving may be effected, but that the inflammable nature of the ether renders it dangerous. It has just been resolved to replace ether by chloroform, and two engines of sixty-horse power are to be placed in the Galilee to enable experiments to be made.

A DEATH.—We learn through private sources that on the 15th inst. Mrs. Lewis, a lady not more distinguished for her uncommon endowments of intellect than for the historical reminiscences attached to her family, died at Audly, Clarke County, Va.

Mrs. Lewis's maiden name was Eleanor Parke Custis. She was a daughter of John Parke Custis, only son of Mrs. Martha Washington by her first marriage with Daniel Parke Custis, of Virginia. Mrs. Lewis's husband was Lawrence Lewis, of Woodlawn, Fairfax County, Va. He was one of General Washington's executors, and son of the General's only sister.

Mrs. Lewis was born on the 31st of March, 1779.—N. O. Picayune.

THE AMESBURY STRIKE.—The Lowell News says that the troubles between the agent and the operatives of the Amesbury Mills, still remain unsettled. The mills, however, are nearly filled with Irish laborers. The difficulties on the Amesbury Corporation have been adjusted, the operatives still retaining their fifteen minutes for luncheon.

A German boy aged 19, named Keyser, hurt his finger at a cooper's shop in East Boston, where he wrought, last Saturday, and went to a surgeon named Folts, to have it amputated. Ether was administered, and the boy died almost instantly. The coroner's jury do not impeach the doctor.

A girl was fined $5 a few days ago in New Orleans, for kissing a man in the market, where she sold coffee.

Australian gold is said to contain less silver by six or seven per cent. on the average than Californian.

John P. Hale declines the Pittsburg nomination for President, in a letter, some parts of which seem humorous.

Fine shower here yesterday afternoon—previously very dry.

Mr. Winthrop declines being a candidate for Governor in Massachusetts.

A new paper made its appearance in Boston, yesterday, called the Boston Daily Chronicle. We learn that it "promises to be devoted to the unshrinking advocacy of the repeal of the present liquor law, and is established on a firm pecuniary basis."

A little girl in South Boston, six or eight years old, got up in her sleep before daylight last Thursday morning, and walked away from home half a mile in the rain; but getting her night clothes wet, and becoming chilly, she awoke, and cried as if frightened almost to death. Watchmen came in considerable force, but could not make out what the matter was, nor whose child she was. At last, Watchman Willistons identified her as the child of his neighbor Verzie, and carried her home to her mother who "didn't know she was out" but was very glad to get her home.

THE DEATHS IN BOSTON for the week ending Saturday noon, August 7, 1852, were 122. Males 67; Females 55; Children under 5 years of age 78; from 5 to 10 years, 10.

The second Advent Church in Worcester, Mass. have obtained the services of Elder D. I. Robinson, formerly of this city, as their pastor.

Why is a dinner like spring? Because a single swallow never makes it.

The notorious Rynders has been arrested for an assault upon Assistant Captain Garrett, of the sixth Ward Police, New York. He was held to bail by Justice Bogart, in the sum of $300; and that, we presume, will be the end of the matter.—Atlas.

At Mr. Pethric's mine, near Valley Forge, in Pennsylvania, a vein of copper has been struck, of unsurpassed richness. At the Chester County Mining Company's works, they are working a vein of pure galena of sixteen inches. The company is mining eight hundred tons weekly.

Some fifteen hundred citizens of Milwaukee have signed a letter to the Mayor, asking him to put a stop to the Sunday evening balls now regularly held at several halls in the city. Seventeen clergyman (nine of them Germans) are among the signers.

The United States Marine Hospital at Chicago has been completed, and is now occupied. The cost of its erection was $45,000.

Miss Baldwin, of Virginia, a niece of President Madison, is teaching a missionary school in Athens, Greece.

Joseph Cushing, Esq., died at Baltimore on Thursday evening, leaving a fortune acquired in the book trade.

Revenue cutter Taney was raised on Saturday, and towed up to the Atlantic dock, New York.

Garrett Renson was fined $60 at Flushing, Long Island, for shooting six woodcocks on the 4th of July last, in violation of law.

Lord Mansfield, when asked how the French revolution would end, replied, "It is an event without a precedent and therefore without a prophecy."

Havana dates to 2d inst. Considerable excitement prevailed when the Crescent City left, in consequence of the discovery of a political conspiracy, in which a number of influential persons are said to be engaged. A large number of seditious documents were found and the persons engaged in circulating them were arrested. Markets generally unchanged, with but little business doing.

The third annual fair of the New Hampshire State Agricultural Society will be held at Meredith Bridge, on the 6th, 7th and 8th of October. The people of that village have subscribed $1,100 to defray the expenses of the fair.

Saturday morning an infant, less than a year old, was taken to Boston Alms House, in consequence of the death of its only parent, who was killed by the accident to the Henry Clay. The child had been placed in the care of a nurse of that city, while the mother made a tour to Western New York. She was on board the ill-fated steamer at the time of the accident, and the woman who had the child in charge being unable to support it longer, made application to have it placed in the Alms House.

The high price of potatoes for the last two years, has caused a great increase in the production of them in many parts of New Jersey. Last year the number of acres planted was exceedingly large; but it bore no comparison with the number planted this year. Those farmers who raised this crop largely last year and year before, made a great deal of money. Single farmers sold in the Spring large quantities, ranging from 4,600 up to 16,000 bushels. They commanded prices varying from 95 cents to $1,20.

RIVER RACING.—The New York Evening Post discoursing of the calamity on the river, says: "While we write we have a private letter before us, in which the complaint is made, not intended for publication, that the same day on which the catastrophe of the Henry Clay occurred, the boat in which the writer went to Poughkeepsie was racing the whole way with another, until at length the boiler became so dangerously heated that she had to lie by for an hour and a half. This instance shows to what an alarming extent the practice of racing has been carried. The calamity which befel the Henry Clay was perhaps necessary to rouse the community to a sense of the danger daily incurred, and to make it insist upon the law being observed. If it had not happened to the Henry Clay, it would, in all probability, have happened to some other steamer on the river before the season was over. It is fearful to think that it is only after such sad experiences that we bethink ourselves of the necessity of insisting on an ordinarily prudent care for the safety of human life."

RECOVERY OF MONEY LOST BY GAMBLING. In the Court of Common Pleas, yesterday, the case of Wm. Decker vs. Alexander Sloat, was tried. The Plaintiff having made oath to his loss by gambling, the Court, under the Statute, gave judgment for him for $256. The statute under which this judgment is recorded, makes the oath of the plaintiff sufficient for judgment, unless the defendent purges himself by an oath that the plaintiff did not lose the money by gambling, in which case no judgment is recorded, and the plaintiff is obliged to pay costs, but the plaintiff can still prosecute his action in the Courts of law according to the usual form.—Boston Traveller.

OFF THE TRACK.—The locomotive York, attached to the train that came in from Gorham, over the York and Cumberland Road, ran off the track on Saturday morning, between 7 and 8 o'clock, and pitched into a deep hole near the depot, dragging the tender with her. The engineer and fireman jumped off and escaped injury, and as the train had just before been disconnected, the passengers all got off safe. The accident was owing to a mistake in the switch tender, he having switched her off on a temporary side track. The lighter works of the engine are broken or bent, and the wood work a good deal smashed up.—Portland Advertiser.

PEACHES.—The Woonsocket Patriot says: "A new enemy to the peach has appeared in this vicinity; at least, it is new to us. From many trees which have come under our notice, we have taken peaches looking nearly ripe, and which were mellow. On opening them we have almost invariably found them rotten around the stone, and in each a long, white worm, luxuriating in his repast."

LUMBER.—The following table gives the amount of lumber surveyed at the port of Bangor, for the month of July, 1852—and for comparison, the amount for the corresponding month last year:

A CARD.

HERR FETTEL gratefully acknowledges the kind consideration and disinterested benevolence of those ladies and gentlemen now recreating in the Ocean House at Rye Beach, who generously contributed and bestowed on him their munificence, by the hand of Rev. Mr. Hunter of Iowa, in the liberal sum of Ninety-one dollars to meet the exigencies of his present unfortunate position.

He begs permission to express his gratitude for the liberality of the ladies and gentlemen in their patronage of his profession, while he was able to serve them, and (since he has been providentially incapacitated) for the kindness and benevolence evinced towards him and his family in this city, during his location as a foreigner in the land of hospitality.

ITEMS OF LATEST NEWS.

MONTREAL INCENDIARIES. New York, Aug. 9.—Thomas Wyche, supposed one of the Montreal incendiaries, has been arrested and taken to that city.

AMERICAN SECURITIES ABROAD. New York. Aug. 9.—The European accounts for American securities per Pacific are highly favorable. Massachusetts Fives, 109 a 109 1-2; Coupons Sixes; 1868, 108 1-2 a 109; Boston city; 94 a 95.

NORTH CAROLINA ELECTION.—The returns from New Hanover county give Kerr 350, Reid 1342; Dupen county, Kerr 190, Read 1072; Onslow county, Kerr 167, Reid 694; Bladen county, Kerr 358, Reid 631; Columbia county, Kerr 198, Reid 443; Wayne county, Kerr 288, Reid 1196; Brunswick county, Kerr 74 majority. The Whigs gain 2 Commoners in Johnston, 1 in Bladen, and lose 1 in Northampton and 1 in Columbia.—Reid is chosen beyond all doubt. The vote is very large. The Legislature is still in doubt, but the Whigs have the best chance for the Commons.

IOWA.—The Washington Union publishes a despatch, which, however, it discredits, stating that both the Whig Congressmen are elected in Iowa, and that the Legislature is also Whig.

NORTH CAROLNA.I—Raleigh, Aug. 9.—Returns have been received from 30 counties which show about equal gains for Reid and Kerr, though the chances seem to favor the Democratic candidate.

THE FISHERIES.—Washington, Aug. 9–Mr. Crampton has informed the President that Lord Derby has taken the fishery question out of his hands and referred it to the Colonial Government.

A dispatch from Pictou, dated 6th inst. states that schooner Florida, of Gloucester, was brought into Charlottetown yesterday, a prize.

FROM TEXAS.—New-York, Aug. 9.—The Picayune has Texas dates to the 29th ult.—The cotton crop was larger than ever before known. The cholera has disappeared from Victoria.

Capt. Lewis, who commanded the steamers Creole and Pampero, in their attack upon Cuba, died at Mobile, on the 3d inst. of yellow fever.

MISSOURI ELECTION.—Full returns make out a gain of one member of Congress for the Democrats, over the present delegation.

ARRIVAL OF THE PACIFIC.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

The steamship Pacific, Capt. Nye, arrived at her dock at half past two Sunday morning. She left Liverpool at half past ten A. M., on the 28th of July.

She brings 167 passengers and 650 tons of freight.

ENGLAND.—The British Parliamentary elections are over, with the exception of five seats yet to be returned. The London Times gives an estimate of she new House. It reckons the number of seats secured at 626, of which 325 are Ministerialists, and 301 Opposition. The Ministerial papers claim a majority of 40 to 50, which they aver is sufficient to carry on the business of government.

There have been election riots in the south and west of Ireland. At Six Mile Bridge, near Limerick, the mob attacked a company of soldiers who were escorting voters, when the soldiers becoming irritated, fired a volley into the crowd, killing eight, and injuring several others. The soldiers fired in self-defence, and, it is said, without orders. The affair has excited much feeling in the community.

On Saturday last the sub-marine telegraph was laid successfully beneath the channel between Donaghadee and Port Patrick, Scotland, but it is not yet opened to the public.

Numerous frauds by the Australian Emigration Company have been exposed in London within the past few days.

The two large screw steamers building at Dumbarton for Messrs. Burns, and intended to run between Chagres and New York, are to be called the Alps and the Andes.

FRANCE.—There are again loud whispers that the fete on the 15th of July—Napoleon's birthday—will not pass over without some attempt at a coup d' etat.

The approaching marriage of the President is now spoken of as a "fixed fact." The lady is not the Princess De Vasa, but another Baden Princess,—grand daughter of Eugene Beauharnois. She is a Protestant, but will make profession of the Roman Catholic faith prior to her union.

Liverpool Cotton Market.—Since the sailing of the Niagara, Cotton has continued animated, and an advance of ⅛d has been made on American descriptions generally. Sales of the three days 42,000 bales. Imports, same time 24,500 bales. Prices on Tuesday were—New Orleans, fair, 6¼ a 6⅜; middling, 5¾ a 5⅞; Mobile, fair, 5¾; middling, 5⅜ a 5½; Atlantic, fair, 5⅞ a 6; middling, 5⅜ a 5¾.

Liverpool Corn Market.—Wheat is in fair request; United States mixed and red, 6s 6d a 5s 9d; white, 5s 10d a 6s 1d. There is more inquiry for sweet Flour, at last week's prices, Indian corn in less demand; prices not quoted. Lower western canal Flour, 19s a 19s 6d; Ohio and New Orleans 20s 6d. Corn—American yellow 31s a 35s 6d; white, 29s 3d a 29s 8d.

NAVAL.—Portsmouth, (Va.) Aug. 6th. The sloop-of-war Cyane has just been towed down to the naval anchorage, having been re-docked. The frigate Columbia is in the stream, but will go into the dry-dock this afternoon. The repairs of the frigate Savannah are progressing rapidly: she will be ready in about fifty days. After the Savannah, the Potomac will be taken in hand. The sloop-of-war St. Louis is here, awaiting orders. She goes to the Mediterranean under Commander Duncan Ingraham, and will join Com. Stringham's sqdadron. The steamship Powhatan is ready for sea, and her officers have been ordered to report by the 10th of the month. She is destined for the fishing banks.

Congress will do nothing more the present session except hurry through appropriation bills. The Senate will not revise the decision of the Committee on the Homestead and Benn nett's land bill. The Senate bill for the better security of lives of passengers in steam vessels will soon be presented in the House with very slight amendments.

AN AFFLICTED FAMILY.—The family of the late Professor Kingsley, of West Point, have been sadly and painfully bereaved. In the year 1834 or 5, four lovely children died in one week, of scarlet fever; subsequently yet another died after after protracted illness; then Professor Kingsley, in 1849, was thrown from his horse, receiving injuries from which he died; the remaining members of the family, in 1850, were thrown from a carriage, and the youngest child, aged 5 years, was killed. Two daughters, aged 13 and 21, were among the lost on the Henry Clay. The heart broken mother and one son are the only survivers of this stricken household. In their aggravated sorrows they have the sympathies of many friends.—N. Y. Observer.

BATTLE OF THE SLEEVES.—MRS. Bloomer, the editor or editress of "The Lily," and the famous inventor of the Bloomer dress, comes out in decided opposition to an attempt, which her August number informs us, is making to revive the big sleeves. "We are sorry, says Mrs. B., to see that the old-fashioned big sleeves are again coming into favor. These are much more offensive to our taste than the short skirt and trouses, and we hope they may not become general."

SERIOUS MISTAKE.—At West Newton, Mass., on Sunday, an Irishman named Mc Farley took a couple of swallows from a bottle containing washing fluid supposing it to be quite a different article. A physician was called, but their are some doubts as to his recovery.

YANKEE NOTIONS.—The prosperity of South Deerfield, Mass., is closely indentified with so insignificant a vocation as the manufacture of wallets. Three years ago the Messrs. Arms "took a notion" to see what could be made at the business, and have applied themselves to it energetically. They now employ in their shops, exclusive of stitchers, 125 hands; and 125 dozen of the article are prepared for market daily. The yearly sales amount to $125,000, which is about double the cost of the materials worked up.—Their success has started up competitors, so that quite a village of shops, boarding houses, &c., owes its origin to the aforesaid "notion." Enterprise and prosperity are twin sisters.

A PARODY.

'Tis the last lovely lilly
From her pearly companions
She's parted to mourn.
No flow'r of her kindred,
No lily is nigh,
To drink with it dew-drops,
Alone it must die!

See its bright leaf has faded,
Its color has fled!
Ah! quickly it is sinking
To sleep with the dead;
Then kindly I'll scatter
Thy leaves o'er the bed,
Where thy mates of the garden
Have long mourned the dead.

So soon would I follow,
When parted from home,
When torn from companions,
Thus lonely to roam.
Thus severed from pleasure,
From friendship's joys torn,
Who, who would inhabit
A world so forlorn?

Portsmouth, Aug., 1852.

FIRE ON SHIPBOARD EXTINGUISHED BY PHILLIPS' FIRE ANNIHILATOR.—A singular circumstance has recently taken place at this port. The bark Bollux, Capt. Everson, having arrived last week from Buenos Ayres, consigned to Messrs. Twynham & Co., went up to Redbridge to discharge her freight, which consisted of equal portions of calcined bones and animal guano, the former composing the lower tier of the cargo. On Thursday last, the hatches were opened, and it was at once ascertained that the ship and cargo were on fire, spontaneous combustion having taken place just about the centre of the vessel. How long the fire had been in progress, it was impossible to ascertain. Application was at once made to Mr. Stebbing, the agent for Phillips' Fire Annihilator, who proceeded to experiment upon the burning mass. After repeated applications of this invention, the fire was entirely extinguished, but not before considerable damage was done to the vessel, the beams athwart ship being destroyed, &c. Not more than 10 or 15 tons of the cargo have been damaged, and the expense of the annihilator used in subduing the conflagration, or rather the smouldering of the cargo, is estimated at not more than £10 to £15.—London Times, July 2d.

ORIGIN OF CHOLERA.—At a recent religious meeting held at Exeter Hall, in London, the great Senate House of the English religious world, a gentleman of authority stated the undeniable fact that the tax levied upon salt by Warren Hastings, during his tyrannical rule in India was the cause of the Asiatic cholera—a disease that has spread its poisonous, putrid breath over the world, and sent millins to the grave. The cholera was unknown before the period alluded to, and made its appearance immediately following the edict which deprived the lower castes of Hindoos of a healthful ingredient in their food, and it has ever since been extending itself throughout the globe, literally almost following the music of the British drum, which some poetical genius of distinction, we don't recollect who, says never ceases.

SCRAPS FROM PUNCH.

Tremendous heat of the Weather.—It seems there is a faint rumor of a liberation of political prisoners in France. Warm as the weather has lately been, we were scarcely prepared for this new proof of it. It has even melted Louis Napoleon's heart!

Extremely Pretty.—A Fashionable Artist, who never takes a sitting out of Belgravia, upon being told how the ladies had exerted themselves in Westminster for a certain Lord, lispingly exclaimed, "On my word! No lady should give her countenance to any gentleman's canvass, unless it is to have her portrait taken."

Conjugal Equity.—A gentleman who takes in the morning journals, and whose attention is apt to be monopolized by them, remonstrated one day with his wife, for coming down to breakfast in curl-papers: when the lady replied, "If you indulge in your papers, I don't see why I shouldn't enjoy mine!"

Oxford Honors.—D. C. L.—We have it on newspaper report, that Oxford, following a late example of Cambridge, has determined to honor Mr. Disraeli with the dignity of Doctor of Civil Law. Whereupon the Chancellor of the Exchequer may be addressed—"The Rt. Hon. Benjamin D'Israeli, De(uced) C (lever) L (evite.)"

A Balloon showing its Airs.—The veteran Mrs. Graham was to have ascended in a balloon the other day for the some-hundred-and-somethingth time, when the balloon, in a fit of excessive buoyancy, started off without her. After tumbling about in the air for a considerable time, and reaching an elevation so unusual, as to make the people below imagine that it was carrying a lunatic, and was exemplifying the union of "out of sight" and "out of mind," the balloon seems to have become conscious of the folly of its own freak, and to have "split its sides" with an overpainful sense of the ludicrous. We are glad that the veteran acronaut remained on terra firma, so that the emptiness of these acronautical exploits was illustrated in a double sense, without doing any injury to any one.

Another new Constitution.—Louis Napoleon has been trying his hand at a Constitution, and has fixed upon a very congenial locality for his labors. He has, in fact, been giving a Constitution to Algeria, and he begins by declaring that "Frenchmen are to enjoy in Algiers the same civil rights as they enjoy in their own country." This is a bit of humor we do not give Louis Napoleon credit for. The civil rights "enjoyed" by the French may be a very fair subject for a joke; but the idea of putting Algiers and France on a political equality is rather too near the truth to be quite agreeable.

A Codfish, supposed to have wandered from the fishing grounds, was taken off Monegan, a day or two since, but the letters V R being found upon him, it was clear that he belonged to Her Majesty VICTORIA, and accordingly his captors let him go. Their conscientious regard for the rights of others will be appreciated, when it is stated that there was no British cruiser in sight. The fish also bore a distinct impression of two large ears, supposed to be the private mark of the Earl of DERBY.—Bangor Mercury.

It is useless to disguise the fact, its truth is undeniable, that a greater degree of insubordination has been manifested by the negro population withih the last few months, than at any previous period in our history as a State. Our exchanges from all quarters of Virginia come to us freighted with accounts of negroes attacking their masters or overseers, and a general laxity of punishment seems to pervade the length and breadth of the old Dominion.—Fredericksburg (Va.) Herald.

ACCIDENT ON THE FALL RIVER RAILROAD.—On Saturday last, an Irishman by the name of Michael Sullivan was thrown from a hand car about a mile from Assonet depot. He was thrown out by the crank, and the car passed immediately over him, breaking both legs and arms, and much injuring the shoulder and head. It was hardly supposed that he could recover.—New Bedford Mercury.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 11, 1852.

ADVERTISEMENTS TELL THE NEWS.

We quote this head from the Exeter News Letter; which backs up the assertion by mentioning the facts, that California advertisements of hotels state the price of board from 18 to 25 dollars per week—and that a line of stages at Sacramento advertise their line as stocked with Concord coaches.

This last item puts us in mind of the fact that the Kittery Point and Portsmouth Stage has a Concord coach, and that it came over the Concord Railroad.

One item gives birth to another. Our Chronicle, which we now issue as a penny paper, goes regularly upon the Portsmouth and Concord Railroad, on the nearest parts of the Boston and Maine, and also on the nearest parts of the Eastern and Portsmouth, Saco and Portland roads. On the former it sells in large numbers, which are increasing, and will increase greatly the moment the whole line of the road is open,—because the buyer gets this paper from Portsmouth earlier than he can get one from Boston.

In these papers the purchaser gets from the advertisements a better idea of the size and business of Portsmouth, and of its manners and customs, than he would from any description that could be given; and, in the words of the News Letter, "Let our readers turn to the advertisements in every number of this paper, and they will always find there news of great interest—information by the aid of which they may spend their money in the most economical and advantageous manner—in fact ascertain all of the leading features of our business community. In these times, one cannot advertise and avoid business."

A PENNY PAPER.

Yesterday we talked of Cents; to-day we talk of Pennies. For a day or two past we have tried the experiment of selling the Chronicle in the Railroad Cars for one cent instead of two; and are so well pleased with the success of the experiment, that we have resolved on and after this day to sell the Chronicle for one cent per copy. The price per year is four dollars, or three dollars in advance. At this latter price it is a little less than a cent a day. Our subscription list gains daily—and will gain,—just as fast as the people find out how readable and valuable a paper we can sell them for a single penny.

CURRENTS OF NEWS.

"The land hath bubbles, as the water hath"—and so news and business have currents like the sea, apparently permanent. But besides these, there are variable currents like those of the wind, governed, no doubt by laws, but generally by laws not fully understood, or much thought of. Business and news run in corresponding channels, of agreement or opposition—as the heart follows the treasure, or rather goes with it. The eyes of our forefathers were strained toward the east to see the first gleam of novelty from Europe—the father land. They looked not to the West; there was no West, but the western wilderness. Now how changed: the East remains, and we have ten times the news they used to have from that quarter, and it comes almost ten times as quick. But it is eclipsed by the West, by our own West. The California steamer is now the attractive cry of the news boy, and eye of the public looks westward, as the star of empire wends its way.

Our foreign news has not become much less interesting,—but our domestic intelligence has become vastly more interesting as well as more abundant.

LIGHTNING.—We understand that in the shower on Monday afternoon, the house of Mr. Henry B. Remick, on Kittery Fore Side, was struck by lightning and considerably injured.

Mr. R. was lying on a bed in the lower part of the house. The head-board was split by the lightning, but though the escape was narrow, he was not injured, nor any other person, though several people were in the room. The chimney was partly thrown down, the roof torn, &c. The electric fluid passed in at the chimney, and out at an open window.

STEAMER C. B. STEVENS, advertised in our columns to-day to run for the accommodation of pleasure-goers and health-seekers in general, and those over the Portsmouth and Concord Railroad in particular, took a party of about seventy to the Shoals yesterday. They were nearly all from Suncook, N. H., and returned home in the 4 o'clock train, having highly enjoyed their cheap and refreshing trip.

ACCIDENT AT SUNCOOK.—We learn that an old man named Harren was so much injured by the falling of a derrick at Suncook, on Monday, that his life is despaired of.

MANUFACTORIES IN PORTSMOUTH.

These have done great service in the amount of money they have distributed here, and in the business of various sorts which they have created or increased. They have not generally been profitable to the stock-holders, though we hope our great Portsmouth Mill, which has just paid its first dividend, will continue to pay, and call for an increase of capital to extend its wings in due time.

But our present purpose is not to speak of this, so much as to notice the Sagamore Mill, which has recently stopped, and may soon be offered for sale.

Its Spool Cotton enjoys the very highest reputation, and sells readily as a matter of course.

Some heavy capitalists, or enterprising company or firm, understanding the business, who should buy in cheap, would find workmen, markets, and every thing ready to their hand.

The buildings and grounds of the Stocking Factory, (when emptied, as we understand they will be shortly,) could also be turned to account. They are pleasantly situated, on a beautiful little stream of pure water.

THE SHIP PISCATAQUA.

This noble ship was towed down river yesterday morning by the steamer C. B. Stevens, and went to sea. During the last few days, (the Gazette says) she has been visited by a large number of persons, among them several good judges of marine architecture, who express a highly favorable opinion of her as an excellent model, possessing all the requisite qualities for safety and speed. Indeed her fine proportions would attract the attention of the most casual observer, among a fleet of shipping at any port in the world, so well have her builders sustained the famed reputation which the river bearing her name has long possessed as a ship building locality.

The Piscataqua was built by Messrs. Fernald & Pettigrew, a firm long and favorably known to mercantile men throughout the country. Her length on deck is 145 feet, depth of hold 22 feet, and breadth of beam 31 feet. She registers 550 tons. Her joiner work was performed by Mr. Thomas Martin, a skilful artizan, and her rigging by Mr. Charles Harrat, an experienced rigger. Her cabin furniture is from the manufactory of Mr. Samuel M. Dockum, and is superbly finished, it being set off by the brush and adornments of Messrs. Swazey & Rowell, in their usual good taste.

The Piscataqua is owned in Portsmouth, and intended for the general freighting business. She is commanded by Capt. Thomas M. Weeks, and her present voyage is an eastern one to load with deal for London. Success attend her.

ROBERT RANTOUL, JR.,

At the early age of 47, he has passed suddenly away from earth. But a little year ago, he was the selected orator, called by our City Council to pronounce the Eulogy of Levi Woodbury; and he stood before us, later still, the companion and friend of the deceased, deploring what he and we deemed the premature departure of one to whom thousands looked up with hope. But he did not seem, and we certainly did not deem him, the next doomed victim of death. Yet so it is. Then a Senator; since a Representative; now, ashes to ashes, dust to dust. His lady went with him to Washington, (the centre of our fashion as of our government,) a happy wife. She comes back as the guardian of his lifeless remains, a desolate widow.

A politician, a partisan, a statesman, he was an object of hope, fear, envy and rivalry—but these are buried in the dust—and his history is already of the past.

In his private life he was generally beloved and respected, and his loss will be severely and durably felt.

THE SOUTHERN PRESS.—This was a newspaper established at Washington for the express and avowed purpose of defending extreme Southern views; not merely slavery, but also disunion for slavery's sake. By Monday's telegraph it appears that the Southern Press has stopped its issue for want of funds.

SHOWERS IN STRIPES.—A heavy shower of rain fell in Boston on Saturday evening, for about two hours. About three inches of rain fell in Boston on the first eight days of August, being nearly three times as much as fell at Newburyport in the same time.

In Portsmouth on Saturday evening, the rain amounted to a little sprinkling only. In Kittery a good smart shower fell in the region of Spruce Creek. In York, just beyond, not near so heavy.

☞ Steamer C. B. Stevens towed the splendid ship Piscataqua, (recently built and launched by Messrs. Fernald and Pettigrew of this city,) down the harbor yesterday morning, before proceeding on her daily trip to the Shoals.

THE FISHERY DIFFICULTY.

The excitement about this matter has broken out anew. The Boston Courier says:

The schooner W. R. Burnham has arrived at this port from Prince Edward Island, having on board five passengers and two of the crew of schooner Lion, of Brooklyn, which vessel was taken into Charlottetown by the Nova Scotia armed cutter Telegraph, for violation of the treaty. This is the first instance of seizure for fishing off Prince Edward Island. Though taken in a calm, and full three miles from the land, it was confidently believed by the Consul and others that she would be forfeited, as a bitter animosity prevails throughout the colonies against the Americans. Nova Scotia has four armed vessels out this year, and our informant says that unless the United States government sends a vessel of war to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, or takes some other measures to exact justice to her citizens, much annoyance and injustice may be expected by the owners and crews of the fishing vessels.

Mr. Crampton, the British Minister, has had an interview with the President, and has informed him that Lord Derby has taken the fishing question out of his hands, and referred it to the colonial government.

The Newburyport Herald quotes the colonial opinion about the three mile regulation, and agrees with the Halifax papers, that if the treaty is to be strictly interpreted even as we read it, nothing can be done in the way of fall fishing. It then adds:

We see no better way to settle the question than for Congress to place a duty so high as to be prohibitory upon foreign mackerel, until the British government restore the rights of 1783, to the United States. Without the markets of the United States, the fishery would be valueless to the British, and it would be of great advantage to the colonies to open the shore fishery to the United States, rather than to enjoy it all themselves and be shut out from sending their fish to our market. This, too, will be the true doctrine of reciprocity. It is the exchange of privilege for privilege.

We observe that the news of the despatches of Sir John Pakington to the Governor of the Province of New Brunswick, expressing the intention of the imperial government to protect the fisheries from "foreigners," has travelled back to England, and caused much joy and boasting on the part of the Tory press. The energy of the Derby government is contrasted with the indifference of the Whigs, and of Lord Palmerston. Lord Derby, say they exultingly, is the man who will win back the confidence of the colonists, and drive "foreigners" from their fishing ground. And the London Commercial Gazette and Advertiser italicizes its announcement of this determination. It refers with peculiar pleasure to the news of a fleet of small war vessels being sent to the Bay of Fundy, and to the capture of an American fishing vessel, as the first fruits of this new energy.

They might tell a different story, if this energy should happen to provoke a war and annex the Canadas, Nova Scotia and all, to New England instead of old. The thing is quite possible;—and in spite of all that has been said of peace, our people are warlike enough to rush into it without regard to prudential considerations. Lord Derby may possibly cover himself with too much glory.

The National free soil convention will be held at Pittsburg, Pa., this day, for the purpose of selecting candidates for the offices of President and Vice President of the United States.

CITY MILLS, Cambridge, Mass.—These mills last year ground 50,000 bushels of bread corn.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.—The Amherst Cabinet this week closed its half century. Our worthy and venerable friend, the senior editor, has just had the degree of Master of Arts conferred upon him by Dartmouth College. He has been Master of the Printing Art for a long time, and that being the art of arts, he has been master of arts without a diploma.—Nashua Telegraph.

We are moved to add an item or two to this piece of private history. The title and name of the new Master of Arts will read thus: Dea. Richard Boylston, M. A. His industry has earned a good property; his prudence has preserved it. His kindness and honesty have made friends; his moderation has prevented him from making foes. His steady orthodoxy has kept his standing in the "church;" and his bonhommie has made him popular with the "world." Without being a star of the press, he is a very respectable stock actor; one who never plays the highest parts; but casts himself into those he understands, and always plays them well. Such a mechanic does honor to the degree with which he has just been honored.

FORMIDABLE WEAPON.—An invention has been added to the Prussian Zundnadel musket, that, if adopted, will render it a still more formidable weapon. Some experiments have been lately made with an "explosive ball," or Brandkugel, that may be fired from the gun as easily as its peculiar cartridge, and that explodes the moment it strikes the object; if combustible, setting it on fire. Some experiments made lately before the officers of the Alexander Regiment are reported as having been successful.

Cases filled with powder or inflammable matter were set on fire, or blown up with certainty at several hundred paces distance, or nearly full range of the weapon, which it is well known is a very long one. The object of the invention is the capability of blowing up an enemy's powder wagons by a weapon that can be more rapidly and easily handled than a rifle, if they come within reach. We may yet see a whole battery silenced by a few pricks of a needle.

BURNT TO DEATH.—On the 21st ult., as Mrs. Athaliah Smith, wife of Moses Smith of Hudson, N. H., was preparing dinner, her clothing took fire, as is supposed, during a spasm to which she had for some time been subject. When discovered by her husband, who a few moments before had stepped out at the door, she was enveloped in flames from head to foot, and was so frightfully burned that she only lived four hours.

It is stated that the aldermen who went to Nantucket last week saw the sea-serpent off Race Point Light. Guess they saw the elephant, too.—Boston Post.

ACCIDENT ON THE PROVIDENCE RAILROAD.—Mr. S. C. Bello jumped from the cars before they had stopped at Jamaica Plain on Saturday, and broke his leg about four inches from his thigh bone. He was brought back in the cars and conveyed to his residence at South Boston.

DEBT OF THE AMERICAN BOARD.—The friends of missions will be glad to learn that the debt of the American Board is now cancelled. At the beginning of the new financial year, the Treasurer has found a balance of $5 35 on the right side. This is certainly a very encouraging fact; and it shows what our churches can do, if they have "a will".—Trav.

IMPROVEMENTS IN BANGOR.—The Bangor Mercury gives an interesting account of the improvements now going on in that city, including the erection of a very large gas house, the new Custom House, two new churches, &c. The various public edifices now going up will involve an expenditure of about $150,000.

A LARGE FAMILY.—A gentleman named Samuel Mercer, aged 73, and his wife, aged 67, are now living in Waterville, who have had seven sons and seven daughters. Each of the fourteen has been married, and is now living, and altogether, they have had seventy-eight children! This we have from a connection of the family.—Portland Advertiser.

FRENCH WINE MARKETS.—At Bercy, merchants have raised their prices, in consequence of the unfavorable advices from the vine districts. The cidium has spread all over France, and, if it be not checked before the vintage, there must be a considerable falling off in the produce. The price of spirits has considerably increased.

LIGHTHOUSES FOR CALIFORNIA.—The barque Oriole is now nearly ready to sail from Baltimore, having on board all the material necessary for the construction of eight light houses on the Pacific coast. Mechanics will go in the Oriole to erect the houses.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.

STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,

CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 30 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. THOS. B. LAIGHTON'S Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

TICKETS can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to

SAMUEL R. CLEAVES, Agent,

a10 At Portsm. & Concord Railroad Station.

ATTACK ON MOUNT COKE MISSIONARY INSTITUTION.

GRAHAM'S TOWN, June 10.—On the night of Wednesday, the 2d inst., about half-past 11, just after we had retired to rest, but were still awake, a body of Hottentots, dismounted, estimated at about 50, rushed on the station, and a party of them immediately got into the trench below the kraal, and fired a volley upon the wagon drivers and others who were encamped there. Four of our men were shot dead on the spot, some of the wagons being perfectly riddled with shot. An attempt was then made by the enemy upon the kraals, but the reception met with was so warm that they did not succeed in getting a single head of cattle out of any of the numerous kraals. Two more of our men fell in this attempt however. The Hottentots then proceeded to cut loose the oxen of four wagons, which were tied to the yokes. This they accomplished, with the exception of about four head, and then attempted to make off with their prize. They were, however, so hotly pressed by our people, that thrice the cattle were recaptured; and it was only when a body of about 100 mounted Hottentots, who had been kept in reserve, were encountered, that our men were obliged finally to relinquish them,—the cattle being driven off by the horsemen, and the foot acting as a covering party. A sharp running fight was then kept up for nearly three hours as far as the Green River.

On the way, our men were reinforced by a party of Sewani's Kafirs, who came up from the neighboring kraals and about the Green River. A smart engagement took place, in which the Hottentots are said to have lost six or seven men. One Hottentot (afterwards recognised as once a Theopolis man) was killed near the station. Several were wounded and carried off by their friends, and three horses, which had been tied to some trees in the river by the party attacking on foot, but which, in the press of the fight, the owners were unable to reach, were taken by our people,—as also one gun. The first movement of the enemy in retreat was in the direction of the Buffalo, as if for the Yellow Woods, the direction taken by them in our previous affair, and from this we judge it was Uithalder's party who attacked us; but being turned from that point in the pursuit, they took along the ridge to the Green River, and off towards the Amatola.

The firing was distinctly heard at Fort Murray, at its very commencement, and Capt. Maclean, with that prompt energy and decision with which he does everything, had an express off to King William's Town, within fifteen minutes of our first attack, and Gen. Yorke, with like promptitude despatched a party of 200 men, Lancers and Cape Corps, under command of Major Tottenham, who speedily arrived at Mount Coke, and at once proceeded in pursuit of the enemy. The Hottentots had, however, by this time, got such a start, that it was impracticable to come up with them, though followed as far as the Debe Neck. One straggler alone was killed, and some four or five of the oxen picked up.

MURDER OF AN INFANT.—The New York police, on Friday, arrested a woman named Mary Falon, on a charge of destroying the life of her infant, by throwing it down a sink at a house in Mercer street.

RATTLESNAKE KILLED IN LYNN.—We learn from the Lynn Bay State, that another large rattlesnake was killed in the Dungeon passage of that city on Thursday last. He was 5 feet in length, 11 inches in circumference, weighed 5 pounds, and had 12 rattles.

LIGHTNING.—The barn of Freeman White in East Randolph, Vt. was struck by lightning during the storm of Saturday afternoon, and consumed with its contents, thirty tons of hay. The dwelling house of Mr. White, adjoining, was with difficulty saved.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.—On Sunday evening, at about half past seven o'clock, a young Cuban named Vicenta, who arrived in Boston a week since, and was boarding at No. 239 Fourth street, went out for a short walk, and since then has not been seen. He could not speak a word of English, and had about him a considerable sum of money.—Fears are entertained for his safety.—Boston Traveller.

Mr. Burrell's house at Linden Park, Brookline, was struck by lightning on Saturday, several of the windows were ripped out and the chimney thrown down. One room in which lay a sick man, had both windows torn out and the doors twisted from their hinges, without hurt to him.

AMERICAN ACTORS IN LONDON.—The London Mercantile Gazette says that Drury Lane, "in its extremity has passed under American management." "It is indeed an event of some significance in illustration of the results of fast steamers, that Drury Lane should be thrown open by an American gentlemen, for the performance of a series of Shaksperian dramas, the principal parts in which are to be filled by an American tragedian," Mr. Buchanan. Mr. Buchanan's Hamlet is criticised severely by the Gazette. He was, however' tumultuously cheered. The Times says of him, "he has good natural qualifications for an actor, a good figure and a good voice, if he knew how to use it." His debut took place with all the outward signs of success.

IDOLATRY. All worshippers of the idol Jug-or-Nought, and all who sympathise with them or wish to convert them, will take an interest in the following piece of missionary intelligence from the Crusader:—

Some of the good people of Newton, in this State, fearing the new Liquor Law would cut short their allowance of "blue ruin," sent a man to Newburyport, with a team, after a supply, on the first of the week the law went into operation.—The man went, but returned on foot, without liquor or team, but with a large brick in his hat, since which time nothing has been seen of them, nor can the man, though relieved of the load in his hat, give any account of when or how they parted company.

AN EFFICACIOUS CHASTISEMENT.

A most exemplary wife had the misfortune to wed a husband who, shortly after their marriage, became almost a sot. He was not a hard-hearted or an unjust man, but, like numerous others, could not resist temptation, and whenever asked to drink had not the moral courage to say "No."

His wife, whom he really loved, expostulated and reasoned, until he promised never to take liquor again; but as soon as thrown into company his resolutions were forgotten, and he fell into his old degrading habit. She wept bitter, bitter tears, and began to despair of ever weaning him from his monstrous vice, especially as she had implored one of his false friends in vain not to lead her husband into bad company.

Regularly, however, the corrupting associate called, and despite of her tears, solicited her husband to visit such and such a place.—The infatuated man could not resist, and went and came in a beastly state of intoxication.

The wretched woman, wrought to frenzy by the seeming ruin that awaited her, determined upon some plan to free her liege lord from the importunities of his deceitful companion.

One night, while her husband was asleep, she heard the well-known footstep and knock at the door, and opening it carefully, with a stout horsewhip in her hand, seized the unwelcome visitor by the hair of the head, and inflicted upon his body a chastisement of the most severe character. As soon as she released him, he run off, and has never returned to sow thorns in the domestic parterre of her once peaceful home.

Her husband was so impressed with her strength of mind and courage, that he resolved to be as much a MAN as she, and has since been abstemious and happy.—Cincinnati Commercial.

ALL HASTE AND NO REST.

In this country, however it may differ on other topics, public opinion is unequivocal on this point, that every man must be busy. In the People's College it has been unanimously declared that the azote of our common air is a nonessential and a bore; and that oxygen is the only gas fit for enterprising Yankees to breathe.

Observe the restless look and hurried gait of that young citizen, just emerging from the doubts and anxities of his experiments in business. He walks as if he was born a day too late, and had not yet overtaken Time. The corrugators of his eye brows, are almost as constantly in use, as the fibres of his heart. He shakes your hand with the greatest cordiality, and he is evidently glad to see you, but three times while you asked the state of his family, he glanced at his watch, and when you release his hand, he springs away, as if he were the subject of an accumulated velocity. He must needs be at his business at an early hour, although from motives of economy or comfort, his home may be miles away from his office. At midday he has only time to swallow a hasty steak, and a "JENNY LIND, hard," and hurry back to his clients or his customers. At the close of the day, he slips a bundle of papers under his arm, leaps on board the cars just as their motion is quickened into a speed that makes it impracticable for many to follow him, and reads diligently his Daily Paper till he reaches home, and is refreshed at the same time, by the smiles of his patient wife, and the fragrance of a hot and smoking dinner. The little ones are at liberty to climb upon his knees, and smooth out the wrinkles over his nose, until the last cup is finished. But no sooner are its dregs exposed, than "confound the young ones, they must be put to bed," and to all the queries of his wife, there comes but one reply,—"pretty soon, dear: I must draw up these papers, now," and at a late hour he indulges himself in a few hurried and broken dreams, which he mistakes for sleep. The whistle of the early train hurries him out of bed, past cakes and coffee, and into the same old "cider-mill-path" again. Never fairly resting, he is always somewhat weary. He is not easy at his task, and very uneasy when away from it. His health gradually fails, and his spirits suffer perpetual depression. Unless some blessed sickness intervene and force upon him the rest, that a morbidly sensitive and illy-educated conscience will not allow when well, his constitution bends under the burden, and he will require a staff for his infirmities, before the vigor of his youth should be burnt out.

Jonathan has come to believe that he must always be active; that his bow must always be bent. When he plants a tree, he cannot wait patiently for its slow, ordinary growth, but must be continually placing some new stimulus about its roots, trimming its branches or slitting open its bark, and if its buds do not open with the first warm days of Spring, he must pluck it up to see if there be not a worm at the root.

He can scarcely be quiet when quietude is essential to decorum. He studies how to turn the conversation into a business channel, that his friend's morning call may not prove an entire waste of the time so devoted. As he waxes old, he becomes more impatient, irritable, frugal and fidgetty. He stops whittling to save John Bull's feelings, but he carries tablets and a pencil, to facilitate his meditations in the rail-car or omnibus. "Be short." is his Eleventh Commandment, and his favorite quotation is, "Brevity is the soul of wit." He thinks that in the Millenium, the President's Message will be no longer than the postscript of a telegraphic despatch, and the debates in Congress, in those happy days, will be as brief and as soon ended as a legislative session in Rhode Island.

He is wiling the sermon should be of Orthodox length, on Sunday, but he likes to have the services concluded with the Doxology in short metre.

But Jonathan is mortal, and all the children of mortality are subject to occasional weariness. And what does Jonathan for refreshment when he is thoroughly tired? Does he leave his office an hour earlier? eat a lighter supper? or retire any sooner? Does he seek out somniferous potions? or consult art for the means of lengthening his usual rest? Does he lock his door, say good-night to the legion of cares that attend at his pillow, and stretch his nerveless limbs for a long and refreshing sleep? No, but quite the reverse.—He orders his Common Council to find out some hero, living or dead, that he may honor. He erects triumphal arches, gets up an expensive procession, and closes the day with a magnificent banquet.

He relieves the reaction from one excitement by the novelty of another. When he has bought lots and built houses enough for people to confess him rich, he gets a carriage buys a coat of arms, keeps men servants, and falls into a typhoid fever. He raves deliriously for three weeks, lives on stimulants till the "stimulus of death" displaces all others, and then poor Jonathan sinks to his first and last "long and undisturbed repose."—New York Times.

FLAX COTTON.—The London correspondent of the N. Y. Commercial says:

"Some discussion has occurred during the past week on the present position of the invention of M. Claussen for the production of flax cotton. The public had begun to feel surprised that, after the announcements made a year or two back, no steps seemed in progress for the actual use of the material on an extensive scale; and it was also known that some experiments made last autumn at the Museum of Irish Industry had not met with a successful result. It is now asserted, however, that the various minor difficulties which have impeded the practical application of the discovery have been fully surmounted, and that the use of the article has been carried on with great profit for some time past by a body or individuals in Belgium."

SOLID LEARNING.

When the writer of these lines was a boy, a piece appeared in the newspapers, headed "Forty Years Ago"—the drift of which was to lament the degeneracy of the intervening time. One of the sentences was, "Forty years ago literature meant learning."

If the author of "Forty Years Ago" is now living, he may have found out that literature not only means learning, but is learning, and that of the most solid kind. For example, we open the new and beautiful literary sheet called "To-Day," for August 7,—and the first article is headed "New Brick Machine." We read the article; and so well does it describe the process, that we have some idea of making our own bricks—when we happen to want any. If anybody should fancy from this, that it is a dry article, he greatly mistakes, for it is finely written in a popular style.

The next article is on the Music Hall, in Bumstead Place, Boston, signed Jonathan; and, purporting to be written by "a Countryman," it affects the style of an unlettered man,—but shows at every turn of a period, the hand of a workman—while it shows at the same time the Irish bone and muscle which every where carry out American enterprise, lending a hand and clapping a shoulder to every work set in operation by the American mind.

Literature here is no abstraction; and it deals not only with fiction and imagination, but with sober reality and useful art, clothing utility with beauty, and giving interest and life to the most prosaic employments.

LYNCH LAW.—Five negroes, four men and a woman, were hung by a Lynch law court near Darien, Geo., on the 26th of July, for the murder of their master, Houghton, who was the only white man living on an island nearly three miles from the main land. On the day of the murder, he had one of the woman whipped for some misconduct. About dark he laid down to sleep, when the men stripped him, tied him to a tree with his hands behind him, gave him a hundred lashes with a cowhide, and beat him over the face with a "paddle ?" (which is an instrument used to punish negroes.) The woman held the light, and urged the men to beat him; while he begged for life, and seven other black women joined their prayers with his. At midnight they finished his life by blows with an axe.

The negroes were then arrested: and as no court set till November, and as in the county there are twenty negroes to one white, it was voted in a mass meeting ninety to three, to try them—they were found guilty—all confessed, and all were hung.

ACCIDENT.—We mentioned yesterday that a Mr. Herring was hurt at Suncook, on Tuesday, by a derrick's falling on him. It appears that the workmen on the bridge of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad over the Suncook river, were hoisting a heavy stick of timber, when one of the guys of the derrick gave way and the derrick fell upon Mr. James Herring, breaking one of his arms and injuring his head so severely that there is little hope of his recovery. Mr. Phineas Sabins likewise was thrown from the bridge thirty or forty feet, fortunately striking where the earth was soft, so that no bones were broken. It is thought he will be out in a few days.

PROLIFIC PEAR TREE.—We saw, a day or two since, in the garden of Mr. William O. Barber, near the Creek, a pear tree overloaded with fruit. Its burden was literally more than it could bear. The tree was four or five feet high, with nine little branches about fifteen inches in length,—and pendant from these twigs, were forty-two large sized pears, presenting a beautiful appearance.—The tree was of French growth—a "standard" about an inch in diameter, and was set out last year.

One of the company desires us to correct our item of yesterday about the Steamboat party from Suncook. He says a majority of them came from Hooksct.

☞ The New York Express says the nosegay season is in its height just now in that city—the daily sales of bouquets amounting to several thousan ddollars. One gardener has received nine thousand dollars during the last two or three seasons.

A California paper says, Dr. Collyer, the model artist man, mesmerist, phrenologist, chemist, &c., received information by the last mail steamer, that he has become an heir to $600,000.

LONGEVITY.—Barb Adoni, the venerable servant of Gabriel Antic, a merchant of Smyrna, died at that place July 11, at the advanced age of 107 years.

In Missouri, the majority for General Price, Democratic candidate for Governor, will be about 10,000. A despatch to the Traveller states—

The Missouri election is a great triumph for Benton. The result, as reported, is for Congress, 2 Whigs and 2 Benton men. Not an anti-Benton man comes to Congress.—Green, Democrat, was in the last Congress, and a bitter anti-Benton man, is beaten by Miller, Whig. From Hall's (Anti-Benton) district, now comes a Whig, Mr. Oliver.

The Funeral of Hon. Robert Rantoul, Jr., took place at Beverly on Tuesday afternoon, from the Unitarian church. It was attended by a large number of persons. The Mayor of Salem, on receiving intelligence of Mr. Rantoul's decease, directed the flag upon the common to be hoisted at half-mast, and all the bells of the city to be tolled for an hour. The City Government of Salem voted to attend the funeral in a body.

THE PENALTY OF FAILING TO ELECT ASSESSORS OF TAXES.—The town of New London having failed to elect Assessors of Taxes in 1851, has been prosecuted by the State Treasurer of Connecticut, and the Supreme Court of the State has muleted the town in a fine of $1,000. The tax law of 1850 taxed the shipping interest, whalers included.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—At Somerville, on Monday, Mr. Leri Young, a constable of that place, was struck by a train of cars on the Lowell Railroad, as he was attempting to cross the track. He died on Tuesday morning from the effects of the injury he sustained.

In Elizabeth City county, Va., on Saturday week, an election was held for the continuance or discontinuance of the free school system, recently put in operation, when the result was, 229 votes were polled for the continuance and 9 votes against.

EXECUTION OF A LOWELL IMMIGRANT IN CALIFORNIA.—We hear that accounts were received by the last mail from California of a lynching at the mines, in which Mr. Jonathan Pillsbury, formerly employed on the Massachusetts and Appleton Corporation, in this city, and two others, lost their lives. The three were charged with having murdered and robbed a man, and were summarily hung. Mr. P. was on the point of taking the steamer at San Francisco for home, when an officer arrested him, and took him back to the mines. It is stated that there is an account of the matter in one of the California papers but we have not been able to find it.—Lowell Courier.

CAPT. MARCY'S COMMAND.—This body of men has been killed and brought to life again several times, by telegraph. The last account is unfavorable, and runs thus:

Louisville, August 10.—The Fort Smith, Arkansas, Herald, of the 24th ult., says that nothing further has been heard of Capt. Marcy's command, and persons from Wachita believe the reported massacre

George Thompson, who was not re-elected by his old constituency of the Tower Hamlets, has been elected to Parliament from the Scotch University of Aberdeen.

CHIEF JUSTICE OF NEW YORK.—We were led into an error (says the Boston Daily Adv.) in regard to the proceeding of Judge Nelson in granting the writ of Habaes Corpus in the case of Kaine, by his being styled Chief Justice of the State of New York, not imagining him to be Judge Nelson of the Supreme Court of the United States. The proceeding referred to therefore was the decision of Judge Nelson to revise on a hearing before himself at chambers the decision of the Circuit Court in New York.

This correction deprives the case of all its mystery.

The bridge on the Hamilton and Eaton railroad near Cincinnati, on the 7th, gave way while the down train was passing over it. Two freight and baggage cars were smashed and four persons badly injured. The passenger cars fortunately became detached, when the forward cars fell, or the result would have been more serious.

FRACAS AT NEWPORT, R. I.

The Newport correspondent of the Boston Post gives some particulars of a fight in a Newport hotel on Monday, between some guests and the negro waiters of the house. The principal actor was E. M. Yerger, Esq., a young planter from the South.

"On Sunday at dinner, Mr. Yerger was helping some lady friends to a dish, when a waiter attempted to take it from his hands. He very promptly and properly raised the case knife which he held, and struck the waiter's face. The waiter was taken from the room, and dinner went on as usual. The next morning, Mr. Yerger went to breakfast, and being seated, discovered a movement among the waiters, and having armed himself in anticipation of attack, he prepared for self defence. He held a pistol in each hand, and as the mob advanced he told them that he would kill the first man who came within five feet. By this threat I believe his life was saved, for none of them dared to overstep the mark. The cry of "Southrons" was immediately made, whereupon Col. Christy, of Kentucky, Lieut. Nelson, of the navy, Mr. Pollard, of Alabama, and many other friends of Mr. Y. came to the rescue. The mob was kept at bay by Yerger's pistols until he was surrounded by his friends; he was thus deprived of the use of his arms, and the mob closed upon him. A pistol was wrenched from his right hand, the guard tearing his finger severely."

Finally, Mr. Yerger's friends carried him out of the room one way, and drove the negro waiters out the other; and some of the Southern guests are leaving on account of the disturbance.

Our readers will remember that the Rhode Island liquor law is disregarded in Newport; and it is possible that the waiter had been drinking, when he meddled with the dish.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, August 10.

Senate.—The Indian Appropriation bill was taken up and various amendments were adopted appropriating over $850,000. Without disposing of all the amendments the Senate adjourned.

House.—Mr. Aiken rose to a question of privilege, and proceeded to notice a paragraph in a published speech of Mr. Durkee's relative to a slave in Charleston, who, it was said, five or six years ago killed his master for trespassing on the chastity of his wife, and that on being taken to the scaffold, the sheriff felt so much sympathy for him that he could not hang him, nor could one thousand dollars procure any of the crowd to perform that office, and, therefore the negro was taken from the gallows. This was the substance of the objectionable paragraph.

Mr. Aiken said he had lived in Charleston all his life, and that such a case occurred he pronounced absolutely false. He then related a proceeding which took place twenty-six years ago, when a slave was convicted of arson, but being of a weak constitution, and considerably prostrated in view of death, there was naturally much sympathy expressed for him, and the person whose duty it was to execute the prisoner also being feeble, offered a reward of $1000 to any one in the crowd who would perform the office, but no one accepted.

The slave was then remanded, and the result was, his punishment was commuted to transportation by the Governor. Whoever gave the information referred to, Mr. Aiken said, had told a deliberate falsehood. The man should not sit on this floor who is not aware of the dignity of his position, and is such a creature as the person who made this narrative.

The new judiciary fee bill was discussed during the morning hour. The House went into committee on the general appropriation bill.

The amendment was adopted appropriating $300,000 for the establishment of a branch mint at San Francisco.

The Speaker laid before the House a message from the President in reply to a resolution asking what had been done on the subject of the fisheries on the coast of British North America. It gives no information different from that heretofore communicated to the Senate. The message was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs. The House adjourned.

POLITICO-RELIGIOUS.—The Boston Post, speaking of the New Hampshire Protestant test, says:

"We assure the Albany Journal, in all soberness, that figures and facts will not sustain the position that any party as a party is responsible for retaining this illiberal and unjust provision in the New Hampshire constitution."

It certainly was not made a party question—and no paper opposed the change.

The Post adds:

"That humbug charge was started by some dishonest partizan, and we shall feel it our duty to repel it until that and the test are both withdrawn."

The charge may be withdrawn, but the test cannot be so easily disposed of. We can have no alteration in our constitution without calling a Convention. The last one we had cost $40,000 and accomplished nothing. For this reason it is highly improbable that the people will vote to call another for many years.

OF MR. CHOATE'S recent address at Burlington, a correspondent of the New York Times remarks:—

The language, gorgeous with imagery and with epithets, each one at once an image of an argument; the elaborately complicated, yet exceedingly powerful and effective sentences; and all, indeed, which makes his eloquence thoroughly original and peculiar, to which in English literature there is nothing aut simile aut secundum, cannot be preserved or even fairly indicated in such a sketch.

A Sad Accident occurred near Ellsworth, Me., on Sunday. Almira Townsend, eighteen years of age, daughter of Mr. Jacob Townsend, while returning home from meeting, was knocked down by a horse driven by a young man named Jefferson Fries, and so seriously injured, that she lived but about twenty minutes. Fries had been stopped but a short time before, and told that if he persisted in such furious driving, he would kill some one, but he replied that he did not care if he did kill anybody. The girl had turned to look behind her, and just as Fries approached, he applied the whip to the horse, which caused the animal to sheer suddenly, and procured the melancholy result. The shaft struck her in the stomach, throwing her under the wheels, and her head was badly bruised. Fries was apprehended and conveyed to jail.

MORTGAGE LAWS.—In Massachusetts two years ago mortgages of real estate had become in ill repute because they had so long a tail to them. In the session of 1851 an act was passed making important changes in the practice in suits at law, and by some of the sections of that act, mortgages with powers of sale were recognized a legal, and any such sale regularly made was declared to cut off all right of redemption and to bar the wife of the mortgagor of all right of dower in case she had signed the deed. This law at once produced a change. New mortgage blanks were prepared for public institutions and individuals. Persons were willing to loan money, as they now saw a reasonable certainty of getting it again without a delay of six or seven years. At the last session, however, after a trial of only six months, the sections in question were repealed, and the old state of things fully restored.—Courier.

MONTREAL SUFFERERS.—The contributions at Portland, in aid of the sufferers by the recent fire at Montreal will exceed three thousand dollars. Twenty-five hundred dollars have already been sent. Boston has subscribed $4500.

STEAMSHIPS.—We learn from the Journal of Commerce, that there are seven steamships on the stocks at that port, in course of construction. The most noticeable among them, is one of a size nearly equal to those forming the Collins line, in William H. Brown's yard, at the foot of Eleventh street, East River, intended to run between Panama and San Francisco, as one of the Empire City Line, of which Howard & Son are agents. It is expected this vessel will be launched in October, and be ready for sea about the 1st of February next. Her length of keel is 273 feet; breadth 43 1-2; depth of hold 31. She will register nearly 3000 tons, and will accommodate over 1000 passengers.

THE HOOSACK TUNNEL BORER.—The Greenfield Gazette learns that the machine for tunneling the Hoosack mountain, was put in operation on Friday. The machine promises to meet the highest expectation of its friends.—

A correspondent of the Post writes as follows from Shelburne Falls, Aug. 9:

"As there has been considerable feeling in regard to the success of the monster tunnel machine, I thought perhaps you might like to learn the result of the first operation. It was cut in operation on Saturday last, and in forty minutes cut a groove and drill hole eight inches. It worked to the perfect satisfaction of the operator, as I learn by those that witnessed the starting."

The Catholic University of Ireland has received $16,900 from the United States.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.

STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,

CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. Varina, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 20 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. Thos. B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

TICKETS can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to

SAMUEL R. CLEAVES, Agent,
a10 At Portsm. & Concord Railroad Station.

DESPATCHES

TO THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.

Senate.—Mr. Badger's resolution to amend the 30th rule by striking out the clause excluding private claims from the general approbation bill was taken up. Mr. Hunter opposed the resolution. Mr. Badger followed in its defence.

House.—The House went into Committee of the Whole, and resumed consideration of the Civil and Diplomatic Appropriation bill, with the amendment offered yesterday.

PITLSBURG, PA., Aug. 11.

John P. Hale, will be nominated by the Convention.

COUNTERFEITERS ARRESTED.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.

A detachment of Police from this city arrested a gang of Counterfeiters at Danville this afternoon. Their apparatus was taken.

NOMINATION OF MINISTER TO ENGLAND.—Washington, Aug. 11.—The Senate have nominated Joseph R. Ingersoll, of Penn., Minister to England.

[Probably the Senate have confirmed the nomination. But we give the item as it comes by telegraph.]

CONGRESSIONAL MATTERS, &c.

The Commerce Committee in the House will report Mr. Davis's bill regulating steam navigation on Monday, amended so as to dispense with boiler plates and other rigid requirments.

Mr. Andrews, consul at St. John, N.B. has returned here, with the report of facts in regard to the fisheries. He anticipates difficulty in effecting a satisfactory adjustment.

NORTH CAROLINA ELECTION—Fayetteville, Aug. 11.—Gov. Reid, (Democrat,) is unquestionably elected by from 3000 to 5000 majority. The Legislature is still in doubt. It is possible the Whigs may have a majority.

THE EUROPA SAILED—New York Aug. 11.—The steamship Europa sailed at noon for Liverpool, with 57 passengers and $725,455 in specie.

SUICIDE AT NIAGARA FALLS.—A milliner lady, 22 years of age, divested herself of all her clothing and threw herself into the Niagara river, just above the cataract, from whence she was thrown down the mighty fall. She was fished for by the people on the rocks, for an hour without success. The sight was horrible to behold; the body seemed to be tossed upward by an invisible power below, and again it was drawn under from sight. She soon appeared with her limbs up, or some other portion of her body, only to be drawn back by the remorseless power, and after describing a few momentary gyrations, to be tossed again like a cork out of the water.

Ropes were thrown a long time with nooses but without success, for by the time the ropes were thrown for her, she was under water, and was distant two rods from the shore where boats cannot live an instant. Finally she was secured by a sturgeon spear, and brought to shore.—Albany Register, 10th.

EMIGRATION.—Westward Ho!—The Boston Post says Court square was startled from its propriety yesterday forenoon by loud hurrahs that broke forth as a large body of Swedish emigrants moved by. Like previous bodies of the same class of emigrants, they marched in procession through the streets, each man carrying a gun, the women and children riding in wagons with their goods, and borne above them were the American and Swedish flags, and sundry banners. They design settling in Wisconsin.

Levi Buckingham, Sen., died at his residence in Symmes township, Ohio, 28th July, aged 87 years. He purchased the farm on which he lived in 1787, at 33 1-3 cents an acre, and it is now worth $150 per acre. He was a volunteer with St. Clair at his defeat, and was left without any supplies to find his way home. He was about three weeks without food, except what he picked up in the woods.

A woman named Jane Simpson, was on Friday last, sent to Bergen Jail by the Recorder, for robbing the captain of a canal boat of a desk, containing $100 and other valuables. She was cook on the boat, and in attempting to get on shore with her prize, fell overboard, and was rescued by the captain, who found the desk floating near her.

EVEN SAILING.—A correspondent informs us that the fine Boston vessels, John Wade, Capt. Willis, and Annie Bucknam, Capt. Barber, sailed from Canton river for New York, on two successive days, the latter sixteen hours after the departure of the former. The John Wade arrived at New York and anchored at quarantine, Staten Island, August. 5, and the Annie Bucknam August 6, just sixteen hours later than the other.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

WHALING.—The New Bedford Mercury states that the whale ship Hector, which arrived in port on Monday with 2200 bbls. sperm oil, dropped her anchor but four times during her voyage of fifty months. The Hector reports the wreck and total loss of the whale ship Ontario, Capt. Slocum, of New Bedford, 1700 bbls. of whale oil.

I'm ready to obey your calls.
Graining and Marbling are peculiar faculties of mine,
As well as any thing else in the painting line;
To Signs and Curtains I pay particular attention,
Also to Door-plates, Show-Cards, and others I could mention.
To make the old look new so nice and bright,
I will please the fancy, and also the sight;
My Slate is large enough for names of all,
At CONGRESS BLOCK, up stairs, I wait your call.

AFFAIRS IN TEXAS.— The St. Louis Republican has a letter from Brownsville, Texas, which contains some interesting information:

"You are well aquainted with the fillibustering movements of the last year or two on this frontier; but unless you should come here, you could not form a correct idea of the evils they have entailed upon the people along the Rio Grande. Before they commenced, a large and flourishing trade was carried on with the people of Mexico, and Brownsville was doing a business of some six or seven millions of dollars yearly. Now it amounts to scarcely as many thousands; and all who can find money enough to take them to New-Orleans, are leaving the country. Most of the men of property are now heartily disgusted with the part they have been playing, and wish for the return of the good old times; but, like the owner of the goose of golden egg notoriety, they find, too late, that they have destroyed thier bird. All confidence and friendly feeling on the part of the Mexicans are eradicated, and it will be a long time ere the incursions of the fillibusters will be forgotten. This is certainly the highway for trade into the interior of Mexico, and steps should be taken to clear it of the present impediments."

MANUFACTORY UNDER THE HAMMER.— We learn from the Taunton Gazette that the cotton mills and machinery, together with five dwelling houses, belonging to H. N. & H M. Daggett, Attleborough, were sold at auction by order of assignees, on the 4th inst., for $18,025. The mill estate was purchased by John McLellan of Sutton, Mass., for $10,200. This is the second sale of the same property, by order of the Commissioner of Insolvency, within the space of fourteen months.

At Poictiers is the famous bed of St. Hilary where monomaniacs were laid. Legends say that a prayer or two said over madmen, lying in this bed, cured them.

A PICNIC SONG.

Come, haste to the picnic,
This warm summer day;
The face of all nature
Looks blooming and gay;
The trees' waving branches
Unite in the call,
The flowrets seem whispering
Come one! and come all!

The green fields seem laughing,
And hail us with cheer;
The brooks gently flowing,
So limpid and clear;
A thousand gay insects
Do buzz and invite;
They sport with the leaflets
In Sol's brilliant light.

A voice from the mountains,
And woodlands so fair;
The bright, sparkling fountains,
And perfume filled air,
Calls "come to the picnic,
This bright summer day!"
Then away to the green fields!
Away! come away!

Portsmouth, Aug., 1852.

BEWARE OF MAN TRAPS!—The Supreme Court of Connecticut has decided that a correspondence in writing between a marriageable female and an unmarried man, is presumptive evidence of an engagement! The Judge says:

"That an engagement exists, or an offer has been made and accepted where a correspondence takes place between such parties, as are described in this case, is, we think, in accordance with general experience, which is one of the usual and most satisfactory tests of human evidence; and although, when taken alone and disconnected from other facts, it may not be so strong as some evidence that might be suggested, yet we hold it competent to be submitted to a jury, and from which they may find a promise to marry, if the evidence satisfies them of the fact."

Bachelors and cousins should beware of committing themselves. They should be as chary of the use of their pen as a politician who is a candidate for public office.—Boston Journal

The Boston Transcript gives for the benefit of young bachelors, a formula for their correspondence, which may become useful should "the Connecticut law" prevail in Massachusetts:

"My dear Miss ——— ———, I send you the books which you desired to read, &c., &c. N. B. No legal inferences to be drawn."

Or perhaps it will do to add simply the words "under protest," which in time may be simplified into the initial letters, u. p., thus:

"Yours respectfully, u. p.,
———."

FAMILY JARS.—Somebody says there are two kinds of family jars; into one you put your sweetmeats, and into the other you put—your foot.

Rev. Dr. Jackson, a clergyman in Vermont, in parting with a daughter who had married, said, "I want you to remember one thing: All you can get out of life is usefulness."

A FRENCHMAN'S OPINION OF AMERICA.—Eugene Pelletan, an eloquent French writer, thus characterizes America and American institutions.

"Formerly, female beauty was an offence against society. Human laws condemned woman to go out veiled. Liberty still wears on its part the same anathema. Let us take away its veil to show it in all its splendor. There is in America, doubtless, as elsewhere, impatience, timidity; but, in this flux and reflux of conquered or contrary opinions, there is no party, no man who does not bless his constitution, who does not proclaim with pride what Providence has written of his country. Can any other government be mentioned which has everywhere been received with unanimity, and everywhere extinguishes the idea of a revolution. Democracy is, then, peace: liberty is the solution. Order is there, you see it: why, then, do you go elsewhere to look for it?"

A FISH STORY.—On Saturday afternoon, as Mr. John S. Ball, in company with others, was returning from a fishing excursion, while sailing at the rate of seven or eight knots an hour, off Thimble Islands, he was boarded by a monster of the finny tribe, who threw himself at a single leap from the water directly into the bottom of the boat. This was more than our fishermen had bargained for, but after several well directed blows they succeeded in despatching him and bringing him to land. It proved to be a sturgeon seven feet long, and weighing over two hundred pounds.—This is rather a large fish story, but we believe it to be strictly true.—New Haven Journal, 7th.

GOVERNOR UNDERHILL.

CHAPTER I.

On the Piscataqua River and its branches, about 1640, were four petty republics, Portsmouth, Kittery, Dover and Exeter. This year the people of Portsmouth chose Francis Williams Governor, and Ambross Gibbins and Thomas Warnerton assistants. Under the date of 1640, Adams' Annals inform us in relation to a riot at Dover, that "the parties armed themselves, and Larkham sent to Governor Williams for assistance, who immediately went to Dover with a company under arms, and arrested Underhill, the Governor and Knolles." On reading this, years ago, we made on the margin this note: "What can this mean? Did the Governor arrest the Governor?"

It is all made plain enough, however, by Belknap and others, from whom we learn that Underhill was the Governor of Dover. About this man, who was a Louis Napoleon on a small scale, we can give two or three chapters of interesting sketches, sometimes following our historian exactly, and sometimes abridging his work.

Among the Antinomians who were banished from Roston, and took refuge in these plantations, was Captain John Underhill, in whose story will appear some very strong characteristics of the spirit of these times. He had been a soldier in the Netherlands, and was brought over to New England by Governor Winthrop, to train the people in military discipline. He served the country in the Pequod war, and was in such reputation in the town of Boston, that they had chosen him one of their deputies. Deeply tinctured with Antinomian principles, and possessed of an high degree of enthusiasm, he made a capital figure in the controversy; being one of the subscribers to a petition in which the court was censured, with an indecent severity, for their proceedings against Wheelwright. For this offence he was disfranchised. He then made a voyage to England; and upon his return petitioned the court for three hundred acres of land which had been promised him for his former services, intending to remove after Wheelwright.

He confessed some indiscretions, but denied most things charged against him. He had endeavored to bring over to his views a woman, who was a fellow passenger with him in the ship from England. He was questioned for what he had said to her concerning the manner of his receiving assurance, which was that having long lain under a spirit of bondage, he could get no assurance; till at length as he was taking a pipe of tobacco, the spirit sent home upon him an absolute promise of free grace, with such assurance and joy that he had never since doubted of his good estate, neither should he, whatever sins he might fall into." This he would neither own nor deny; but objected to the sufficiency of a single testimony. The court committed him for abusing them with a pretended retraction, and the next day passed the sentence of banishment upon him. Being allowed the liberty of attending public worship, his enthusiastic zeal broke out in a speech in which he endeavored to prove "that as the Lord was pleased to convert Saul while he was persecuting, so he might manifest himself to him while making a moderate use of the good creature tobacco; professing withal that he knew not wherein he had deserved the censure of the court."

The same week he was privately dealt with on suspicion of adultery, which he disregarded; and therefore on the next Sabbath was questioned for it before the church; but the evidence not being sufficient to convict him, the church could only admonish him.

These proceedings, civil and ecclesiastical, being finished, he removed out of their jurisdiction; and after a while came to Dover, where he procured the place of Governor in the room of Burdet.

Being settled in his government, he procured a church to be gathered at Dover, who chose Hanserd Knollys for their minister. He had come over from England the year before; but being an Anabaptist of the Antinomian cast, was not well received in Massachusetts, and came here while Burdet was in office, who forbade his preaching; but Underhill, agreeing better with him, prevailed to have him chosen their minister. To ingratiate himself with his new patron, Knollys wrote in his favor to the church in Boston; styling him "the right worshipful, their honored Governor." Notwithstanding which, they cited him again to appear before them; the court granting him safe conduct. At the same time, complaint was made to the chief inhabitants on the river, of the breach of friendship in advancing Underhill after his rejection; and a copy of Knollys' letter was returned, wherein he had written that "Underhill was an instrument of God for their ruin," and it was inquired whether that letter was written by the desire or consent of the people. The principal persons of Portsmouth and Dover disclaimed his miscarriages, and expressed their readiness to call him to account when a proper information should be presented; but begged that no force might be sent against him. By his instigation, Knollys had also written to his friends in England, a calumnious letter against the Massachusetts planters, representing them as more arbitrary than the high-commission court, and that there was no real religion in the country. A copy of this letter being sent from England to Governor Winthrop, Knollys was so ashamed at the discovery, that obtaining a license, he went to Boston; and at the public lecture before the Governor, magistrates, ministers and the congregation, made confession of his fault, and wrote a retraction to his friends in England, which he left with the Governor to be sent to them.

RAILROAD IN NEW YORK CITY.—The Cars have just begun to run on the Sixth Avenue Railroad. The route of this road runs as follows: Starting from the corner of Chambers street and West Broadway, up West Broadway to Canal, through Canal to Varick street, through Varick to Carmine street, up Carmine street to the Sixth Avenue, and up the Sixth Avenue to Forty-fourth street, a distance of almost three miles.

NEWPORT, R. I.—One or two seizures of liquor have been made under the new law.—The N. Y. Herald predicts the downfall of the place as a summer resort, on this account.

NEW WATER WORKS.—The well known old Fairmount Water Works supply Philadelphia proper, with water which is pumped from the river Schuylkill.

Spring Garden and the Northern Liberties, some years ago supplied themselves from the same river by an independent set of works a little way from the Fairmount.

Recently the Kensington and Richmond Districts have erected extensive, substantial and costly water works which bring them an abundant supply of water from the river Delaware.

PORTSMOUTH AND CONCORD RAILROAD.—We understand the contract for the mails on this line commences on the 18th inst. Of course they must run over the road at that time. Passengers and freight may run with them.

Lydia Lynch, a young woman, drowned herself at Branch Pond, Me., a day or two since.

Hon. Jabez Thompson, of Halifax, Mass., a member of the Senate from Plymouth county, committed suicide by hanging in his barn on Monday. He had been in Boston transacting business, and no apparent reason existed for the commission of the act. He was 60 years of age.

THE INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL is a paper printed in Boston, published there and in New York, and circulated in the Canadas and the British Colonies. It is an English paper in the U. S. From it we take an item correcting a misstatement which has gone the rounds of the American Press.

NEW BRUNSWICK LIQUOR LAW.—Mr. Asa McCoy, of Fredericton, writes to the editor of the St. John Temperence Telegraph that the Liquor Bill has not been disallowed by Her Majesty, but that it will be confirmed by her signature in due course of time.

Speaking of the Boston Chronicle, the Charlestown Advertiser says:—

"There is no possible need of such an organ in the community, because more than two-thirds of the newspapers now published have manifested their disapprobation of the new law."

CONGRESS.—WEDNESDAY—Additional.—In the Senate, the River and Harbor bill was ordered to be engrossed.

In the House, the General Appropriation Bill was amended in Committee of the Whole, by agreeing to raise the salaries of all clerks, porters, &c., at the legislative and executive departments, by adding 20 per cent to the pay of all who do not receive more than $1200 per annum, beginning July 1, 1852.

The committee rose and reported the bill to the House, which concurred in about sixty amendments.

The Dover Inquirer mentions that the Cocheco Manufacturing Company are now constructing a new stone dam, to take the place of their old wooden one, which, after maintaining its position for about thirty years, has become so weakened by time and the elements as to render it somewhat unsafe during the heavy Spring freshets.

The new dam is placed immediately below the old one, so that the operations of the Company are not suspended by the work.

MR. RANTOUL.—The insurance on the life of this gentleman was at the branch office of the National Loan Fund Life Insurance Co., No. 40 State Street, Boston, for the sum of ten thousand dollars.

FREE SOIL CONVENTION.

Pittsburg, Penn. Wednesday, Aug. 11.—The State Free Soil Convention met this morning and nominated John P. Hale, by an overwhelming vote.

Neither Hale nor Chase is here, but Joshua R. Giddings is.

The Free Soil National Convention.—The National Convenuion assembled at 10 o'clock in Masonic Hall, which was crowded to excess. At least 2000 persons were present and many more unable to gain admittance. A number of ladies were present. Samuel Lewis, chairman of the National Conventiou, called the convention to order, and explained that the call for the Convention was intended to include all friends of freedom, under whatever name they should be known. He alluded to the fact that Gerritt Smith, Lemoine, Tappan, Giddings and several other distinguished men were present, with delegates from four slave states. These announcements were all received with enthusiastic cheering.

Mr. Tappan of New York explained that the objection of himself and other anti-slavery men, who at first declined to attend this convention, was because the call was for those that approved of the Buffalo platform, which he did not approve of. That matter having been explained satisfactorily, he withdrew his objections, and hoped they would be able to form a platform from which no man could jump without breaking his neck.

Henry Wilson of Massachusetts is President of the Convention, and Fred Douglass Secretary. No nomination was made. The Convention adjourned to Thursday.

HOAXES.—These are to common for jokes, or for any thing else but bores. Some Boston correspondent had furnished the N. Y. Herald with a nice account of a Webster Committee, in which the name of Mr. George T. Curtis was used. This gentleman says in a note to the Boston Daily Advertiser:—

"My name is made use of by the writer, and a speech is put into my mouth which was never made. The remarks reported as having been made by me, were never made at a meeting of the Webster Committee, or any where else. No meeting of that Committee was ever held af the Revere House, the place specified by this writer, and none was held any where on the day specified by him."

In one word the statement was cut ont of whole cloth, and has in it no truth whatever.

NEWS ITEMS.—The City Advertiser, published in Charlestown, Mass., is another of the good item papers; witness the following:

POWERFUL MEDIUMS.—There is a spiritual medium in a town not more than forty miles from Boston, whose power is so strong, that tables moved by her inspiration have been known to bend their legs in walking. Who can beat that?

CONVINCED.—We have heard a story lately of a reverend gentleman, who, after being present at a meeting for the investigation of spiritual phenomenan, where he had freely expressed his conviction of the whole matter being an unaccountable humbug, was retiring for the night, when he remarked to his partner, that if that bureau, (pointing to a very heavy and decorous looking article) should move from its place and come towards him, he would believe in spiritual agencies. The words were hardly uttered when the bureau commenced jumping towards him; he watched it with horror, and then rushed toward the door, and down the stairs, while the convincing argument followed close at his heels. We have not yet heard the finale.—Charlestown Advertiser.

Apropos of spirits and tables,—a table jumped about some in this good city of Portsmouth a few evenings since, with a good solid man on the top of it, and didn't bend its legs neither. Nobody ran out of the room or down stairs, however, on this occasion. All looked and laughed; a good room full of cheerful spirits, in no wise frightened by the unseen agencies so potent in locomotion.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A stranger, apparently about fifty years of age, was ran over on the railroad track in the rear of the Freight House of the Concord Road, on Tuesday afternoon, at Concord, N. H. and killed instantly. As he stood on the track, the Patriot says:

Persons near by endeavored to give him an alarm, but he paid no attention to it. He inquired of a workman at the Depot, in the forenoon, the fare to Manchester and to Warren, and to the latter place he was evidently intending to go. He remarked that he had been working at Wells River. He had a bundle of clothes tied up in a black handkerchief. There was found loose in one of his pockets a three dollar bill of the State of Maine Bank, Bangor, and a two dollar bill of the South Royalton Bank, Vt., and $1,75 in change. The only paper found in his possession was a memorandum, with these words as near as we are able to decipher them,—"Direct me to Gerry Reilly."

CALIFORNIA DOCK.—The firm of Campbell and Moody, ship builders and lumber merchants, of New York city, have contracted with government to erect a dry dock at San Francisco, cost $800,000. They have extensive yards in New York city, and agencies in various parts of the country, supplying immense quantities of lumber for railroads, bridges, docks and other works. They built the government docks at Philadelphia and Portsmouth, for $600,000 and $800,000, and are reported to be possessors of a fortune of not less than a million of dollars, though still young men. The junior party is a native of Granby, in Hampshire county, in this State, who commenced life in the button manufacture, and whose first speculation was the purchase of an acre's growth of broom corn.—Newburyport Herald.

The Mayor of Philadelphia has issued an order, directing the police to arrest all boys running with the engines.

FOREIGN NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE AFRICA.

NEW YORK, August 12.

The steamer Africa, with four days later news from Europe, arrived about half past 9 o'clock.

She brings 60 passengers.

The cotton market has been very active, but at unchanged prices—sales for the week reaching 114,000 bales, of which 45,000 were on speculation.

Flour and wheat steady, with a moderate demand. Corn was scarce and white advanced 6d, Ohio flour was quoted at 20s a 20s 6d, and Philadelphia and Baltimore at 18s a 19s 6d.

From all quarters the potato disease is spoken of, and many affirm that it is in a worse form this year than since 1846.

American stocks less active but unchanged.

In the manufacturing districts business was active, with slight advance in goods and yarns.

ENGLAND. The following is stated as the final result of the elections: Free Traders and Liberals, 329; Ministerialists, 125.

The Mail is satisfied that Lord Derby will have a commanding majority in both Houses.

A hurricane had occurred in Gloucestershire, causing great destruction of property.

Louis Napoleon's marriage with the Princess of Wassa is somewhat uncertain.

The vines would not produce more than a third of a crop, wines were consequently rising.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.—A great many editors on this side the water, "doubt" that the yacht America has been beaten, as stated by the English papers. Fiddle! did these gentlemen "doubt" when the news came of her triumph? Is not the authority as good now as then? To doubt is to express partiality and nonsense. The America has been beaten—fairly or not—and instead of spending time in doubts, some of uncle Sam's boys must go to work and build another craft superior to the America, and send her over the water to astonish Old John.—Charlestown Ada.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.

STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,

CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. Tuos. B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

TICKETS can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to

FREE SOIL CONVENTION.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Aug. 12.

Nothing of any importance has transpired in the Convention this afternoon.

Hon. J. R. Giddings, of Ohio, for the Committee on a Platform, made a report which was adopted after some discussion.

CITY COUNCIL.

In Board of Aldermen last evening, the following gentlemen were appointed temporarily Superintendents of Burying Grounds:

North—Ivah N. Rugg.
Pleasant Street—Josiah Wilson.
Point of Graves—John W. Durgin.
Cotton Burying Ground—William Ilsley.

A SIGN FOR THE TIMES.—Mr. P. A. Butler has much improved the front of Congress Block, by a beautiful specimen of his own handiwork. His new sign is of unique pattern, and exquisitely painted and ornamented. The scene represents a wounded and exhausted French soldier sitting amid the snows of Russia, with the inanimate form of his son lying in his lap. Above this is a representation of "Excelsior!" The whole thing is done in good taste, and bespeaks a true artist.

[redacted]

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Iowa Election—J. P. Cook, Whig, is elected to Congress in the third district, by a majority of 500.

COUNTERFEITERS.—Philadelphia, Aug. 11.—A nest of counterfeiters, about 15 miles from Danville, was broken up on Monday by a detachment of police from this city. A Dr. Gettner was shot and wounded while attempting to make his escape. He was afterwards arrested and lodged in jail. The others escaped.

PARDON.—Washington, Aug. 11.—Dayton and Sayres, who were convicted and sentenced two years ago for the attempted abduction of 70 slaves, in the schooner Pearl, to terms of imprisonment in the County Jail, which would extend to 50 years, were pardoned to-day by the President.

EXTRADITION CASE.—Cooperstown, Aug. 11.—On the return of the Marshal this day in the Kane case, Judge Nelson has made the following order:—That in consequence of the difficult and important questions involved in this case, it be heard before all the Justices of the Supreme Court at the commencement of the next term,—and that in the mean time the prisoner remain in the custody of the said Marshal.

CAUSE AND EFFECT OF HABIT.—The Boston Mail mentions that a gentleman who had been in the habit of getting his nippers quietly and slily out of a black bottle in a wine cellar on Congress street, and leaving his nipepence on the cask, last Sunday took a ride into an adjoining town. Not finding his usual resort open, and being thirsty, he went to a neighboring pump, drank through his hand and left a ninepence on the top of the pump.

The Illinois Railroad, from Naples to Springfield, use castor oil on their car wheels, sperm oil is so high. Castor oil is only about 90 cents per gallon, while sperm is selling at $1,25.

A DOG STORY.—A gentleman residing in Chelsea, owns an English terrier, who has a remarkably intelligent face, but is otherwise undistinguishable from the "common herd" of dogs. The gentleman visited Somerville a short time since, and the dog accompanied him. There the dog made the acquaintance of another dog, and was so fascinated with the sociability of his new companion that he missed the cars, and his master came away without him. But the dog was at the station early the next morning, and came home in the first train of cars. Since that time the gentleman noticed that his dog was absent about once a week during the entire day, and has discovered the fact, that on these occasions he goes direct to the Lowell depot, takes his place in the passenger car, jumps out at Somerville, spending the day with his canine friend, and returns at night. The same dog, will, if his master leaves home without him, run down to the coach office, jump into the omnibus, and come to the city in search of him, and if he does not succeed in finding him, returns by the same conveyance. He appears to prefer the omnibus to the ferry boat, and his fidelity ensures him a "free pass."—Boston Herald.

SEMPTER ALLEN.—This is the name of a man who had arrived at an honorable and ripe old age, in New York, and closed a well spent life under the appalling circumstances attending the catastrophe of last week, on the Hudson river. The manner of his death has been instrumental in diffusing throughout the land the good man's fame, and by a fortunate event he was made the unconscious agent in determining the genuineness of his own character. It has been already remarked that a slip from a newspaper was found in his pocket book. The slip has been republished by a New York paper, and it is as follows:

"Keep good company or none. Never be idle. If your hands cannot be usefully employed, attend to the cultivation of your mind. Always speak the truth. Make few promises. Live up to your engagements. Keep your own secrets, if you have any. When you speak to a person look him in the face. Good company and good conversation are the very sinews of virtue. Good character is above all things else. Your character cannot be essentially injured except by your own acts. If any one speaks ill of you, let your life be so that none will believe him. Drink no intoxicating liquors. Ever live (misfortunes excepted) within your income. When you retire to bed, think over what you have been doing during the day. Make no haste to be rich if you would prosper. Small and steady gains give competency with tranquillity of mind. Never play at any kind of game of chance. Avoid temptation, through fear you may not withstand it. Earn money before you spend it. Never run into debt unless you see a way to get out again. Never borrow if you can possibly avoid it. Do not marry until you are able to support a wife. Never speak evil of any one. Be just before you are generous. Keep yourself innocent if you would be happy. Save when you are young to spend when you are old. Read over the above maxims at least once a week."

The slip taken from the pocket-book, it is said, "is evidently old, and has been worn long and perused often."

A CARD.

WILLIAM H. FOSTER, having disposed of his JOB AND CARD PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT to Messrs. Miller & Gray, would cheerfully and confidently recommend their work to his former patrons. WHERE DOES WOOD COME FROM?

If we were to take up a handful of soil and examine it under the microscope, we should probably find it to contain a number of fragments of wood, small broken pieces of the branches, or leaves, or other parts of the tree. If we could examine it chemically, we should find yet more strikingly that it was nearly the same as wood in its composition. Perhaps, then, it may be said, the young plant obtains its wood from the earth in which it grows.—The following experiment will show whether this conjecture is likely to be correct or not. Two hundred pounds of earth were dried in an oven, and afterwards put into a large earthen vessel; the earth was then moistened with rain water, and a willow tree, weighing five pounds, was planted therein. During the space of five years the earth was carefully watered with rain-water or pure water. The willow grew and flourished; and to prevent the earth being mixed with earth, or dirt being blown upon it by the winds, it was covered with a metal plate full of very minute holes, which would exclude everything but air from getting access to the earth below it. After growing in the earth for five years, the tree was removed, and, on being weighed was found to have gained one hundred and sixty-nine pounds. And this estimate did not include the weight of the leaves or dead branches which in five years fell from the tree.

Now came the application of test. Was all this obtained from the earth? It had not sensibly diminished; but, in order to make the experiment conclusive, it was again dried in an oven, and put in a balance. Astonishing was the result; the earth weighed only two ounces less than it did when the willow was first planted in it! yet the tree had gained one hundred and sixty-four pounds. Manifestly, the wood thus gained in this space of time was not obtained from the earth; we are therefore compelled to repeat our question, "Where does the wood come from?" We are left with only two alternatives; the water with which it was refreshed, or the air in which it lived. It can be clearly shown that it was not due to the water; we are consequently, unable to resist the perplexing and wonderful conclusion—it was derived from the air.

Can it be? Were those great ocean spaces of wood, which are as old as man's introduction into Eden, and wave in their vast but solitary luxuriance over the fertile hills and plains of South America, were these all obtained from thin air? Were the particles which unite the battle-ships, Old England's walls of wood, ever borne the world about, not only on wings of air, but actually air themselves? Was the firm-table on which I write, the chair on which I rest, the solid floor on which I tread, and much the house in which I dwell, once in a form which I could not as much as lay my finger on, or grasp in my hand? Wonderful truth! all this was air. —Life of a Tree.

ANCIENT GHOSTS.—The ancients held that each body had three ghosts, which would be released on dissolution; the manes, which at once went to Pluto's region, the spiritus, which ascended to the skies, and the umbra, or shade, which hovered about the earth. Thus the queen of Carthage tells Æneas that her umbra will haunt him on earth, while her manes will rejoice in his torments.

AN ORIENTAL KING.—Captain Eggerton, in his winter tour in India, says:—

"The king was about the most gorgeous, and yet nearly the most absurd individual I ever saw. All the effect of his magnificent robes and jewels was injured, not to say spoilt, by the ridiculous addition of the Highlander's bonnet and plumes, which he wore with an air as if he really thought he had 'done it now.' Besides the usual black feathers, he had added a Bird of Paradise plume on one side of it, the whole effect being supremely ridiculous. In other respects, with his yellow and gold dress, and blue velvet mantle powdered with gold fleurs-de-lis, his splendid jewelled chains, and his gold embroidered slippers, he was the most gorgeously 'got up' individual I ever saw. The chains he wore, three or four in number, were something like the collars of different orders of knighthood, but one mass of pearls or other precious stones. Besides these, he had strings of jewels of immense size hanging about his elbows, an attendant walking close behind him on each side to hold them, for fear they should break off. In fact, as he stood, I should think he would have been cheap at £100,000.

MADAME DE STAEL.—When about the age of seventeen, Madame de Stael was placed at a convent in France. She was in the habit of visiting a friend who lived across the square on which the convent was situated. The brother of her friend always insisted on escorting her home, and led her around the two sides of the square. But as his passion decreased, he gradually shortened the route, until he led her directly home by the nearest way. The witty lady remarks—"By this I learned that his passion diminished in the exact proportion of the diagonal to the two sides of a square"—probably the most accurate calculation of waning affection that maiden ever made.

GOVERNOR UNDERHILL.

CHAPTER II.

This chapter describes very briefly but plainly, three as consummate demagogues and profound hypocrites as are to be found in any historical records whatever. Massachusetts at this time, 1639–40, was quite strict, in church matters and in State affairs also; New Hampshire being more loose in its government, and having no established or State religion, became a sort of asylum for the distinguished refugees of the older colony—and, making up its jewels in this way, actually made eminent men out of some great rogues.

After Knollys had been to Boston and got himself whitewashed by confession and probably by a sort of absolution, Underhill was so affected with his friend's humiliation, and the disaffection of the people of Piscataqua to him, that he resolved to retrieve his character in the same way. Having obtained safe conduct, he went to Boston, and in the same public manner acknowledged his adultery, his disrespect to the government, and the justice of their proceedings against him. But his confession was mixed with so many excuses and extenuations that it gave no satisfaction; and the evidence of his scandalous deportment being now undeniable, the church passed the sentence of excommunication, to which he seemed to submit, and appeared much dejected whilst he remained there.

Upon his return, to please some disaffected persons at the mouth of the river, he sent thirteen armed men to Exeter to rescue out of the officer's hand one Fish, who had been taken into custody for speaking against the king. The people of Dover forbade his coming into their court till they had considered his crimes, and he promised to resign his place if they should disapprove of his conduct; but hearing that they were determined to remove him, he rushed into court in a passion, took his seat, ordered one of the magistrates to prison, for saying that he would not sit with an adulterer, and refused to receive his dismission when they voted it. But they proceeded to choose another Governor, Roberts, and sent back the prisoner to Exeter.

A new scene of difficulty now arose.—Thomas Larkham, a native of Lyme, in Dorsetshire, and formerly a minister at Northam near Barnstable, who had come over to New England, and not favoring the doctrine, nor willing to submit to the discipline of the churches in Massachusetts, came to Dover; and being a preacher of good talents, eclipsed Knollys, and raised a party who determined to remove him. He therefore gave way to popular prejudice, and suffered Larkham to take his place; who soon discovered his licentious principles by receiving into the church persons of immoral characters, and assuming, like Burdet, the civil as well as ecclesiastical authority. The better sort of the people were displeased and restored Knollys to his office, who excommunicated Larkham. This bred a riot, in which Larkham laid hands on Knollys, taking away his hat on pretence that he had not paid for it; but he was civil enough afterward to return it. Some of the magistrates joined with Larkham, and forming a court, summoned Underhill, who was of Knollys's party, to appear before them, and answer to a new crime which they had to allege against him. Underhill collected his adherents; Knollys was armed with a pistol, and another had a Bible mounted on an halbert for an ensign. In this ridiculous parade, they marched against Larkham and his party, who prudently declined a combat, and sent down the river to Williams, the governor, at Portsmouth, for assistance. He came up in a boat with an armed party, beset Knollys's house, where Underhill was, guarded it night and day till a court was summoned, and then, Williams sitting as judge, Underhill and his company were found guilty of a riot, and after being fined, were banished the plantation. The new crime which Larkham's party alleged against Underhill was, that he had been secretly endeavoring to persuade the inhabitants to offer themselves to the government of Massachusetts, whose favor he was desirous to purchase, by these means, as he knew that their view was to extend their jurisdiction as far as they imagined their limits reached, whenever they should find a favorable opportunity. The same policy led him with his party to send a petition to Boston, praying for the interposition of the government in their case. In consequence of which, the Governor and assistants commissioned Simon Bradstreet, Esq., with the famous Hugh Peters, then minister of Salem, and Timothy Dalton, of Hampton, to inquire into the matter, and effect a reconciliation, or certify the state of things to them. These gentlemen travelled on foot to Dover, and finding both sides in fault, brought the matter to this issue, that the one party revoked the excommunication, and the other the fines and banishment.

And well they might, for all the great parties to the excommunication were about equally bad. And Governor Williams of Portsmouth, had no more right to banish Underhill of Dover, than we have to depose Queen Victoria. True it is that Underhill deserved banishment; but that was no affair of Williams's.

In the heat of these disputes a discovery was made of Knollys's failure in point of chastity. He acknowledged his crime before the church; but they dismissed him and he returned to England, where he suffered by the severity of the long parliament in 1644; and being forbidden to preach in the churches, opened a separate meeting in Great St. Helen's, from which he was soon dislodged, and his followers dispersed. He also suffered in the cause of non-conformity in the reign of King Charles the second, and at length (as it is said) died "a good man in a good old age," September 19, 1691, Æt. ninety-three.

THE PORTSMOUTH & CONCORD RAILROAD CASE.—We understand that the arguments of Counsel before the Superior Court at Concord, are closed on both sides of the noted case, the P. & C. Railroad, vs. Wm. Jones et als. It is understood that the Court will give their decision in December.

☞ Gen. Frank Pierce and lady arrived in this city yesterday morning, and returned in the evening to Rye Beach, at which place, we hear, it is his intention to remain several days.

PAPERS OF ONE IDEA.

We have great respect for some men who are regarded as men of one idea; and we read some papers which are equally one sided, with a great deal of pleasure. Not with so much pleasure however, as if they contained a variety of thought with one prominent or leading purpose. The best papers are those which have one grand central idea, around which many others are marshalled like a phalanx of soldiers round about their master-spirit the general-in-chief—and not those wherein the one idea stands out naked and alone like a duellist.

The editor of the Boston Journal, who has had much experience, not only in the chair editorial, but in business matters generally, makes himself merry over the greenness of Dr. Fisher, late editor and proprietor of the Southern Press, who has lost his labor and perhaps twenty thousand dollars besides, in a vain attempt to build up a newspaper on an abstraction. The Journal says, in shaking off the dust from his feet, Dr. Fisher does not conceal his apprehension that the cause of the South will be over-ridden. Among other ludicrous forebodings he expresses the following:

"Now we shall be in dread that Aunt Harriet Beecher Stowe will some of these days lead down into the sunny cotton fields of the South, a host of Massachusetts young women armed with broomsticks, to rescue from captivity the dark skinned George Harrises, whom she has so elegantly described in Uncle Tom's Cabin, as more beautiful, brave, gallant, liberal, intelligent and moral, than their masters."

In another part of his valedictory the editor remarks that in his position "he has not received the material aid, or the actual sympathy which is extended to Tom Hyer or Yankee Sullivan in their pugilistic contests. Either of them could at any time—nay, each of them has, when he wanted it, received more pecuniary aid from his backers."

Dr. Fisher says he "admits that he thought such a paper as the Southern Press might support itself, and might even pay. He saw that was the case with the Abolition paper here, and did not dream that a Southern paper would be inferior to that in support—although no probable amount of such support could have been any temptation to him."

On this the Journal remarks, that "the abolition paper above referred to, (the National Era) is one of the most ably conducted papers in the Union, and its managers annually spend large sums for literary matter to make it acceptable to general readers. If the paper referred to depended for support solely on those who patronize it for the peculiar doctrines it inculcates, it would not exist a year. A newspaper devoted to the advocacy of any particular cause, whether social, political or moral, cannot be sustained unless it is conducted with more than ordinary ability, and made interesting to the general reader. This fact was not recognized by the projectors of the Southern Press. This paper, therefore, although starting with fair prospects, was conducted in so stupid a manner, and with so little enterprise, tact or industry, that its fortunes waned with the decline of the cause which it was established to advocate."

The late Isaac Hill was a politician, and his paper had a great political influence—partly, to be sure, because of peculiar circumstances, but he always made a readable and popular paper, by his constant and judicious selections of useful and entertaining matter not political. And thus he retained great influence as an editor, after circumstances had changed materially.

GUANO AT LOBOS.—Mr. Webster, as Secretary of State, gives his opinion that our ships have a right to take Guano from the Lobos Islands, of which he says:

"This Department, however, is not aware that they were either discovered or occupied by Spain or Peru, or that the guano on them has ever been used for manure on the adjacent coast or elsewhere. It is certain that their distance from the Continent is five or six times greater than is necessary to make them a dependency thereof pursuant to public law. On the other hand, it is quite probable that Benjamin Morrell, Jr. who, as master of the schooner Wasp, of New York, visited those Islands in September, 1823, may justly claim to have been their discoverer. He gives a full account of them in his narrative, published at New York in 1832. Under these circumstances, it may be considered the duty of this government to protect citizens of the United States who may visit the Lobos Islands for the purpose of obtaining guano. I shall consequently communicate a copy of this letter to the Secretary of the Navy, and suggest that a vessel of war be ordered to repair to the Lobos Islands for the purpose of protecting from molestation any of our citizens who may wish to take guano from them."

The Journal of Commerce adds that in pursuance of instructions given in accordance with this intimation, the frigate Raritan sailed from Panama for the Gallipagos, and afterwards the Lobos Islands as is supposed for the purpose of protecting American vessels in taking guano, in which case as the parties will proceed under the sanction of the American Government, the Journal infers that if on further inquiry the Peruvian claim to exclusive jurisdiction should be substantiated, the Peruvian claim for indemnity will be on the government and not on the individuals who proceed upon this intimation to take possession.

DEATHS IN A FOUL WELL.—A despatch from Calais, M., gives the following account of three persons who lost their lives in that place:—

Messrs. J. S. Phillips, Joel Gooch, and Mr. Henderson, of Alexander, Me., were killed by decending a foul well. The former in order to cleanse his well descended for that purpose, and, while doing so, became insensible from the effect of impure air. On being called no answer was received. Mr. Joel Gooch then descended the well to assist him, but he also fell a victim. Mr. Henderson then went down to make fast a rope to Joel Gooch, and when about half way up became exhausted, and fell back dead.

Mr. John Gooch then went to their assistance, and barely escaped with his life, without effecting any good. The bodies were extracted by means of a pole being hooked to their clothes.

The Boston Transcript don't think much of the nice young man who began the fracas at Newport,—and says:—

"It has generally been considered more befitting a gentleman in these difficulties with waiters to refer the matter to the master and hold him responsible. But the "chivalry" has reversed this order of things, and we now annually hear of fights between waiters at our watering places, and some Hotspur who has taken offence at some real or fancied slight, and who descends at once to the position of the offender in his mode of redressing it.—Such persons might make excellent head waiters, but they can hardly be expected to figure in drawing rooms in any more distinguished capacity."

SPIRITUAL RAPPINGS INSANITY.—We are informed that Mr. Orville Hatch, of Franklin, Conn., has become insane, he having devoted considerable attention to the subject of spirit rappings. Mr. Hatch, left home on Saturday last, and his friends fear that he will commit suicide, as he, previous to his departure, represented that he had received a message from the spirit of a man who had committed suicide, urging him to leave the world. Mr. Hatch is a farmer, and has been instrumental in introducing many important improvements in agriculture into the town where he resides. He was also an officer of the New England Poultry Association, and at the last exhibition in this city, his collection of fowls was very large and valuable.

The number of those made insane by the spiritual phenomena, is increasing every day, and in view of this fact it becomes those who investigate the causes of the manifestations, to be guided by the laws of reason and nature.—Boston Journal

MR. JOHN R. HARRIS, of Troy, was on board of the Henry Clay at the time of the accident, and escaped. He was also on board the Empire when she sunk near Newburg, and also on the Swallow when she run on the rock near Athens.

SHIP'S CREW RESCUED.—Capt. Valpey, late of ship Reciprocity, destroyed by fire at sea, arrived at New York, Thursday, from St. Pierre, Miquelon, where he was taken by the French schooner Excel. Capt. V. states that himself and crew, numbering twenty-seven persons, had been on the boat twelve hours with but very little provision and water, when they were rescued by the Excel.

MISSIONARIES RETURNED.—In the ship American Congress, which arrived at New York, Thursday, there came the following passengers who reached England by the overland route from the east:—Rev. J. Newton and wife, missionaries from India, with five children; Miss Harriet Livermore, from Jerusalem; Mrs. Louisa Javier, from India.

A REMARKABLE INSTANCE OF LONGEVITY OF A FAMILY.—Died in Eitzwilliam, N. H., on the 8th inst., Doct. Thomas Richardson, aged 86, and on the same day, in Leominster, Mass., Maj. John Richardson, a brother, aged 82; also in the same place, on the 27th of June last, a sister, aged 91. Of this family, the parents and nine children, one sister died aged 42, the only death under 74. The average age of the parents and six children is 81 years. The two younger brothers are yet living, one at the age of 75, and the other 68.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate on Thursday, Mr. Walker moved to postpone all other business and take up the Homestead Bill. Negatived—yeas 14, nays 31.

Mr. Soule delivered his speech on the fishery question. Adjourned.

The House passed the bill regulating costs and fees in the courts of the U. S. and took up the bill declaring the bridge across the Ohio river at Wheeling, Va. and Bridgeport, Ohio, to be lawful structures in their present position and elevation.

Mr. Woodward argued a constitutional question, but his remarks were suspended by the expiration of the morning hour.

At half past 3 o'clock, took a recess until 7 o'clock. At ten minutes past 7 fifteen members only were in attendance. The House ajourned at 10 o'clock.

Friday, Aug. 13.

The Senate is busy with private bills. Among others passed, is one for the relief of the officers and seamen of the steam-frigate Missouri, which was lost several years since in the harbor of Gibraltar.

House. The bill declaring Wheeling Bridge to be a post road was taken up, and debated.

A motion was adopted to stop debate upon the Army Appropriation bill one hour after it shall be taken up in Committee of the Whole.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole, on the above bill. Mr. Mace of Indiana, spoke one hour, and made a Democratic speech.

The House then proceeded with five minute speeches, and a great number were made.

FREE SOIL NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Pittsburg, Aug. 12.—Joshua R. Giddings, chairman of the committee on the platform made a report of the principles and measures of the party. The twenty-first and last resolution was as follows: That we inscribe on our banner 'Free Soil,' 'Free Speech,' 'Free Labor,' and 'Free Men,' and under it will fight and fight ever until a triumphant victory shall crown our exertions.

The report was accepted and adopted.

The convention then proceeded to ballot for a candidate for President, and resulted as follows:—John P. Hale 192, Charles Durkee 1, S. C. Phillips 1, T. H. Benton 1, Gerritt Smith 3, S. P. Chase 5, Mr. Goodall of New York 2, Mr. Adams 1. The vote was afterwards declared ananimous.

The Convention then proceeded to ballot for a candidate for Vice President, and George W. Julian, of Indiana was nominated.

BRITISH PROVINCES.—Com. Perry and the officers of the Mississippi are received with much attention at St. John's and a ball in their honor was talked of. The News says that "on Sunday last the harbor of St. John presented an American cast of character.—There were twelve large American ships lying at anchor with their ensigns apeak, as well as the war steamer Missisippi. Jonathan ruled the waves in port that day."

The shock of an earthquake was fell at Bathurst and its neighborhood, about 11 o'clock on the night of the 2d inst. The court house was damaged.—Boston Post.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.

STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,

CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. Thos. B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, on after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

TICKETS can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to

TELEGRAPHIC

DESPATCHES

TO THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.

A letter from Washington says the appointment of Arthur S. Hopkins to the vacant Judgeship in the Superior Court, will probably be sent to the Senate in a few days.

CONGRESS.

Senate.—This being the day when under the rules any objection to a private bill could postpone it, and no debate being in order, over thirty were put, and as many objected to and postponed.

A communication from the Navy Department was received in answer to a resolution of the Senate calling for contracts made for Dry Docks in California. He gives information that the only contract contemplated is with Daking, Moody, Gilbert, Zeno & Secor, as principals, and F. Secor & Dean, as securities, all of New York. The contracts have not yet received the Secretary's signature.

BOY DROWNED.

BOSTON, Aug. 13.

Dennis Leary, aged 13, was drowned in Back Bay this afternoon, while bathing.

EXCURSION TO SUNCOOK.—The members of the City Council had a fine day for their excursion to Suncook, yesterday. The dinner at Suncook was complimentary to the Mayor. There were a number of invited guests—the company consisting of about sixty. We learn from the Journal that it was got up at private expense, and not at the cost of the city.

"The city to-day has had a somewhat desolate aspect."—Journal, yesterday.

We take it the editor must have judged all things else by himself—he perhaps feeling "desolate" because of the absence of his companions in office. We certainly entertained an entirely different opinion, and thought the unusually large number of strangers in town, the presence of Gen. Pierce, and the excitement among the sporting men, made things appear uncommonly brisk.

☞ Rev. John Moore, of Concord, N. H., is to preach at the Universalist Church tomorrow.

Rev. David Root is to preach at the North Church, to-morrow.

CLERGYMEN.—It is stated that there are eighty Episcopal Clergymen residing in New York City. This sounds like a large number.

Episcopal ministers are said to be much wanted in Virginia. There are twenty-seven vacant parishes in that diocese. Some of these are said to be among the most desirable parishes in the state.

☞ There is a large fleet of fishing vessels off our harbor at the present time, engaged in mackerel-catching. We hear it estimated at from two to three hundred sail.

A SUNDAY AT QUARANTINE.

BEYROOT, SUNDAY, April 18.

As Quarantine is a sort of limbo, without the pale of civilized society, we have no church service to-day. We have done the best we could, however, in sending one of the outside dragomen to purchase a bible, in which we succeeded. He brought us a very handsome copy, printed by the American Bible Society, in New York. I tried vainly in Cairo and Alexandria to find a missionary who would supply my heathenish destitution of the Sacred Writings; for I had reached the East through Austria, where they are prohibited, and to travel through Palestine without them would be like sailing without pilot or compass. It gives a most impressive reality to Solomon's "house of the forests of Lebanon," when you can look up from the page to those very forests, and those grand mountains, "excellent with the cedars." Seeing the holy man of Timbuctoo praying with his face toward Mecca, I went down to him, and we conversed for a long time on religious matters. He is tolerably well informed, having read the Books of Moses and the Psalms of David, but like all Mahommedans, his idea of religion consists mainly of forms, and its reward is a sensual paradise. The more intelligent of the Moslems are ashamed of the nature of the Heaven promised by the Prophet, and I have heard several openly confess their disbelief in the seventy houries and the palaces of pearl and emerald. Sheikh Mohammed Senoosee scarcely utters a sentence in which is not the word "Allah," and "La illah il' Allah," is repeated at least every five minutes. Those of his class consider that there is a peculiar merit in the repetition of the names and attributes of God. They utterly reject the doctrine of the Trinity, which they believe implies a sort of partnership, or God-firm; (to use their own words,) and declare that all who accept it are hopelessly damned. To speak of the false character of Mahomet's prophetship would excite a violent antagonism, and I content myself with making them acknowledge that God is greater than all Prophets or Apostles, and that there is but one God for all the human race. I have never yet encountered that bitter spirit of bigotry which is so frequently ascribed to them; but on the contrary, fully as great a tolerance as they would find exhibited toward them by the most of the Christian sects.—Bayard Taylor's Letters to the Tribune.

REQUIEM.

ON THE DEATH OF MRS. ELIZA A. CROWN.

"I ask for the beautiful ones of earth,"
Saith a voice far away and unseen,—
"Those who are most lovely, of priceless worth,
It is those that I highly esteem.

It is those I would tear from friends who love
I would sunder affection's sweet tie;
And then take those beautiful ones above,
To a much brighter mansion on high.

Sometimes 'tis the aged saint I want,
'Tis all those who have finished below,
The work I designed them well done, they pant
For those joys I alone can bestow."

Those in life's high noon are swift hasten'd away,
And the death of the saint in his eyes
Is precious; and therefore he called from on high
To thy husband, "Come home to the skies!"

The young, the lovely are next in the train,
And those that were dear to thy heart,
Are called to their home, with Jesus to reign;
It was Jesus who called you to part.

'Tis our Father who gave, and who taketh again,
Then meekly submit to the rod;
Thy children are gone, and with him they do reign,
In their death they confided in God.

He sundered the tie—still another has gone,
Eliza has left all below,
And joined the fair angels in Jesus's home,
And no sickness, no sorrow shall know.

She has gone—and no power can recall her again,
She has now tuned her bright, golden lyre,
Is chanting the praise of Immanuel's name,
With the heavenly, angelic choir.

No more will her voice be mingled with thine,
For her Savior redeemed her from sin;
Encircled around her his love so divine,
And she now will reign ever with him.

Who, who would not love this Savior who died
For sinners on Calvary's mount?
May we have all our sins, our wickedness, pride,
Washed away in this pure cleansing fount.

And then when the journey of this life is o'er,
We a mansion above may obtain,
May meet those dear friends who have gone before,
With our God and our Savior to reign.

NOTICE TO BUILDES AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of our finest buildings are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and patchy contracted, leaden goose-necks, or hand made wrought skewangle construction of the upright conductor with which the cornice is adorned—all of which may be remedied by application to

J. E. CAZOMAX,

PRACTICAL TIN PLATE WORKER,

who will give his personal attention to the adjustment of all such defects. Specimens of Ornamental Goose-necks and Conductor Cocks, on the most approved plan of modern design, may be seen at his Tin Ware Factory, where he manufactures to order

COD AND MACKEREL FISHERY.

The following article from the Boston Transcript contains valuable information on the subject of the fisheries—and will be read at this time with great interest.

Great disaffection exists among the fishermen towards the administration, because of the revival by Secretary Corwin of the restrictions in regard to bounties, introduced by Secretary Walker in 1848, but disregarded by his successors up to the commencement of the present year. Mr. Walker, violating the spirit of the law and confining himself to the letter, required that fishermen should catch nothing but cod, in order to entitle them to the bounty; whereas the phrase "cod fishery," was introduced into the original act because it was the only fishery of any consequence known to the country at the time, and the mackerel fishery had not attained the importance, which distinguished it subsequently.

The bounty system was originally adopted by our government to compensate our fishermen for the absence of a drawback on the salt which they used, and furthermore to encourage the nursery for seamen which our fisheries afforded. It was stated in the Senate the other day by Mr. Hamlin, Senator from Maine, that "to foster their fisheries the French give a bounty of twenty francs on a French quintal of two hundred and twenty and a half pounds avoirdupois—nearly equal to two dollars per American quintal of one hundred and twelve pounds; a sum almost equal to what our fishermen obtain for their dried fish when fit for market."

It is a notorious fact, that from among our fishermen went forth the gallant crews that achieved our most brilliant successes in the last war with Great Britain. In every naval encounter their services were the guarantee of our superiority in nautical manœuvres, and in the intrepidity and powers of endurance of our men. Freely did these bold and patriotic mariners shed their blood in their country's behalf, and small have been the returns which they have looked for.

But they do look for protection from British insult and aggression, and for the continuance of that encouragement towards their perilous pursuits, which government has hitherto cheerfully accorded. By the circular of Secretary Corwin, dated Feb. 20th, 1852, no part of a fare or voyage, in which halibut, mackerel, or any other fish are taken as an object of pursuit, as well as cod, can be reckoned as a portion of the time required by law. "Where other fish," says the circular, "are taken merely as bait for cod, or as food for the crew, no objection will be made, as such taking is regarded as strictly subsidiary to the cod fishery; but if such other fish remain on board until the close of the fare or voyage, and are carried into port, the fare or voyage must be regarded as one of mixed fishery, which cannot be taken into the computation of the time required by law for the allowance of bounty."

Thus if a fisherman is fishing with two hooks, and pulls up a cod on one and a halibut on the other, he must not carry the halibut home, and sell it, unless he would vitiate his bounty. He must either eat the halibut, or throw it overboard. To what an absurdity this impracticable provision would subject him! Truly this is driving the poor fisherman to sad straits for the securing of the little pittance which constitutes the bounty.

"The taking of mackerel by any vessel under cod fishing license," says the circular, "except as bait or food for her crew, is regarded as a violation of the license laws.—Such illegal fishery during any season will forfeit all claim to bounty for that season, and when the fact is known to any collector, he is instructed to refuse the allowance hereafter accordingly." There is no reason why this severe provision should be grafted on the law. More salt is used in the curing of mackerel than of cod. The equivalent for drawback should be as much. The fishery is equally a nursery for seamen; and the fact that the Japan expedition, after all our bravado, has fallen through principally on account of a lack of seamen, indicates how far it is prudent on the part of government to encourage such a nursery instead of reviving illiberal restrictions, that must reduce it to insignificance. The act of 1792 never contemplated these hampering and ruinous distinctions; and fishermen have received their bounties up to 1848, and subsequently, to the present year, without being obliged to prove that all the mackerel they might chance to meet were suffered to go uncaught.

There are other objectionable provisions in the circular, to which we have alluded, but we will not refer to them now. What with seizures by the British, and the establishment of restrictions, in many instances rendering the bounty law null and void in the spirit, our fishermen will find the balance against them at the close of the season. The result of such discouragements to their important labors, cannot fail to be very detrimental to the interests, present and prospective, of the United States.

RAILROAD IRON.—The price of railroad iron in England has gone up from $21 to $31 per ton. This adds also under our ad valorem tariff $6 per ton to the duty, thus increasing the protection when it is least essential and diminishing it when it is most needed by the hard driven manufacturer.

So low has been the price of railroad iron, for three or four years past, that all the works for the manufacture of it in this country have been abandoned. Within a few weeks one or two of the works in the United States, encouraged by the advancing prices, have commenced operations, giving employment to a large number of workmen.

Within the last three years nearly 400,000 tons of railroad iron, worth over nineteen millions of dollars, have been imported into the United States, from England.—Newburyport Herald.

GOVERNOR UNDERHILL.

CHAPTER III. AND LAST.

In this closing chapter may be seen some sketches of this man's life after he ceased to be Governor and left these parts.

Underhill having finished his career in these parts, obtained leave to return to Boston, and finding honesty to be the best policy, did in a large assembly, at the public lecture, and during the sitting of the court, make a full confession of his adultery and hypocrisy, his pride and contempt of authority, justifying the church and court in all that they had done against him, declaring that his pretended assurance had failed him, and that the terror of his mind had at some times been so great, that he had drawn his sword to put an end to his life. The church being now satisfied, restored him to their communion. The court, after waiting six months for evidence of his good behavior, took off his sentence of banishment, and released him from the punishment of his adultery; the law which made it capital having been enacted after the crime was committed, could not touch his life.—Some offers being made him by the Dutch at Hudson's river, whose language was familiar to him, the church of Boston hired a vessel to transport him and his family thither, furnishing them with all necessaries for the voyage. The Dutch Governor gave him the command of a company of an hundred and twenty men, and he was very serviceable in the wars which that colony had with the Indians, having, it is said, killed one hundred and fifty on Long Island, and three hundred on the Main. He continued in their service till his death.

Mr. Wood says he settled at Stamford, in Connecticut, and was a delegate from that town to the court of New Haven in 1643, and was appointed an assistant justice there. In the war between the Dutch and Indians from 1643 to 1646, he had a principal command.—After this war, which was terminated by a great battle at Strickland's plain, and in which the Dutch with difficulty obtained the victory, he settled at Flushing, on Long Island. He had some agency in detecting and exposing the intrigues of the Dutch treasurer in 1653. In 1665, he was a delegate from the town of Oyster Bay to the Assembly, holden at Hempstead by Governor Nicolls, and was appointed by him, under sheriff of the north riding of Yorkshire or Queen's county. In 1667, the Matinecoe Indians gave him 150 acres of land, which has remained in the family ever since, and is now in possession of one of his descendants that bears his name. It is supposed that Captain Underhill died at Oyster Bay in the year 1672. See Wood's Sketch of the First Settlement of the several Towns on Long Island, 3d edit. 1828, 76. The author of this work in a letter to John Farmer, Esq., dated at Huntington, L. I., 5 November, 1827, says, "the descendants of Captain Underhill are numerous and very respectable. His eldest son John was a magistrate and a man of influence and very serviceable. The most of his posterity have changed the warlike habiliments of their ancestor for the Quaker habit. One of his female descendants, who resides within six miles of Huntington, is clerk of a meeting in that neighborhood, an office of considerable importance among the Friends. She is regarded as a woman of superior talents and acquirements." The name of Underhill still exists in New Hampshire.—Whether those bearing it are descendants of Captain John Underhill, I have not ascertained. There was a Giles Underhill in New Hampshire in 1668.

We find in this relation a striking instance of that species of false religion, which, having its seat in the imagination, instead of making the heart better and reforming the life, inflames the passions, stupifies reason, and produces the wildest effects in the behavior. The excesses of enthusiasm have often been observed to lead to sensual gratifications; the same natural fervor being sufficient to produce both. It cannot be strange that they who decry morality, should indulge such gross and scandalous enormities as are sufficient to invalidate all those evidences of their religious character on which they lay so much stress.—But it is not so surprising that men should be thus misled, as that such frantic zealots should ever be reduced to an acknowledgement of their offences; which, in this instance, may be ascribed to the strict discipline then practised in the churches of New England.

☞ The body of James A. French, the boy who was drowned at Piscataqua bridge, was found about four miles from the Bridge, towards Newmarket, in Great Bay, on Friday afternoon.

☞ The August term of the Court of Common Pleas commences its session in Dover, to-morrow.

THE BUSINESS OF POTSMOUTH.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad (which will be in operation throughout its entire length, in a very few days,) will open to our merchants a large region of inland country. There seems to us no sufficient reason why this section of country should not receive its chief supplies from this port.

We are among those who believe this new road will do much for the business of Portsmouth—that freight enough will be carried hence over it to employ shipping that shall cause our unequalled harbor and wharf privileges to be brought much more into requisition than has been the case of late. We expect much from this iron line of fifty miles. Time will prove how nearly correct we and the large mass of our citizens who entertain the same opinion, are in this matter.

In the meantime we have established a daily paper in this good city of Portsmouth. We have already a good circulation both at home and abroad. Especially on the line of this Concord road does the Chonicle circulate—our sales and list increase thereabouts very satisfactorily. We reduced the sale-price of our paper more for the purpose of circulating our advertising than anything else—and we have succeeded in so doing. We did not expect to realize more immediate pecuniary benefit, but we did and do expect to circulate our advertisements so much more widely, that we shall have notrouble in getting all we we can accommodate.

As an advertising medium, for Portsmouth traders particularly, there is none better than this. And so well have they become convinced of this themselves, that our entire advertising space has been filled exclusively by them thus far. We should like it to remain so. We have a little room yet—our rates are low—we guarrantee to give as good circulation within our circuit of twenty miles and along the P. & C. R. R., as can be had in any other way.

SHIP-BUILDING

ON THE PISCATAQUA.

Messrs. Fernald & Pettigrew have on the stocks at their yard at Badger's Island, a new ship of over 1400 tons, government measure, built entirely of New Hampshire white oak, the hull of which is about three-fourths finished. The ship is owned in Portsmouth and New Orleans, has three entire decks, is intended for the freighting business, and, as is calculated, will carry 4500 bales of cotton, and with proper ballast, draw 17 feet of water. Her back-bone, from keel to top of the 3d kelson, measures 7 feet 3 inches. She is 185 feet long on deck, and 190 feet over all—is 40 feet beam, extreme breadth,—29 feet 7 inches deep, and she is to be finished in the best and strongest possible manner, in style and fastening not to be exceeded by any ship afloat.

The same builders have also on the stocks a clipper ship of 1000 tons, for Robert Taylor of New York, which is nearly framed. She is intended for the California and India trade.

Geo. Raynes has a ship ready for launching at his yard—intended for a packet or freighter—of Herculean dimensions,—and of finish and fastening the most perfect and solid which timber and metal can form. Mr. Raynes has laid out upon this ship all the science and mechanism, for which, during years of experience, he has been distinguished, and the ship is a castle of strength and solidity which will challenge the admiration of every observer.

Mr. Raynes has also on the stocks, partly framed, a clipper ship of 650 tons, for Oliphant Sons, of New York, intended for the China trade.

Thus far we copy from the Boston Courier; and add, that Captain Samuel Badger is now building at his ship-yard at Kittery Foreside, a ship whose dimensions are: 146 feet length on deck, 22 feet depth of hold, and 30 feet breadth of beam. She will be of 600 tons burthen, and is to be owned in Portsmouth, and commanded by CaptainJ. P. Trefethern of Kittery.

Mr. Badger has launched since the 10th of May, the ship Samuel Badger, about 1000 tons; also the ship John Montgomery, of 1000 tons.

Captain Samuel Hanscom is building a ship at Eliot, of about 700 tons. She is half clipper, and owned in Boston.

THE FISHERIES.—On the first side to-day is an article on the fisheries,not belligerent towards Great Britain, but complainant against our own government for a narrow and illiberal construction of one of our own laws. It does not answer in this or any country to put a forced and arbitary construction on an old law, after one more liberal has prevailed for a long time, and become a sort of law by usage. This is precisely the fault of Great Britain at this moment in regard to our fisheries. We do not bear it patiently from her, and ought not to bear it at all from our own government.

There is no truth in the rumor of Mr. Webster's resignation.

HIGH LIFE BELOW STAIRS.—The New York Journal of Commerce learns by a gentleman from Newport, that the waiters at the Ocean House who undertook to mob one of guests, (a Southerner) were not colored persons, but white. This is a fortunate circumstance, as it disconnects the affair from the question of slavery.

The above is clipped from the Boston Journal, to which paper we suppose the last remark belongs. But we are at a loss to see what a fracas at Newport, R. I., between a waiter and a snob, can have to do with slavery or freedom.

It is a terrible offence against "The School of Good Manners," and that is all. The waiters at Newport we believe are of all colors (except those of the rainbow.)

MISSIONARY RETURNED.—It will be seen by reference to our passenger list by the ship American Congress, that a number of missionaries have arrived in that ship, having reached England by the overland route from the East. Among them we notice the name of Miss Harriet Livermore, from Jerusalem. —N. Y. Express.

Miss Livermore was a preacher in this town and vicinity five and twenty years ago. She belonged to the Christian Society, and used to attend nearly all their great meetings; was an authoress, published one or two books, and finally went out "bound in the spirit to Jerusalem," where she has remained till the present time.

☞ The Lowell News states that the drought is very severe in the upper part of this State. Some thirty or forty miles above Concord, people are going into the woods and cutting down the underwood for their cattle to browse upon. The grasshoppers cover the earth, and have destroyed all signs of vegetation in the pastures and fields.

The Mr. Thompson who is chosen a member of the British House of Commons by the University of Aberdeen, is the Provost of that University, and not Mr. George Thompson, the Abolitionist. So says a correspondent of the Boston Transcript of Saturday evening.

A NEW PLAY.—Somebody in Boston is dramatising Uncle Tom's Cabin. It will have a run.

So will the Sea Serpent, off Cape Cod, where he was spoken, the other day, by a pleasure yacht.

NAVAL.—U. S. sloop-of-war Decatur, Commander Green, arrived at New York Friday, from New Orleans, with 68 recruits.

ENGLAND.—The quarterly returns of marriages, births and deaths in England, for the quarter to 31st March, has just been published. The numbers are as follows: Marriages, 32,933 couples; births, 159,137; deaths, 100, 813. In neither case is there any remarkable departure from an average.

The reports from the agricultural districts are, almost without exception, of a satisfactory character. Scarcely a complaint is heard from any quarter, and should the month of August prove moderately propitious, the present promise of a more than usual abundance will be certain to be fully realized.

PRUSSIA.—The Prussian Post-office statistics for the year 1851 are just published.—Number of letters from Royal family, public offices, &c., not subject to postage, 20,722,-063; letters charged with inland postage, 35,-897,836; ditto from abroad, 4,997,658 ditto to foreign States, 5,202,054; letters transmitted through Prussia, 1,561,456; letters through Provincial Post-offices, 2,661,000. Total, 70, 487,868. The total amount of letter stamps and stamped envelopes was only 14,715,439; total number of employees in the Prussian Post-office Department, 920.

COLLEGE RUINED BY A STORM.—On the afternoon of the 27th ult., Cambridge, Ohio, was visited by a storm of great severity. The large three story College building is a mass of ruins, the roof being blown off, and with it the walls of the third story and most of the second story. The new Methodist Episcopal church was injured to the amount of some $40 or $50.

A new department has been connected with Dartmouth College, called "The Chandler School of Science and Art," in which are to be taught arts and sciences best fitted to make one active and successful in business life. This department is endowed with a legacy of $50,000, left by the late Abiel Chandler of Walpole, N. H.

THE JAPAN EXPEDITION.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Times says there is no truth in the report that the Japan expedition has been abandoned. It will sail next autumn, unless some sudden exigency should arise requiring use for vessels at home.

MORE STEAMBOAT RACING.—There was another disgraceful race on the Hudson last Friday, between the Alida and Francis Skiddy; both boats narrowly escaped collision, and the Alida was considerably damaged by running foul of the dock at Newburgh. The Alida made no landing at West Point.

FROM THE MORMON COUNTRY.—According to the Deseret News of June 26, there was good weather, growing crops, and universal peace among the saints. Nothing is said of any internal difficulty.

P. M. General Hall has been nominated to the Senate by the President, for the vacant New York Judgeship.

NEW POST OFFICE.—A new Post Office has been established at Alton Bay, and W. L. Emerson, Esq. appointed Post Master.

Mr. John Moore, a revolutionary soldier, aged one hundred and one years, died at Memphis, Tenn. on the 30th ult.

The imports of dry goods in the port of N. York the past week, amount to $2,000,000.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, on Saturday, the resolution offered by Mr. Merriweather, calling for the amount of pay received by Gens. Scott and Pierce, was considered.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill relating to the Wheeling Bridge as a post road.

Mr. Howes of Pennsylvania, concluded his speech in opposition to the bill.

Mr. Wilson of Va. spoke against the passage of the bill.

The House then went into committee of the whole, and resumed the consideration of the army appropriation bill.

NORTH CAROLINA ELECTION.—The vote in all but 11 counties of North Carolina stands Reid 34,511, Kerr 29,330. Reid's majority 5181. Reid's gain 861. In the Senate the Democratic majority is 8. House, so far, Whigs 56, Democrats 54, with counties electing 10 members to hear from, probably whig majority 8, making a tie on joint ballot.

In England lately, a law case was brought by Henry Box Brown, a Fugitive Slave and owner of the panorama representing Southern Slavery, against the proprietor of the Wolverhampton Herald, for making a severe criticism on his exhibition. Brown gained a verdict of $500 damages.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—Mr. Jonathan M. Snow, aged twenty-nine years, was killed on the 6th instant, near Ithaca, N. Y. He left the barn, and hastened to the field to the assistance of his father, and was in the act of finishing a shock of hay, when lightning struck the tines of his fork, melting one of them, and passing down the shank of the fork, inside of the handle and out of the nail hole which held the fork, and then down the handle to where it rested on his shoulder, broke the handle short off, and passed down his shoulder and left side, down both legs, taking the bottom entirely off both boots and tearing the legs into several pieces and throwing them some distance from him. The fluid passed into the ground under his feet, making a hole several inches in diameter. When his father, who was a few rods from him, and who was considerably stunned also, came to him, his clothes were on fire and torn into fragments.

TWO ERRORS CORRECTED.—The Boston Post says:

"We have received a letter from the Hon. J. P. Hale in which he contradicts, fully and unequivocally, the statement recently published representing him to have said two years ago in New Hampshire, that "he would head an army to march upon the south and put down slavery," and to which Gen. Pierce is reported to have replied "if he (H.) should head an army to march upon the south, he would have to march over his (P.'s) dead body, for he would head an army to oppose him." Mr. Hale concludes his contradiction as follows:—

"I made no such remark nor any thing like it, at a public meeting or elsewhere, two years ago, or at any time, and of course Gen. Pierce never made any such reply. I have not attended any meeting with Gen. Pierce since 1840, when we were both on the same side, but once, and that was in June, 1845, at Concord, N. H., when nothing of the kind occurred. If you doubt the entire correctness of what I say, please apply to Gen. Pierce himself.

Respectfully yours,

ARRIVAL OF THE DANIEL WEBSTER.

We are indebted to Jackson & Co.'s Express, for a copy of the second edition of the Boston Journal of Saturday evening, from which we gather the following.

The steamship Daniel Webster arrived at New Orleans from Nicaragua on Friday, with dates from San Francisco to July 15th. Her passengers report the Panama boat would take $2,000,000 on freight.

Crime throughout California was on the increase, and numerous fights and murders had taken place, the authors of which, however, were promptly punished by the citizens.

The reports from the mines were not very favorable, but large yields were anticipated as soon as the rains commenced.

The first overland emigration of the season reached San Francisco, July 3. A party of young men from Ohio made the trip in 72 days. The emigration during the season it is expected, would be large.

The troubles with the Chinese population were not yet settled, and those on Bear river had been driven off by the Indians.

The general health of California was good. The crops were producing an astonishing yield.

The markets at San Francisco were in a healthy state, with a fair business doing.

CHINA.—Advices from China report that a rebellion was daily gaining ground.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The Sandwich Island papers contain further details of piracies upon American vessels.

The steamer Illinois arrived at New York on Saturday, from California—with advices the same as by the Daniel Webster.

LATER FROM MEXICO.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 13.—Dates have been received from the city of Mexico to the 31st ult., by which we learn that the rebel movement was very formidable. The disaffected at last accounts, were marching agaiust Jalapa, and further troubles are reported at Tampico.

CAPT. MARCY SAFE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Intelligencer says that news has been received at the War Department of the safety of Capt. Marcy and the troops under his command.

NEWS FROM THE FAR NORTH—Arrival of the Pembina Train.—Charles Grant, Esq., of Pembina, arrived with his train at St. Anthony on Thursday last. He brings fifteen carts with Buffalo robes.

We obtain from him the following particulars in relation to the distant region whence he comes, and his trip through;

The heavy snows of the latter part of winter, when thawed about the close of March, flooded Red River and all the northern streams, causing a general destruction of the farms on Red River and great distress in the Selkirk settlement. The freshet continued till June, and prevented the seasonable planting of crops, as all the settled lands were subject to the inundation. As a consequence great suffering for want of food is anticipated in the Selkirk settlement during the next winter.

The people of Selkirk are now compelled to depend upon the chase for subsistence, which is rendered precarious at this time, in consequence of a war waged against their half-breed hunters by the Yankton Sioux Indians, who are assembled in large numbers in the buffalo country, to assail them on their approach.

The people of the Pembina country—the whites and civilized half-breeds—with few exceptions, reside at St. Joseph, at the foot of Pembina Mountain, 30 miles west of the junction of Red and Pembina Rivers—a high and eligible situation, beyond the reach of the floods which devastated their previous settlements on Red River.

There are between 25 and 30 buildings at St. Joseph, including a Catholic church.

They are gaining considerable accessions of population from the Selkirk settlement, many of the inhabitants of which are migrating south of the boundary line.

Mr. Grant says that the Pembina region is a fine farming country, with good soil, well watered with rivers, brooks and springs, and containing an inexhaustible supply of coal and salt, and that he expects at no distant day to see flourishing settlements there, and steamboats running from Pembina on Red River to Lac Traverse, thence through a canal two miles in length into Big Stone Lake, and thence down the St. Peter to St. Paul, the commercial depot of the great Northwest, all of which is practicable during high stages of water.—St. Paul's (Minnesota) Democrat.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT
From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.
STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,
CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. Thos. B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

TICKETS can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to
SAMUEL R. CLEAVES, Agent,
a10 At Portsm. & Concord Railroad Station.

DEATH FROM A SINGULAR CAUSE.—George Simington, aged 18, recently of Winchendon, and lately employed in the Match Box factory, Newton's Lane, Fitchburg, came to his death very suddenly on Saturday afternoon last. He was in the act of conveying some parts of machinery, and walking on the railroad track above the depot, and during the shower took refuge under the second railroad bridge, where he was found sitting in an erect position, perfectly dead.

On Sunday, a post mortem examination was very minutely made by Drs. Marshall and Hitchcock, by order of Coroner Phelps, nearly all the physicians of the town being present. We learn from the Reveille that the heart was found perfectly healthy and no serious disease was discovered in any part of the body. The contents of the stomach were tested, and no poison discovered. The deceased had for a few months past suffered from chronic cough, induced (as was supposed) by the dust from sand-papering pails with machinery; and as a consequence, was occasionally troubled with faintness and loss of breath after rapid walking. No other cause can be assigned for his death than sudden and extreme faintness, induced by rapid walking to escape a shower, and sitting down and becoming fixed in the erect posture by the manner in which he rested against the timbers of the bridge. Had he assumed the horizontal posture, the fatal degree of faintness might have been averted. Mr. Simington was a very worthy young man, and had worked several years for Elisha Murdock, Esq., of Winchendon.

JUDGE BURNET.—Judge Burnet, son of the famous Bishop of Salisbury, when young, is said to have been of a wild and dissipated turn. Being found by his father in a very serious humor, 'What is the matter with you, Tom,' said the Bishop; 'What are you ruminating on?' 'A greater work than your lordship's History of the Reformation,' answered the son. 'Aye! what is that?' asked the father. 'The reformation of myself, my lord,' replied the son.

A machine for painting window blinds has been invented by Samuel Fields, a painter of Worcester, by which one man can paint easily 80 pairs of blinds in a day, and not work over ten hours.

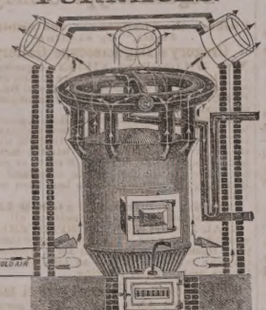
The World's Fair Prize Medal
Awarded to
CHILSON'S
PATENT AIR WARMING & VENTILATING
FURNACES.



THESE FURNACES have been thoroughly tested in all parts of the country, and are now admitted to be the BEST in the world.

The subscriber, Sole Agent for the sale of this in the County of Rockingham, has, during the past three years erected a number of them in this City, to the entire satisfaction of those for whom they were erected.

He is now fully prepared to erect in both public and private buildings, every variety of warming and ventilating apparatus, at prices as low as can be done in any part of the country, and would respectfully call the attention of those interested, and those contemplating the erection of Furnaces this Autumn, to the fact, that they can be erected at a LESS PRICE during the warm season, than after cold weather commences.

FORGIVENESS.

We know not whether the following lines have been published before, nor hardly how they came into our hands. If we infringe on the author's rights by printing them, we trust the fair writer will exercise the virtue herein extolled, toward us :

The virtues met in summer time, beneath an aged tree,
To see each other, and to hold a converse kind and free;
They also had a prize to give, to one among them there;
And who the worthy one should be, they all were to declare.

The fair ones, meekly joining hands, their mutual honor plight,
And seek, with truly honest zeal, to recompense the right;
When all had thought, it was agreed (a judgment ne'er more wise,)
By all as one, with heart and voice, FORGIVENESS takes the prize.

HOW PIPKIN "BLOWED" HIMSELF.

BY ONE OF HIS OLD CRONIES.

Bill Pipkin hadn't been married very long, and hadn't got quite out of the habit of taking little punch drinkin' frolics with his friends on particular occasions. He was fust rate for makin' excuses for stayin' out at nights now and then ; he was teribly pressed with business, and as he took monstrous good care never to cum home cross-legged, his wife never 'spected nothin,' and all went on fust rate. One night Bill got rather mor'n he could carry strait, but he didn't find it out till he was on his way home. He wouldn't have Susan know of his sitewation for all the world, and he began thinkin' as well as he could, with his head spinnin' round so, what was best to be done to keep her from findin' him out.

"I've got it 'zactly," says he, "Susan, Susan knows I'm terrible fond of m-m-milk. Well I'll just take a big swig of m-m-milk, and that'll fix all right—so she'll never suspect nothin', poor girl."

Home he went, practising straight walking all the way, and studying in his mind how he would talk straight so Susan wouldn't find him out.

When he found the latch, which was on the wrong side of the door, what opened the wrong way, too, he felt round in the dark for more doors than was ever in the house before, and got into ever so many queer-shaped rooms, till he found the pantry where he 'spected to find some milk. He didn't have no very clear idee as to where it ought to be, so, after feelin' about in every place but the right one, he cum to the conclusion to go up to his room and ax his wife whar it was. The stairs seem to be turned upside down, and the bedroom had changed places with the cellar and kitchen, but he made out at last to find the door.

After clearing his throat, and saying over his speech, so he wouldn't make no mistake, he opened the door and took a lean agin the door-post, and listened to hear if his wife was awake. But she was sound asleep.

"All the better for that," thought he to himself.

"Susan ! Susan !" says he very low and plain.

"Eh !" sez Susan, just walkin' out of a dose.

"Is that you come home, my dear. I—"

"Susan ! Susan !" sez Bill, not paying no attention to what she said—his head being full of milk—"Susan !"

"What my dear ?"

"Is thar any milk in the house ?"

"Yes, dear, but what in the world—"

"Susan ! Susan !"

"What dear ?"

"Whar is the milk ?"

"In the pantry, in the dinin' room, dear. But you'd better come to bed now—it's so—"

Bill didn't say a word, but took some terrible long steps in the dark. He found the dinin' room agin and the pantry, but he could not find no milk no whar. After trying for about five minutes, he goes up the stairs agin, and leanin' agin the door to steady himself, he axed his wife agin—

"Susan ! Susan !" says he very particklar.

"Eh—what ?" sez she, wakin' up again.

"Is thar any milk in the house ?"

"I told you there was milk in the pantry, dear."

Down went Bill again. This time he felt every whar, and upset lots of things, making a terrible racket among the crockery, but not a drop of milk could be found.

"Cuss the milk," says he, "whar could they put it ?"

In a minute more and he was at the bed room door again.

"Susan ! Susan !" says he.

Susan snuffled the snore right off in the middle.

"What ?" sez she, sort o'cross this time.

"Is there any milk in the house ?"

"Yes, I told you !"

"Well, whar is it ?" sez he.

"I told you on the shelf—in the pantry—in the dinin' room !" sez Susan, breaking it off into pretty short mouthfuls of loud italic.

That sort o' skeered Bill, and put him off his guard.

"Well, Susan," sez he, "is it tied up in anythiny, or is it layin' about loose ?"

That was enuff—the cat was out of the bag and no help for it. Mrs. Pipkin was wide awake in a minit, and the way Bill got a Candle that night, was enough to sober the drunkenest husband in creation. He never got corned again—and it was mor'n a year arter afore he could drink milk in his coffy when Susan was at the table.

PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, AUGUST 17, 1852.

GOLD GETTING CHEAP.—An old proverb used to say "Gold may be bought too dear." That was true then, and is now, in one sense; but in another gold is getting to be cheap. Becoming more plentiful in proportion to other things than formerly, it causes many of those other things to rise in price. In a money article for yesterday, speaking of the gold in Australia and California, the Boston Daily Advertiser says, "This sudden augmentation which has already continued, in an increasing ratio, for three or four years, is likely to continue and even to increase for a long time to come. It can be no longer denied, that the immense supply of gold from these new sources, far more productive than any which before existed, has produced a sensible effect on financial transactions throughout the world; and that this effect is likely to be greatly increased, and to become sensible through a wider sphere of influence, reaching even to the common concerns of life—affecting in a greater or less degree the prices of all commodities—and consequently the relative value of property, as measured by the standard of value recognized in all countries."

OPENING OF THE PORTSMOUTH AND CONCORD RAILROAD.

By the Advertisement of the Road in our columns to-day, it appears that the First Passenger Train to run over the entire road will start from Portsmouth on Wednesday afternoon. This is the first train for the special accommodation of the great democratic mass meeting at Hillsborough, the birth place of Gen. Pierce. On and after Monday next there are to be three regular trains a day each way, creating an accommodation that will create business and increase travel to a great extent. The road has had to struggle with great difficulties, especially poverty—but it bids fair now to become useful, and we trust, profitable also.

We shall circulate a large number of our papers all along the road, and in Concord—affording an unequalled opportunity for advertisers.

REPORTED LOSS OF SHIP STAFFORDSHIRE.

The Boston Insurance offices are troubled at a report of the wreck of ship Staffordshire, which comes from a Valparaiso paper, but is doubted by passengers on board the Quito from Valparaiso, none of whom had heard of it

The following is a translation of the Valparaiso paragraph.

"SHIPWRECKS.—It is but a few days ago that we gave an account of the shipwrecks that had occurred during this year. We now have to record two others. The first is a vessel lost on the island of Santa Maria, a place dreaded by seamen at all times. She is supposed to be the American ship Staffordshire, bound from Boston to California, with upwards of three hundred passengers, all of whom it seems, except one, have escaped with their lives. By the same vessel which brought this news we learn also that the Portuguese bark Guimaraens had gone ashore in the Bay of Culcura, every person saved.

The island of Santa Maria is off the coast of Chile, in latitude 37 10 S. longitude 72 32 W.

The Boston Daily Advertiser says, "The Staffordshire is a splendid ship, recently in Train's line of Liverpool packets, 1817 tons, nearly new, and commanded by Capt. Josiah Richardson, one of the ablest and most experienced shipmasters in the country. He was master of the Stag Hound on her first voyage to San Francisco. The Staffordshire sailed hence May 8, with 72 passengers in the first cabin, and 83 in the second, which number is much short of that reported above. She was fully officered and manned, and in every respect well appointed. Her cargo was a very valuable one, and if the report proves correct, the aggregate loss to insurance offices in this city, on vessel, cargo and freight money, will be probably not far from half a million of dollars, an amount greater than our offices were ever called upon to pay, upon one vessel. We sincerely hope the report will prove to be incorrect."

NEW RESERVOIR.—The city is digging a huge hole in School street, for the purpose of constructing a reservoir, the effect of which is intended to be a competent body of water ready for use at all times in case of fire thereabouts. We cannot have too many real improvements. This is one of them.

IMPROVEMENT.—Sometimes great improvement may be made in and by a very small thing. And a case occurs to us now, in the improvement of Hill street by cutting down the entrance thereto across the sidewalk in Vaughan street. Hitherto, the steepness of the ascent has been troublesome to loaded teams, and at the same time has kept the sidewalk in a broken and uncomfortable condition.

WHITE MOUNTAIN ACCOMMODATIONS.

We see it stated that two gentlemen, in attempting to ascend Mt. Washington recently, without a guide, got caught in a storm in coming up from Gibbs', could not find the house on the summit, and had nearly perished when found at eight o'clock next morning. No one who has not tried it, can form an idea of the difficulty of this ascent on foot.

A house, twenty feet by forty, has been erected on the top of the Mountain. It is arranged for the accommodation of persons who wish to remain on the Mountain over night, the lodgers having berths as in steamboats.—This will be found very useful and agreeable to all who wish to be on the summit to see the sun emerge from the ocean. We passed a night in "old Crawford's" little hut a few years since, in this hope, with pine boughs for a pillow and a crackling fire near the open front; but the exhaustion produced by our eight-mile perpendicular walk in a rain-storm, caused our watch to dose with the rest—and we all awoke amid a thick fog, at sunrise, two miles from the summit, the sole point of view! Our only guide on the occasion was Crawford's dog "Rover," and he led us down Fabyan's path, causing us a twelve mile walk after our baggage and unpaid bills.

The Portland Advertiser states that arrangements have been made for the construction of a carriage road to the top of Mount Washington—a magnificent project. The persons who have contracted for the work have given ample security to complete the same within eighteen months, at a cost not to exceed $1,500 per mile.

PRESERVATION OF TIMBER.—Cragie's Bridge, connecting Boston with what was then called Cragies' Point in Cambridge, was built between thirty and forty years ago. What was then a naked point is now called East Cambridge, and is a populous part of a thriving city. The bridge is now in the process of a thorough repair or rather rebuilding, on which rapid progress is made.

The Cambridge Chronicle informs us, that on taking up some of the timbers which were covered with planks and dirt, and the edges of which were painted with a red color, they were found to be in a perfect state of preservation, and nearly as good as new. They were placed in the bridge at the time of its construction, and were again used in the present repairs.

☞ The annual meeting of the Boston & Maine Railroad corporation is to be held at Exeter on Wednesday, September 8.

NEW CASTLE BRIDGE.—During the last week, land communication with New Castle has been cut off. The bridges being but twenty feet wide, the length of a single plank, it is impossible to pass while repairs are being made. Bridges are usually laid with two lengths of plank. The repairs are nearly completed.

SQUAMSCOT SALOON, EXETER.—Mr. Dennis B. Staples, who used so satisfactorily to cater for the appetites of the people of Portsmouth, has a fine saloon in the west end of the new Squamscot House, at Exeter. Oysters, Ice Creams, Cake, Soda, and most every good sort of edibles are still served by him in the best style. All who have tried him once, will do so again, when occasion offers; and those who have not, we recommend to do so.

☞ Rev. Lyman Beecher, D. D., is to preach ten Sabbaths in the North Church in this city, commencing with the second Sabbath in September.

PICNICS.

These social gatherings have come to be quite an "institution" in New England; and our railroads and steamboats, our sailing craft and carriages, all find their revenues increased by half price excursions on the picnic plan. We need something to make us as social as we were designed to be—and such gatherings come very near supplying the want.

PICNIC AT STRATHAM.—The Sunday School connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church in this city, intend having a picnic in a beautiful grove on land of Mr. Littlefield, in Stratham, to-morrow. Leave Concord Railroad depot at 10 o'clock A. M., returning at 7 1-2 P. M. Tickets for sale by Moses & Oxford, T. D. Bailey & Co., and Aaron Akerman.

The Pleasant Street Society had their picnic at the same place last week, spending a pleasant day in a pleasant manner. Four hundred persons were present.

Hon. Ira Perley, Judge of the Superior Court of New-Hampshire, has resigned his office, to take effect 18th October.

FORTIFICATIONS.

It would appear by the following extract from the Washington correspondence of the New York Commercial, that the Committee of Ways and Means has no fear of an interruption of our peaceable relations growing out of the fishery or guano questions, and ignores the sage advice "in time of peace prepare for war:"

"The Committee of Ways and Means, of the House, have matured a fortification bill, and a great affair it is. It makes appropriations to the amount of eighty thousand dollars for the repairs of the old works, and that is all. It does not provide a dollar to continue or complete any of the classes of new works began, or even to preserve them from dilapidation. If an appropriation of half a million a year for forty years should be made, it would complete our line of fortifications on the Atlantic and the Gulf. But it is not possible to extend our vision so far ahead. We go ahead, but we do not look ahead. The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, have decided against the project for a navy yard and naval depot on the lakes. The navy estimates are also to be much reduced. The recommendation of the Navy Department, at the commencement of this session, that the construction of two sailing and one steam vessel of war be provided for yearly, is not to be complied with.

It is plain, therefore, that Congress does not apprehend the occurrence of any war, either at present or for years to come. They are obliged, however, to provide for the employment of a considerably increased military force, for the immediate defence of the frontier exposed to Indian depredations."

The Commercial might have thought of another reason for this odd management.—The National Executive happens to be of one party, and a majority in both Houses of Congress happen to belong to the other. This majority may desire to put as little money and as little power into the hands of the President, as can possibly be placed there. And they may also be very economical, though their long session does not look like it.

SECRETARY WEBSTER.—The following is from the correspondent of the New York Courier, under date of Washington, August 12:—

The last story of the newsmongers, that the President and Mr. Webster have had a disagreement, is made out of whole cloth, if the statements of both parties may be credited. Mr. Webster directed a portion of his library to be sent to Marshfield, and this fact, assisted by fertile imaginations, has furnished the staple for the rumor. There is a class of journals which must be provided with a daily allowance of news, even if it be necessary to fabricate what is served up with all the pretension of truth. No change of relations has occurred between the President and Secretary of State, and all allegations to the contrary are wholly unfounded. Whether Mr. Webster will continue at the head of our foreign affairs, after closing the Fishery question and some other subjects of public moment, will depend entirely on circumstances yet to be developed and having some relation to the time that may be occupied in accomplishing these objects. The Administration is within six months of its exodus in any event, and it is easy to see that difficulties may be interposed in some of the pending negotiations which will extend the period of their consideration and require the supervision of the same directing mind.

EASTERN RAILROAD.—The engineers and workmen are very actively engaged in constructing that part of this road, which is on the line through the Cary estate in Chelsea, and thence into Boston. Some three or four parties are at work on the section between the crossing under the Chelsea Beach road and Broadway, near the foot of Mount Bellington. They are making the road bed in the most thorough and substantial manner, and will probably have the whole finished in October or November next. When in full operation, this portion of the Eastern railway will probably be one of the best paving lines, in proportion to its extent, as well as one of the best constructed, in New England.—Boston Trans.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Fidelia A. Morse, 10 years and 7 months old, an adopted daughter of J. A. D. Worcester, of Charlestown, Mass., was drowned at Lowell, on Wednesday afternoon last. She had been taken to the cars for Lowell, that morning, by Mr. Worcester, where she went on a visit to her mother to spend the vacation. In the afternoon she went to the canal to take a walk, and venturing down the bank of a race-way, she was frightened by a boy and fell into the water, and was drowned.—Advertiser.

SAD AND FATAL ACCIDENT.—In Billerica, on Friday last, as Mr. William Farmer was assisting a neighbor to start an ill disposed horse by attempting to lead him by the head, the animal suddenly reared upon him, knocking him down, and springing, brought the wheels of the heavily loaded wagon directly over his head, killing him instantly. Mr. Farmer was a temperate and industrious man, about forty years of age, and leaves a wife and child.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—In Limington, Me., 6th inst., Mr. Rufus Meserve, an esteemed citizen of that town, who had been a short distance from home with his team, by some mishap was thrown down, when one of the wheels passed over his head, crushing it in a most horrible manner, causing death instantly.

MORMONISM IN THE MEDITERRANEAN.—The Millenial Star, a Mormon paper published in London, states that Mormonism is making great progress in the island of Malta.—The same paper says many thousands of Saints will leave England for Utah ere long.

LIGHT AND DOCK DUES.—East Collins steamer pays, on entering the harbor of Liverpool, £62, but nothing for light dues on clearing. They however pay £98 for dock dues, whether they use the dock or not, and other charges which swell the latter sum to £112 or £116.

MR. SEWARD'S SPEECH ON THE FISHERIES.—The Herald's correspondent, writing on the 14th, says Mr. Seward's speech in the Senate to-day fully confirmed my previous statements as to the fishing operation, viz:—First, that England has not at this time set up any new claim as regards the head land, and that Admiral Seymour has no instructions to seize any vessel outside of three miles from the coast; secondly, that the President does not feel at liberty to make any reciprocity treaty, but leaves all action to Congress.

Mr. Seward's speech is entitled to consideration as it was the result of a full conference with Mr. Webster and the British Minister.—Mr. Webster and Mr. Crampton were both in the Senate Chamber to-day.

Mr. Seward is eminently a practical man, as evinced by his speeches this session, on the Whale Fishery and now on the Cod Fishery.

MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, JULY 14.—Since our last review, several large vessels have arrived from the Atlantic ports, and large sales have been made, and prices have run up considerably; for a few days after, a good deal of hesitancy was manifested by the trade, but a slight concession on the part of the importers has caused business to move regularly, allowing handsome profits to the importers; altho' it is known that a good many goods are on the way, we have no fears of any very important depression in trade. Bread Stuffs—Flour maintains our quotations, and unless more abundant supplies are received, we think prices will be very well sustained until receipts become more abundant from Chili; in the meantime, we presume our market will be pretty well cleaned of old stock. American may be quoted at $20, and Chili at $18 a 19.—Clothing—The market is active, and desirable goods sell quickly. Boots and Shoes—Receipts, 1162 cases. The advance in these articles is fully maintained. Parcels recently received, of fine qualities, have been sold at 65 a 100 per cent advance on cost and charges. Coal—importations since the 1st amount to 672 tons from the eastern ports. The parcel per Victory (92 tons) sold at $42; that by the Ala (50 tons) at $42 50; both lots were Anthracite. The stock now in first hands is light, and the next arrivals may be expected to realize an advance on our present quotations. Dry Goods—The receipts since the 1st, have been large. Sales of Duck, landing and to arrive, at about 100 per cent. on cost and charges. Grain—The stock of Oats has much increased and prices irregular, as they are often injured by being used to pack goods with. Barley inactive. Hams—We note sales of about 80,000 lbs., prices 25 a 31c. Lumber—We note sales of 200 M. eastern plank, clear, 1¼, 1½ and 2 in. at $65 a $65. Provisions—Receipts of pork, 50 bbls. Masket firm. Rice—We note sales of Carolina at 15 a 18c, and of China at 12½ a 15c. Money can be loaned on good security at from 2½ to 3 per cent. per month.

DISASTERS, &c.

U. S. sloop-of-war Preble, at Fayal, July 9, reports on her passage out, she fell in with the wreck (lat. and long. not stated) of a vessel which had been timber and fish laden. The upper works were all gone, but upon close examination the word "Lubec" was made out on the stern.

A derelict vessel with the following letters on the starboard side of the stern "LUEBBEC C," was passed July 12, lat 38 N, lon 38 W, by the Reindeer, from Paraiba, ar in Great Britain. The place where the vessel belongs is on that part of the stern, but what could have produced the optical illusion of making each letter seem double is a mystery. An abandoned Lubec vessel has been several times, we think, reported in that vicinity.

Brig Stella, of and for St. John, N. B. before reported abandoned, was fallen in with, water logged, at 8½ P.M. 6th inst. lat 38 20, lon 70 10 during a SW gale with heavy squalls and rain, by bark A. J. Harvey, at Philadelphia, which laid by until 4 A.M, when the weather moderated sufficiently to allow the bark's boat to take off the crew. The brig had sprung a leak in a SSW gale while scudding, July 30, and finally settled down so that the top of the house only was above water. The crew had not eaten or drank for 48 hours, the sea breaking over them continually. The first officer, David Murray, who was delirious when taken off, died 9th inst. Another man was delirious when taken off, and the others were so weak they could barely stand. The Stella was a new brig of 214 tons, and was laden with pitch pine timber.

Ship Oxford, Lane, Jan. 16th, for San Francisco, was stranded no date about forty miles north of the entrance of San Francisco harbor. Hopes were entertained that she would be got off when her cargo was discharged.

Bark Home, Brumerhop, for San Francisco, in endeavoring to work out of Humboldt Bay, thro' a new channel, previous to July 7, struck on the South breakers, and became a total loss. The passengers and crew, about forty in number, were saved, with the exception of two seamen who were drowned. She was laden with lumber.

BENTON'S ELECTION—RIOT.

New York Aug. 16.

The Herald and Times of this morning both exult over the election of Benton to Congress.

A fearful riot occurred at Fort Hamilton Sunday afternoon between some 15 or 20 of the troops stationed at the Fort, and the colored waiters at the Hamilton House. The riot took place in front and in the grounds of the latter establishment, but no satisfactory cause is assigned for its origin. The troops met their opponents with knives and bayonets, cutting several of the negroes severely. The excitement among the guests of the house, particularly the ladies and children, was unprecedented. A body of troops under Capt. Morris, succeeded in restoring order. Seven of the men from the fort have been arrested.

CHOLERA ON THE ISTHMUS.—The Journal of Commerce publishes a letter from Panama, dated July 19th, which reports that the emigrants on the Isthmus had suffered horribly from cholera, but that scarcely any prevailed at Panama.

The British steamer had arrived with $280,000 in silver.

Mr. Webster has expressed himself as highly pleased with Mr. Seward's speech on Saturday, in a complimentary note to that gentleman, acknowledging the same.

LOAN FOR THE TEXAN CLAIMS.—Washington, 16th. The Finance Committee of the Senate will report a bill to-day, authorizing a loan of $8,333,000 at 3 per cent, for 20 years, to pay the creditors of Texas, the government to pay the creditor holding claims for which the revenues of Texas were pledged, pro rata, upon their giving full releases. As the proposition does not interfere with the five millions in the treasury under the boundary bill, it is generally acceptable, and will probably pass Congress as the only practicable method of relieving these creditors.

Mr. Hunter is the only member of the Committee who dissents from the proposition. His opposition arrises from the fact that he considers it an inteference with the sovereignty of Texas.

ELECTIONS.—A Baltimore dispach says, the Georgia papers contain reports and resolutions adopted at various county meetings held in that State to appoint delegates to the third candidate convention to be held at Macon on Tuesday, Aug. 17. Twenty-eight counties have already appointed delegates, and their proceedings, as far as published, point to Daniel Webster as the favorite candidate of the movers.

North Carolina Elections.—In all the counties except Macon, Cherokee, Yancey and Carrituck the vote for Reed 39,479, for Kerr 35,110; Reed's net gain 912. The House of Commons stands 61 Whigs to 55 Democrats —Cherokee, Hayward, Yancey, Tyrell and Macon to hear from. No doubt of a Whig majority on joint ballot.

THE LIQUOR LAW IN NEWPORT.—There was something of a disturbance at Newport on Tuesday, caused by an attempt to enforce the new liquor law, against Mr. Copeland of the U. S. Hotel and others.

CALIFORNIA.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.

The steamer Northern Light, from San Juan, 8th, with 300 passengers, $150,000 in gold dust, arrived here this morning. She reports San Juan healthy, and the river in good navigable condition, also that the markets are dull and well supplied, except flour, of which there is none on sale.

The Northern Light brings two days later intelligence from San Francisco, from which we learn that through the intercession of Mr. Dillon, the French Consul, amicable relations had been restored between the Americans and foreigners in the district of Maraposa, and all parties had returned and were quietly pursuing their business at the mines.

A rumor prevailed at Sacramento on the 16th, that Georgetown had been destroyed by fire—the report requires confirmation.

The steamship Illinois, Lieut. Hartsteine, U. S. N. commanding, from Aspinwall city, arrived at New York at two o'clock on Saturday, which left Aspinwall city on the 6th inst., with the California mails, of July 15, 1852, 340 passengers, and nearly $2,000,000 in treasure, and brings the mails, passengers and specie that came down on the Pacific side in the Northerner, Captain Isham.

A TIRESOME BUSINESS.—The Tampa Bay correspondent of the Jacksonville Republican, says Gen. Blake arrived there 25th July from Fort Myers, where he left 24th, after talking with Billy Bowlegs for 4 or 5 days. Gen. Hopkins arrived on the 4th and left on the 9th, to meet Billy Bowlegs. It is anticipated Billy will go with his people. Gen. Blake says he will give Billy only until September to agree and emigrate, after which if they tarry he will call upon the sharp shooters under Gen. Hopkins, to disperse them. The Indians taken by Gen. Hopkins, left on the 3d.

It is a bad business to be fighting Indians any way, but a war of words is terrible.—And then, only think of it—Gen. Blake talking with Billy Bowlegs for four or five days! a duel detween two braves, with tongues for weapons. It is absolutely distressing. An old scriptural warrior, who was by no means afraid of swords, thus expresses his idea of those who are blessed:—"Thou shalt keep them secretly in a pavilion, from the strife of tongues."

DEMOCRATIC RATIFICATION MEETING,

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.

STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,

CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice), at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other Amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. THOS. B. LAIGHTON'S Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

TICKETS can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to

SAMUEL R. CLARKE, Agent,

a10 At Portsm. & Concord Railroad Station.

Get the Best.

DISEASES OF THE SEASON—THE USE OF FRUITS.—There were formerly certain undefined complaints during the latter part of summer, familiar to everybody in New England, termed diseases of the season, of which many died, and of which fruit was generally supposed to be the all-powerful cause. A greater mistake was never made by an intelligent community, than to suppose that apples, pears, plums, peaches, berries, melons and the like, when fully ripe, are injurious either to individuals who fall below the standard of sound health, or to the more strong and robust. It is a misfortune that fruits are so dear that the poorest people cannot have that of the best quality, and sometimes can have none at all. As all the laws of nature are harmonious, it is very certain that fruit wisely intended as an essential part of the food of man, particularly at the season when they are ripe. It is necessary to exercise reason in the use of them, as in everything else.

If we eat that which is decayed or crude, it is a violation of a physiological law; and so also is a total abstinence from them when scattered plenteously over the land. Fruit, therefore, may be considered necessary to the maintainance of health, and its free consumption should always be encouraged. Those who cannot obtain the good, often ravenously devour the unwholesome, from an instinctive desire implanted in their nature. To the abuse, and not the proper use of fruit, may be charged the occurrence of what are called the diseases of the season.—Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

HOW TO MAKE GOOD VINEGAR.—A correspondent of the Ohio Cultivator vouches for the merit of the following recipe for making vinegar;—"Mix one quart of molasses, three gallons of rain water, and one pint of yeast. Let it ferment and stand four weeks, and you will have the best of vinegar."

No man who has ever lived in Portsmouth, would give one gallon of our pure Cider Vinegar for a barrel of such stuff.

NOTICE TO BUILDES AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of our finest buildings are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and narrow contracted, leaden goose-necks, or what is still worse, a skewangle continuation of the upright conductor with which the cornice is adorned—all of which may be remedied by application to

A. E. CHAPMAN,

PRACTICAL TIN PLATE WORKER,

who will give his personal attention to the adjustment of all such defects. Specimens of Ornamental Goose-necks and Conductor Caps, on the most approved plan of modern architecture may be seen at his Tin Ware Factory, where he manufactures to order

CONDUCTORS, GOOSE NECKS & GUTTERS of all sizes, in the most thorough and substantial manner. All orders left with him will receive immediate attention.

UNCLE TOM'S GLIMPSE OF GLORY.

BY ELIZA.

The following Words of a popular piece of music will interest all who have read Mrs. Stowe's Uncle Tom.—(and who has not?) They were written by a lady native of Portsmouth, and have been set to music.

Gently as fadeth the glad light of day,
Little Evangeline passeth away;
No more her feet through the flowers will roam,
Slowly but surely she neareth her home.

Now all her loved ones she calls round her bed,
And gives each a curl from her fair, drooping head;
And bids them remember to meet her above,
And Him who so loves them, forget not to love.

Why seeks the verandah, the good Uncle Tom,
And leaves his own cabin though midnight has come?
He knoweth the bridegroom ere long will be here,
And watcheth and waiteth till he shall appear.

For O, when he cometh and taketh his own,
He knows, while the gates shall be wide open thrown,
He may catch, of the world without sorrow or sin,
A glimpse of the glory, as Eva goes in.

A BROKEN HEART.

The Portland Argus chronicles the following sad story under the head of melancholy suicide:

MELANCHOLY SUICIDE.—Died in Winslow, Me., on Tuesday morning last, Miss Harriette E. Hale, aged twenty-five years.—She had been feeble and exceedingly melancholy for the most of the time during her whole life, but especially within the last six months, and unusually so within a few days. On Monday afternoon she went to Waterville, bought a four ounce phial full of laudanum, returned to her home in Winslow, changed her dress for a morning one, and with an umbrella entered the nearest wood. In the centre of the grove she made a neat bed of boughs under some hemlock trees, spread the umbrella over her head, placed her bonnet for a pillow, and drinking nearly all the laudanum, corked the phial and put it into her bosom. Her feet were crossed, her arms folded on her breat, and her handkerchief tied under her chin. Such was her situation when found, at 10 o'clock at night. She was alive, and breathing like one in a heavy sleep. Men carried her in their arms to the edge of the wood, and thence on a litter, home, where Drs. Boutelle and Beason and attentive friends did all they could for her.

The opinion of the examining physicians, in regard to her case, was that long continued and constitutional feebleness, attended by a deep melancholy, had thrown her mind from its balance. The writer has known her from a child, and has been kindly permitted to read some of her manuscripts. Every one can feel kindly toward a fellow being, who has words like these, written in 1849—"Thus far my life has been a spiritual warfare, dark and dreary. No gleam of sunshine has ever fallen upon my path; therefore my soul has grown dark." We want such a one to come back, that we may give our sympathy. Her pages are full of thought and feeling.

There is a circumstance which had its weight as the manuscripts plainly show—although it was not the principal cause of her sadness—the severing of that tie which often grows stronger in death, especially when its object is a youth of worth and promise.

We strongly suspect, after all, that this was the principle cause of the suicide, if not of the sadness. To us it is a case of depression, melancholy, gloom, ending in a broken heart. Tread lightly o'er her ashes, stern moralist.—She was a sufferer, to be pitied—rather than a criminal to be blamed.

LOCATIONS.—Messrs. Andrews & Boyle, the chief disseminators of phonography and phonotypy in America, print a newspaper to assist the writing and printing reform they dote so much upon. We were once talking of the "Anglo Saxon," as being printed in phonotypy (or phontypic characters,) when a boy standing by very eagerly inquired where the town of Phonotypy was located? A question 'twould be hard to answer, for the short, concise, all-comprehending system of short-hand finds favor wherever it becomes known.

This boy's mistake was about equal to that of a wealthy ship-owner in a neighboring city, who having seen in a Newburyport paper that a ship in which he was interested, had dragged her anchor and was "lying in great jeopardy," enquired of the editor the precise location of the port of "Great Jeopardy."

A KITTEN WITH THUMBS.—In a house on Mount Vernon street in Charlestown, Mass., there is a small kitten, having upon each of its forepaws the singular appendage of a thumb. —Advertiser.

A poor man in Halifax, Mass. last year, had a kitten with an extra claw or thumb on each foot; she held a little ball of yarn, or a large nut, apple or potato, with entire ease, in any of her paws. Her mother had such thumbs on her fore paws only.

DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 18, 1852.

THE LOBOS ISLANDS.

The Boston Courier and the Newburyport Herald have critocised Mr. Webster's late article on the Lobos Islands, wherein he decides that Americans probably have the right to get Guano from Lobos by right of discovery by Capt. Morrill in 1823.

The Herald says, Mr. Webster has evidently been caught napping in this opinion. He has certainly made a mistake in history and geography, as well as international law. If he had consulted his newspaper friends, he would not have committed this error.

The Boston Courier says "the Lobos Islands were known by the name they now bear more than two hundred years before Morrill's time. The nearest of them lies but 17 miles from the main land of Peru, and can be seen from the shore in a clear day; so that they must have been known to the early Spanish settlers, whether they were visited by them or not. The first account we hear of them is in the voyage of Jorris Spilbergen, a Dutch Admiral, who paid these Islands a visit in 1615. They were then without inhabitants, but abounded in seals, from which they take their name. [lobos de mar.] The buccaneers resorted to these Islands in 1684, and they are very accurately described in Dampier's Narrative. Woodes Rogers in 1709 made them a station for his ships, while cruising against the Spaniards. He describes the Islands as being frequently visited by the Indians from the continent for fish and birds' eggs. Don Antonio de Ulloa mentions the Lobos in 1741.

The Courier however agrees with Mr. Webster in deeming the Peruvians to have lost their right there by non-occupancy.

The Herald does not, and is supported in this opinion by the New York Times, National Democrat and other papers.

The New York Tribune says "some of our citizens from the State of Connecticut engaged in the seal fishery as long ago as 1798, visited and occupied these islands, and continued to do so down to the year 1830, or thereabouts, when that fishery ceased to be profitable in that locality."

The same paper gives a list of 21 ships and barques which have sailed from the port of New York for the Lobos islands since Mr. Webster's letter was written.

The New York Times says these ships and and others have gone out, and may either be driven off by the armed vessels of Peru, or protected in loading guano, by the Raritan frigate, which has been ordered there for this purpose. If the first, they come upon the Government under Mr. Webster's letter, for lost profits; if the last, the Peruvian Government for damages. And from the present aspect of international right on the subject, they would be surely awarded.

ANTINOMIANS.

A reader of our chapters on Governor Underhill inquires who the Antinomians were, and what they believed or taught.

Antinomian is compounded of two Greek words signifying against law. Antinominans, says Buck, in his Theological Dictionary, are those who maintain that the law is of no use or obligation under the Gospel dispensation, or who hold doctrines that clearly supercede the necessity of good works. The Antinomians took their origin from John Agricola, about the year 1538, who taught that the law is no way necessary under the Gospel; that good works do not promote our salvation, nor ill ones hinder it; that repentance is not to be preached from the decalogue, but only from the Gospel. This sect first sprung up in England, during the protectorate of Cromwell, and extended their system of libertinism much farther than Agricola did. Some of them, it is said, maintained that if they should commit any kind of sin, it would do no hurt, nor in the least effect their eternal state; and that it is one of the distinguishing characters of the elect, that they cannot do anything displeasing to God.

It is not to be supposed that all who were called by this name in Underhill's time, went all those lengths in doctrine; still less that they were all like him and Knollys and Larkham, as to conduct. The term was applied for many years in New England, by Arminians and "moderate Calvinists" to those whom they deemed ultra Calvinistic. But it is now very little used.

A Webster Meeting was held in Boston at the Art Union Hall, on Monday evening, when Rev. Matthew Hale Smith Esq. was chosen Chairman. George F. Curtis, A. H. Nelson, Hubbard Winslow, Samuel Kettell, Charles A White, M. H. Smith and Tolman Willey are the executive committee. They recommend "Webster and Graham" as the ticket.

THE HILLSBORO' DEMOCRATIC GATHERING.—Fair weather, half-fares, a sight of many noted lions, good speaking, and a 'splendid free barbecue,' (a whole roasted hog) will doubtless attract large delegations of the live Democracy towards the birth-place of their leader, old Hillsborough town, to-day and to-morrow. By the advertisement of the P. & C. Railroad, in another column, our readers will learn how, when and where to go; and all who can afford to go and want to go, should by all means, go. The Chronicle will have a reporter there, as it will everywhere where the people congregate.

DEATH OF MRS. TAYLOR.—The telegraph announces, under date of the 15th inst. from New Orleans, the death of Mrs. Taylor, the widow of the late President Zachary Taylor, which took place at East Pascagoula on Saturday night.

The Millenial Star, a Mormon paper published in London, states that Mormonism is making great progress in the island of Malta. The same paper says many thousands of Saints will leave England for Utah ere long.

BRIDGE BURNT.—The Concord Railroad Bridge overt he Souhegan river, between Nashua and Manchester, was burnt Monday morning, after the first train had passed down.—The first up train was delayed an hour thereby. It will be re-built so that the trains can pass by Tuesday.—Daily Patriot.

COSTLY SHOOTING.—Hugh Lin of North Andover, has been fined $10 and costs for shooting two valuable doves belonging to his neighbor, Barber. Lin appealed, to make matters more interesting and expensive.

About ten days since, Mrs. Pratt, wife of Abner C. Pratt of Halifax, Mass, became insane, and absolutely refused to take any food whatever. She was removed to the hospital at Worcester, where she died a few days since from exhaustion.

FOR AUSTRALIA.—Brig Australia, with about 80 passengers, bound for Australia, sailed from St. John last week. Most of those going to the gold regions were young men belonging to that city.

RAPID INCREASE.—The population of Buffalo has more than doubled within the last five years, and is now larger and has more shipping than New York had 50 years ago.

Isaac Underhill, of Peoria, has a farm at Henry, Ill., consisting of 2,200 acres in a body, all under cultivation. Six hundred acres of it are set out in fruit trees, and he proposes soon to set out 40 acres more, so as to have his orchard a mile square. Mr. Lombard has a farm of 1,000 acres in the same neighborhood, all of which is improved.

JENNY LIND AT THE OPERA.—A London correspondent of the Inverness Courier, in describing what he saw at the Opera, writes:—"Of Jenny Lind, too, I had that evening a glimpse. She is a wreck of her former self; I could hardly have recognized her. She looks pale, worn, and haggard, in bad spirits and bad health; and, as she sat, the centre of a hundred opera-glasses directed upon her, there was but one wondering and sympathizing murmur throughout the vast building."

LIQUOR LAW.—The authorities of Brooklyn, N. Y., meet with great opposition to their attempted enforcement of the Sunday liquor ordinance, and it is rumored that an injunction has been issued to restrain them from carrying out their provision. Several liquor dealers were arrested, but discharged by the magistrate on their own recognizances. It is also rumored that the dealers have formed an association for the purpose of defending any of their number who may be prosecuted.

A young American Dentist, Dr. Albert C. Kemble, settled at Rome, is now on a professional visit to Turin, where he received a formal appointment as "Dentist to the Royal Family," though he declines with characteristic modesty, to use this title publicly. He stands at the head of the profession in Italy. It is also notable that the best dentist in Paris, is an American.

THE FISHERIES—New York, Aug. 16.—Information of a reliable nature has been received here which puts a different version on this matter. It is said that when the British steamer Devastation entered the Bay Chaleur, she found a large number of American vessels actually fishing at about a mile from the shore. The captain of the Devastation told them they must leave, and that he must seize one of their number, in assertion of the right of government to punish trespass. In reference to the schooner Coral, which was seized and condemned, it is said she was manned by Englishmen from Cape Manaban, who carried on the fraud of obtaining bounty and evading duty by colonies, and employing an American vessel in charter. They preferred to let the seizure go by default.

A FEARFUL RIDE.—As James G. Fuller and J. Q. A. Griffin of Charlestown, were riding in Newton, about 9 o'clock on Thursday evening, in a chaise drawn by a strong black horse, the horse, frightened by some unknown cause, started into a terrific run, which successfully baffled every attempt to arrest him. He ran about a mile, and finally carried the chaise in contact with a post, when the shafts of the chaise broke and also the whiffletree.—Mr. Fuller, who was driving, was drawn over the dasher by the reins, and considerably bruised in various parts of his body. Mr. Griffin was completely covered up by the chaise, which tipped over him and made as snug a little coop or bedroom as is often seen. He was not even scratched by the catastrophe. The horse continued his race some rods further and darted into a board fence which threw him down. The breaking of the whiffletree at the same time with the shafts, is what probably saved the lives of the passengers.—Bunker Hill Aurora.

TAXES IN PORTSMOUTH.—The following is a list of the largest taxes paid in this city for the present year. It embraces all persons who pay fifty dollars and upwards, about one hundred and seventy-five in number. The amount of Taxes voted to be raised was $41,075.70, assessed upon $5,234,270, the estimated taxable property of the City. The proportion is 81 cents and 9 mills on one hundred dollars.

IOWA.—The Washington Republic of Saturday, says—Reliable advices from Iowa leave no doubt of the triumphant success of the Whigs in that state. Both Whig members are elected, and the Whig majority of the popular vote, it is believed, will reach fifteen hundred. The Legislature, it is stated, is also Whig, which secures a Whig United States Senator in the place of the Hon. George W. Jones, whose term of service will expire on the 3d of March next. This may well be called a glorious victory, leaving little doubt that the state will go for Scott in November next, although it is proper to admit that local issues have entered somewhat into the present contest.

Telegraphic despatches to the Boston evening papers of Monday, give accounts of Flores' expedition at Guayaquil. After considerable fighting, in which the loss is described as severe on both sides, Flores appears to have been defeated and his men dispersed. He himself is stated to have escaped.

One of the vessels belonging to Flores was blown up in consequence of the recklessness of a drunken sailor, and 30 men killed in her.

BURNING FLUID.—We learn from Sandwich, Mass., that a shocking accident occurred there Sunday evening, at the dwelling house of Rev. Joseph Marsh, by the explosion of a can of burning fluid. Three females, daughters of Mr. Marsh, were engaged in filling a lamp from the can, one of them holding a lighted lamp, it is said, at considerable distance from the lamp which they were in the act of filling. By some means—undoubtedly by a stream of gas from the fluid,—the flame of the lighted lamp was communicated to the can which caused an immediate explosion. The three ladies were at once enveloped by flames, and terribly burned, two of them it is feared fatally. The eldest was a married lady, the second was about 20 years of age, and the third about 13. The accident occurred about 8 o'clock.

THE SPIRITUALISTS.—The "Spiritualists" met again on Friday evening, in Bloomfield Hall, Boston, according to adjournment. The Rev. Mr. Cleverly presided. The constitution reported at the previous meeting was taken up, amended, and adopted. A President, Vice President, Corresponding and Recording Secretaries, Treasurer, and four Directors, were chosen. Women as well as men were elevated to office. The meeting was dull, though the attendance of the "mediums" was quite large. No attempt was made to communicate with the spirit land, and at ten o'clock the "Conference" adjourned for a week.

Two or three of the officers are personally known to us, as men of integrity and respectability—who would not impose on their neighbors, and who were never supposed to be easily duped by others.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, on Monday, Mr. Bright moved the reconsideration of the vote by which the bill allowing Mary Blany, widow of Maj. Blany, interest on money belonging to her husband, withheld for several years, was rejected on Saturday. The vote was reconsidered, and the bill was then passed.

The army appropriation bill was received from the House and referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Seward presented a resolution of the Chamber of Commerce of New York, asking for appropriations for the improvement of Hellgate.

Mr. Cass moved to take up the bill making appropriations for the construction of a ship canal around the Falls of St. Mary. Agreed to.

In the House, Mr. Fuller from the committee on Commerce, reported back the Senate bill for the better security of the lives of passengers on board of steamboats; the amendments of the committee were ordered to be printed, and the further consideration of the subject was postponed until Thursday.

Mr. Durkee rose to a question of privilege. He said that during his absence from this city, Mr. Aiken, of South Carolina, had made a serious charge against his character, which he now wished to defend. He then alluded to his remarks about a negro who was sentenced to be hanged in Charleston, S. C., some years ago, but who, for certain reasons, was taken from the gallows, nobody being found even for a reward of $1000, to perform Jack Ketch.

Mr. D. said he meant no disrespect to South Carolina, and alluded to the incident in compliment to that State, to show the triumph of humanity over a statute law, the triumph of the "higher law" of reason and humanity. Mr. Aiken made explanations and the matter here ended.

MARKETS.

LONDON AND LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

The English Government has prohibited the admixture of chicory with Coffee, and this has led to more inquiry for the latter, and Plantation Ceylon sold at an improvement of 1c per lb. in the London market on the 6th inst., the day before the Canada left.

Rice has advanced 3d to 6d per cwt. Sales of 18,000 bags Bengal during the week, at 9s 8d average. Sugar—demand limited; Tea—dull; Molasses—neglected; in London. That is, being Summer time, and elections over, business becomes drowsy as well as the people.

In the Liverpool Corn Market, August 7, the showery weather and rumors of rumors of potatoe rot caused more animation, and quotations advanced 1 a 2d per 70 lbs on Wheat and 6d per bbl on Flour. Indian Corn for immediate use, neglected, owing to potatoes being pressed on the market to arrive; it is 1s a 2s per qr. lower. Flour—sales of W. C. 19 to 20s 5d per bbl; Phila., Canadian and Balt. 20 to 20s 6d. St. Louis and Ohio 20 a 21s.

Pork, prime mess, 80 a 90s per bbl. Mess Beef 145 to 150s per tierce. Lard, dull, a 58s per cwt for prime.

In Cotton there was during the week a large business, though with less animation, and extreme prices were not maintained. Low and Mid. in some instances sold at ½d decline. This was not general and the market closed on Friday evening quietly, but steadily with a turn in favor of the buyers, barely amounting to a quotation. Sales Wednesday, Thursday and Friday 8000 bales each day; within the three days 3400 on spec. and 4900 for export. Sales of the week 57,060 bales.

The reports in the provinces describe the uniform continuance of a healthy business. At Manchester there was a rise in prices, but scarcely to an extent corresponding with that of the late advance in the Liverpool Cottou market. At Birmingham manufacturers well employed in every branch. In the woolen districts a large increass of business, and prospects were favorable. In Nottingham, lace market dull, but great activity in hosiery.

MARRIAGES.

In Amesbury, Mass., Mr. Thomas Morrill to Miss Abby S. Greely, both of Salisbury.—Mr. George A. Woods to Miss Frances M. Harris, both of Newburyport.

In Manchester, 1st inst., Mrs. Stephen Smyth, aged 66, mother of Mayor Smyth, of Manchester.

At Mount Desert, Me., July 3d, Mrs. Susan Milliken, aged 101. Mrs. M. held the rank among all who knew the most active, useful and benevolent, during the long period of eighty-six years.

In Dover, of consumption, Mr. Huland Dawley, aged 45 years.

In Vermont, Miss Mary Elizabeth Weeks, aged 25, daughter of Mrs. Mary Ann Weeks of Dover.

In Charlestown, Mass., Mr. John Beard, aged 78.—Mr. Jeremiah P. Stanicls, aged 41, formerly of Chester, N. H.

In Dorchester, Mass., on Sunday, Elizabeth Gardner, aged 84 years.

In Ipswich, Mass., Captain Jacob Manning, aged 70 years.

On board the S. S. Lewis, Lewis Farwell, of Charlestown, N. H., Moses P. Lane, of Lowell, Mass.

On board the brig Rainbow, of Thomaston, July 16, Capt. A. Lermond, master. He was killed by a block which fell from the mast head, and struck him upon the head. He was buried at St. Jago.

At sea, June 1, on board bark Undine, on the passage from San Francisco to New York, of consumption, Mr. Hill, a native of Newburg, Me., aged 22 years.

TELEGRAPHIC

DESPATCHES

TO THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE.

LOSS OF THE STAFFORDSHIRE!

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.

The Dario newspaper, of Valparaiso, of the twelfth and thirteenth of July, which has been received in this city, confirms the report of the loss of the Boston ship Staffordshire, off the coast of Chili; but gives no details of the loss, except that the authorities of Talcahueno had sent assistance.

IOWA ELECTION.—New York, Aug. 17.—Late returns from Iowa show the election of a Democratic Legislature, State ticket, and one member of Congress. As far as heard from, the Legislature stands—Senate, Dem. 13, Whigs 9; House, Dem. 28, Whigs 11. The Democrats, it is thought, will have nearly two-thirds of the Legislature. The Democratic State ticket is elected by 12 to 1500 majority.

Washington, 17th.—Ried's majority in N. Orleans is 6000. The Democratic majority in the Legislature on joint ballot will be 4.

E. A. Bradford, of Louisiana, has been nominated as Judge of the Superior Court.

FRACAS AT A BURIAL.—On Monday afternoon, a woman, deceased, named Kehoe, was brought by her husband from Worcester into South Boston, for the purpose of having her buried in the Catholic burying ground in that place. The body was taken from the depot and conveyed to the burial ground; but upon its arriving at its destination, some persons ascertaining that he had obtained no permit for that purpose, manifested considerable opposition as to its being interred there. The friends of the deceased growing furious at the delay, and being determined to effect their purpose, attempted to pass the coffin over the fence, when a round opposition ensued, which resulted in several parties retiring from the field somewhat battered in their persons. Finally, sexton Field, Superintendent of the grounds, hearing of the occurrence, hastened to the scene of action, quelled the disturbance, amicably settled the matter, and had the body decently interred.—Boston Trans.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE FRANKLIN AND CANADA.

By the arrival of the U. S. mail steamer Franklin, Capt. J. A. Wotton, at New York, we are in possession of our usual despatches and correspondence four days later than received by the Africa.

The dates brought by this steamer from Southampton, London and Havre, are to the 4th inclusive, and from Paris to the 3d, with a telegraphic despatch from Liverpool to 4 P. M. of the 4th. We have also received the mid-day or 2d edition of the London Times, of the day of sailing, received at Southampton by special express.

The present packet does not appear to bring any intelligence of great political importance either from England or from the Continent.—No particular significance was attributed in London to the note of Mr. Daniel Webster respecting the fishery rights, as the matter was considered susceptible of an easy and amicable adjustment. The Daily News winds up an article on the subject by almost accusing the Derby government of wishing to ferment war abroad for the purpose of stopping progress at home. The Times hints that Mr. Webster may perhaps be courting popularity; but blames the British Foreign Secretary for seeking to protect the trade by bounties; at the same time siding with the British government's interpretation of the treaty.

The election having been brought to a close throughout the United Kingdom, there was a complete lull in party politics. Each party was quietly counting its strength and marshaling its forces for the approaching Parliamentary struggle in October.

The Telegraphic Despatches, from Halifax notice the Canada in this way.

The Canada left Liverpool at 2 P. M.; and at 3 o'clock 25 minutes, P. M., passed the mail steamship Asia, going into Liverpool.

Here we have the hour of the day—but not the day,—but as the Liverpool markets are dated August 7th, it is fair to conclude she steamed or paddled out of Liverpool about that time.

Leading English papers notice the fishery excitement, and mostly blame Derby.

A public meeting was held in London on the 10th, for the Montreal sufferers.

M. Fould is appointed Minister of State, and the French ministry is otherwise modified. There will be no review on the fete of August 15th.

Count d'Orsay is dead, also Johannot, the painter.

There were dreadful ravages by cholera at Porsenain Prussia.

It is rumored that France and England will call a meeting of the maritime powers to guarantee Mexico against aggression from the United States.

The harvest is well begun in England with seasonable weather. Notwithstanding the accounts that the potato rot had appeared in different districts of Ireland, it can only be regarded as partial and at least counterbalanced by the abundance of the sound crop.

RETURNED CALIFORNIANS.—John H. Dickinson, of Springfield, returned to his home in that city, on Monday night of last week, and died on Tuesday, leaving a wife and six children in straitened circumstances.

Isaac W. Lewis; of Bridgeport, Ct., returned from California in a late steamer, apparently in good health; but on getting out of the cars at Bridgeport, he appeared very feeble, and died in the station house before seeing family or friends.

A Mr. Stone, of Litchfield, Ct., came home with $150,000 in gold, and in tolerable health, but became suddenly weak, and died in four or five days.

Leave Concord 7:20 A.M. and 4:40 P.M. Arrive in Portsmouth 9:40 A.M. and 7:15 P.M.

Tickets will be sold on the P. & C. Railroad for Hillsborough, fare one way, which will pass the holder up on the evening of the 18th and morning of the 19th, and back on the 19th and 20th.

Passengers leaving Exeter, &c. on the 18th in the 2½ train from Boston, on the B. & M. Railroad, will arrive at the New Market Junction in season to procure tickets and go to Concord the same evening, and can go to Hillsborough from Concord at 6:15 the next morning.

Passengers leaving Dover, Great Falls, &c. on the morning of the 19th in the first train, will arrive at the New Market Junction in season to procure tickets and proceed immediately to Concord and Hillsborough.

☞ Full fare each way will be charged to all persons who do not procure tickets before taking their seats in the Cars.

On and after Monday, Aug. 23, an additional train will run as follows:

Leave Portsmouth 10:30 A.M. Arrive in Concord at 1 P.M.

Leave Concord 10:15 A.M. Arrive in Portsmouth 12:40 P.M.

Freight will be taken on and after Monday with the first train from Portsmouth and the second train from Concord. Full notice of the running of the Cars upon the P. & C. Railroad on and after Aug. 23 will be given hereafter.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.

STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,

CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. THOS. B. LAIGHTON's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

TICKETS can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to

FOR painting I am ever ready,
With brush in hand, and nerves that's steady,
To Ornament and Fresco walls,
I'm ready to obey your calls.
Graining and Marbling are peculiar faculties of mine,
As well as any thing else in the painting line;
To Signs and Curtains I pay particular attention,
Also to Door-plates, Show-Cards, and others I could mention.
To make the old look new so nice and bright,
I will please the fancy, and also the sight;
My Slate is large enough for names of all,
At Cocoanese Block, up stairs, I wait your call.

GAS IN MANCHESTER.—These works are now progressing rapidly. 120 workers in brick, and iron, and stone, and wood, and mortar, are daily employed upon them, and the result of their labors presents already an interesting appearance. Many visit them and wonder at the huge masonry, and strongly cemented and iron-ribbed works, necessary to prepare and secure the material which is to give the "light of our eyes." Their location is admirable—so far removed from Elm street as not to be obnoxious to any one, and situated at a point to command the attention of travellers passing through our city upon the railroads. Heretofore travellers coming up have seen nothing of Manchester till they arrived at the depot; now these loom up in a way that attracts the observation of all strangers.

It is contemplated, as at first, that they will be completed so that the Mills will be illuminated by gas-light on the 20th of September. —Mirror.

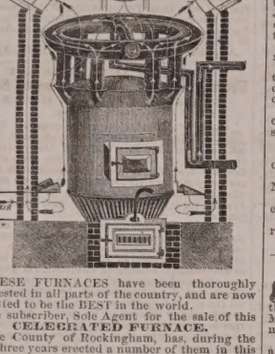
CHILSON'S

PATENT AIR WARMING & VENTILATING

FURNACES.



THESE FURNACES have been thoroughly tested in all parts of the country, and are now admitted to be the BEST in the world.

The subscriber, Sole Agent for the sale of this CELEBRATED FURNACE, in the County of Rockingham, has, during the post three years erected a number of them in this City, to the entire satisfaction of those for whom they were erected.

He is now fully prepared to erect in both public and private buildings, every variety of warming and ventilating apparatus, at prices as low as can be done in any part of the country, and would respectfully call the attention of those interested, and those contemplating the erection of Furnaces this Autumn, to the fact, that they can be erected at a LESS PRICE during the warm season, than after cold weather commences.

SLEEP.

The New York Times says that a modern error is, that people can do with too little sleep. The Chester (Pa.) Republican having said that Gen. Scott was in the habit of only allowing himself five hours for sleeping, out of every twenty-four, the Times replies:

"We know not with how little sleep the gallant old General, with his habits of the strictest temperance and clock like regularity, can manage to sustain his strength; but we are quite confident that the present generation of young men do not sleep enough, and that the example of famous, wise, and good men, who have achieved most of their greatness, has contributed materially to establish this practical error. In these stirring times, sleep has come to be regarded, by too many who need its soothing medications, as a "thief of time," and a bed-fellow of sloth. Work, action, energy, are the watchwords given us when we leave the nursery; and it is our deliberate judgment that we do not rest enough, to work to the best advantage; and that sleep, the safest, cheapest, and most invaluable of all modes of rest, is very generally undervalued."

We give our right hand of fellowship to the Times, declaring as we have for many a year, that sleep is one of our best friends, and we cannot bear to hear it abused. We have had occasion, sometimes in former years for many days together, to know exactly, how long we did sleep. And we got along with very little for some days. Three, four or five hours in a night, and now and then none at all. But this did not and could not last many days at a time; we would dose over our work or book,—and body and mind both would have rest at some rate or other. If not in health, we had to recline per force. in sickness, —and take our choice between fainting and sleeping. We prefer the latter, and like seven or eight hours sleep in a night. In winter, ten hours do no harm, that is if a man is wide awake in the day time.

A considerable amount of bodily exercise makes a man sleep soundly and comfortably. While too much mental exercise, without muscular action, induces nervous restlessness, and more time is consumed in slumbers which hardly deserve to be called sleep.

The wise author of the book of Proverbs expresses the whole theory very finely when he says "The sleep of the laboring man is sweet, whether he eat little or much." Rest is good for nothing, unless learned by labor, —and eating much and laboring little, takes all the sweetness out of "tired nature's sweet restorer." He therefore who is a good eater, ought also to be a good worker, and then he will be a good sleeper.

LOWELL MASON, now in Europe, writes that it has become fashionable in England, and to some extent on the Continent, to omit the interlude—or playing between the stanzas —by the organ—in singing hymns.

SINGULAR CHARGE.—A physician at Newark, N. J., named Attila J. Keleman, has been arrested on the charge of causing the death of two of Mr. Buhr's children, by inoculating them for small pox. The affidavit states that Keleman pretended that the operation, which was performed about the last of May, was vaccination, the vaccine matter being taken from the arm of a child, which had been vaccinated with matter from the arm of Keleman's own child, whereas it has been proved that the child from which he took the matter in the second instance, had the small pox, and died of it. One of Mr. Buhr's children, a little girl of thirteen months old, who was so inoculated, took the small pox, and lingered till the 9th inst.; the other child, a little boy, caught it from his sister, in a most virulent form, and died on the 18th of July.—Justice Andrus, after a full examination, and hearing all the testimony that Keleman could produce, committed him for manslaughter, believing that he could not be admitted to bail, as the fact of the inoculation and its results were clearly proved. This Doctor is the same of whom public notice was made a few weeks since, and to stop his malpractice, an ordinance was passed by the Common Council. It is said that has extended this dreadful contagion not only through the city of Newark to some extent, but also in the neighboring villages.

COMPARING BABIES.—Mrs. Harriet Prewett, editor of the Yazoo (Miss) Times, congratulates Mrs. Swisshelm, of the Pittsburg Visitor, upon her wonderful and pretty baby —not doubting that if it is half as smart as its marm, it will make the world's ears tingle by and by. She adds—"By the way, we should like to show babies with you. Yours, no doubt, will do very well, considering you are a Freesoiler and a Democrat, but we (a Whig) will bet ours against all creation."

EDITORS RISING.—At the recent commencement at Dartmouth, the honorary degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon Hon. John Prentiss of Keene, as well as Mr. Boylston, and at about the same period of time we received the honorary degree of a member of the—fire department.—Nashua Telegraph.

DAILY

Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:

THURSDAY, AUGUST 19, 1852.

PORTSMOUTH AND CONCORD.

By the opening of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad through the whole route, these two places are brought into each other's neighborhood. The gentlemen who made up the subscription, and who planned the enterprise deserve great credit for thus aiding in the increase of business and travel, and those who have carried through and completing the road deserve equal credit for perseverance in struggling against difficulties and overcoming them.

That the towns on the road will reap great benefits from this new mode of travel, in connecting them with the extremities and with each other, there can be no doubt. We have seen this effect on the towns which have been connected for a year or two with one end only. And this effect must be doubled or more than doubled, by a connexion both ways. But its most important effects will be seen and felt, as we believe, when the through travel and business which are just now letting on to it, swell in volume and increase in value, as they must do in months to come.

The connexion which this road gives us with roads which run from Concord to the North and West, cannot fail to carry business up and bring it down—to a very considerable and we believe to a very great extent. At all events we shall be and are neighbors, and near neighbors, to a line of towns stretching through the whole State, from its extreme south-eastern corner at the port of Portsmouth to the opposite extremity at the north-west.—This must be mutually advantageous. It shall not be our fault if the people at both ends of the line do not make the most of it.

We have already opened a channel of information by means of a daily paper sent over the line part way, and sold in large numbers. And this day we send a good supply of the Daily Morning Chronicle to Concord for sale by a trusty messenger, who will circulate them thoroughly. Our advertisers here will see by this that we do not neglect their interests in looking out for our own. And traders and customers in Concord cannot fail to perceive that there are goods, wares and merchandize here of all sorts, and that the holders have a mind to sell.

Pleasure parties have already moved over the road as far as finished—and will certainly multiply now that the whole line is completed. Success to the enterprise.

MARBLEHEAD IN THE REVOLUTION.

Among the good things of the historical kind, which are found in the Boston Transcript, is the following scrap of Revolutionary history, relating to the old town of Marblehead, Massachusetts:

"At the commencement of the Revolutionary war, Marblehead sent a full regiment of officers and men to join the continental army. Seamen were needed; whereupon encouragement was given to the soldiers to leave the army, and enter the public and private armed vessels. Many companies belonging to fishing towns were thus disbanded. When the last draft came for men, no man was left in the town under eighty years of age, and no boy over fourteen. At the end of the war, there were fifteen hundred widows in that one town of Marblehead. The fact was as indisputable as that the town house was standing. Before the war with Great Britain the town paid the second tax in Massachusetts. The death of so many males made the town poor; and when pensions were to be granted it was difficult to make government believe that the number of widows was so great. Unfortunately in many instances the army list could not be found, and shipping papers were lost, so that only a thousand widows from Marblehead established their claims, but it was not doubted that there were hundreds more, who were entitled to pensions but for the accident of losing the necessary proofs. Other of our fishing towns did equally well for the country. It is for the children and grandchildren of such fathers and mothers, that justice is now asked?"

Similar things, on a smaller scale, may be said of most fishing towns on the coast. But our fishermen are unknown in many parts of the country, and their importance as seamen is not understood.

AUSTRALIAN GOLD.—Australian advices from Port Philip direct, to 22d April, have been received at London, from which it appears that the production of gold was steadily increasing, and the amount is now estimated at £160,000 sterling per week, or £5,000,000 per annum. The public revenue of the colony had increased $35,592 in the last quarter. By the Stelionbeath and St. George 5000 bags of wool have arrived at London from Australia.

PASSENGERS in the Pilot-Boat Spy, Capt. Preble, for Portland:—Messrs. Abel Hutchins, Jr., E. H. Rollins, James G. Rollins, E. H. Parker, E. S. Stickney, E. A. Abbott and Wm. Bartlet of Concord, N. H., and Mr. J. Haven Thacher of this city.

FIRE.—The wood-shed attached to the house occupied by Mr. Moses H. Goodrich, in Vaughan street, took fire about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but was speedily extinguished, without a general alarm, by men at work in the vicinity. The roof and one side were burnt through.

THE BIG GUN was brought out yesterday and fired, at three o'clock, P. M., in honor of the opening of the Concord Railroad.

STORE BREAKING.—The store of Fisher & Sigmond at Biddeford, Me., was broken open on Tuesday night, and robbed of a large quantity of silks and dress goods, valued at about two thousand dollars. Some rare goods it is hoped, may lead to the detection of the thieves.

WANTED—a Free Bridge from Portsmouth to Kittery, opening a free trade with the citizens of our sister State, from which we are now separated by a prohibitory tariff in the guise of toll. Any citizen or number of citizens who can devise means to open a Free Bridge in this direction, will greatly promote the interest of the city of Portsmouth. Such a bridge would greatly increase the trade of our city; it would supply our market much more abundantly with the products of the country, and afford them to our citizens at greatly reduced prices. The city can well afford to keep such a bridge in good order, whilst it would add to its wealth tens of thousands of dollars in a very short time. Can the thing be done?—Messenger.

We would rejoice to see it done—but do not expect it this year. Boston is gradually freeing her bridges,—but half a dozen ugly turnpikes lurk round about, and pick the traveller's pocket. Several bridges also have very heavy tolls.

Speaking of Bridges—Piscataqua Bridge must be extensively repaired in a few years, or fall, and leave a chasm. Shall it be repaired, or shall some rail-road bridge take its place?

BREADSTUFFS IN OREGON.—The Oregonian, printed at Portland, Oregon, of the 30th of June, says the demand for breadstuffs in Oregon the next twelve months, in consequence of the large immigration coming in and the consumption at the mines, will probably equal all the surplus now on hand together with the new crop, without the shipment of a single barrel.

SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.—The Portsmouth and Concord Railroad, which for years has been struggling into existence, is opened to Concord for the first time to-day; and our city stockholders in the Portsmouth Steam Factory, which stock has brought them no income for the six years they have held it, are to-day getting their first dividend.—Messenger of yesterday.

Miss Mary Duff, an actress of fine talents and extensively known in the principal cities of the Union, died at Memphis, Tennessee, on the 1st instant. She was in fact the widow of A. A. Adams, the tragedian, who died some years ago.

A girl employed upon the carpet corporation, at Lowell, took laudanum with the intention of destroying herself, but the dose was too large for the purpose. The cause of the act is said to be desertion, accompanied by slander.

Steamer Little Queen, which left Thibodeauxville, La., on the 1st inst., struck a snag in the bay of Laforge on the 6th, and sunk immediately. She had on board over 100 persons, three or four are believed to have been lost. The boat was an entire loss.

FROM HALIFAX.—The United States steam frigate Missippi, Com. Perry, arrived at Halifax on Monday afternoon. She saluted the English flag, and the compliment was acknowledged by a return salute from the Citadel, and from the ship of war Cumberland. The Mississippi was visited in the afternoon by the principal officers of the garrison.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE.—A new department has been connected with Dartmouth College, called "The Chandler School of Science and Art," in which are to be taught arts and sciences, best fitted to make one active and successful in business life. This department is endowed with a legacy of $50,000, left by the late Abiel Chandler, of Walpole, in this State.

LIQUOR LAW IN LOWELL.—The Lowell Courier states that the "public good" has evidently been promoted in Lowell by the general observance of the new anti-dram shop law. Besides the evidences that are visible to the casual observer, we have the united testimony of the police force of the city, that a decided improvement in the good order and moral condition of denizens of hitherto troublesome localities, has resulted from the closing of dram shops.

VALUABLE CARGO OF DRY GOODS.—The steamer Franklin arrived at New York, Monday evening, is reported by telegraph as having a cargo of French, Swiss, and other European dry goods, valued at two millions of dollars. These are all high cost dress goods, and no doubt nine-tenths of their value is derived from the manufacturing labor bestowed upon them, the raw material forming a comparatively small part of their value.

SOCIETY ISLANDS.—The San Francisco Herald, of July 16, learns from Tahiti, that the long disputed question regarding the sovereignty of the Society Islands had been settled by the recognition of the elder son of Queen Pomare as king of Huahine, and her daughter as queen of Bolobolo. A matrimonial alliance was in contemplation between the latter and the prince Kamehamea of the Sandwich Islands.—Journal.

THE PUBLIC BUSINESS.

Both Houses of Congress were at work on Tuesday, trying to redeem the time they have been wasting.

In the Senate a message was received from the President in reply to Mr. Seward's requesting the President to inform the Senate, if not incompatible with public interest, whether any proposition had been made to the United States by the King of the Sandwich Islands to transfer the sovereignty of those islands to the United States. The President states that on or about the 12th of June last he received a similar resolution adopted in executive session by the Senate, to which he replied that it would not, in his opinion, be advantageous to the public interest to disclose whether such a proposition had been made or not. Since that time nothing had occurred to change this opinion and he therefore declined to answer the inquiry. Mr. Seward moved that the message be referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations, and he desired to offer the following resolution which he wished should take the same reference:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to send a commissioner to the Sandwich Islands, whoshould be instructed to inquire into the expediency of instituting negociations for the acquisition of those islands.

Laid over for discussion.

The Senate took up the bill granting land for the construction of a ship canal around the falls of Saut St. Marie.

It was amended by increasing the quantity of land granted to 750,000 acres, and ordered to be engrossed.

Mr. Hunter moved to take up the civil and diplomatic appropriation bill.

Mr. Dodge, of Iowa, proposed that the issue should now be made, whether the appropriation bill should be preferred to the river and harbor bill—the former would pass anyhow, the latter would not be postponed,—and by a vote of 28 to 19 Mr. Hunter's motion was rejected—and the river and harbor bill was taken up and debated at some length.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill declaring the Wheeling bridges to be lawful structures and post routes, but did not finish their debates.

The bill granting to several of the States 10,000,000 acres of public lands for the benefit of indigent insane persons, was passed by yeas 98, to nays 54.

A bill fixing the annual salary of the American Consul at Amsterdam at $2000 was passed. The House went into Committee on the navy appropriation bill, which was debated at large, with many collateral subjects. Mr. Schoonmaker eulogized Senator Seward. Horace Mann anathematised slavery, and after alluding to Messrs. Cass, Buchanan, and Douglas, and their splendid bids to the South for the Presidency, proceeded to speak of the Whig and Democratic National Convention, and to condemn their action on the slavery question—which he said was an attempt to silence the cries of mankind on a subject most important to the human heart. They might as well have tried to force the oak back into the acorn, or drive the spirit of the 19th century back into the dark ages, as to silence discussion on this subject. He then proceeded to condemn slavery in strong terms, depicting the degrading evils and enormous crimes attached to it.

Mr. Polk, of Tennessee, asked him to paint a picture of the negroes in the Northern States.

Mr. Mann—I will at another time.

Mr. Polk—I insist upon it now.

Mr. Harris, of Alabama, rose to the question of order. The gentleman was assailing an existing institution of the South—an institution sanctioned by the Constitution.

The chairman, Mr. Ficklin, of Illinois, decied that the latitude of debate in committee was broad, and said the gentleman was in order. (Gentlemen were now standing in all parts of the hall.)

Mr. Polk and others kept up a repartee debate for a few minutes, and were waxing warm, when the question was taken, and the chairman was sustained in deciding the gentleman from Massachusetts in order.

Under this decision comparative quiet ensued, when Mr. Mann concluded his remarks, showing among other things, how badly Messrs. Fillmore, Cass, Buchanan, Webster, and other distinguished men had been treated by the South, notwithstanding their submission to the slave power. He also expressed his opinion of an attempt to drag him down because he spoke the words of truth.

Mr. Houston reported the fortification bill.

A NOVEL WEDDING.—On Thursday last, at Saratoga Springs, a marriage ceremony was performed, unlike most ceremonials of that character with which our countrymen are familiar. The parties were a son of Ex-Chancellor Walworth, and a young lady, a daughter of the late Col. Hardin, who fell at the battle of Buena Vista, in Mexico.—Both looked extremely youthful for such a service, having the appearance of being scarcely of age. The ceremony was performed in the Roman Catholic Church, by the Rev. Clarence Walworth, a son of the Ex-Chancellor, in the course of which he took occasion to preach a sermon to the crowded and fashionable audience whom curiosity had attracted to the spot. The service and sermon occupied an hour and a half. The Chancellor is a rigid Presbyterian. His wife (a second one, to whom he was married last year) is a Roman Catholic. Two sons are of the same faith, while the rest follow the religious belief of the father. The bride of young Mr. Walworth is a daughter of the Ex-Chancellor's present wife, who was the widow of Col. Hardin. All the fashionable at Saratoga were present—among them Washington Irving, Francis Granger, Mrs. Rush of Philadelphia, Daniel Lord, &c.—Rochester American, 3d.

The Salem Gazette, says $2000 worth of liquor was seized in the store of D. R. Gardner, No. 14, Front street, on Monday morning, the city marshal and his posse breaking open the doors by force. Mr. Gardner repaired to the Police office, with counsel, to respond, but was told there was no charge against him, and retired.

One of the persons suspected of having made complaint against Gardner and others, was compelled to take refuge in the City Hall, against violence.

GAS LIGHTS are good things, but when they go out, what then? Let the Lowell Journal of Tuesday tell the story.

"BLACKNESS OF DARKNESS."—Last night, at the usual lighting up time, gas lights were "nowhere," and utter darkness prevailed on every hand. It was near 9 o'clock when light was restored. It is said the gas-work tenders fell into a premature snooze at their post of duty.

The Post office, being eclipsed last night, to the great disappointment of a crowd of mill girls, was opened at 4 o'clock this morning for their special accomodation, that they might get their letters before going into the mills.—The Monday night mails are the great mails from the country.

MURDER BY NEGROES.—Buffalo, 16th.—A murder of most fiendish character was perpetrated this morning about 2 o'clock. Mrs. Hartman, wife of Joseph Hartman, who keeps a grocery corner of Spruce and Genesee Sts., was suddenly awakened by two colored men in her room. Upon her noticing them one of them approached the bed and with an iron bar two or three feet long struck her husband two blows, one over the nose, the other on the chin, killing him instantly.

One of the villians then struck her on the right arm, breaking it in two pieces, and on her attempting to rise struck her on the head. They then left the house, when she alarmed the neighbors, who came and carried her up stairs where she fainted. She is not expected to live. No inquest has yet been held.

The money drawer in the store, in which there was several dollars, was found open and the money in it. Joseph Hartman had been a resident of Buffalo over 20 years, had a family of 6 children, and was a highly respectable man. The bar of iron has been found. It may probably lead to the arrest of the negroes.

The jewelry store of Daniel B. Castle, on Main street, Buffalo, was found on Tuesday morning to have been robbed of everything of value.

The jewelry store of James Jones, at Savannah, was robbed on Wednesday night last, of seven thousand dollars worth of watches.

Hon. Solon Borland, senator from Arkansas, has been indicted by the grand jury of Washington, for an assault committed some weeks since upon Mr. Kennedy of the census office.

YACHT SUNK.—The yacht Phantom, owned by J. P. Richardson, of Boston, was run down by an unknown vessel, Monday night, off the foot of Summer street, and sunk. She is a total loss.

A rattlesnake about four feet long, with seven rattles, was killed on Saturday afternoon in Lynnfield, on the road to Salem.—This is the third one which the same man has killed in Lynnfield within a year.

NEW YORK, August 18.

THE NICARAGUA TREATY.—Advices from San Juan report that the Nicaragua government will reject the recent treaty between the United States and England, preferring to abide by her alleged right of territory over Guanacaste and all Mosquita.

CONGRESS AND THE FISHERMEN.—The Washington correspondent of the war paper in this city, says much doubt and perplexity exists with regard to the uncertain attitude of England upon the fishery question, and that unless her position is defined prior to the close of next week, a resolution will very probably pass Congress imposing a tax of 50 per cent. on all fish brought to this country in foreign vessels.

The steamship Northern Light was struck by lightning on the evening of the 29th ult., shattering the mainmast, felling one man, and breaking some part of the machinery.

NEW LADDER.—An iron ladder and lightning conductor combined, has been invented in Worcester, of so light a form, that when folded, it can easily be deposited in a valise or other parcel, and transported any distance at pleasure. It affords a safe and ready escape from burning buildings, besides answering all the purposes of a stationary ladder and lightning conductor.—Boston Bee.

Perhaps this same ladder that lets people down from chamber windows may also help other people to get up thither—and some of them may not be honest.

THE HILLSBOROUGH CONVENTION.—A correspondent of the Boston Post, writing from Hillsborough, in this State, under date of Aug. 17, says:

If preparations making here, and the universally expressed intentions of the people all over the Granite State, as heard from thus far, are any criterion, I can assure you the gathering here on the 19th will be immense.

Ten thousand pounds of beef has already been slaughtered, and sheep and hogs enough in addition to make fifteen thousand pounds of meats in all, which is to be cooked up for the occasion. Another item is about five thousand pounds of bread.

John Wright is here with his mammoth tent, already whitening a beatiful field by the river's bank, flanked on the east by a deep wood and grove, and on the north by gentle upland slopes, upon which are erected seats, overlooking a monster platform, the whole capable of seating six thousand persons.—Near the centre of the platform is an elevation for the orators, and table for secretaries and reporters. A mammoth oven has been constructed near the tent for baking the meats, and Mr. Wright, the caterer, and his troupe, are already devoting themselves most industriously.

WAXETH WRATHY.—The editor of the St. John Morning Times, waxeth fire and froth because some of our papers asked if the ball given to Com. Perry and the officers of the Mississippi, was a fish ball. The aforesaid editor takes a bit of fun, and goes off into a red hot phillipic against all Yankeedom.

NEWS FROM THE EAST.—The St. John papers gives full accounts of the Ball tendered to Com. Perry and his officers, of the Mississippi, Thursday evening, at the St. John Hotel. All the grandees of the place were present, including governmental officers. The ball room was elegantly decorated. The Band of the 72d Regiment furnished the music.

At the supper Com. Perry was toasted, and replied in an appropriate manner. The whole affair was quite brilliant. The News closes its account as follows:

"May the same battles be fought over and over again, between cousins and neighbors, as opportunity presents itself. Let festive balls henceforward answer for cannon balls."

THE FIRE ANNIHILATOR ON SHIP BOARD.—We see it announced that some of the steam ships at New York are beginning to be supplied with Phillips' Fire Annihilator. We think the proofs of its efficiency in extinguishing an incipient conflagration while confined within walls and partitions are so conclusive, that vessels so likely to take fire as those navigated by steam, or loaded with cotton or other substances liable to be kindled by spontaneous combustion, should not be suffered to go to sea without it. The saving of the India ship Cossipore, the steamer City of Manchester, and the bark Pollux, have proved the utility of this easily supplied instrument of safety and the loss of the Henry Clay, and a long list of steamers within the last six months, have proved the want of it.—Boston Daily Adv.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.

STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,

CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. Thos. B. LAIGHTON'S Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, new after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on Board, or to

SAMUEL R. CLEAVES, Agent,

a10 At Portsm. & Concord Railroad Station.

BLIND TO HIS OWN INTEREST.

The St. Louis Intelligencer relates the following amusing incident as having occurred there a few days ago :—

One of Health's sprinkling wagons, used to dampen the streets of our city by water from a large reservoir, containing several hogsheads, was proceeding slowly down Fourth street, engaged in the laudable task of flooring the dust, when the attention of a raw Hoosier was attracted toward the singular looking vehicle.

"Hullow, stranger!" said he, addressing himself quite audibly to the driver, "you're losing all your water thar!"

No answer was made by the person addressed.

"I say, old hos," said the Hoosier, "you're lossing your water right smart, thar, I tell you, and I'll be dog-on'd if your old tub won't be dry, next you know."

The driver was still silent, and the Hoosier again addressed John.

"Look here, you fool, don't you see that somethin's broke loose with your old cistern on wheels, and that all o' your water is leakin' out ?"

Still the driver was silent, and the Hoosier turned away in disgust, saying :

"I'll allow that feller is a little the biggest fool I ever did see, but if he is so blind to his own interest as to throw his labor away in that way, let him do it.

BLOOMER COLONY.—A friend up North closes a letter thus—"As I was passing up this side the White Mountains, near Conway, I came upon a nest of Bloomers from Boston —some fifteen or twenty young ladies from that city having hired a house there, for the season, and keeping "bachelor's hall." They wore the Bloomer dress, to enable them the better to get round here among the sharp and high places, and spend their time chiefly in sporting. I met one with a light fowling piece, another with several woodpeckers or other birds, a third with a basket of berries, a fourth with a string of trout, &c. You would take them at first to be a party of the b'hoys, but they are all fine young ladies from the city of notions, who prefer the mountains and streams to brick walls and scorched pavements, during the hot season."—Lowell Jour.

A CARD.

PARTICULARS OF THE MURDER OF DUNBAR, AND THE EXECUTION OF THE MURDERERS AT ONION VALLEY.

ONION VALLEY, June 30.

Messrs. Editors:—You have probably been informed previous to this, that a foul murder was committed some three weeks since at the Slate Creek House, which is situated half way between this place and Cannon Creek. This house was owned and kept by Mr. Dunbar, a native of Aberdeen, Scotland. In his employ was a man by the name of Pillsbury, of Candia, New Hampshire. Mr. Dunbar disappeared under mysterious circumstances, and finally suspicion rested on Mr. Pillsbury, who, after remaining at the Slate Creek House some few days after the disappearance of Dunbar, started for the Bay with the intention of returning to the States. He was pursued and taken on Long Wharf in San Francisco, brought back and examined by a Justice of the Peace.

This examination was not satisfactory to the people, who, last Sabbath, took the case into their own hands—brought the prisoner from Gibson's to the Slate Creek House, where a jury of the people was chosen, and Pillsbury examined. Throughout his trial, he denied knowing anything of the disappearance of Dunbar, only, that in his absence from the house, Dunbar had written on the slate, "gone below."

I should say, however, that two days before this trial, the body of the murdered Dunbar was found, slightly buried in the corral near the house, and was reburied on the morning of Pillsbury's trial before the people's jury. The head of Mr. D. was horribly mangled with an axe.

The writer of this was foreman of that jury, and a majority of the jury voted "guilty."—Four, including myself, put down our opinions thus: "I do believe that the prisoner is implicated in the murder of the deceased, Mr. Dunbar."

Our verdict was made known to the assembled crowd, and on motion, half an hour was given him by the people to prepare for death. He then wished to see the jury alone, and we all retired with him. He then asked if his life would be spared, if he would tell who murdered Dunbar. We told him we would spare his life if he was not the man. He then told us how and by whom it was done. Their names were Thomas Parks and Harry Miller, who were then stopping at Poker Flat, some six miles distant. The assembly were informed of this statement, and men immediately volunteered to arrest Parks and Miller, who returned with them early on Monday morning.

They were examined separately by another jury, and brought in guilty of the murder of Durbar, Pillsbury testifying to the whole affair, and most who heard him believed he told the truth.

Parks and Miller stayed at the Slate Creek House on the night previous to the disappearance of Dunbar, and requested to be called very early in the morning, so that they could get to the Whisky Diggings before their company went to work. Pillsbury was cooking for Dunbar, and arose and prepared their breakfast before they were up, and then called them. They ate their breakfast, and Pillsbury washed his dishes and started for Nelson's Creek, leaving Miller and Dunbar playing a game of cards. Parks followed him a short distance from the house, and asked him where he was going, or what he was going to Nelson's Creek for. He replied that he was going to see some acquaintances, and to obtain work. Parks then asked him if Dunbar and Hull played cards for money the day previous. He said they did. Parks wished to know which won or lost, and how much.—Parks then asked Pillsbury how much money Dunbar had. He said he did not know.—Parks said if he could get what money Dunbar had, he would make a good haul. He then proposed that they knock Dunbar over and take it. Pillsbury told him no; that he would not murder a man for all the money in California. He then started along on his way to Nelson's Creek, when Parks bade him not to go; that he would kill Dunbar, and if he—Pillsbury—ever opened his head about it, he would share the same fate. This was some fifty yards from the house. Parks then went down to the house; Dunbar and Miller had come out and were conversing together, Dunbar with his back towards Parks. Parks took an axe from the side of the door and struck Dunbar on the head, when he fell and uttered a deep groan. Parks repeated the blow several times.

Then Parks and Miller wrapped a piece of canvas around his head, tied a rope about his neck running through his belt, drawing his body up snug, and then dragged it round the house and buried it in the snow. They then threw some bloody chips into the stream. Pillsbury had returned nearer to the house, and Miller said to him, "If you ever say a work about this, I will shoot you dead." They then went into the house, opened the safe with a key which Miller pulled from his vest pocket, took out a bag, and immediately left for Whisky Diggings.

The two were condemned to be hung, and notwithstanding the promise made to Pillsbury by the jury the day before, the excited crowd would and did hang him too, believing him as guilty as the rest. I do not believe him guilty of the murder in the least, and my opinion is backed by very many who were there. Still there is something very unaccountable in the case. I think he was entirely paralyzed with fear at the time. He had been in the country but a short time, and told me in private conversation that he dare not tell who murdered Dunbar, for he was afraid he would be killed. He also told me that the reason why he went to the Bay was, that soon after Dunbar was killed, he received a letter from his wife, who was in bad health, wishing him to come home immediately. This was true, for he took the letter from our office, and it is in my possession now. He said also that he was afraid to stay in a country where such bloody scenes were enacted.

The great mystery is, why he did not make the murder known when he came over here for his letter, or even at some place on his way down. He seemed to be a man of but little courage. There were two present who had boarded with him in Lowell, Mass., for two years. They stated that he was an honest and upright man in all his transactions there. I and several others tried all in our power to save him, but it was of no use.

Pillsbury was the first one executed. Prayer was offered up to heaven in his behalf by Mr. Cottrell, in a very fervent manner; after which the poor man prayed for himself, his poor wife and little children, his father and mother—that God would prepare them for the awful intelligence. His countenance was calm and solemn, and he died without a struggle.

Parks was then hung on another tree, and when asked, a moment before he was hauled up, if he killed Dunbar, he answered, "I did not." Parks wished no prayer. Another tree was then selected for Miller—a short prayer by Mr. Cottrell, when Miller repeated the Lord's prayer, and a portion of the Episcopal service. He also declared himself innocent.

They were executed by moonlight, in a grove two or three hundred yards from the Slate Creek House.

Parks and Miller were sailors, and had served in the United States Navy.

PORTSMOUTH:

FRIDAY, AUGUST 20, 1852.

CONCORD.

The pleasant town of Concord, which has so far refused to be a city, is the seat of government in New Hampshire, and has greatly increased for several years past in business, population and elegance. The old territory of Penacook, the former name of Concord, was granted by Massachusetts Jan. 17, 1725, to Benjamin Stevens, Ebenezer Eastman and others, and was seven miles square. Settlements were begun the next year; the first minister, Rev. Timothy Walker, was settled in 1730. The whole population had only one place of public worship till 1818: up to which year, the Old North Meeting House was the only temple. In that year a Baptist meeting-house and an Episcopal church were built. There are now half a score of churches; but the Old North has been converted into a Methodist Theological Seminary, styled the Biblical Institute. In 1820 the population of Concord was 2838; in 1850 it was 8584.

Its wealth and business have increased in perhaps even a larger ratio than its population. As the State House, State Prison and Lunatic Asylum are all located there, no small gain results to the town's people from the money there expended on these accounts.

Population and business have gained greatly in consequence of Railroads to and through the town,—and Concord is now and must remains place of trade on account of the confluence of railroads at that place.

She has for many years possessed quite a number of enterprising traders, and carries on a large amount of manufacturing, in Carriage Making, Cabinet Making, and other minor handicrafts.

Her business and other intercourse with us, is beginning to move. Let it move faster and faster, until our reciprocal benefits are increased ten fold, and our union is cemented by the good will of the whole people in both places.

"ENCOURAGE YOUR OWN."

We believe that in proportion as a family or a community works more for itself—the more of interchange there is carried on among any community—so much the more is the well-being of all the members promoted. There has been and now is much work sent out of the city, which might and should be done at home. We have known higher prices paid, for work or material no better and sometimes not near so good, to Boston mechanics and Boston merchants, than would have satisfied and remunerated some of our own citizens. This should not be—such a course has done much injury to the business of our city, while the parties thus slighting their neighbors derive no possible benefit from it, but indirectly injure themselves much.

We have known a man to send to Boston for a single barrel of flour, when precisely the same article could have been purchased at any of our flour stores for less than it cost him to get it from "the city." And this is but one of many instances of a similar nature which have come to our knowledge. Now it may be too much, to expect any great apparent sacrifice to be made for the sake of patronizing and encouraging home productions—we say apparent sacrifice, for it is evident that the more business done in Portsmouth, the better for all residing here; but when this can be done to the immediate and lasting advantage of all concerned, it does seem as though a little attention might be given these things.

We hope this matter may be borne in mind, and that our citizens of all classes may be determined to do all in their power for the general business of our own city—thus ultimately benefiting themselves with the rest. Now is the time for us to exert ourselves, and to take advantage of the new channels of trade open to us, to develop and sustain our facilities for business of all descriptions. A. D.

IMPORTANT AS TO THE LOBOS ISLANDS.—The New York Express of Tuesday, has received intelligence from Payta, "to the effect that the news had reached there, that several American vessels had left the United States to take guano at the Lobos Islands, and that moreover the American Secretary of State was heartily in favor of the movement. Acting upon this information the Prefect of the Department, we are assured, had commanded the immediate reinforcement of a Peruvian garrison that had already been established on the islands, with the determination—so the story ran, to oppose the taking of Guano, at all hazards. If this intelligence be true, there is likely to be trouble when the American vessels arive. Advices from that quarter will be looked for with great interest."

On the 5th, a severe hail storm swept down the valley of the Opequon, in Virginia, prostrating the growing corn, and rendering, in some cases, almost hopeless, the flattering expectations of the farmer. Conglomerations of hail, weighing nearly a pound, were found in places, and much of the frozen matter lay unthawed during the next day.

LYNCH LAW IN CALIFORNIA.

Our first page to-day contains a sad illustration of California life and manners, from the pen of an eye witness and an actor in the scene he portrays, viz. the foreman of a jury in a Lynch-law court. Yet who shall say there is less justice in this court than in many courts of law? It is to be considered that California is a newly settled country, peopled in a hurry by refugees from all lands and adventurers from all creation. Paper laws and constitutions, copied from those now in force among the sons of the puritans in New England, are attempted to be enforced among the rude and miscellaneous multitude of all nations and kindreds and people and tongues, who have been drawn together by the love of gold, or driven away from their old homes by poverty, crime or misfortune.

Under these circumstances,—the old fashioned laws too slow, and Lynch law too fast, it is no wonder that the innocent sometimes suffer and the guilty escape. Nor do we wonder at all, that in a case like the one recorded, the people do not stop to discriminate between varying shades of guilt, when several are more or less guilty.

A HUNGRY THIEF.—In the Boston Police Court, on Wednesday, a man giving his name as John Smith, was brought up on a charge of stealing a loaf of bread valued at five cents. He was proved guilty, and sentenced to the House of Correction for three months. Of course we cannot understand all that the court sees in a case, but this seems a hard one. Nevertheless, he will have bread enough at the House of Correction—but he will come out in November, just in season to steal another loaf, and get in again for six months, to come out in May.

At the same court Thomas Mullen was found guilty of stealing four boxes of soap, and was scutenced to the House of Correction.

BROWN PAPER.—The Boston Courier says it has received late California journals, and that some of them are printed upon a brown paper made from some vegetable substance, though they are read very easily. The San Francisco Price Current states that there was not a ream of printing paper for sale in that city.

Some papers nearer home look rather brown this summer, in consequence of the drought.

☞ The Rockingham Convention of Universalists are to hold their annual meeting in Danville, on Wednesday and Thursday the 25th and 26th of this month. Visitors by railroad will stop at East Kingston depot.

PORTSMOUTH DYE-HOUSE.

Dyeing can be and is done as well in this city as in Boston or elsewhere—indeed, a large amount of work is done here every year for Boston dealers. Mr. Thomas Murphy, (whose advertisement will be found in our columns,) is too well known in this vicinity to need other recommendation than his work gives him. He is about establishing agencies in Epping, Concord, and intermediate towns; and we hope he may be able to convince the citizens of those places that it is as much for their interest as his to employ him. He will do all sorts of work in his line, as quick, as cheap and as well as anybody else.

FIRE AT NORTH BANGOR.—A fire broke out, on the afternoon of the 16th, at North Bangor, in the dwelling house of Mr. George Smith, a double tenement occupied by Mr. Smith and by Mr. Dolee. The house was consumed. Loss $500. Insured for $250.

The fire also communicated to the house of Ira Boynton, which was burnt. Loss $250. The house of Joel M. York burnt, loss $450. Insured for $350. The L part of widow Samuel Linnel's house took fire but was extinguished with a damage of $50.

The alarm was general in the city, and a portion of the fire department visited the scene of the fire.—Bangor Courier.

Houses must be very cheap there, unless these were very small. But the lumber grows and is sawed thereabouts, and they probably build their own houses with the cheapest and poorest of it.

THOMASTON AND ROCKLAND LIME.—The Rockland, Me. Gazette, says that from January 1, to August 1, of the present year,—a period of seven months—there have been manufactured and sold in that place 536,000 casks of Lime, at an average price at the wharf of 70 cents per cask, making a value of $375,200. It adds that the supply during the whole year cannot fall far short of 1,000,000 casks. It is a productive branch of industry, and it is as valuable to the consumers as it is profitable to the producer.

WASHINGTON MATTERS, Aug. 16.—Mr. John P. Hale returned to his seat in the Senate to-day, and was very cordially greeted by his many friends in that body—for he is far from unpopular there, though perhaps there are but two or three of the Senators who will vote for him as a candidate for the Presidency at the present election.

The President has not yet offered the General Post-master-ship to any one. Judge Hall has not been confirmed yet. It will be time enough to select his successor, when he resigns.

The steam safety bill has been much amended, and is assigned for Thursday. So many amendments will be offered or insisted on that the bill will probably fail.—Cor. N. Y. Com.

CONGRESS.

On Wednesday in the Senate, the bill in aid of a ship canal around the Falls of St. Mary, in Michigan, was passed.

Mr. Gwin introduced a bill granting land to California, to aid in the construction of a canal across Sierra Nevada.

Mr. Hunter, from the Committee on Finance, reported back the bill extending the warehousing system by establishing private bonded warehouses.

Mr. Fish of New York, gave notice that day after to-morrow he would move leave to take up the House bill, known as Bennett's Land Distribution bill. The vote on it yesterday when offered as an amendment to the Canal bill, was not upon its merits.

On motion of Mr. Davis the River and Harbor bill was taken up and debated at length.

Mr. Hale gave notice that he would, during the morning hour, move to take up the homestead bill.

House.—The House resumed the consideration of the bill declaring the Wheeling bridge to be a legal structure and a post route.

A resolution was adopted to close the general debate on the navy appropriation bill in half an hour, and then the House went into committee on that bill.

The clause appropriating $1,065,000 for the repair of vessels in ordinary, and for the wear and tear of vessels in commission, including fuel and purchase of hemp, having been read, Mr. Stanton offered the following amendment:

"Provided, hereafter, that whenever a vessel in ordinary shall be so much decayed that the expenditures required to repair and equip her shall be estimated to exceed two-thirds of her original cost, it shall not be lawful to repair such vessel, but she shall be sold, the proceeds applied to the construction of a new vessel in her stead, and the Secretary of the Navy shall cause to be built a vessel of war, whose frame shall be of white oak and of the best and most approved model for sailing, to be fitted with auxiliary steam power and to be armed exclusively with the heaviest and most destructive ordnance, which, according to the recent improvements, it is possible to carry with safety and serve with efficiency at sea."

Mr. Hunter of Tennessee, moved to add $300,000 to the appropriation, the amendment just adopted rendering the sum necessary.

Various efforts were made to moderate the proposition. Finally the amendment was agreed to—ayes 70, noes 50.

OUTRAGE ON THE FLAG.—On Wednesday night some "pestilent fellow" cut the halyards of the Pierce and Butler flag which has been floating over Liberty Bridge recently, which caused the flag to hang by one corner. A foolish and ill-natured annoyance, doing no good to any one.

DEATH AT CALIFORNIA.—The Bangor Courier says, we learn both by letters and papers from California, that Capt. Nathaniel Lord, of this city, commander of the steamer Gov. Dana, while going ashore at Sacramento was shot by the accidental discharge of pistols which he had in his carpet bag. The accident occurred on Saturday morning, 10th ult., and he died on Sunday night. The memory of Capt. Lord was honored by all the shipping in the harbor having their flags at half-mast.

He left in Bangor a wife and five children. This was his second visit to California, where his prospects were very encouraging. The sudden news of his death will cause many hearts to mourn in sorrow. His family was very interesting and greatly beloved by him.

DUELLING IN CALIFORNIA.—The Placer Times of the 16th ult. gives an account of a duel between Mr. Cotter, an Aldermen of San Francisco, and Mr. Nugent, editor of the Herald of that city. The parties met on the opposite side of the Bay, accompanied by a large number of their respective friends, and after a deliberate arrangement of the preliminaries, two shots were fired. At the second fire Mr. Nugent fell, having received his adversary's ball in the leg above the knee, the bone being badly fractured. The parties returned to the city satisfied.

A SAD MISTAKE.—Yesterday afternoon, an old offender, named Lewis Tucker, stole a barrel marked "pork," which from its weight he supposed was partly full of that substantial article. Being anxious to realize something from his stolen property, he called on a grocer and asked him to buy, stating that he would sell cheap. The grocer consented to look at the article, when Tucker with much care proceeded to unhead the barrel. When opened it proved to contain vinegar instead of pork. This circumstance proved unfortunate to him, as he was detained, and afterwards taken to the Police Court, where he was convicted of stealing vinegar, and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs.—Boston Herald.

INCREASE OF PROPERTY.—A lot was sold in Cleaveland, O., last week, for $13,000, which, in 1845, was valued at $500, and so placed on the tax list. Six years have passed and it sells at 260 times its original value.—Norfolk Herald.

It has probably been advertised in the interval.—Boston Daily Adv.

A negro cut his throat on Sunday. He had paid his master several hundred dollars towards procuring his freedom, who, a few days ago, sold him to a negro trader.—Louisville Journal.

CHILDREN DROWNED.—Three children of Peter Cogham were drowned in a small mill pond at Fort Plain, N. Y., on Wednesday.—One was a boy aged 11, and the others girls, aged 12 and 13 years. The boy fell into the pond accidentally, when his sisters jumped in to rescue him, and all three perished.

SUICIDE.—The Providence Journal learns that Alexander Jenning, residing in New England village, Grafton, Mass., committed suicide on Tuesday last, by taking bed-bug poison. He was 27 years of age, and had just returned from California with about $2000.—It is said that at the time he started for the golden region he was paying attention to a young lady, but on his return, her refusing to receive his addresses, led him to commit the rash act.

HILLSBOROUGH CONVENTION.

A very large number of passengers went over the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad yesterday morning and Wednesday evening, to attend the great Democratic Ratification meeting at Hillsboro', Gen. Pierce's birth place. At Concord, yesterday morning, we understand about 1500 people crowded into the train for Hillsborough. Some cause or other, perhaps a similar crowd, detained the down train from Hillsboro', so that our reporter had not returned when this paper went to press.

The Reporter for the Boston Journal states that a meeting was held in Concord on Wednesday evening which was addressed by Capt. Rynders and others. Several cases of pocket picking occurred Thursday morning. Hon. T. P. Treadwell lost about $45 in money and $900 in notes. Another man lost $15, and another, a New Yorker, lost $60.

Rev. E. W. Allen, of North Reading, has accepted the unanimous call of the Howard St., Church and Society, of Salem, to become their Pastor.

One hundred and fifty persons died in New York, during the last twelve months, of delirium tremens. There were nine murders caused by rum, and nearly ten thousand five-day commitments for drunkenness during the same time.—Salem Register.

FROM RIO JANEIRO. Baltimore, 19th.—The Sun publishes the following letter, dated Rio Janeiro, July 4: By the arrival of a French steamer of war, we received advices from Montevideo to the 26th of June. Political matters are in a bad condition at Buenos Ayres. Gen. Burquiza has disolved the Sala in consequeuce of their opposition to the treaty entered into by the governments of the different provinces, and he has assumed supreme control and placed the province under military subjection. It is thought by many that his reign will be a short one, as from his increasing tyranny he is making many enemies.

Our city is quite free from sickness—the yellow fever has almost entirely disappeared.

DESPATCHES

TO THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE.

LATER FROM PORT-AU-PRINCE.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.

Advices from Port-au-Prince to July 30th have been received in this city. It was still very sickly at that port, especially among the crews of vessels in the harbor. Many American vessels had suffered both in officers and crews. Capt. Clark of the brig Eva, and Capt. Kendrick of the schooner Grey Eagle, were both dead.

Albert Fitz, U. S. Consul at Aux Cayes, died at that place in the course of 24 hours after being attacked.

BROOKLYN NAVY YARD.

Capt. Brown has been appointed Commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, to take effect in October.

FROM HAVANA.

A gentleman who came passenger in the Crescent City from Havana, states that fifteen arrests of persons supposed to be inimical to the authorities, were made in Havana on the 5th instant. They were male and female. A large quantity of powder was found on their premises. It was rumored that three hundred stand of arms had been seized.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, on Thursday, on motion of Mr. Hunter the Civil and Diplomatic Bill was taken up. Speeches were made by Messrs. Pearce, Hale, and Shields.

In the House, after the usual preliminary business, the consideration of the Wheeling Bridge bill was resumed, and Mr. Olds of Ohio resumed and concluded his speech in favor of the bill. The bill then passed, yeas 115, nays 92.

Neither the Homesteadn or Bennett's Land Bill will pass this session. The River and Harbor bill will pass. Mr. Soule will reply to Mr. Seward on the Codfish troubles.

NEW YORK, August 19.

EXCITEMENT IN HAVANA—NUMEROUS ARRESTS.—The steamship Crescent City, Capt. Porter, reached her dock last night from New Orleans, via Havana. She remained at the latter port 21 hours, notwithstanding which she made the run in six days and eight hours, being the quickest run on record.

She brings 120 passengers, 40 of whom are from Havana.

Our dates from Havana are to the 13th, at which time the greatest possible excitement existed in consequence of the daily committal of a large number of Creoles to prison.

So great is the number of those already incarcerated that it has been found necessary, in order to accommodate them, to bring into use prisons that have been untenanted for twenty years; indeed the most loathsome dungeons are said to have been brought into requisition for the safe keeping of those that are considered the most refractory and dangerous. Notwithstanding the exertion to put down the opponents of the government, proclamations are issued from a quarter that baffles all the ingenuity of the police.

A secret press managed to supply the exciting seditious articles, and the government was unable to discover it. The consequence of all this is, that most rigorous measures are instituted on the part of the government, and many innocent people are made to suffer.—Almost every Creole family is under the surveillance of the Police—female privacy is disregarded—and, altogether, a very unhappy state of affairs reigns in Havana.

The Havana papers, which are mostly filled with proclamations of a local character, say nothing about the arrests. They endeavor to keep the transactions a secret.

Yellow fever, cholera, and small pox prevailed to a great extent, and almost every ship in the harbor had some cases of the fever.—Out of one company of 120 soldiers, 110 had died, and in a chain gang of 109 there died 100. The Government was sending the troops to the country. The sickness was chiefly outside the walls of the city. Havana was shrouded in gloom when the Crescent City left.

FIRE IN TROY.—Troy, 19th.—A fire broke out in West Troy about 1 this morning in the extensive lumber yard of Danchey & Co., the flames spreading to two large blocks of buildings adjoiuing, on either side, all of which were soon destroyed. Numerous other buildings were on fire, but the flames were extinguished. The loss is stated at $200,000, only a small portion of which insured. Between forty and fifty families are rendered houseless. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary, as three or four piles of lumber in the yard were on fire at the time it was discovered.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT
From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.
STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,
CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. Thos. B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

TICKETS can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to JUST manufactured and now ready for sale, at W. R. Preston's Family Medicine Store, Congress Street. Put up in extra large bottles.

☞ Price one dollar per bottle.

Persons buying five bottles at once, will receive a sixth gratis.

Probably no medicine ever introduced, has ever become so generally popular as the above. Scarcely a family can be found in Portsmouth, who has not tested its virtues, and they all with one voice, pronounce it

THE BEST MEDICINE EVER USED.

For all impurities of the BLOOD, SCROFULA, SALT RHEUM, RHEUMATISM, LIVER COMPLAINT, HEADACHE, JAUNDICE, COSTIVENESS and GENERAL DEBILITY—it has no equal in medicine.

Try one Bottle and you will be satisfied—it is what it is allowed to be by every one,

THE BEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

FOR painting I am ever ready,
With brush in hand, and nerves that's steady,
To Ornament and Fresco walls,
I'm ready to obey your calls.
Graining and Marbling are peculiar faculties of mine,
As well as any thing else in the painting line;
To Signs and Curtains I pay particular attention,
Also to Door-plates, Show-Cards, and others I could mention.
To make the old look new so nice and bright,
I will please the fancy, and also the sight;
My Shop is large enough for names of all,
At Congress Block, up stairs, I wait your call.

THE PLEASANT SUMMER TIME.

It is the pleasant Summer time,
And the Earth is very fair;
And joyous sounds of bird and bee
Float on the balmy air.
White clouds upon the azure sky
Sail dreamily along;
The light breeze stirs the forest pines,
And wakes a plaintive song.

Oh! fair is Earth, the glorious Earth,
Magnificently bright!
The glad sun poureth blessings down
In showers of golden light.
E'en like a band of fairies, now,
The flowerets are seen;
Most gorgeous hues, all tints and shades
Contrasting with the green.

Still, by the sunny, dusty road,
The ripening blackberry lies;
And forth, from out the forest shades,
Sweet childish voices rise.
The crickets, in their secret homes,
Sing to us all the day;
The butterfly salutes his friends—
The flowers—and flies away.

Yes, fair is Earth, the broad, green Earth!
Magnificently bright!
It bursts with such a glory now,
On the admiring sight.
The trembling corn, the waving grass,
Are very fair to see;—
And then, to catch at intervals
A murmur of the sea.

The broad blue sea! the mighty sea!
Oh, there is music there!
Like low, celestial melody,
It tunes the heart to prayer.
And, gazing on the bright green Earth,
And o'er the boundless sea,
My spirit yearns, like caged bird,
To spread its pinions free;
To mingle with Earth's glorious things,
To visit sea and sky,
To grasp the bright, the beautiful,
The great, the free, the high.

PAGANINI'S HEIR.—Paganini has left to his only son, Achilles, a fortune of two millions of francs and the title of nobility. An anecdote of Monsieur Achilles shows that the proverb, "What the fathers add, the sons substract," will not be likely to apply to him.—While yet a boy, Achilles was one evening present with a couple of gentlemen at the house of the famous singer Lablache. Four candles were burning on the table. This luxury of lights troubled the boy's feelings; after a little while he silently got up, crept on tiptoe to the first light, and, while the gentlemen were eagerly engaged in conversation, blew it out. Lablache winked at it, and let him go on. Thinking himself unobserved, he presently blew out the second, then the third light. But as he was about to pursue the same process with the fourth, Lablache said to him in a friendly way: "Child, if you blow out that light, we shall be unable to see." "We don't need light to talk by," was the answer of the boy, now the possessor of two millions.—German Paper.

RAILROAD DEATH.—Syracuse, 18th.—Joseph Thompson, proprietor of the hotel at Orsville, was run over and instantly killed by the up train to-day.

HURRICANE AT CALCUTTA.

A writer on the spot, furnishes the following account of a terrific hurricane at Calcutta:

On the 16th of May, Calcutta was visited by one of the most terrific storms of wind and rain ever experienced by our oldest residents. The sky assumed a threatening appearance during the day, and the Harbor Master was sent off to warn the shipping of an approaching gale. During the evening the wind blew in heavy squalls from the eastward, and increased during the night till it became a fearful tornado. It changed from East by North to Northwest, and at 4 o'clock on the morning of the 17th, it blew its strongest from that point. The typhoon was accompanied by floods of rain, which quite inundated the lower part of the town, and converted the plains into a succession of large lakes. There was no thunder or lightning. On the Hoogley, the destruction of life and property was immense. The bank all along the front of the town, from Cooley Bazar to the Calcutta Mint, a distance of three or four miles, was covered with a tangled mass of wrecks, the ruins of boats and their cargoes. To add to the terrors of the storm, a large number of boats took fire at the Custom House ghat and burned to the water's edge. The ships on the river were tossed about like cockle shells, and some were driven ashore from their moorings, and many dragged their anchors.

Accounts reach us every hour of the loss of boats of every description, and their crews, but I trust many are but idle rumors. In every street in town we can trace the results of the fury of the gale. Some houses have lost their doors, blinds and plaster; solid brick walls have disappeared, and shop keepers' signs pave the streets. In Moorghyhutta street, a Mrs. Brown and her three grandchildren were buried beneath the ruins of their house. The old lady and two of the children were not much hurt, but the third child was so much injured that it died. This is the only loss of life among the Christians.

The streets present a curious spectacle, being filled with dead crows and fallen trees. An Arab ship caught fire and burned in the height of the gale; some four or five hundred boats laden with saltpetre, sugar and linseed were lost on their way to this; fifteen boats laden with opium were lost, and the strand is covered with bales of merchandise, articles of furniture, and temporary tents for the accommodation of the boatmen. The scene in the outskirts of Calcutta is deplorable; whole villages are literally blown away or razed to the earth, and the people lamenting over the ruins of their houses. The damage done to the shipping outside is considerable.

GOLD, SILVER AND PAPER.

The great increase of gold sets at nought all previous theories about currency, so far as they were founded on comparative quantities of the precious metals.

Fifteen years ago, the writer of this article spent a day or two with a gentleman who had been a gold broker, keeping his station sometimes in Virginia, sometimes in Georgia, and sometimes in Mexico. He was engaged by certain banks to buy from the gold washers, near their haunts, all the gold they found. And after many years' experience he said, "I believe our Creator never intended that gold should be plentiful, because it is always found in so small quantities." Yet how few years have sufficed to overturn his theory, simply by destroying the supposed fact on which it rested!

Now the cry is, that silver is comparatively scarce, and in some cases bears a premium. That is, silver, for some other purposes, is worth more than it is for money. Or in still other words, gold has become so plentiful, and therefore so cheap, that an eagle is not worth so much as ten silver dollars. To make this bad matter worse, "Old Bullion," as the Hon. Thomas Benton was nick-named from this very circumstance, hammered away in Congress, year after year, for the enactment of certain gold bills and specie bills, until at last he triumphed, and our government, in order to keep gold in the country, enacted a law, making our gold coin a little baser than the general European standard. The object he aimed at has been attained to a great extent, though not completely; but like all other one-sided legislation, it has produced some other effects not looked for. It has injured the silver currency of our country materially, and as some think, permanently. We do not subscribe to the latter opinion, but the present evil is real and great. It calls for a remedy; what shall it be? It will hardly answer to go backward now, and throw all our present gold coin out of currency.

Small cents, as once before mentioned, an abundant supply of three cent pieces, and a free coinage of quarters in preference to dollars, would do something towards removing the evil; for small change would be less likely to be melted down than dollars, and more troublesome to count and pack for shipping.

And then, for dollars, in all domestic use, the paper dollars, or specie notes of good banks, are so much cheaper, lighter, and more convenient every way, than either gold or silver, that they will readily and easily take their place. For this no laws are needed; and even where laws in any part of this country have sometimes existed against it, they have commonly been disregarded by the community. But silver dollars are not likely to be a common currency among us hereafter, unless and until some new discovery of silver or new way of mining, shall bring that into market as plentiful as gold.

GOLDEN DAYS OF OLD.

There were some great doings in the gold line about three thousand years ago. "All King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the Forest of Lebanon pure gold; none were of silver; it was nothing accounted of in the days of Solomon; for he had at sea a navy of Tharshish, which once in three years brought gold and silver, with ivory, apes and peacocks;"—showing that the gold country was distant and warm.

Those who are interested in the prophecies may see the visions of 2500 years ago realized to-day, in regard to the gold and silver.

"Surely the isles shall wait for me, and the ships of Tarshish first, to bring thy sons from far, their silver and their gold with them."—"For brass I will bring gold, and for iron I will bring silver, and for wood brass, and for stones iron."

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—A Democratic Mass Meeting is to be held this evening in the Temple, which will be addressed by Hon. W. A. Gorman, member of Congress from Indiana; Hon. John H. Savage, member from Tennessee; and Hon. J. Clemens, U. S. Senator from Alabama. Able speakers—and will have good audience.

Mr. Clemens will be remembered as the Senator who a year or two ago referred to the condition of our factory operatives, in such a manner as to provoke smart replies from several talented factory girls themselves. A man of talent, "for a' that."

☞ Rev. D. C. Tomlinson, of Newark, N. Y., will preach in the Universalist Church to-morrow.

☞ Mr. J. Totman Robinson will preach in the North Church to-morrow.

PERSONAL.—Cap. Eben. Knight, formerly one of our citizens and more recently captain of the Packet-ship New World and agent of a California steam-ship line, is on a visit to his friends in this city.

☞ The Gas Company are now engaged in putting their pipes into the Steam Factory. They will be ready for use at "lighting up time," the 20th of September.

SHARP SHOOTING.—A young gentleman in this city, a few days since, brought down five swallows "on the wing," with six charges.

ENTERPRISE.—Men of real enterprise, who project and push through useful works, often benefit others more than themselves. As an example of this it is stated that while every railroad in Vermont has involved the stockholders in heavy losses, the stock not being worth more than 20 or 25 cents on the dollar, yet the real estate in the State has risen in value more than the whole cost of the railroads, because of the ready access to the city markets, and the stimuli to the enterprise of producers.

MANNERS.—Some members of Congress exhibit bad temper and bad manners. Senator Atchison did so on Thursday in an overbearing, insolent remark toward Senator Hale, who being both temperate and good tempered, replied calmly but firmly. Hale wished to take a test question on the homestead bill.—This was the proper time to move to take that bill up. If the Senate refused to take it up, he would abandon all hope for it this session.

Atchison said that if the Senator from New Hampshire would keep silent the remainder of the session, he would help that Senator to get up his bill.

Hale replied that it would be doing injustice to his country for him to keep still, and injustice to the Senate, to require anything of the kind.

THE FATE OF CAPTAIN MARCY—Washington, Aug. 18.—A letter from Colonel May, from Fort Mason, confirms the reported massacre of Captain Marcy and all his command. The Colonel has started in pursuit of the murderers. The substance of the Colonel's letter, the date of which is not specified, was communicated by telegraph to a gentleman in the city.

CAPT. MARCY, AGAIN—New Orleans. 17th.—The Picayune has received a despach, dated Memphis, Tenn., 16th, containing advices from Fort Smith to August 3d, which bring the cheering news of the positive safety of Capt. Marcy and his command, and adds that the whole party have arrived safe at Fort Arbukle.

Is there ever to be an end to the contradictions about this matter?—The assertion and denial of the massacre have each been made half a dozen times.

GEORGIA THIRD PARTY NOMINATION.—The Convention of Whig dissenters from the nomination of Scott and Graham on Wednesday, nominated Daniel Webster as their candidate for the Presidency, and Charles J. Jenkins for Vice President. They nominated also a ticket of electors for this nomination, and appointed also an executive committee for the State. They adopted the platform of the Whig Convention at Baltimore. The Scott Convention also assembled at the same place, and after a conference with the Webster Convention and an unsuccessful attempt to effect a compromise, they nominated a Scott ticket of electors and adjourned.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning, between six and seven o'clock, a young Irishman, named James Carney, lost his life by falling under the wheel of a cart in Boston Street. He was driving his cart out from Mr. Nath'l Tuttle's tannery; the horse was rather unmanageable, and struck against a gatepost; the jar threw the unfortunate man from his seat, but he was able to retain his hold with one hand upon the headboard until he had been dragged several rods. When he relinquished his hold, he fell under the cart wheel, which crossed his chest. He arose without assistance, and was supported into Mr. Tuttle's shop, where he died in a few minutes. He has left a young wife and an infant child.—Salem Mercury.

TELEGRAPHING.—The New York Express learns officially that the receipts of the Magnetic Telegraph Company (from Washington to New York) for the year ending June 30, 1852, was $103,232, and the number of messages 253,657. This does not include receipts or messages over the Bain Line, as distinct from the Morse Line for the last six months of 1851, the two companies uniting only at the commencement of the present year. The business extending from Washington to New York is steadily on the increase. The number of messages sent in the first six months, is 99,313, producing $34,733 14; and in the last six months the number was 154,514, producing $68,499 24. The capital of the company is $370,000. It has six wires from Washington to Philadelphia, and seven from Philadelphia to New York.

PROVINCIAL CURRENCY.—The Provincial currency of New Brunswick has been reorganized by an act signed by the Queen on the 30th of June, which establishes the British sovereign at one pound four shillings and four pence currency, and the eagle of the United States at two pounds ten shillings currency, if coined after the first day of July, in the year 1834, and before the first day of March, 1852.

AFRICAN MINISTERS.—The Boston Post says, "The African ministers view with horror the colonization society."

Who are the "African ministers?"

OLD FRENCH CLAIMS—Washington, Aug. 16.—The vote in the House to-day to proceed in the business on the Speaker's table, which was agreed to with only 22 majority, is looked upon somewhat as a test question, on the French spoliation bill, although the House directly after, with only three majority, went into Committee on the Navy bill. The friends of the first named measure will renew the struggle soon with a prospect of success.

ACCIDENT AT HILLSBORO.—In erecting the big tent Wednesday, one of the upright poles fell and struck Mr. Alonzo Gorham, leader of the Hillsboro band, breaking his ancle and shoulder-bone. He was not internally injured, and will recover.

POTATO ROT.—The Granite Farmer has been informed by a gentleman from Concord, N. H., that digging a few hills of his Chenangoes the other day, he discovered that many of them were badly affected with the potato disease.

POTATOES FROM SPROUTS.—Mr. William Carr, of West Newbury, has brought to market this season, superior ripe potatoes, raised from sprouts alone. His course has been to start the potatoes early in a hot-bed, and when the sprouts were several inches in length, to remove them from the potato into rows, in good soil, about eight inches apart. He is thus enabled to obtain ripe potatoes several weeks earlier than by the common practice.—Newburyport Herald.

There were considerable sales of oil at New Bedford on Tuesday. Natural winter whale brought 81 cents, and bleached winter whale 84 cents a gallon.

INCREASE OF INTEMPERANCE IN BOSTON.—The united testimony of the Watch Department is that there never was so much drunkenness at night in the city as at the present time. Tuesday night 33 drunken persons were conveyed to the different watch houses, and calls were made upon watchmen to quell numerous drunken rows in different parts of the city.—Boston Traveller.

The Boston Bee mentions that a young lady of much personal worth and beauty, was buried in that city, on Sunday, who had taken the initiatory steps to the altar, and in a few days would have been the wife of her adorer. Death came, and instead of gaining the altar, in her queenly beauty and exuberant hope, she was carried to the grave.

A FALL RIVER SCHOONER SUNK.

Savage Conduct of the Captain of a Merchantman.—On Friday the 6th inst., the schooner Nathan Durfee, Captain Heald, of and for this port, left Baltimore, laden with 305 1-2 tons of coal for the Fall River Iron Works. On Wednesday morning, the 11th inst., between 12 and 1 o'clock, as she was off Barnegat, about fifteen miles from shore, on the wind, she was run into by the bark Flash of New York, bound for Vera Cruz. The schooner had her light up, and the collision appeared to be the result of perfect recklessness on the part of the bark. The bark being before the wind, the collision was violent; the schooner's side was crushed in by the bark's head, and the bark's rigging was extended over the schooner's deck. In an instant perceiving their only chance for life, the captain, mate and crew of the schooner, seven persons in all, caught by the rigging of the bark, and the next moment were landed on her deck. The captain of the bark came forward with a lantern, and meeting Captain Heald and Mr. Jefferson the mate, accosted them with the feeling inquiry, "What in ——— are you here for? You belong on board that schooner, don't ye?" "Yes." "Then, why don't you stay there?"

There was on board the schooner, as a passenger at the time of the collision, a young man about 20 years of age, named William Simpson, belonging to Baltimore. He was standing on the deck at the time of the collision, but nothing has been seen of him since. It is believed that he went below to bring up his money; and that when he returned, if he did return, it was too late to save himself; for the bark freed herself immediately. Capt. Heald entreated the captain of the bark to suffer him to take a boat, man it with his own men, and go to the schooner, to rescue the passenger, if possible, and save whatever could be saved; but all to no purpose. The captain of the bark refused a moment's delay or any facility for such an object. The schooner's light was visible for about ten minutes after the bark left her; and then disappeared. Doubtless, heavy laden and broken as she was, she sank, with the passenger in her.

The captain, mate, and hands of the schooner were treated by the captain of the Flash in the most inhuman and disgraceful manner. Dripping wet as they were, having lost every thing but what they had on them and in their pockets, they were not offered a shred of dry clothing nor any refreshment. The mate states that he assisted to work the ship, yet received no reward of any kind. Several vessels wearing homeward passed within sight; but the captain of the bark for some time rejected all entreaties to put the Nathan Durfee's company on board one of these vessels. He evidently intended to carry them all to Vera Cruz, if he found no convenient way of ridding himself of them. At last, about 9 o'clock, the same morning, about 20 miles south of Barnegat, the bark fell in with the schooner Time, of Suffolk, Va., laden with pine wood, and bound to Providence. This vessel proceeded back to the Delaware Breakwater, about 40 miles, with the Nathan Durfee's company, where she found the schooner Minerva, of and for this port. Having got into civilized hands, Capt. Heald and his men of course were well treated and reached this port on Monday last.

The Nathan Durfee was about six years old, and was considered worth about $9000.

The statements of Capt. Heald and others with regard to the circumstances of the collision and sinking, have been taken by Eliab Williams, Esq., and the matter of obtaining reparation from the owners of the Flash is entertained. It is due to public sentiment; it is due to humanity and justice, that the owners of the Flash should at least discharge their worse than a Turk of a captain, and put a Christian, or at least a civilized man in his place.—Fall River News.

GRAND DEMOCRATIC BARBECUE AT HILLSBORO'.

A great crowd of people set out from Concord for Hillsboro' on Thursday morning; but the train was so overloaded that the locomotive power gave out two miles short of the camp ground. Pushing cars by hand was tried to every body's satisfaction; and then hundreds rushed ahead on the people's line, and sent back aid to the train. At length all arrived, and made up one of the largest assemblies of men, women and children, ever convened in New-Hampshire. Booming cannon opened the services with their thundering music. Hon. Charles G. Atherton was chosen president; and addresses were made by Messrs. Savage of Tennesse, Clemens of Alabama, Dix of New-York, and Gorman of Indiana. At two o'clock adjourned one hour, to eat the barbecue. At this time it was supposed there were 20,000 people on the ground. At 4 o'clk the speaking was re-commenced by Col. Gorman, who was followed by Capt. Rynders and John Van Buren. Three cheers were given for Van Buren and the Empire Club. Then followed a speech from Senator Weller from California and Maj. Stevens of the army, who defended Gen. Pierce's military reputation, as most of the other speakers had discussed political matters. The whole occasion passed off to the entire satisfaction of all concerned.

The day was closed with firing cannon, and the crowd departed, highly gratified.

We have seen another estimate of the numbers, viz. 10,000; but the number above was given to us by an eye witness.

SINGULAR AND FATAL ACCIDENT.—Two boys went into a field in Kendall, Illinois, with the purpose of having some sport with the cattle. They tied the ends of a long rope around their waists, with slipping knots, and driving the cattle over it, tripped them down by suddenly raising it. One of the cattle caught the rope on its horns and ran away, dragging the boys for some distance. When rescued, they were both insensible, and their waists compressed to four and six inches in circumference. They both died.

DESPATCHES

TO THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE.

Ho! for California.

NEW YORK, August 20.

The steamers Illinois, for Aspinwall, with California mails; and Northern Light, for San Juan, left New York this afternoon.

The Illinois took three hundred and fifty passengers, including laborers for the Panama Railroad. The Northern Light was full.

The Sierra Nevada left yesterday. She had two hundred and fifty passengers.

The shipment of specie will reach five or six hundred thousand dollars.

Rain—Crops.

CINCINNATI, August 20.

It has been raining hard here all day.

Corn in this vicinity looks better, although much is thought past recovery. Corn is in demand at from forty to fifty-two cents per bushel.

LOUISVILLE, August 20.

Last night a portion of Relief Engine Co. went to the house of Sarah Williams, where McGowan was killed Wednesday, mobbed and then fired and burned it to the ground. A large crowd gathered. No attempts were made to stop the rioters. McGowan was a member of the company.

The Webster Whigs are holding another meeting at Art Union Hall to-night. They are sanguine and enthusiastic.

NEW YORK, August 20.

GOLD IN DEMARARA.—The gold discovery is an all-absorbing affair. It is found in large quantities, and its quality is equal to that of the best found in Africa.

Frightful Steamboat Collision!

REPORTED LOSS OF 200 LIVES!

BUFFALO, Aug. 20.—We have just received accounts of a frightful collision on lake Erie at about two o'clock this morning, between the steamer Atlantic and the propeller Ogdensburgh, by which it was reported that two hundred lives were lost.

The latest accounts are that the steamer was run into by the propeller, and as the passengers were all in their berths they were swept away before they were able to ascertain their dreadful position.

SECOND DESPATCH—11 A. M.—A collision between the Atlantic and Ogdensburgh occurred near Lockport, and that with such force was the former struck, that she went down in a few minutes, with all on board. It is impossible at present to get anything like a correct list of the drowned, or the number, though it is known that at least 200 are lost, and perhaps a still greater number—one report says 250. There was a large amount of money on board belonging to a Western express company, which was also lost.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 19.—At the Whig Convention, held yesterday, Thomas H. Howe was re-nominated for Congress from the 27th district.

The river rose 22 feet during last night, and is now four feet by metal mark, and is still rising.

The case of Nachtreb vs. the Economy Society, is now going on in this city, before Commissioners appointed by the U. S. Supreme Court. Mr. Nachtreb was expelled from the society some twenty years ago, during the difficulties with Count Leon, and now claims his share of the property with damages. Among the assets of the society are $500,000 in specie withdrawn from the banks, during the suspension of specie payments in Jackson's time.

CONVENTION AT BALTIMORE.—There is to be held, in December next, at Baltimore, one of the largest Conventions ever assembled in the South, for the promotion of Southern commerce. The most extensive arrangements have been made. It is contemplated then to adjourn the meeting to Memphis, thence to New Orleans, then to Macon or Savannah, then to Charleston, and then to Richmond, and so on.—Boston Herald.

ATTEMPT AT MURDER AND ROBBERY.—An attempt was made last evening to murder and rob two gentlemen connected with Adams & Co's, and Edwards, Sanfords & Co's expresses, in New York City. The circumstances were as follows: Messrs. George Curtis and Wm. Williams, who board during the summer at Hoboken, were walking on the beach promenade in the evening with two ladies residing in the same house, when they were suddenly assaulted by two footpads armed with slung shot, and but for the outcry of their female companions would probably have been killed and robbed of their watches, &c. The ladies screaming and running for help, induced the villains to decamp before completing their purpose, leaving Mr. W. badly injured, and Mr. Curtis prostrate and insensible upon the beach, where he lay for nearly an hour. The assailants are unknown, and still at large. The two gentlemen will recover entirely from their hurts in a few days.—Correspondence of Salem Register.

POLICE COURT IN BOSTON.—A woman named Ellen Lyons, was brought up yesterday, for selling liquor to a little boy. It was a clear case of a violation of the new liquor law. She at first pleaded not guilty, but subsequently retracted her former plea, and plead guilty. A fine of $10 and costs was imposed, and she was also ordered to give bonds in the sum of $1000, not to sell again.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.

STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,

CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and that seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. THOS. B. LAIGHTON'S Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McClary, and Constitution; the settlements of Jittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

TICKETS can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to

SAMUEL R. CLEAVES, Agent,

a10 At Portsm. & Concord Railroad Station.

GRAMMATICAL SPIRITS.—The Boston Mail don't believe the "Star of Truth," which contains many letters from the Spirit World, (brought into our mundane sphere by certain mediums,) because the letter from John Adams's ghost is written in wretchedly bad English.

"Who would imagine (says the Mail,) that John Adams, the "Colossus of the Revolution," would convey his thoughts to us mortals in such grammar and style as this? "I tals in such grammar and style as this? "I labor under a disadvantage, for many who are familiar with my writings, hearing the report that some stranger has the audacity to offer a written communication as coming from me, who, they imagine, has lost all cognizance of earth's interests, will be likely to scan the production closely, to find discrepancies between it and what I have left recorded, nor can I blame any for being cautious." Spirits it appears, do not include grammatical accuracy in their advance to perfection; book-learning they despise, and what little information they give us, "on tick," is in a very roundabout style, — probably owing to their living in "circles."

PURE AIR.—At the Educational convention at Newark last week, Dr. Griscom, of New York, urged upon school committee men and teachers the importance of pure air for scholars. He remarked that it would astonish some when he said that respiration is the last act of digestion. This act oxydizes and decarbonizes the blood. The want of fresh and pure air is among the prime causes of mortality. It is a fact that half of the race die before the age of twenty-one. The school-room and dormitory are changed into abodes of death. Fresh air is deliberately shut out, and foul air, the fell minister of disease, kept in. When will due attention be paid to the subject of ventilation, in constructing school-rooms, public halls, and dwelling-houses?—Transcript.

NOTICE TO BUILDERS AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of our finest buildings are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and narrow contracted, leaden goose-necks, or what is still worse a skeleton-like construction of the upright conductor with which the cornice is adorned—all of which may be remedied by application to

J. E. CHAPMAN,
PRACTICAL TIN PLATE WORKER,

who will give his personal attention to the adjustment of all such defects. Specimens of Ornamental Goose-necks and Conductor Caps, on the most approved plan of modern architecture may be seen at his Tin Ware Factory, where he manufactures to order of all sizes, in the most thorough and substantial manner. All orders left with him will receive immediate attention.

CONDUCTORS, GOOSE NECKS & GUTTERS

BLITZ & THE FIRE ANNIHILATOR.

The recent successful experiment with the fire-annihilator has reminded us of some circumstances connected with the first exhibition of them in New York, and which caused a feud between P. T. Barnum and Signor Blitz, so well known for his skill in training birds, and his extraordinary feats in natural magic. Barnum had invited the Signor to be present (in New York) at an experimental exhibition, in which he was interested, of the machines that put out a great fire with a great smoke. The great deceiver was on hand—a little man, dressed in black, with iron gray hair, and a restless, observant eye—and he mingled in the crowd, unrecognized.

The temporary structure in which the fire was to be kindled, and then annihilated, was about fifteen feet square, and one story and a half high. There was an upper floor, but no stairs, as none were needed. The carpenter who had nailed it down had merely left a hole by which he had descended after performing his job.

A large concourse of people assembled to witness the experiment, which was to come off a little after dark. The spectators examined at their leisure the building and the queer looking cans that contained Barnum's gas, ready to be let forth to arrest the progress of that "devouring element," which, to use the stereotyped language of the insurance companies, "often sweeps away in a few hours the hard earnings of many years."

Professor Colton at last mounted a stand, and explained to the assembly the principles of the annihilator, and set forth the immense benefits that would accrue from it to all combustible communities.

Barnum was around, and, although he had been searching for his friend Blitz, the wily professor of deviltry dodged the great showman and remained invisible.

At length everything was ready. A head of highly combustible matter had been prepared on the middle of the floor, and an assistant was proceeding to set fire to it, when all in the vicinity were startled by a cry from the upper room of the building—

"Don't! don't! let me out! Don't burn me up!"

"Stop!" shouted a police officer; "there's a man in the loft."

The master of ceremonies stepped into the building and ordered the intruder to jump down.

"I can't (hic) get down," said the voice.

"Some drunken fool has got up there with his bottle," said Barnum, in a tone of vexation. "O, for a Maine liquor law in these diggings! Somebody must go up and haul the fellow down."

A stick of timber was procured and placed in a slanting position, and a policeman mangedto crawl up into the attic.

"Hello, here! Come out of this!" said the officer, poking about with his stick. But, to his surprise, he found no one there. After satisfying himself that the place was vacant, the officer came down, muttering curses upon the whole affair.

Again did the torch-bearer approach to light the pile, and again the voice sounded from the upper room—

"Let me out, I sa-ay! Con-demn (hic) yer picters, will ye burn a fell'l alive? Let me out! Let me out!" Let me ou-u-ut!"

"Stop!" shouted Barnum to the torch-bearer, "this won't do! Mr. Colton, will you send a man up into that building who has his senses about him? Send him quickly, too."

Another person now ascended to the loft, which he examined by the light of a lantern that was passed up to him, and he likewise reported the place empty.

A short pause now took place, during which the spectators began to manifest great impatience, and their cries began to fill the air.

"Humbug!"
"A Barnum humbug!"
"The thingumbob won't work!"
"Woolly horse!"
"Joice Heth!"
"Merma-a-id!"

These were some of the unpleasant words that assailed Barnum's ear in the great babblement that was rising like the roar of waves around him.

"Have a little patience, gentlemen, and we'll proceed," said he.

"Well, yer kin proceed, but yer can't succeed," growled a member of old Forty-Two's company.

The torch was now applied to the tar and rosin, and, as the flames began to curl up, a number of voices sounded distressfully from all parts of the building. It was apparently half full of men. Pigs also began to squeal as if their bristles were scorched, but Barnum now took the hint. He recognized some of the very sounds that the great ventriloquist had produced in his office that afternoon, and he exclaimed, in high dudgeon—

"That cursed Blitz has made all this trouble! I'll give his iron gray locks an extra kink, if I ever catch him."

The Signor's ventriloquism in reality did more mischief than he had intended, for it was probably owing to the confusion he created that the experiment proved a failure.

Barnum has not forgiven Blitz to this day, although the waggish Signor is confident that if he can get the great showman into one of his Amory Hall entertainments, he can conjure all the anger from his breast, and restore their former friendly relations.—Literary Museum.

A somewhat strange incident occurred at Sing Sing Prison not long since. Late in the evening the Warden was aroused by somebody knocking at his door. Inquiring who was there he was astonished to hear in reply, "It's me—Schermerhorn." One of the convicts had been overlooked, and the prison had been locked up with him on the outside. The poor fellow had been twenty-two years in the prison, and didn't know where to go, and so he knocked until he awoke the Warden and obtained admission to his old quarters.

PORTSMOUTH:

MONDAY, AUGUST 23, 1852.

PORTSMOUTH & DOVER RAILROAD.

A meeting of the projectors of this enterprise was held in Dover at the New Hampshire Hotel, on Saturday last. The attendance was good, and the spirit manifested upon the occasion such as cannot fail to accomplish the desirable result of connecting Portsmouth and Dover by a railroad.

Hon. Ichabod Bartlett was chosen Chairman, and Hon. Charles W. Woodman Clerk.

It was voted by the original grantees present, to admit persons whose names are given below, and others, as associates:

A B Hatch,	Augustus Lord,
D H Treadwell,	D H Pierce,
W P Jones,	W H Y Hackett,
Ichabod Goodwin,	W H Hackett,
C L Woodbury,	Peter Jenness,
John P Lyman,	John Stavers,

Mr. Atkinson, the engineer, who has re-surveyed a part of the line, upon that route which in his opinion is the best and most economical, crossing the river at Knight's Ferry, estimates the cost of the whole road at less than $200,000.

A Committee was appointed for the nomination of a Board of five Directors. The following gentlemen were nominated and unanimously elected:

Wm. Hill, of North Berwick;
Richard Jenness, } Portsmouth;
Jas. P. Bartlett, }
Thos. H. Cushing, } Dover.
Chas. W. Woodman, }

After eloquent speeches from several gentlemen, setting forth the unmistakable mutual interest of Dover and Portsmouth and whoever may subscribe to the stock, in the building of said road, it was

Resolved, That the Directors be requested to continue the survey already commenced, and report the same at the next meeting of this corporation.

Resolved, That the Directors be requested to procure the stock of the corporation to be immediately subscribed.

The meeting adjourned to Saturday next, the 28th instant, at 11 o'clock, A. M., at the Franklin House in this city.

THREE TRAINS A DAY.

The advertisement of the Portsmouth and Concord Railroad, in another column, announces three trains a day—but one of them only goes as far as the junction at New Market. This is the morning train; and though by this arrangement some wages and other expenses may be saved, it would seem that the accommodation and income of the road must fall greatly below what they ought to be and would be, if three trains ran daily over the road each way. The first train from Concord does not start for Portsmouth till a quarter past 10 o'clock. And the first train in the morning into Portsmouth comes only from New-Market.

In this way, all passengers above New-Market must wait till the middle of the day before they can start for Portsmouth—or for Boston. They can hardly do any business here without staying over night. Nor can a passenger from here, nor a carrier of newspapers, nor an express-man, go over the road above New-Market, until the passenger, and newsman and express-man from Boston comes down to go with him; and they will get to Concord at the same time!

We do not think this arrangement a good one for the Road,—and it certainly cannot be so good for business between Portsmouth and Concord, as if morning and evening trains went through,—and not half as good as three entire trains.

Fire in Dover.—On Saturday morning last, about three o'clock, a fire broke out in a shed in the rear of Morrill's brick block, on Franklin Square, Dover, occupied as a storehouse, which was consumed, together with several small outbuildings. Fortunately there was no wind at the time, or a destructive conflagration must have ensued. It was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

☞ The Whigs of Louisiana assembled ten thousand strong at a Barbecue at Baton Rouge on Monday, August 2d. Speeches and pledges were made for Scott and Graham, with great enthusiasm.

☞ A salute was fired at the Navy Yard on Saturday, in compliment to Col. Gorman, who visited the Yard.

Removal.—Rev. Mr. Barrows, late of Dover, has removed to Wareham, Mass.

Weavers Wanted.—An advertisement of interest to stocking weavers, will be found in our columns this morning.

THE SEASON AND CROPS.

With us the weather is dry, the roads dusty, and many crops short. Hay, corn and potatoes, our principal products, are all deficient. A correspondent at Conway on Friday, says it is drier there than here. There is or has been drought elsewhere also.

The Springfield Republican says the drought in all that region of country is becoming distressing. It is felt by the farmers in their suffering crops, and by manufacturers in low streams. Many of the water tanks on the Western Railroad have failed, and water has to be procured at unusual places and at great disadvantage, for running the engines. One train, on Thursday, was delayed an hour from this cause.

The Illinois and Indiana papers complain much of a want of rain in those States, and say that in some sections, the corn and potato crop will be almost a failure.

But such a state of things is not general, but partial. Accounts received from all parts of the Union, concur in the opinion that the wheat and corn crops will be by far the largest ever garnered. The accounts in relation to the corn crop are particularly flattering, and in many States where there has been very little corn planted in former seasons, the yield will be very great. The Iowa and Alabama papers state that the crop will be double what it ever was before, and that it will be a drug at thirty and forty cents per bushel. The cotton crop throughout the Southern States is represented as looking well.

The potato crop is more abundant in Kentucky this year than usual. Potatoes are selling at Louisville for twenty-five cents per bushel.

The Batavia, N. Y. Times says, seldom if ever have the farmers of old Tennessee been favored with a more auspicious season than the present. Since the middle of May, sunshine and shadow have alternated in such proportions as to bring forward every species of vegetation, and nothing has suffered from an excess of either. The fine wheat crop is all secured in excellent order, and so is the bulk of the hay. There is an excellent crop of oats and barley. Corn and potatoes are doing well, and we hear no complaint yet of the potato rot.

DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING.

Hon. W. A. Gorman of Indiana, addressed the Democratic party in Portsmouth on Saturday evening, at the Temple. He is an effective speaker of the western type; and we should judge had been extensively engaged in electioneering campaigns. He stated that he was in the Mexican war as an officer, where he got such a habit of commanding, that when he got home he began to command in the kitchen, but his nice red haired wife ordered him into the parlor; and he concluded that General Scott, by being a commander forty years, had acquired such habits of command that he would be likely to give commands in the Cabinet if he came to be President of the United States. He is personally acquainted with Gen. Scott, and speaks in the highest terms of his military talents and services; but maintains that as he is neither a farmer, nor a man who has mingled with the sons of toil, or visited the factories, or engaged in pursuits that brought him in contact with the people, therefore he ought not to be President. On the contrary he said that General Pierce was like Washington, a soldier in war and a statesman in peace, and therefore eminently fit for the office. He was decided in his condemnation of the existing Whig administration and party, and very complimentary to the Democratic party, whom he deemed sure of success in the present contest.

The Democratic party of Portsmouth was well represented as to numbers and standing, nearly all its eminent men being present, and apparently gratified. Quite a number of ladies occupied the central part of the house, and there was a liberal sprinkling of Free Soilers and Whigs. The other gentlemen announced as speakers did not appear. The audience was good, filling the Temple nearly full, and as usual, orderly.

Light-House on Egg Rock.—Mr. Sumner has presented to Congress a petition from citizens of Boston, a petition from inhabitants of Lynn, a petition of Swampscot, and a petition of inhabitants of Nahant, stating the urgent need of a light-house on Egg Rock for the safety of shipping and protection of the lives of mariners. These petitions were forwarded by Alonzo Lewis, Esq., who is ever ready to promote the public welfare. We understand that Mr. Lewis has also prepared a chart of the coast from Marblehead to Boston, on which he has delineated the places where vessels have been wrecked since the first settlement of the country, with the dates. The average number of wrecks for the past twelve years has been somewhat more than one each year.—Mail.

Geo. H. Estee, the Charlestown fireman injured at the burning of the Tremont Temple, on the morning of the 31st of March, has been removed from the Hospital to the house of his brother, No. 74 Green street, Charlestown. We understand that there has been no apparent change in the condition of Mr. Estee for weeks past, and he is now likely to live months, although his recovery is impossible.

CONGRESS.

Friday, Aug. 20.

Senate.—Mr. Hale of New Hamshire, moved that the Homestead bill be taken up. A debate ensued, and Mr. Mason said it was well known that the Senator who made the motion had been nominated to the Presidency by a party called Abolitionist Liberty Men, or Free Soilers. The bill was a plank in the platform of the convention which nominated him.

The Chair said the Senator's motives could not be questioned.

Mr. Mason of Virginia, did not question the Senator's motives—they were doubtless patriotic, according to the measure of that Senator's patriotism. He was a candidate for the Presidency. This bill was to enable the party which nominated that Senator, whose triumph would be the destruction of the country, to distribute largest among the people on the eve of the election.

Mr. Hale said he thanked God that the measure of his patriotism was not the same as that of the Senator. Their patriotism was not measured by the same measure. This bill did not originate with the fanatical party which the Senator condemned. It did not originate at Pittsburg or Cleaveland, but farther South.—It originated in a section south of Virginia, where patriotism was regulateq by the same standard as that of the Senator from Virginia.

The motion to take up was rejected. Yeas —16. Nays—38.

Mr. Rusk reported back the bill to amend the postage bill, with amendments that the postage on newspapers, periodicals, and all other printed matter, not exceeding three ounces, shall be sent to any part of the United States for one cent, and where the postage was paid quarterly or regularly in advance where the same is mailed or delivered—one half of said rates only shall be charged. Newspapers not weighing over one ounce and a half, when circulated in the state where published, shall be charged one half of the rates before named, —provided that small newspapers published monthly when sent in packages to one address, prepaid by affixing stamps thereto, shall be chargeable for half a cent each ounce,—postage on all transient matter shall be paid—or charged double the foregoing rates, and that all books bound or unbound not weighing over four pounds, shall be deemed mailable matter, and charged with postage at one cent an ounce for all distances over 3000 miles, to which 50 per cent shall be added in all cases where the same may be sent. The bill was taken up, these amendments agreed to, and the bill was ordered to be engrossed. Subsequently the bill was passed.

The River and Harbor bill was taken up, the amendment pending was on appropriating $3000 for the survey of the Rappahannock river, Va.

Mr. Davis urged that the friends of the bill refrain from debate.

Mr. Dessaussures addressed the Senate in opposition to the bill. He believed no power was given to make such appropriation. He commented at length upon the probability of river navigation being ultimately abandoned and railroads established to answer in place thereof.

The amendment for the Rappahannock river was then agreed to.

The House went into committee on the Navy appropriation bill.

The Committee rose and reported the bill to the House. The amendment of Mr. Hunter of Tennessee, concerning decayed vessels, offered on the 18th, was non-concurred in—yeas 43, nays 85. The bill was then passed.

Speech of Col. Benton.—Ex-Senator Benton delivered a speech on the 11th inst., before a meeting of citizens of St. Louis, called, we presume, for the purpose of congratulating him on his election to the House of Representatives from the First Congressional district of Missouri. The Colonel made a dashing speech, and rejoiced over the victory they had achieved, by carrying the city and country of St. Louis without losing a man.—He expressed himself opposed to a war with Mexico to enforce the revival of the Garay grant; he is against a war with Great Britain on the fishing question; against sending ships to the scene of dispute, and opposed to alarming the country with a talk of war. But not one word do we hear from Mr. Benton in relation to the Presidential canvass. He stoically avoids to even mention the name of either of the two candidates, and we are left without a knowledge as to what course he will pursue in regard to the two great political platforms.

Sudden Deaths of Returned Californians.—A young man who had been absent in California about a year, recently returned to his home in Clarkson, N. Y., and as he entered the door, and met his mother and sister, fell forward into the room, and was taken up lifeless. Similar mysterious and sudden deaths of returned Californians are frequently mentioned. The excitement of a return to home and friends, as in the above case, added to diseases so often contracted on the homeward passage, in too many instances has hurried the ill-starred adventurers to premature graves.

Fatal Gunning Accident.—On Monday last, a party from Natick, on a gunning excursion to Cape Cod, one of the party, Mr. Felch, sent his son, a boy of 15 years old, to move the guns, which were on the beach, further up. One of them, which was loaded and cocked, fell, and discharged the contents through the neck of the boy, killing him instantly. His body was brought home on Wednesday.—Boston Herald.

Singular Occurrence.—The Thomaston Miscellany states that the schooner Lefrette which arrived at Rockland a few days since, landed a cook, dangerously sick with the Chagres fever, who after lingering a day or two in the poor house, died. The body was ascertained to be that of a woman. It appears that she had been on board the last schooner about fourteen months; she would go aloft with alacrity, and did all her duty promptly. She has left papers which state that she ran away from her parents at Nova Scotia about two years since, on account of some love affair, and has since had her home on the bounding ocean.

Josiah Hinckley, in the employ of Adams & Co., South Boston, was engaged on Thursday in chipping a piece of iron, when one of the chips flew, striking the ball of the eye, and injuring it so that he will probably lose the sight.

STEAMBOAT ATLANTIC.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS OF HER LOSS.

Erie, N. Y. Aug. 20.

Terrible Steamboat Casualty—250 Lives Lost.—The steamer Atlantic, at two o'clock this morning, came in collision on the Lake with the propeller Ogdensburg, and sunk in half an hour. The Atlantic had on board 500 passengers, 250 of whom were lost. The remainder succeeded in getting on board the Ogdensburg with nothing on but their night clothes, and were brought in here this morning. The Ogdensburg was somewhat injured, but lost none of her passengers.

It is believed that all the crew of the Atlantic were all lost, with the exception of the captain and first mate. A dease fog was prevailing at the time.

Second Despatch.—Erie, Aug. 20, noon.—At the time of the collision a dense fog was prevailing. The passengers were all in bed, and the Atlantic was in charge of the first mate. Immediately following the collision the utmost confusion prevailed among the steerage and deck passengers, a very large proportion of whom were Norwegian emigrants. Many of them in their terror, jumped overboard instantly. Capt. Petty vainly endeavored to calm their fears, by assuring them there was no danger, hoping to keep the steamer on its course and reach port in season to save them;—but the water gained so fast on the efforts of the crew that by the time she had proceeded two miles from the spot where the collision took place she was found to be rapidly sinking.

The fires in the engine room were extinguished by the rising water, and a scene of terrible confusion followed. The emigrants who could not understand a word spoken to them, added horror to the scene by their cries and exhibition of frantic terror.

The cabin passengers and all others who could be made to understand the exhortations and orders of the captain and officers, remained comparatively calm, and provided themselves with chairs, settees and beds, all of which were as life preservers, which buoyed them up in the water, and they were thus saved.

Great numbers of the emigrants jumped overboard in their terror, without any provision for their safety, and thus rushed on to certain death. The fog was a sad hindrance to the efforts made at rescue, but some 250 were picked up by the Propeller and taken to Erie.

Large numbers of them left at once on the steamer Sultana for Cleveland, and others came down in the cars to this city.

From the best information we can gain, we are led to believe that no less than three hundred lives are lost.

We have a list here of the cabin and second cabin passengers on board the Atlantic. Of those booked for Chicago is a Mr. Frost, of Boston.

A later despatch says—

It is thought the loss of life was confined chiefly to the immigrants. A later despatch gives the number of different class passengers, making the whole number on board about 450. This, provided the number saved by the Ogdensburg be correct, would reduce the number lost to about 200.

Buffalo, August 21.

No further names of cabin passengers, either lost or saved, have been ascertained.—Nine of the crew and about twenty of the cabin passengers are known to be lost.

A little boy of only 8 years old, clung to a rope, and was saved.

Maine Volunteers and Land Bounty.—A letter from Mr. Tuplett, acting commissioner of the Pension office, to Senator Hamlin, expresses the opinion that the militia of Maine, who were called out by Gov. Fairfield's proclamation, and remained in service long enough, will come under the provisions of the bounty land law of March 22, 1852, and also that the police force of Maine, called out at the same time, should be allowed land for their services, to be computed from the proclamation of Sir John Harvey to the time when the militia force of Maine was disbanded, if they were in actual service at the time of that proclamation, and continued in it until the withdrawal of the militia from the border.—Boston Courier.

NEW YORK, August 21.

The Pacific sailed at noon for Liverpool with 100 passengers. Among them is Capt. Franklin Buchanan, U. S. N., who proceeds to Hong Kong to relieve Commodore Aulick, of the East India squadron. He will act as commander until the arrival of Commodore Perry.

COTTON SHIP BURNT.—The ship Robert Centre, of Boston, Capt. Arnold, loading at the foot of Wall street for San Francisco, took fire last evening, and is still burning.—She will be a total loss. Vessel valued at $50,000, and cargo at $40,000. She was nearly loaded.

THE HARRISBURG DEMONSTRATION.—Harrisburg, August 20.—The State Whig Mass Meeting held to-day, proved a total failure. Not over 500 strangers were present, nor more than 1500 persons were assembled altogether. Gen. Irwin was President. Addresses were delivered by Judge Conrad, Sevier, of La., Gen. Leslie Coombs and Judge Johnson, of Ohio. Great dissatisfaction exists at the arrangements, as a large gathering was expected.

NORTH CAROLINA ELECTION.—The Raleigh Register foots up the Whig gain in the House 17—loss 8. This will give the Whigs the Legislature on joint ballot, and consequently the United States Senator.

A TRADER ARRESTED FOR SHOPBREAKING.—Lewis Cheney, keeper of a small fancy goods shop at the corner of Hanover and Friend streets, Boston, was arrested on Friday night, by officer Harrington, charged with breaking into the store of J. L. Richards, Jr., Haymarket square, in May last, and stealing therefrom about $2000 worth of jewelry.—About $125 worth of the property was found in his possession. He was held in $3000 for trial in the Police Court, and for want of bail was committed.

One Joseph Webb has also been arrested, as implicated in the robbery.

PERILOUS LEAP.—A man leaped from the suspension bridge into the middle of the Niagara river, on Monday week, for the entertainment of a crowd of people. Owing to a strong current of air under the bridge he was unable to retain a perpendicular position, and he struck the water upon his back. He was able to swim to a boat in waiting for him, but thinks he will decline any other feats of the kind.

A SHIPWRECK AS PERFORMED BY THE SPIRITS.—The spiritual rappers at New Haven report speeches made by Henry Clay.—Professor Barnes informs the editor of the Journal and Courier, published there, that "a mahogany table went through the motions of a ship lost at sea, to demonstrate the manner of the death of a person inquired after. The creaking of a rudder could be distinguished very plainly at one end of the table, and a noise like the rattling of ropes was also heard. At last the table was thrown sideways, resting upon one leaf, and the spirits seized the 'medium' bodily, and threw her across the legs, where she represented a drowning person, and screamed out for help. The 'medium' then said a few words to the audience in regard to the condition of the person inquired after, and the manner of his death, after which the table knocked out the number of persons on board," &c.

CASE OF DR. KING IN GREECE.—U. S. steam frigate San Jacinto, arrived at Constantinople on the 15th of July. She would leave about the first of August for Athens, taking Mr. Marsh, the American Minister at the Porte, who goes to the former place to investigate the controversy between the Greek government and Dr. King, the American missionary.

THE CROWD IN CONCORD.—The Daily Patriot says, the good folks of this town were completely taken by storm, on Wednesday evening, by the thousands who came into town en route for Hillsborough, as it was expected that those who proposed to attend would generally go and return on the day of the meeting. As it was, the regular trains for two days previous were thronged. Every room in each of our six large hotels was engaged as early as Wednesday morning; and when night came, every private family which had a bed to spare, had disposed of it. Many took lodgings in the State House, others in Depot Hall, others in Rumford Hall; while hundreds did not go to bed at all, and finding even standing room scarce in the public houses, were fain to while away the midnight and early morning hours by walking the streets.

The following night, the rush was nearly doubled, but our citizens were better prepared to meet it. Messrs. Brown and Young, furniture dealers, are entitled to much credit for furnishing matresses in the area, lobbies and committee rooms, &c., of the State House, and public halls. They telegraphed to Boston for an additional supply, which arrived in season for the second night. Although whigs in their political sentiments, these gentlemen showed themselves on this occasion to be eminently entitled to the patronage of the Democratic friends of Pierce and King.

†On the arrival of the 2½ train from Boston.
‡On arrival of trains on railroads above Con'd.
§On arrival of the first train from Boston.
‖On arrival of the 4½ o'clock train fm Boston.

In case the trains upon the Boston & Maine railroad are late, the trains upon the P. & C. road will not wait over twenty minutes beyond the regular time.

Passengers going from Portsmouth to Exeter, Haverhill, Lawrence and Boston, will not be detained at the Newmarket Junction, if they take either of the morning trains from Portsmouth; and passengers going from those places to Portsmouth, will not be detained at the Junction if they take the 7 A. M. and 4½ P. M. trains on the B. & M. Railroad from Boston.

Passengers going from Portsmouth to Newmarket, Dover, Great Falls, Rochester, Farmington and the Lake, will not be detained at the Newmarket Junction if they take the 4:10 P. M. train from Portsmouth.

Passengers leaving Concord by the 10:15 A. M. and 4:10 P. M. trains, will arrive at the Newmarket Junction in season to take on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, the express train going east, connecting at Portland with the relay boat for Bangor. Passengers must mention to the conductor and station master at the junction, that they wish to go by the express train, as the train does not stop unless a signal is given. The 10:15 A. M. train from Concord will wait the arrival of the trains upon the railroads above Concord, and take passengers to Portsmouth in season to go by evening train from Portsmouth to Portland.

Passengers leaving Concord and intervening places by the 4:10 P. M. train, will arrive at the Newmarket Junction in season to proceed directly to Exeter, &c. and Boston—also in season to proceed to Newmarket, Durham, Dover, &c.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT
From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.
STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,
CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all those who are fond of healthful sailing. Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, without the inconvenience of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. Thos. B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, new and ever changing presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and New Castle Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to SAMUEL R. CLEAVES, Agent,
a10 At Portsm. & Concord Railroad Station.

CHINESE CELEBRATION OF THE FOURTH OF JULY.—The San Francisco papers give the following account of the part which the Chinese in that city took in the celebration of our National Anniversary:

"The great and principal feature of the procession was the Celestials, who turned out in astonishing numbers. There were no less than three or four hundred of these singular beings who took an active part in commemorating this glorious day. Their procession was headed by four of their number bearing a large flag made of silk, on which was a figure of a dragon, having eyes made of looking-glass. It was one of the richest specimens of art we have seen, and the cost of it alone was $2000. Another banner in the procession, borne by some of the members, bore the emblematic words of "A rush for Republicanism, and the 4th of July hereafter and forever a festival day for the Chinese." A carriage drawn by four grey horses, contained a band of their native musicians, who, with their unwieldy and strange looking musical instruments, discoursed horrible harmony in an extravagant style. A large number of mandarins in carriages and on horseback were in attendance, whilst many followed on foot. The whole was under command of Norman Assing, Esq., together with Sam Wo and several other of our prominent Chinese citizens."

WAX SEALS.—We are requested by the Post-master-Gengral again to caution the Public against the use of wax seals on letters which are to be transmitted across the Isthmus, either to or from the Pacific.

The Postmaster of San Francisco reports, under date of July 15, that "the [then] last mail from New York contained a large number of letters thus sealed, which, owing to the melting of the wax, it was impossible to separate without injury to a portion."

Similar complaints have been received from other quarters, and particularly from England in respect to letters sent sealed in this manner rom California.—Nat. Intelligencer.

THE LOCKET.

AN ANCIENT BALLAD, BY RICHARD HAYWARDE.

And thrice her lily hand he wrung,
And kissed her lips so sweet;
Then, by the mane and stirrup, flung
Himself into his seat.

And as he galloped through the town,
He said, "Though we must part,
May Heaven prove false to me if I
Prove false to thee, sweetheart."

Then by a silken string he drew
A locket quaint and old;
The ore and braid, with gold inlaid,
Was like a marigold.

He sighed amain, and touched the spring;
Aside he brushed a tear;
Smiled out; quoth he, "This pledge may bring
A cradle or a bier."

Beneath a leaden, murderous sky,
The roaring cannons glow;
With thunderous sound they scar the ground,
While loud the trumpets blow.

They are filled with bloody foam,
The sward is torn and wet
By ball and shot, and corpse and clot,
And deadly bayonet.

But where yon band the foeman dares,
The noblest, bravest, best,
Is he who in the battle bears
A locket on his breast.

He cheers them on! A bullet speeds!
"What means that sudden start?"
The mark! the locket and the braid
Are driven in his heart.

They buried him at Vesper Hill,
The old kirk-wall beside;
The red kirk tolled mother knell,
When there they bore his bride.

And thrice an hundred years have flown,
Yet what care they or we?
"So here's to him, the gallant knight,
And to his fair ladye."

REMARKABLE PHENOMENON NEAR MADISON, GEORGIA.—We are indepted to Professor Loud, of the Georgia Female College, for the following statament, which he obtained from Mr. Baldwin:—

"A most remarkable electric phenomenon was seen at the plantation of Charles J. Baldwin, Esq., about five miles from this place, on Tuesday, June 8th, 1852. Mr. Baldwin was standing in his back porch, when immediately after a pretty severe flash of lightning, he observed a ball of fire at 60 or 70 yards from him. The ball, when first seen, appeared about a foot in diameter. It instantly began to expand, throwing off beautiful scintillations, and continued to enlarge and scintillate until it had become 10 or 12 feet in diameter, when it disappeared.

Mr. B. says it was the most beautiful sight he ever beheld. His family, both white and black, who saw it, were very much alarmed, but he was apparently so much interested as to feel no alarm. He has examined his cotton where it appeared, and observed no signs of injury. It must have been visible for some time, say 50 or 60 seconds, as the negroes ran into the house and gave the alarm and returned before it disappeared."—Constitutionalist & Republic.

GOOD GIRLS.—The hired girls of Pittsburg have sent $35,000 to the old country during the past six months, to enable their relations to come to this country.

Why is a blacksmith likely to make a commotion in the alphabet? Because he makes A poke R, and A shove L.

ANOTHER WONDER.—The London correspondent of the New York Courier writes that a most extraordinary paragraph has been the rounds of the papers during the last few days. It states that on the opening of a supterranous cave of a Gallo-Roman construction, at Langres, in France, a curious bronze lamp was found burning! "It was filled with a combustible substance which seemed to have suffered no diminution, although the light is supposed to have been burning for ages."—The discovery of the Roman and ever "burning lamp," if true, is indeed interesting.

GRAPES AND WINE.—Bad accounts of the grape crop continue to arrive from France, Portugal and elsewhere. In the island of Madeira it appears to have entirely failed. In the district of Lisbon likewise the destruction has been general.

This is bad news for raisin eaters and wine drinkers. Both may be dear, and perhaps raisins may be scarce; but not so with wine. That is an article easily manufactured; and as the apple crop is said to be abundant this year, there will be plenty of wine, such as it is.

NEW KIND OF GAS.—The Newark, N. J. Advertiser gives an account of a newly invented gas light, the apparatus for which costs about $160, and says that eight ordinary gas burners can be supplied with the gas, for five hours burning, at an expense of seven cents. The gas is estimated to cost $1 50 per 1000 feet. The apparatus for generating the gas is said to be simple, compact, occupying but a few square feet, requiring no more skill for managing it than a common coal fire, and every way adapted for private use. If all this is true, it must supersede the gas now in use.

Bring it out and set it up where the people can see it.

PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, AUGUST 24, 1852.

STEAMBOAT COLLISION ON LAKE ERIE.

We have already published many particulars of the disastrous collision between the propeller Ogdensburg and the steamer Atlantic, by which the latter was sunk and many lives lost. Other particulars are furnished, from which we make such selections as seem to be most interesting.

The Atlantic had about sixty cabin passengers of the first and second class and about 350 Norwegian emigrants on board. Of these persons 216 in all, are known to have been saved.

Most of the persons lost were the Norwegian emigrants on their way to the West.—Their ignorance of the language made it almost impossible to indicate to them the means of attempting to escape, even if such could have been plentifully provided, and their cries and the confusion are described as dreadful; the boat went down head foremost in deep water.

The mate of the Ogdensburg, at an inquest held at Erie on Friday night, gave the following account of the occurrence in his testimony:

"We had two lights at the crosstrees, and another in front. When I saw her [the Atlantic] three miles distant, we were steering for the Welland Canal, and I judged, from her course, we should pass half a mile north of her. Upon nearing her she appeared to be making across our bows. I now ordered the engines stopped. This was about ten minutes before the collision. Seeing that we were likely to strike together, I ordered the engine to back; shouted as hard as I could, our whistle being out of order. In about ten minutes we struck, the bow of our vessel striking her between the forward gangway and wheel house, larboard side. Did not see or hear any person on board the steamer when we struck. The Atlantic was under full headway. After ascertaining that our vessel would not sink we went to her relief, although we did not see any signal of distress or hear her bell ring. Upon nearing we heard the cries of persons on board and in the water. Came up to her in about an hour. Her lights had disappeared and her bow was under water. Took off all the persons who had remained on her. Our boats were engaged in picking up those in the water. Afterwards made a circle of a mile in circumference about the wreck, and think we got on board all living persons who were in the water and on the steamer. We took probably two hundred off the steamer and one hundred from the lake."

Among the passengers lost, we see the name of Lieut. Langdon of Buffalo.

Great excitement exists at Erie against the parties connected with the steamer Atlantic, and at a meeting of the survivors a series of strong resolutions condemning the inefficiency of the so called life preservers, the want of boats, &c., and calling for the arrest of the officers of the vessel were adopted. Capt. Pettey, of the Atlantic, remains in a dangerous condition. The second mate of the Atlantic, in his statement, says he saw the propeller's lights about two minutes before the collision, and put the helm aport and kept her off.—Was within four miles of the shore and gave orders to steer for it. He gave details of the subsequent proceedings, and says if the propeller had put her wheel aport when he first saw her, the Atlantic would have cleared her.

Mr. Dana, who was lost, was very efficient in saving the lives of passengers, and exhorted them to cling to the life preservers when in the water. When the boat went down he took a settee and plunged overboard, but at the same moment some twenty or thirty emigrants leaped over on to him, and he went under.

A despatch from Erie, August 20, says the steamer Clinton has returned from the wreck of the Atlantic. She reports her entirely disappeared, and sunk in twenty-five fathoms of water. The boat belonged to Messrs. Wards, owners of the Caspian, lately lost at Cleveland. She was valued at $30,000, and was not insured.

EVENING COMMONWEALTH.—The Boston Commonwealth announces an evening edition to be commenced on the 1st of September. Among the reasons given for this movement, is that "the result of the operation of the plurality law, affected as it will be, materially, by the nomination of a Webster electoral ticket, will, without doubt, give to either the Compromise Democratic or the Free Democratic party, the vote of the State."

We do not feel positive that this is a fact,—but at all events politics in Massachusetts are getting lively. In New Hampshire there is little or no excitement about the coming election. There is no enthusiasm visible except in the newspapers, and very little of it there: the great assemblage at Hillsborough being the only exception. The State is so certain for Pierce, as to make the current of political events here pass as smoothly as the current of ariver.

THE AMERICAN DICTIONAY.—It is stated that Longman, the celebrated English publisher, after trying in vain to find an editor competent to prepare a new edition of Johnson's Dictionary, has now adopted the revised edition of Webster, by Goodrich, as a perfect English standard. This is not only a great triumph for American Literature, but it is one of those facts which elevate our whole country either at home or abroad.

LIQUOR AND SPIRITS.—The Boston Post understands that the $2000 worth of liquor seized in Salem a few days since, has been restored to Mr. Gardiner, on the ground of informality in the process of seizure, two out of the three complainants in the case not being legal voters.

And the same paper says, "We wish the spiritual rappers would ask Sam Patch what he thinks of Constantine's leap from the suspension bridge at Niagara.

BARNUM IN BOSTON.—Peter T. Barnum, Esq., is at the Revere House in Boston, having been invited there by commercial men and insurance agents, who contemplate purchasing the right of using Philips's Fire Annihilator in the State, and forming a new Fire Insurance company with a large capital and rates considerably reduced to those who protect their property with this valuable invention.

The same invention is to be made use of in reducing the premium of insurance on marine risks, on such vessels as carry the annihilator on their voyages.

BOAT UPSET.—On Sunday afternoon, between Albany and East Albany, a skiff upset, containing sixteen or eighteen persons, men, women and children, of whom eight or ten were picked up by small boats which came to their assistance. The remainder were drowned. The boat was overloaded at the time, but the cause of the accident was the attempt of a person to get a hat which had been blown off. Up to 7 o'clock, P. M. seven bodies had been recovered.

CONCORD RAILROAD TRAINS.—The advertisement of this road on the fourth page of this day's paper, contains five lines that give false information as to certain trains between Portsmouth and Epping. We wish the trains did run according to the error,—but they do not. The time is correct in the advertisement on the inside.

PORTSMOUTH STEAM FACTORY.—The Dover Gazette, speaking of the first dividend of this mill, says, "This dividend, though comparatively small, is we doubt not the beginning of good things to come. It also reflects the very highest credit on the management of the present excellent agent of the company, our late highly respected townsman, Col. William Stearns."

We are glad to accept the compliment, and hope the good things to come will be at least equal to this beginning of them. But we are at a loss to know with what the dividend is compared, when it is stated to be comparatively small. Is it smaller than the average of mills in general, or of new mills in particular, or how?

RAINSTORM IN THE MIDDLE STATES.—A Philadelphia despatch of Sunday, says:—

The rain storm has considerably damaged the Rail Road between this city and Baltimore. Two heavy washes occurred six and eleven miles from Baltimore. Travel is suspended for to-day and to-morrow. Boat goes out to-night and will run by way of Frenchtown until the repairs are completed.

In the region round about Portsmouth, there has not been rain enough to damage any thing, for a long time.

LIQUOR SEIZURE IN ROXBURY.—On Saturday, a man named James Hill, of Canton, Mass., walked all the way from his village to Boston, to obtain a quart bottle of rum—put half as much more in his stomach, but he was intercepted on his return, in Roxbury, and fined. His bottle and contents were confiscated.

We must regard this as an illegal seizure. He bought the liquor for his own use, and besides, it was in transitu. He might bring an action for damages.

CUBA.—It is said the Spanish government have a secret agreement with Faustin I., in case of a successful revolution in Cuba, to emancipate the slaves, and receive an army from Hayti to sustain African supremacy in the "queen of the Antilles."—Boston Post.

No doubt somebody says so, but it is a most unlikely story.

PERSONAL.

From the Gazette of yesterday.

"Mr. Editor:—I don't know who the editor of your "Morning Chronicle," a neutral paper is, but if I am not much mistaken, the "cloven foot" sticks out about one foot in the number dated Aug. 21st. In the first column of editorial the editor mentions the Democratic meeting to be held that night with a sort of attempt to prejudice Col. Clemens in the minds of his audience, and in the next column he attacks Mr. Atchison, Democratic Senator from Missouri, and puffs up that Federal Senator John P. Hale. If this is neutrality, let us know what partizan feeling is. PAUL."

We have no controversy whatever with Paul. If he will read the report which we published, and say that Mr. Atchison there exhibited good manners and good temper, we will say so too. And if he will, on the other hand, find one word of fault with what Hale said on the occasion, or say that he did not show good temper and make a proper reply, we will publish it. We know nothing about Mr. Atchison's politics, but his manner seemed specially insolent. By the way we have never made any professions of neutrality, though we mean to be impartial and fair. We aim to be independent and courteous as far as possible—and to promote the same course in others.

MAGIC AND WITCHCRAFT.

Mr. Spencer, from New York, who is to give one free lecture this evening in the Temple, and others afterwards at 12 1-2 cts—is an orator of rare powers, and an ingenious experimenter on odd subjects embraced in his advertisement.

This appears from the notices of the press in many parts of the country, penned by the most discriminating editors.

He professes to unveil the mysteries and deceptions of necromancers, change potatoes to oranges, rods to serpents, cure men of smoking, drinking and other follies of the flesh, and in fine, to bring out and expose to broad day-light the jugglerics and witcheries of the past and present.

GREAT FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE. The extensive planing mills of Wells & Bushnell, corner of Twelfth street and Tenth avenue, was destroyed by fire Saturday evening—loss $40,000, no insurance. Wetherspoons Plaster Factory, with valuable machinery, was also damaged to the amount of $10.000. A pile of 200,000 feet flooring timber, the property of Collyer & Dugard, was likewise burnt —loss $5000. Many of the firemen suffered severely in accidents to their persons, and William Harrison, a cartman, was burnt to death. The planing mill contained five planing machines, four or five circular saws, and a valuable steam engine. The fire raged during the entire night.

THE SHIP ROBERT CENTER, which was burning at New York on Friday night, and not entirely extinguished till Saturday morning, when she was scuttled, was 800 tons burthen, worth $48,000 or $50,000 and is insured for something like half her value. It is supposed that about $20,000 will be required to repair her. She will require a new deck, ceiling and deck-beams, and new houses on deck. The masts fell into the water, and broke in pieces.

THOUGHT THEY WERE GOING INTO SALEM HARBOR.—British schooner Crown, from Annopolis, N. S., with wood, ran ashore on Chelsea Beach, at high water, on Saturday. She is now high and dry near the Atlantic House, but will probably be towed off after discharging.

A gentleman engaged at the Hoosac Tunel writes that the boring machine works much better and faster than was anticipated, and that when they get well under way they can cut out four feet in an hour. The question is therefore regarded as settled that the mountain can be bored.

MINISTER TO ENGLAND.—The nomination of the Hon. Joseph R. Ingersoll, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to England, in place of His Excellency Abbott Lawrence, recalled at his own request, was confirmed by the Senate on Saturday last.

HANDSOME DONATION.—We understand that a young man of this city has recently presented to the only church in his native town in this State, a good sized, fine toned bell. A species of "young men's extravagance" not often repeated.—Bangor Whig.

The New Hamshire papers are noticing a somewhat extraordinary circumstance in the fact that this year their pole beans won't run, and therefore poles are useless.

There are so many mixtures that nothing runs very well this year except beans, in this vicinity, and they run first rate and stick to the vales like true patriots.—Bangor Whig.

CALIFORNIA EMIGRATION.—We learn that there are several families, and also the wives of men who are now in California, with others, who intend to go to California in the bark Gold Hunter, now up for California. The company will be very pleasant, and those who wish to go to the new State will find this a very desirable mode of conveyance, much better, we should think, than by the steamers. The bark goes entirely for the benefit of passengers.—Bangor Whig.

IMPORTANT LAW CASE.—In the Court of Common Pleas at Dover, last week, an important case was tried, involving the comparitive rights of employers and laborers. The report is from the Dover Gazette.

"Nancy Neal vs Salmon Falls Manf'g Co. appts.. This was an appeal from the decision of a Justice of the Peace. The Plff claimed $4,56 for labor and services performed in their mill at Salmon Falls for the Def'ts. The Def'ts confess that they owe $4,20, but are not bound to pay because the Plff did not give a fortnight's notice of her intention to leave. She gave notice on Mopday and worked 5 1-2 days after, including the day of the notice.—A printed copy of the regulations of the Company is furnished each operative, and among them is a regulation requiring a fortnight's notice of intention to leave. Evidence was presented tending to show that the Plff received a copy of these regulations, and knew what was expected of her. The case was argued by Mr. Jordan for the Plff and Mr. Christie for the Def'ts. The Court held that the Company had a right to make such regulations and that the Plff was bound by them if they were brought home to her knowledge.

On Thursday morning the jury returned a verdict for the Def'ts which was recorded, upon which the Counsel for the Def'ts gave notice that the Def'ts released the Plff's. from the judgment, and would pay her the $4,20 and all her taxable costs, that they had contended not for the purpose of depriving the Plff of her wages, but for the purpose of testing the rights of the Def'ts to make such regulations." Below is a copy of the regulation.

"Any person intending to leave the Company's employ, must give notice to his or her overseer two weeks at least, previous to her leaving, and continue to work till the expiration of the notice. Those who leave contrary to this regulation (cases of sickness excepted) will not be settled with or paid till such notice is regularly given and worked out."

The Pittsburg Union says, the river is so low at that city that it is confined to its bed.

CONGRESS.

SENATE. — On Saturday the Senate received a report confirming Mr. Mallory in his seat as Senator from Florida; and took up and amended the civil appropriation bill.—One of the amendments allows the District Judge of the Northern District of California, while performing the duties of both districts in that State—both salaries. Also, an appropriation of $25,000 for a Custom House at Wilmington, Del. Also, $130,000 for completing the Marine Hospital at San Francisco. An amendment was offered appropriating $5000 for a survey to ascertain the best means for supplying the city of Washington with water.

Subsequently the River and Harbor bill was taken up. A great many amendments were offered and a number of them adopted. Without disposing of the matter the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House passed the bill, authorizing soldiers in the late war with Great Britain, to surrender their bounty lands unfit for cultivation, and select other land in lieu thereof.

The Post Office appropriation bill passed.

The Senate bill, confirming to Michigan certain lands for saline purposes, also passed.

At half-past 3 o'clock, for want of a quorum, the House adjourned.

On Friday night at 11 o'clock a man named George F. Southwick, whose family resides in Warwick, R. I., pitched over an iron railing to the steps leading to the press room of the Traveller office, in Congress Square, Boston, and struck upon the floor below. A man who witnessed the accident, called the Watch, who conveyed Mr. Southwick to his hotel, the Pearl St. House.

Mr. Southwick states that he was leaning against the railing, and thinks that he must have been seized with a fit which caused his fall. It is feared that his spine is injured.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—On Saturday forenoon, at the Mattapan works, South Boston, a huge grindstone, seven feet in diameter, while revolving at the rate of two hundred times a minute, suddenly flew into pieces.—The fragments were scattered in every direction, and one of them struck a large brick pier which partially supported the floors of the building, removing it almost entirely, and causing all the floors to settle about six inches. The grinder, Mr. Edward Wheeler, was sitting over the stone, but miraculously escaped all injury, although he was for a time in an atmosphere of the fragments of the stone.

TURTLE FISHING.—The Mobile Register states that turtle are at times so plentiful that they glut the market. On the 11th inst., a schooner arrived from Brazos, with seventeen. Five of these were sent to the watering places on the Eastern shore, the smallest weighing 365 lbs., the largest about a thousand more. They appear to be no strangers to the waters of Mobile bay, as the Register states that some ladies, "over the bay" within five days past, had hooked with red-fish lines, two fine green turtles of from 18 to 20 lbs each. They were served up in soups.

DROWNED.—Mr. Joseph Fenno, of East Boston, his wife and child, were drowned in Nantusket Gut on Saturday evening, by the upsetting of their sail-boat, which came in contact with schooner Oolong. They were bound to Scituate. A man who was with them was saved by the crew of the schooner.

ARRIVAL OF THE ATLANTIC.

By the arrival at New York on Sunday, of the steamship Atlantic, we have Liverpool dates to the 11th.

ENGLAND.—Mr. J. McGregor, formerly President of the Board of Trade, publishes a letter in the Daily News and other Metropolitan papers, strongly in favor of an amicable adjustment of the Fishery question. On the same subject, the Daily News of the 9th says, in its remarks on the money market—"As regards one of the points that has told very sensibly in favor of the bears, viz: the American Fishery—we are in a position to state, from the very best authority, that in the present position of the affair there is not the slightest ground of fear that any interruption of our friendly relations with the United States will ensue."

The London Times of 9th has a leader in favor of the British claims.

The Peninsula and Oriental Company screw steamer Formosa, sailed from Southampton on Saturday, 7th, for Port Philip and Sydney, and is to be afterwards placed on the route between Singapore and the Australia colonies. She is the fourth steamer that has left England for Australia.

Emigration to Australia still continues undiminished. Fifty ships from 500 to 2000 tons, are entered to sail during the present month from Liverpool, London and Plymouth.

Accounts from the potato crops are at least no worse.

The Paris "Pays," in a letter from Vienna, says that in a note addressed by the English Government to the Austrian Cabinet, the assurance is given that all measures of precaution will be taken to prevent the presence of Kossuth in London from troubling the good relations established between England and Austria.

A strike in the iron trade was apprehended in Staffordshire. Notice had been given by the operatives, but the masters had resolved not to yield.

A letter from Rome, gives some details of the arrest of members of the revolutionary committee residing in Lombardy, Tuscany and the Roman States. It appears that the Austrian Consul at Genoa hearing of the death of a person, a Lombard by birth, went to place seals on his property, when it was found that the deceased was one of the postmarters of the conspiracy. The mode of carrying on the correspondence was also discovered, being by means of silk handkerchiefs, the colors of which disappeared by chemical washing, the writing being brought out by the same operation. The greater part of the town of Eiszfeld, in the principality of Coburg, was destroyed by fire on the 29th July. A violent shock of an earthquake was felt at Lindau, Bavaria on the eve of the 30th.

YANKEE COOLNESS.—Thomas Owen gave us in the sanctum the other night the following illustration of the coolness of your true Yankee, under all circumstances. As one division of General Scott's column was passing leisurely along in some portion of Mexico during the late war, there came down just at twilight, from a convent that crowned a neighboring height, a procession of cowled monks, the leader upholding in his hands a contribution-box on which stood a lighted lamp. As the column defiled by, many soldiers dropped small coins into the aperture provided for that purpose. One man, who seemed searching for some larger testimonial of his pious regard, fumbled in his pocket, and at length drew out what looked to be a roll of banknotes; opened it; took from it a—paper of chewing tobacco, filled a short, rusty pipe, lighted it by the sacred lamp, and with "Much obleeged to yeou, Squire!" passed on. "It took just a Yankee," said Mr. Owen, "to do such a thing in a Catholic country.

FANCY PORTRAIT OF A WAITING MAID.—My lady's maid is a French woman of two-and-thirty, from somewhere in the Southern country about Avignon and Marseilles—a large-eyed brown woman with black hair; who would be handsome, but for a certain feline mouth, and general uncomfortable tightness of face, rendering the jaws too eager, and the skull too prominent. There is something indefinably keen and wan about her anatomy; and she has a watchful way of looking out of the corners of her eyes without turning her head, which could be pleasantly dispensed with—especially when she is in ill-humor and near knives. Through all the good taste of her dress and little adornments, these objections so express themselves, that she seems to go about like a very neat she wolf imperfectly tamed.—Dickens.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT
From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.
STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,

CAPT. VARINA,

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Eastern, Boston and Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure—the Islands (only 9 miles in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. Thos. B. LAIGHTON's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, view after view presents itself—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Fort Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Ityc, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

TICKETS can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to SAMUEL W. LEAVES, Agent,
a10 At Portsm. & Concord Railroad Station.

CURIOSITY OF ANIMALS.—In conversation with a gentleman who had crossed the plains to California, he informed us of the curious mode of shooting the antelope. His party had often tried to shoot one, but they were so timorous they never could get within shooting distance of them. They met a party in which there was a U. S. officer, and to him mentioned the difficulty of getting a shot at an antelope. Oh, says he, it is the easiest thing in the world—I will show you how to do it.—Next day, they saw a troop of antelopes, and the U. S. officer approached as near as he thought prudent before they would take flight; he then laid down on the ground, waved a handkerchief, and made some antic movements. The antelopes, having their bump of curiosity excited, approached gradually nearer and nearer to see the row, until they were within thirty rods, when bang went the rifle, and down came a fine buck. By manœuvring in this manner with a troop of antelopes, the party never afterwards had much trouble in alluring them to within range of the deadly American rifle.—Scientific American.

A CAUTION TO BACHELORS.—When a Chinese lady is blessed with an increase in her family, from the moment of her accouchment the unhappy husband is put to bed also, and there detained for forty days, and during this delightful penance he is subjected to all the rigorous treatment of his better half.—Should medicine be administered to her, he must partake of also, and is strictly confined to the same diet she is obliged to undergo, which consists, on an average, I believe, of about a thimbleful of cream of rice, administered every three hours, to say nothing of the pill administered at bedtime to prevent indigestion.—Neale's Residence at Siam.

At Westfield, Mass., a party of wags waylaid an old soaker who was returning from Connecticut with a supply of the "beverage," demanded to see the contraband goods, took "a suck" all round, and let him off.

The French population of California is estimated at 20,000. This is a little less than one eighth of the entire population of that State.

NOTICE TO BUILDERS AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of our finest buildings are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and narrow contracted, leaden goose-necks, or what is still worse a skewangle continuation of the upright conductor with wasteful coarse bends—all of which may be remedied by application to

J. E. CHAPMAN,
PRACTICAL TIN PLATE WORKER,

who will give the personal attention to the adjustment of all such defects. Specimens of Ornamental Goose-necks and Conductor Caps, on the most approved plan of modern architecture may be seen at his Tin Ware Factory, where he manufactures to order

CONDUCTORS, GOOSE NECKS & GUTTERS of all sizes, in the most thorough and substantial manner. All orders left with him will receive immediate attention.

BOUNTY FOR FISHERMEN.

AMERICAN SAILORS.

Two or three articles on these subjects, have appeared in the Boston Transcript, parts of which have been copied into this paper. A late article contains these statements:

"By the construction put by Secretary Corwin upon the bounty act of 1792 the fishery business threatens to be greatly impaired as to all its purposes of usefulness as a nursery for seamen. A liberal construction of the law is essential to its proper encouragement. If our fishermen are diverted from their hazardous and laborious pursuits, where are we to look for American sailors to man our ships of war and our merchant ships? Within the last half century the fishing trade has materially changed. The fishermen upon the Banks off our coast salted down only cod; while now halibut is salted down; not the "flaps" and fins merely, but all parts of the fish, which as they can be soaked in water, and broiled and eaten without butter or fat, are accounted a more economical article of food than cod. Until within a few years mackerel were not caught in any considerable quantity for salting, and as an article of trade. Codfish was exported to Spain, France, and the West Indies; it being in especial demand in Catholic countries. Now nearly all the codfish, halibut and mackerel, that our fishermen catch, are needed to supply the home demand."

Almost any one would think so, if he saw a city fish-market in operation during Lent or an extra fast-day. Our increase of Catholic population adds greatly to our home market for fish.

Mackerel appears to have multiplied in our bays and fishing grounds, since it has been found to be a wholesome article of food, when split and salted immediately on being taken out of the ocean. Can any one give the shadow of a reason why salted mackerel and halibut should not receive the same bounty as cod? There is the same claim for a drawback in duty on the salt; and the opportunities of the fishery as a nursery for sailors, are the same. All Secretaries of the Treasury, who have not lived upon the seaboard, need to have this true construction of the act of 1792 placed before them, in the same way as the manufacturing, commercial and mechanical interests are presented for representation and protection. It is a notorious fact that sailors have deteriorated in subordination, vigor, and manliness; and that they do not perform their duty as they were wont, on shipboard in former years. If the Secretary of the Treasury, or a member of the Cabinet, could be present on the first of the year in a fishing town, and witness the joy of the fisherman's family when the bounty is paid, and means are provided for making up the shortcomings of the unrequited toil in fishing, they might pause in their attempts to limit the construction of the act of 1792—an act, which was plainly intended for the encouragement of all those fisheries where salt is used.

When the cod are scarce, and the fishermen make a poor year's work, they could, under the former construction of the treaty, carry fishing gear for halibut and mackerel, and earn enough to pay for their outfits, and support their families. But now they are driven, by discouragement and debt, to turn shoemakers and operatives. Surely the workshop is not the nursery for the seamen. The very bone and sinew of the navy and merchant service will be lost, under the present short-sighted and illiberal system. Parents should have every inducement offered to bring up their boys, fishermen and seamen. Widows, who part with their sons on these voyages, should have, at least, the poor resort of the bounty for their aid. The fishing boy is often for years the support of his mother. She, by law, receives his earnings until he is twenty-one years of age. The boy is proud and earnest to render this debt; but when he is twenty-one, he says: "Now I go upon my own hook;" still the fisherman never forgets the mother, and the tie seems strengthened by the independent relations now established. Every day boys are driven out of the business to other pursuits, because of the new construction put by the Administration on the bounty act.

SCYTHES.—Workmen often make a complaint of their scythes not acting well, of the edge not cutting uniformly, and the form being wrong, &c.; now the form best suited to each mower may be tested by a very simple experiment. Let a man with a piece of chalk in his hand, walk up to a high wall, or a barn door, and raising it as high as he can, strike a curve from right to left; the line so traced is the exact form that his scythe should be; and if he applies the edge of it, and finds it to correspond, it will cut uniformly from point to heel and save himself much trouble and labor.—Scientific American.
